My Darling Sweetheart,

How I did enjoy your dear letter to-day. If I could command all the "So's" in the dictionary I could never tell you how dear you are to me and how much I do truly love you.

My dear girl must not sit up too late nor work too hard. She is too precious to me, for her not to take good care of herself, but I could not have missed that letter so am glad you wrote it.

Regarding the time of that event that means so much to both of us, I can only say, it is wholly in your hands and whenever you have your plans arranged to ~~see~~ ^{visit} you I am ready to say "amen". However I want, if possible to know about two or three weeks ahead of time in order to arrange some business matters. Whenever my dear girl can see about that far ahead in this particular matter I want you to tell me. I am anticipating so much joy and happiness in our own little home that I long for the time to come, and how sweet it is of you to say the time is ~~longer~~ coming when the scrub shall not be hungry. Many a time I will slip away from my patients and run out and put my arms around you and claim a kiss from the dearest one in all the world.

We have had a slight rain this afternoon but not enough yet to do any good. I had quite a talk with Mrs Helber yesterday. Will tell you about it when I see you again.

Sunday is drawing nearer and I hope to get to come to see you, sweet girl of mine.

Dr. Wagner is waiting on me to give an anaesthetic for an operation and
