

California, which has been described and represented as an Island, even by very modern Geographers, was discovered by Father Eusebio Francisco Kino about the year 1684, and 1701, who, together with other Jesuit Missionaries, travelled thither by Land & converted, a great Number of the Natives.

THE GALLAPAGOS ISLANDS Discovered & Described by Cap^t Cowley in 1684.

A NEW & ACCURATE MAP of MEXICO or NEW SPAIN together with CALIFORNIA NEW MEXICO &c. Drawn from the best Modern Maps & Charts & Regulated by Astron. Observ^r. By Eman. Bowen.

English & French. Latitudes 20 to a Degree

These Islands derive their Name from the Resort of Tortoises which come hither to lay their Eggs; for in Spanish Gallapagos signifies a Tortoise. Cap^t Woods Rogers, after he could not find any Fresh Water upon any of them, but others say they have met with some, & that Account of Buccaneers especially have found them very convenient Retreats. The Spaniards mention an Island in Lat. 12 or 30 S. which they call S. Maria de l' Aguada full of Wood, with plenty of Fresh Water &c.

MAP 4 1752