My Friend: Sometime during the summer hope to have the pleasure of seeing you at Ocean Beach, but wish to reach there when there, eleven other admirers of you are away; you know Mr. Mager is a little quick and my appearance during his visit might excite his ire, and then, "pistols and coffee", your other gentlemen are not so well acquainted with, but have no doubt that they are equally jealous of any intrusion, so you see what an interest I take in the welfare of you and your friends, Please let me know when I may appear. Every one is away from town, and I wander around in the evenings "sad and lonely". Kind regards to your mother and sister, Yours affectionately
