J G Lyman Captured Through Woman's Aid to Sleuths

Special to The Dispatch]

NEW YORK, Feb 25—That the capture of Dr J G Lyman, alias John H Putnam, the New York broker under arrest at St Petersburg, Fla, on a charge of using the United States mails to defraud customers out of investments estimated at from $400,000 to $700,000, was effected through the instrumentality of Miss Belle Hampton, a clever hotel stenographer at Richmond, Va, was made known by postoffice authorities today, following the prisoner's indictment by the Federal grand jury. Preparations were at once begun to bring Lyman back for trial.

Lyman was arrested as he was about to embark for an unknown destination on board a yacht he had chartered. He had come ashore to supply himself with newspapers, presumably with a view to keeping posted on the search for him.

My dear Dr. Miller, -

A thousand apologies for my remissness, and I had your notes all made ready to copy, when your second letter came, & made me feel ~~even~~ so badly for not having acknowledged the first. I had been perfectly delighted with the opportunity of getting another copy of the Carter History for my children, ~~but~~ but of course when the $2.00 came, I spent it at Christmas time.

We had a happy Christmas, & I feel sure your small people did also. And then, just before Christmas we had a visit from Mr. Clement's & my brother, who was bringing home his bride, so my time has been full of other duties. I find it has been so long since I made these notes that I cannot make them all out, so I will make such a trip to the office & send you some later. It is the Will, which is most important that I cannot read, but anyhow I will send what I have.

Thomas Hampton's Will.

Mr J. L. Miller -

Dear Sir - In reply to your Sept. 24th - I enclose some of the information asked for.
I had a letter recently from my cousin, Mrs Brown, of Fla and I sent to her, the information I supposed she would forward to you - afterwards I found your address in her letter, and I concluded from that, that I was supposed to write directly to you. My life is a very busy one, and I have had numbers of letters from different parties, asking something concerning my family history.

I have a cousin, who is writing up the Hampton connection. Of course I am interested in anything concerning my entire name, but I have seen and know little, comparatively, of my Hampton and Bynum kin, outside of what I've been told by my mother, and our cousin, Judge Bynum of Charlotte, both now dead. I know nothing of one who may still live in Va -

My grandfather, Thomas Hampton, had three brothers, William, Henry and John, four sisters, Hannah, Rose, Sarah and Margaret.

Hannah married Josse Allen of Memphis Tenn -

Rose married a Mr Whitehead of Ohio -

Sarah married Richard Allen of Miller Co. Mo.

My grandmother was Elizabeth Carmichael grand daughter of Gray Bynum of Stokes Co - N.C. (and lived with him till she was married) Her mother was Mary Bynum and married John Carmichael, she died leaving three children, Alenor, Elizabeth, and Margaret.
