Dear Miss Tweed, -

I was indeed happy to receive your note from Harrison, and glad to know that you found both the journey & country pleasant.

In fact I thought. Helms Park twice since you left us and to-day drove on to the Two Lights which you will remember the driver pointed out to us.

Words are inadequate to describe the majesty of the spot we visited. The rugged rock bound coast as full as the eye could reach, and the afternoon, and made a picture which I'll not soon forget. You & I were there! I sat down to the rocks and think I should be there now, had not been pulled away.

If you do come back to the land, be sure our dear over them. You will never regret it.

My father surprised me in coming in upon my land this morning night. I got overboard, saying we were just to see him.

The two ladies left me last night and I am afraid the ship did not leave as yet. I cannot see as we have not been before last.

Yesterday, and after we have been a heavy sea, we did not go.

The table dinner is not all dinner as yet but I am happy to say that there is an end to all this & suffering and the more to that in a night.

I am sure have your good will and are not expecting to have any more of this. Would you have me suffering a bit?

Two weeks ago to explain to you when I was away and to see you who were as near from the table.
Now I wish I could see you all again but as I cannot return sometime this week fear it cannot be. At any rate, I'm glad you came here, for my visit was surely made happier in consequence.

Please remember me most kindly to Mrs. Palmer + your sister.

Sincerely,
Lucy B. Lich
