ALL NIGHT LETTER MESSAGES TAKEN BY THIS COMPANY ARE SUBJECT TO THE FOLLOWING TERMS WHICH ARE HEREBY AGREED TO

The Western Union Telegraph Company will receive not later than midnight NIGHT LETTERS, to be transmitted only for delivery on the morning of the next ensuing business day, at rates still lower than its standard night message rates, as follows: the standard day rate for ten words shall be charged for the transmission of fifty words or less, and one-fifth of such standard day rate for ten words shall be charged for each additional ten words or less.

For this, one-half the unrepeat message rate is charged in addition. Unless otherwise indicated on its face, THIS IS AN UNREPEATED MESSAGE AND PAID FOR AS SUCH, in consideration whereof it is agreed between the sender of the message and this Company as follows:

2. In any event the Company shall not be liable for damages for any mistakes or delay in the transmission or delivery, or for the non-delivery of this message, whether caused by the negligence of its servants or otherwise, beyond the sum of FIFTY DOLLARS, at which amount this message is hereby valued, unless a greater value is stated in writing hereon at the time the message is offered to the Company for transmission, and an additional sum paid or agreed to be paid based on such value equal to one-tenth of one per cent. thereof.

3. The Company is hereby made the agent of the sender, without liability, to forward this message over the lines of any other Company when necessary to reach its destination.

4. Messages will be delivered free within one-half mile of the Company's office in towns of 5,000 population or less, and within one mile of such office in other cities or towns. Beyond these limits the Company does not undertake to make delivery, but will, without liability, at the sender's request, as his agent and at his expense, endeavor to contract for him for such delivery at a reasonable price.

The Merwin-Clayton Sales Company,

April 20th, 1911

Executor Estate of Dr. Seaman A. Knapp,
Washington, D. C.

Dear Sir:-

When an estate is to be divided, it frequently happens that Books, Autographs, Engravings, Stamps, etc., have to be dealt with, and in many cases this property is sacrificed through lack of knowledge as to the best means of disposing of it.

Our business is solely the dispersal of such property on a commission basis. All consignments are catalogued by competent experts and of these catalogues a large number are mailed to the principal private buyers, libraries, historical societies and others throughout the United States and Canada. Bids are received and are used in competition with those of New York representatives of out of town collectors and institutions and local buyers who attend the sales, thus assuring full market value.

There are but two methods of realizing on such property. The first and only practical method is the foregoing. The other is a sale direct to a dealer who calculates to at least double his money. By our method we get a small share, 15% of the dealers 100% profit and the remaining 85% (less expense of cataloguing, postage and advertising) goes to the Estate.

Of libraries sold by us recently, that of the late J. G. Heckscher brought nearly $30,000., or about one third more than the estimate of the estate's expert. The Hiram C. Day library netted 75% more than the highest offer by dealers from all the large cities in the country. The E. P. Roe books netted nearly double the best cash offer. The Henry Clay books and autographs realized a third more net than the owner expected to have them bring gross and so it is with others, the average being from 50% to 75% better than dealers can afford to pay.

Should you as executor have in your possession Books, Engravings or Autograph Letters, we are thoroughly equipped to handle such property to very best advantage and respectfully call your attention to the enclosed circular.

We also appraise Libraries for probate and insurance.

Awaiting the favor of a reply, I beg to remain,

Yours very truly,

"To the Chairman of the Falls County Boys Corn Club:

"WHEREAS-The late Dr. S. A. Knapp by his forethoughts and untiring energy has done so much to rebuild the broken south, and repair the ruin and desolation made by the great war, by teaching the Southern people how to realize and utilize the resources about their own farms; and by his work with the Boys Corn Clubs has opened the door of hope to thousands of deserving Southern boys,

"Therefore be it resolved-

"That we, the members of the Falls County Boys' Corn Clubs deeply deplore the death of so great and so good a friend to the Southern Boys as Dr. Knapp. And that we endeavor to show our appreciation of his worth and services by doing all we can to make the Corn Club work a success.

Dr. Seaman Asahel Knapp, an international authority on rice growing,
who was well-known, not only in Louisiana, where he lived for many years, but throughout the South, because of his farm demonstration work, died at his home in this city this afternoon. His illness was of a month's duration, but only a few days ago did his condition become alarming. He first suffered an attack of rheumatism, and then one complication followed another, until he became unable to take nourishment and his strength failed him. He was conscious almost to the end and died in the presence of his sons and daughters, who had been summoned to his bedside soon after he was stricken.

Mrs. Knapp died last May, and at her request was buried in the cemetery of the Iowa Agricultural College, at Ames, where her distinguished husband had been president and professor of agriculture for many years. His remains will lie beside her's, and the funeral will be held at Ames next Wednesday. Services also will be held in Washington some time Monday.

Throughout his illness, Dr. Knapp maintained his courage and good cheer.
During the past few days, since his friends in the South learned how desperately ill he was, many cheering messages were received, from Henry L. Gueydan, of Crowley; Charles Scott, of Rosedale, Miss., and others, expressing affection and solicitude. Thursday afternoon he was visited by Secretary Wilson, of the Agricultural Department, with whom he has been associated, in official and private affairs, for a great many years, who expressed a desire to talk with his old friend and give him courage and hope. That last meeting was a sad but affectionate one. The sufferer, though strong of will, was physically too weak to rally.

He is survived by two daughters and three sons, as follows: Mrs. A. M. Mayo, of Lake Charles, La.; Herman Knapp, treasurer of the Iowa State College, Ames, Iowa; Bradford Knapp, of this city, who was his father's chief assistant in the demonstration work; S. Arthur Knapp, cashier of the Calcasieu National Bank, of Lake Charles, La., and Mrs. O. J. Fay, of Des Moines, Iowa.

Dr. Knapp, though he spent a large portion of his life in Louisiana and Iowa, was a native of New York State, having been born in Essex County, Dec. 16, 1833. He was educated in Union College, N. Y., and gave his life to educational work. He married Miss Maria E. Hotchkiss, of Hampton, N. Y., in 1858, and that same year he became a teacher and later associate manager of Fort Edward Collegiate Institute, where he remained until 1863. During the next two years he was associate manager of the Ripley Female College, Vermont. He was president of the Iowa State College for the blind from 1869 to 1875. Entering the State Agricultural College of Iowa in 1879 as professor he became its president in 1883. Two years later he removed to Lake Charles, La., and took up the great work, by which he is best known in the Southwest, the organization of the rice industry in Louisiana, Arkansas and Texas. Because of his pre-eminence in this line he was made first president of the Rice Association of America, and continued to hold that office until he removed to Washington in the fall of 1907.

Secretary Wilson, who had been associated with Dr. Knapp in Iowa, and who was one of his successors as president of the Agricultural College, soon after entering McKinley's Cabinet, induced him in 1898 to make a tour of investigation through the various rice-producing countries of the Orient. In 1900 he revisited Japan, China, the Philippines and India, and, with the knowledge he gained, and the seeds he brought back with him, he rendered the Agricultural Department and the rice industry great and lasting benefits. From that time on his relations with the department became intimate and he was sent on another tour through Porto Rico, and later through Mexico, to study agricultural conditions. About that time the Mexican cotton boll weevil began its depredations in Texas, and Secretary Wil-

R.F.D. NO. 1

STATEBURG, S. C., April 5, 1911.

My dear Mr. Knapp:

It would be vain for me to attempt to find adequate terms in which to express to you our distress over your noble and illustrious father's death. We had him in our home for two days and nights. We think we know him, not only as the greatest man of our acquaintance in public life but of qualities of heart making him second to no one in the goodness of life. The whole family fell completely in love with him, - the youngest and the oldest being inconsolable at the thought that we shall never see him here again.

You have our sympathy in its intensest form I assure you. I inclose the Resolutions of the Academy.

Ever sincerely yours,

(Signed) J. J. DARGAN.

To Mr. Bradford Knapp,
Washington, D. C.

The I. S. C. Alumni Association of Washington, D.C., greatly deplotes the death of Dr. Seaman A. Knapp as a loss to the college, the State and the nation, and extends its fullest sympathy to the bereaved family.

As an Iowa educator and later as President of our Alma Mater, Doctor Knapp, apparently in the prime of his active life, was an important factor in developing the careers of an earlier generation of students. As residents of Washington we learned to know him as still a man of the present, an energetic, active, broad-minded official of the national Department of Agriculture, using to constantly increasing advantage the experience gained during that generation of long ago.

In harness to within a week of the termination of a life which spanned almost four score years, Doctor Knapp exemplified the spirit of I. S. C.,- the spirit of service.

Resting in the oak-shaded cemetery on the college campus with Welch and Beardshear, his grave will be kept green and his memory fresh for the example and inspiration of the youth of Iowa during the years to come.

Be it resolved, by the Iowa State College Alumni Association of Washington, D.C., that one copy of these sentiments be sent to the family of the deceased, one copy to the I. S. C. Student, one copy to the I. S. C. Alumnus, and one copy spread upon the minutes of the association.
