Dear

Attached to this note are the materials relating to the legislative interviews that the League traditionally does before each legislative session.

Because we have no (or few) other League members in your particular legislative district, I hope you will take this opportunity to visit your legislator. These interviews are very important to the effectiveness of the legislative office and, therefore, the effectiveness of League program.

It was impossible for me to second guess the outcome of the election and thereby determine if the legislator is conveniently near you. If your assignment is difficult because of distance, please let me know as soon as possible.

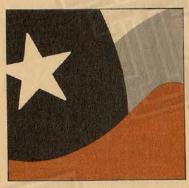

The interviews are more fun if two people go. The second person need not be a League member so invite a friend to go with you.

It would also be helpful to me if you could send, from time to time, clippings from your local paper about your legislators and how they feel about various issues.

I appreciate your time and effort. Our program will be stronger because of it.

Thank You,

Nancy Bené Legislative Director

Ms. Janet Imhoff

Dear Ms. Imhoff,

Thank you for your letter expressing interest in visiting with me concerning the issues of The League of Women Voters. I've had the opportunity in the the last several weeks to visit with league members from Paris and have received from the Austin office information concerning the issues in which the league has an interest.

At the present time I do not have on my calendar a date that I will be scheduled back in the Sherman-Denison area. If we do not get the opportunity to visit prior to the session beginning, I will be back in Grayson County during the first part of the session and will make a point to visit with you and Ms. Good.

We are looking forward to working with you as the session begins.

RE: Legislative Interviews

LWV-Texas October 20, 1978 LL Pres. Mailing, MALS NOT ON DPM

Included in this mailing you will find: one Legislator Biography form and two copies of the Legislative interview forms for each legislator you have been assigned to interview, plus information on the Legislative Newsletter. The LWV of has been assigned to interview the following legislators

We hope you will make every effort to do the assigned interviews, but if this is not possible, then it is imperative that you let the state office know as soon as possible so that other arrangements can be made. The DEADLINE for returning the forms to the state office is January 31, 1979.

Purpose of Interviews

Personal interviews help League members to establish and/or maintain good rapport with their legislators and also provide the state League with valuable information about legislators and our priority issues. It is very important for League members to communicate regularly with their legislators even though we may sometimes or even often disagree on issues. The interviews give the legislators a chance to discuss what's important to them and at the same time let them know about our major concerns. It should be a relaxed conversation — this is not the time for hard lobbying which might lead to a heated discussion.

When League members project an image of being concerned and knowledgeable citizens, our grassroots lobbying during the session is enhanced. The interviews are the first step in the League's effort to have a real impact in the coming legislative session.

When and How to Set Up the Interview

We suggest that after the elections you send a letter of congratulations to your legislator and you might mention in the letter that you will be contacting him/her to arrange for an interview. It is a good idea to delay the interviews with "freshman" legislators until December or January so that they have time to learn more about the issues they will be dealing with in the session, but don't hesitate to begin interviewing incumbents immediately after the election.

Since the LWV-T is going to produce a flyer on our legislative priorities for the 1979 session, we prefer that you do not send or give your legislator a copy of "We Support." The priority flyer is designed to help focus attention on those issues to which the League has chosen to devote most of its time and energy. The state office will send each legislator a copy of the flyer when it is completed, hopefully by mid-November. We will also send you copies of the flyer, which you may give to them, to other public officials, and to citizens groups in your community.

When arranging for the interview, you may want to suggest lunch, coffee, unit meeting, or dinner in the back yard. It need not be a formal office appointment.

The Interview

The interviews are generally conducted by two or three League members. It is important for the interviewers to review some of the League's program material on the subjects covered by the interview form. "We Support," Facts & Issues, and Voter articles are good sources of information.

We think the interview should take no more than 30 minutes to an hour. In order to facilitate the interview, you might state that there are six major questions so that the legislator can gauge the amount of time to be spent on each question.

Many legislators will answer No to number 5 -- which is certainly understandable. We are asking the question as it can provide valuable information to the state board. If the legislator answers "No" but goes on to explain some concern about energy or water, please make a note of it.

If the legislator asks for additional information on any of these issues, please see that this is done. If you need help in compiling the information, contact the state office.

Make a copy of the answers for any other Leagues within that district and send one copy of the Interview Form to the state office. You should keep the second copy for your own files.

The Legislative Office will compile information from the returned forms and have it ready by Legislative Day on February 28, 1979.

Included in this mailing you will find: one Legislator Biography form and two copies of the Legislative interview forms for each legislator you have been assigned to interview, plus information on the Legislative Newsletter. The LWV of has been assigned to interview the following legislators

We hope you will make every effort to do the assigned interviews, but if this is not possible, then it is imperative that you let the state office know as soon as possible so that other arrangements can be made. The DEADLINE for returning the forms to the state office is January 31, 1979.

Purpose of Interviews

Personal interviews help League members to establish and/or maintain good rapport with their legislators and also provide the state League with valuable information about legislators and our priority issues. It is very important for League members to communicate regularly with their legislators even though we may sometimes or even often disagree on issues. The interviews give the legislators a chance to discuss what's important to them and at the same time let them know about our major concerns. It should be a relaxed conversation -- this is not the time for hard lobbying which might lead to a heated discussion.

When League members project an image of being concerned and knowledgeable citizens, our grassroots lobbying during the session is enhanced. The interviews are the first step in the League's effort to have a real impact in the coming legislative session.

When and How to Set Up the Interview

We suggest that after the elections you send a letter of congratulations to your legislator and you might mention in the letter that you will be contacting him/her to arrange for an interview. It is a good idea to delay the interviews with "freshman" legislators until December or January so that they have time to learn more about the issues they will be dealing with in the session, but don't hesitate to begin interviewing incumbents immediately after the election.

Since the LWV-T is going to produce a flyer on our legislative priorities for the 1979 session, we prefer that you do not send or give your legislator a copy of "We Support." The priority flyer is designed to help focus attention on those issues to which the League has chosen to devote most of its time and energy. The state office will send each legislator a copy of the flyer when it is completed, hopefully by mid-November. We will also send you copies of the flyer, which you may give to them, to other public officials, and to citizens groups in your community.

When arranging for the interview, you may want to suggest lunch, coffee, unit meeting, or dinner in the back yard. It need not be a formal office appointment.

The Interview

The interviews are generally conducted by two or three League members. It is important for the interviewers to review some of the League's program material on the subjects covered by the interview form. "We Support," Facts & Issues, and Voter articles are good sources of information.

We think the interview should take no more than 30 minutes to an hour. In order to facilitate the interview, you might state that there are six major questions so that the legislator can gauge the amount of time to be spent on each question.

Many legislators will answer No to number 5 -- which is certainly understandable. We are asking the question as it can provide valuable information to the state board. If the legislator answers "No" but goes on to explain some concern about energy or water, please make a note of it.

If the legislator asks for additional information on any of these issues, please see that this is done. If you need help in compiling the information, contact the state office.

Make a copy of the answers for any other Leagues within that district and send one copy of the Interview Form to the state office. You should keep the second copy for your own files.

Twelve leagues, those with stars beside the name, are eligible for the "TEN-FIVE, GOOD BUDDY" award. This means that the calculated PMP has been reduced by 5%. In three cases the reduction means that the calculated PMP is less than the $250 league minimum. This is in accordance with the policy adopted by the board at the May meeting. Garland disbanded about one year ago.

TO: State League Presidents

FROM: Ruth J. Hinerfeld, President and Nancy Neuman, Action Chair

RE: Congressional Interviews

Enclosed is the material to be used in interviews with your state congressional delegation. We are sending you enough copies for use by one League in each of your congressional districts and for use by the state board members who will be talking with your Senators and with Representatives who have no local Leagues in their districts. Two extra kits are included for your files. In each kit for local Leagues are included:

- 1. An instruction memo from Mancy Neuman (blue).
- 2. A copy of "Tell It To Washington" which contains committee chairmen and assignments for the 95th Congress.
- 3. A listing of primary questions to be asked (yellow) with an attachment providing background material (pink) and a set of additional questions (green) to be asked if time and interest permit.
- 4. Three copies of the interview report form: one copy for the national office, one copy for the state office, one copy for local League files, (white).

DEADLINES FOR RETURN OF INTERVIEW REPORT FORMS

NEW REPRESENTATIVES AND NEW SENATORS

January 26

The Action Committee must have interview reports as soon as possible so they can acquaint Board members and staff with the positions of the newly elected members of Congress early in the first session of the 96th Congress.

RE-ELECTED REPRESENTATIVES AND SENATORS

April 6

If you cannot undertake the interviews of re-elected MC's by the start of the new session, they should be scheduled early in 1979. The National Council will meet in Washington on April 30-May 3, and the legislative action staff needs returned interviews in time to prepare for Council lobbying on the Hill.

PAGE TWO, November 1978 Congressional Interview Forms

STATE BOARD RESPONSIBILITIES

It is the state board's responsibility to assign local Leagues to interview Members of the House of Representatives in the congressional districts. When there is more than one League in a district, we hope you will encourage the assigned League to include members of the other Leagues in the meeting. If other Leagues cannot be included, the assigned League should see that those Leagues get a report on the interview to help them become familiar with their own Representative. The state League also handles the interviews with the Senators and any Representative who has no local League in his/her district.

State Leagues may want to hold orientation sessions for local League interviewers in order to sharpen up their techniques. If you decide to hold an orientation, you will probably want to cover 1) the program areas to be discussed, 2) background information on the congressional delegation, 3) tips preparing, conducting and reporting the interview, 4) the necessity for filling in and returning reports, etc.

A copy of "Tell It To Washington" is enclosed in order to provide a ready reference on committee chairmen and membership for the 95th Congress. It has become increasingly difficult to predict upcoming committee chairmen; and committee assignments. This is due to internal reforms affecting seniority, the growing decentralization of power from the leadership and committee chairmen to the subcommittee chairmen and the increase in the power of the various caucuses, e.g., the DSG, Freshmen, Women, Black, Rural, etc. Therefore, a list of probable chairmen and committee assignments would be speculative. Nevertheless, in your interviews with returning members you will find it convenient to refer to their previous assignments in the 95th Congress so that you can zero in on questions which relate to that committee's jurisdiction. It would be very helpful to ask both new members and returning members what committees the member is particularly interested in serving on.

Because of the internal reforms and growth of the caucuses, the ability of freshmen to have an impact on legislation has been greatly enhanced. Freshmen no longer are thought of as apprentices who merely follow the lead of experienced members. They have larger roles to play in the workings of Congress than their predecessors in past Congresses. For this reason, it is important to interview new members as thoroughly as returning members.

CONGRESSIONAL INTERVIEW

TO:

(Local League interviewing Representative, or state board member interviewing U.S. Senator or Representative with no local Leagues in the district)

FROM: Nancy Neuman, National Action Chair

via state League

FOR: Congressional Interview with

(Senator or Representative)

YOUR LEAGUE HAS BEEN DESIGNATED TO BE RESPONSIBLE FOR THE LEAGUE INTERVIEW WITH THE ABOVE MEMBER OF CONGRESS(MC)

Because there is more than one local League in many congressional districts, state Leagues assign one League to be responsible for setting up the congressional interview, an important basis for reinforcing amicable relations from the past and for future local, state and national contacts on legislation and other matters.

Reports from the interviews are an essential part of the files in the national office, so please be sure to return one copy to the national office.

In this kit you will find: - basic directions about the timetable; a set of primary questions and a set of additional questions and three report forms

- a few tips about

preparing for the interview

reporting the interview
- and a copy of "Tell It to Washington" compiled for the 95th Congress.

TIMETABLE FOR REPORTING

January 26 The Action Committee must have interview reports for new MC's as soon as possible so they can acquaint Board members and staff with the positions of the new MC's early in the first session of the 96th Congress.

April 6 is the deadline for reports on re-elected Senate and House members and Senators not up for election this year.

These deadlines are not to suggest that you delay your interviews. Rather, they are in recognition of the fact that some Leagues may not be able to schedule interviews before the first session of the 96th Congress begins. TOP PRIORITY SHOULD BE GIVEN, HOWEVER, TO REPORTING ON INTERVIEWS WITH NEW SENATORS AND REPRESENTATIVES. The April 6 deadline for reelected Members of Congress should give you plenty of time to complete interviews.

PREPARING FOR THE INTERVIEW

Research the Member of Congress (MC) -- You will want to find out as much as you can about the Member before you talk with him/her. Check with your Voters Service Committee and Government Committee because in many Leagues, one or both of these committees has been collecting news clips, campaign literature, newsletters, voting records, candidates' questionnaires, etc. If your MC is returning, you may want to check the Almanac of American Politics (found in your local library) for a short bibliography. Also look at how your MC voted in the December 1977 "Selected Roll Call Vote" sheet.

rMC's usually specialize in two or three major areas in fields which come under their committee assignments. In cases of re-elected members you should know current committee assignments and key legislation in which the person has been interested.

Know League Program -- Interviewers should know what local, state and national League positions are, especially in the areas of oil policy, civil rights, electoral college reform and trade (where our questions are concentrated this year). Don't expect -- or try -- to become an overnight expert, not even a League member can know everything! For answers to questions the MC may bring up, don't be afraid to say you don't know but that you will call back or write more fully later.

To supplement the guidelines provided in this kit, check your president's files for copies of the following references for more information on League position:

Be sure to take along samples of League information you know will interest the person. A new MC will not necessarily have seen any League publications and probably would appreciate a sample of local, state and national resource materials. But don't inundate him or her on this first visit. Sending more material later is a good excuse for another contact.

Scheduling the interview -- Since care and cultivation of a MC's home office staff is an important part of cementing relations, we suggest that your interview be scheduled in the home office. Make your appointment well in advance, offering several dates or letting the Member suggest his/her best time. If there are other Leagues in the MC's district, you will want to consider making up a representative delegation, though try not to involve more than five people. Regardless, it is always a good idea to have two or three interviewers, at least one of whom is of the same party as the MC. Above all, interviewers need to be lively, warm and outgoing personalities -- willing to seek a basis for working together even with MCS who are generally in disagreement with League positions.

CONDUCTING THE INTERVIEW

As many of you already know, there is an art to a successful interview. The greatest pitfall of all is talking too much. Keep the interview conversational but fight temptation -- listen! Talk only enough to elicit information. The purpose of the interview is to elicit the MC's views and learn as much from and about the Hember as possible on the subject area(s) concerned. Guard against straying from the subject by having backup information on the issue, using supplementary and additional questions provided in the kit or bringing the MC back to a previous pertinent point. You may want to give the MC a copy of the questions to use as a guide during the interview. This is not primarily the time to lobby for a piece of legislation or a League position. Acquaint the MC with the League position, then find out how they view the issue.

If the MC is new, explain that the League strongly encourages its members to participate in political parties and activities of their choice, although the League never supports or opposes political parties or candidates. Make it clear also that the League takes action and works through the political process to reach its program goars on issues chosen and studied by the membership.

With both new and returning MC's, let them know you are interested in good working relations; that you want to know what their special interests are; that you want to get to know the staff in the office and hope to have a good working relationship with them, too; that you want to know how the League can serve the MC. Ask the MC to put someone in your League on the Congressional Record mailing list (have said name and address on hand) and on his/her newsletter list so you can keep up-to-date on daily activities in Washington.

Taking notes while the MC speaks may be necessary but do so as inconspicuously as possible. If more than one person goes on the interview you could share note taking so that one person always is able to maintain eye contact with the MC. Certainly don't use any electronic recorders.

Be courteous. This is especially important when you're faced with an MC hostile to the League's position. You might want to add that the League carefully studies each of the issue areas before it arrives at a position. Try to have some examples of how your district is affected by the various issues.

You may not be able to answer all the substantive questions posed but be aware of the demographics of your League and others in the district. With a new policy-maker, it's useful to point out just how involved the League is in the district. And, even if they know the League well, it often doesn't hurt to remind them.

REPORTING THE INTERVIEW

How the report will be used - Attached are three report forms to be completed as fully as possible, using an added sheet if you wish:

one for your local files and future letter-writing and interview use;

one for the state League's use and by your delegates to the May Council meeting of the LWVUS, *one for the national office League Action Committee and staff, which will glean information from them for many purposes, such as for background information for national board members when they lobby or testify, and for use in campaigns to secure or oppose legislation.

Reporting to your members - Telling members about the interview and the Member of Congress in your bulletin can provide valuable insights for future contacts with the MC. Please remember to respect any "off-the-record" comments given during the interview. Use this account to the membership to ask them to let you know any information they have about special interests or friends of the MC. NOT scuttlebutt, but little tips that might help in the future.

Reporting to other Leagues - If there are other Leagues in the congressional district that were not at the meeting, send them a report.

*For new members, please attach to the copy for the national office any available newpaper clippings, responses to congressional questionnaires, major position statements made during the campaign (brochures, etc.), and personal background information (i.e. is the MC or their spouse a League member, what non-legislative interests does the Member have, who are the MC's major campaign contributors and supporters, etc.).

CONGRESSIONAL INTERVIEW KIT

GUIDELINES ON QUESTIONS TO BE USED IN CONGRESSIONAL INTERVIEWS

This kit probably contains more material than you need. In order to cover the diverse interests both of League members and Members of Congress (MCs), the suggested questions are drawn from all League program areas. We are aware that you might not have time to discuss each subject during your interview. If you know that your meeting with the MC will be brief, use your own good judgment about which of the four major areas of concern you should concentrate on. You can then, perhaps, follow up the interview with some correspondence concerning the MC's position on those issues which you were not able to discuss.

We are seeking the opinions and positions of all Members of Congress on a sample of issues of prime concern to the League in the 96th Congress. These include oil policy, civil rights, electoral college reform and trade. Returning MCs will be familiar with legislation filed in past sessions and can be expected to respond in more detail, both about substance and political realities. You may want to use the background material (see attached pink sheets) to introduce the questions for new Members. We hope you will have time to ask the main question in all areas. Use your judgment about the MC's particular interests and knowledge to determine which area(s) you want to discuss in further depth using the supplementary follow-up questions -- in fact, you will want to ask the MC which area(s) he/she is most interested in talking about.

A copy of "Tell It To Washington" is enclosed in order to provide a ready reference on committee chairmen and membership for the 95th Congress. It has become increasingly difficult to predict upcoming committee chairmen and committee assignments. This is due to internal reforms affecting seniority, the growing decentralization of the power from the leadership and committee chairmen to the subcommittee chairman and the increase in the growth and power of the various caucuses, e.g. the DSG, Freshmen, Women, Black, Rural, etc. Therefore a list of probable chairmen and committee assignments would be speculative. Nevertheless, in your interviews with returning Members you will find it convenient to refer to their previous assignments in the 95th Congress so that you can zero-in on questions which relate to that committee's jurisdiction. It would be very helpful to ask both new Members and returning Members what committees the Member is particularly interested in serving on.

Freshmen no longer are thought of as apprentices who merely follow the lead of experienced Members. They have larger roles to play in the workings of Congress than their predecessors in past Congresses. For this reason, it is important to interview new Members as thoroughly as returning Members.

Remember that the primary focus of this interview is not lobbying for League positions but to learn your MC's attitude. Where the MC opposes the League's position, try to find out why and how strongly; in future lobbying we will be able to use this information to pinpoint where we can be most effective.

Since there are so many areas to be covered, if the position of the MC on one or more of these issues is already known, do not take time for that question (except to thank the MC for known support). Please include the Member's position in your report to us, however.

PRIMARY QUESTIONS

Leaune of Homen Votors of the U.S.

Mashington, D.C. 20036

SUBJECT AREAS TO BE COVERED WITH ALL MEMBERS OF CONGRESS

(See attached pink sheets for expanded background information)

1. Oil Policy. Nearly one half of all oil used in the United States is imported and paid for at prices set by members of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC), a cartel of oil producing nations. Continued reliance on higher priced oil imports has led to serious U.S. balance of payments problems, greater inflationary pressures, and more vulnerability to supply cut-offs. At the same time, domestically produced oil is sold at regulated prices well below the world level. Thus the real price paid by users of oil is below the cost of imported oil which, in effect, subsidizes the purchase of imported oil and does not encourage energy conservation. Several methods have been proposed to deal with this situation. These include: imposing oil import fees or quotas; deregulating the price of domestically produced oil, with or without taxes, to recoup the possible windfall profits likely to follow deregulation: imposing taxes to raise the price of domestically produced oil eventually to world levels; and imposing user taxes, including gasoline taxes, to discourage oil use and encourage energy conservation.

MAIN QUESTION: Which of these methods, or combination of methods, do you support, or what other approaches would you advocate to deal with this situation?

SUPPLEMENTARY QUESTIONS: Higher oil prices will have an impact on producers, businesses, consumers and the economy generally. Should the proceeds from higher oil prices be rebated to the general public, go to private energy producers to encourage exploration and production, or to the government to further national energy policy? Or would you favor some combination of these alternatives or other use of the proceeds?

2. Civil Rights. With increasing frequency during recent years, the Congress has been faced with and in several cases adopted measures that would slow down or reverse progress made in erasing discriminatory practices in education and employment. The League is concerned that congressional commitment to desegregation and equal employment opportunity might be faltering.

A frontal attack has been launched against busing plans to implement school desegregation. Thus far, amendments to curtail school busing have taken two forms: one would prohibit HEW from using administrative sanctions in carrying out its constitutional authority to insist on the implementation of school desegregation plans; the second would limit the courts' ability to order school desegregation and to fashion legal remedies.

In the area of employment, Congress has been faced with anti-affirmative action amendments. For the past two years, these amendments, generally attached to the Labor/HEW Appropriations bill, have sought to cut off funds used in connection with federal enforcement of compliance with numerical requirements (goals, ratios, timetables, quotas, etc.) related to race, creed, color, national origin, sex or age.

MAIN QUESTIONS: In light of the fact that you will probably be asked to deal with these and similar proposals, what is your response to the two approaches to curtail school busing -- administrative and judicial? Would you support or reject legislation limiting any federal agency's ability to ensure affirmative action in employment?

3. Electoral College Reform. The 1977 Gallup Poll shows 84% of American citizens support direct election. The LUVUS believes that the direct popular vote method for electing the President and Vice-President is essential to representative government. The LUVUS supports a constitutional amendment calling for the direct election of the president, including a provision for a run-off election in the event that no candidate receives more than 40 percent of the popular vote.

MAIN QUESTIONS: Will you vote for a constitutional amendment providing for the direct popular election of the President and Vice-President?

If Yes, do you also support a run-off if no candidate receives more than 40 percent of the popular vote?

If No, do you believe the Electoral College should be reformed in any way?

4. Trade. Trade stimulates economic development at home and abroad. Though estimates vary, as many as one out of six jobs in the United States depends either directly or indirectly on exports and about one third of the agricultural commodities produced in the U.S. are exported. The U.S. also serves as the largest export market for the rest of the world's goods and services. In fact, the amount we've spent to buy products from overseas has far exceeded the money we've earned by selling American products abroad. Partly as a result of this large trade deficit -- $27 billion in 1977 -- protectionist sentiments in the Congress are reemerging. At the same time, international trade negotiations going on in Geneva seek to facilitate trade expansion by liberalizing trade policies of all nations.

MAIN QUESTIONS: Bearing in mind the importance of international trade to the U.S. economy, would you support legislation aimed at reducing or removing U.S. trade barriers? What can Congress do to encourage U.S. competitiveness abroad and minimize the impact of changing trade patterns on domestic problem sectors?

SUPPLEMENTARY QUESTION: In the same way that exports spur U.S. economic growth, developing nations earn foreign exchange through the sale of their raw materials, manufactured goods and services. In order to help LDC's earn foreign exchange to finance their development efforts, should the U.S. take special measures such as the generalized system of preferences to expand U.S. markets for goods from the LDC's?

You can then, perhaps, follow up the interview with some correspondence concerning the MC's position on those issues which you were not able to discuss.

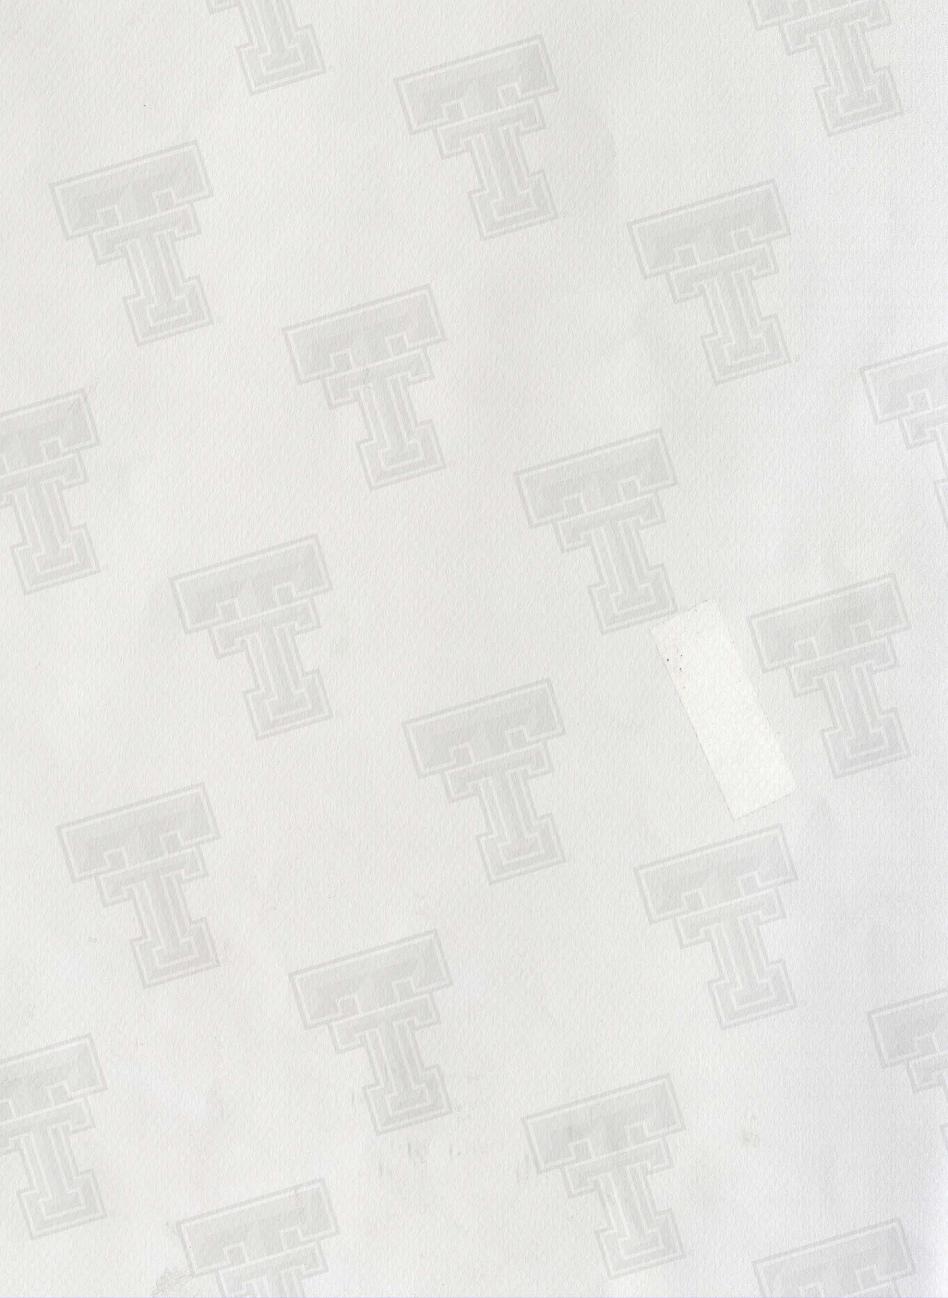

We are seeking the opinions and positions of all Members of Congress on a sample of issues of prime concern to the League in the 96th Congress. These include oil policy, civil rights, electoral college reform and trade. Returning MCs will be familiar with legislation filed in past sessions and can be expected to respond in more detail, both about substance and political realities. You may want to use the background material (see attached pink sheets) to introduce the questions for new Members. We hope you will have time to ask the main question in all areas. Use your judgment about the MC's particular interests and knowledge to determine which area(s) you want to discuss in further depth using the supplementary follow-up questions -- in fact, you will want to ask the MC which area(s) he/she is most interested in talking about.

A copy of "Tell It To Washington" is enclosed in order to provide a ready reference on committee chairmen and membership for the 95th Congress. It has become increasingly difficult to predict upcoming committee chairmen and committee assignments. This is due to internal reforms affecting seniority, the growing decentralization of the power from the leadership and committee chairmen to the subcommittee chairman and the increase in the growth and power of the various caucuses, e.g. the DSG, Freshmen, Women, Black, Rural, etc. Therefore a list of probable chairmen and committee assignments would be speculative. Nevertheless, in your interviews with returning Members you will find it convenient to refer to their previous assignments in the 95th Congress so that you can zero-in on questions which relate to that committee's jurisdiction. It would be very helpful to ask both new Members and returning Members what committees the Member is particularly interested in serving on.

Because of the internal reforms and growth of the caucuses, the ability of freshmen to have an impact on legislation has been greatly enhanced. Freshmen no longer are thought of as apprentices who merely follow the lead of experienced Members. They have larger roles to play in the workings of Congress than their predecessors in past Congresses. For this reason, it is important to interview new Members as thoroughly as returning Members.

Remember that the primary focus of this interview is not lobbying for League positions but to learn your MC's attitude. Where the MC opposes the League's position, try to find out why and how strongly; in future lobbying we will be able to use this information to pinpoint where we can be most effective.

Since there are so many areas to be covered, if the position of the MC on one or more of these issues is already known, do not take time for that question (except to thank the MC for known support). Please include the Member's position in your report to us, however.

(See attached pink sheets for expanded background information)

1. Oil Policy. Nearly one half of all oil used in the United States is imported and paid for at prices set by members of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC), a cartel of oil producing nations. Continued reliance on higher priced oil imports has led to serious U.S. balance of payments problems, greater inflationary pressures, and more vulnerability to supply cut-offs. At the same time, domestically produced oil is sold at regulated prices well below the world level. Thus the real price paid by users of oil is below the cost of imported oil which, in effect, subsidizes the purchase of imported oil and does not encourage energy conservation. Several methods have been proposed to deal with this situation. These include: imposing oil import fees or quotas; deregulating the price of domestically produced oil, with or without taxes, to recoup the possible windfall profits likely to follow deregulation; imposing taxes to raise the price of domestically produced oil eventually to world levels; and imposing user taxes, including gasoline taxes, to discourage oil use and encourage energy conservation.

MAIN QUESTION: Which of these methods, or combination of methods, do you support, or what other approaches would you advocate to deal with this situation?

SUPPLEMENTARY QUESTIONS: Higher oil prices will have an impact on producers, businesses, consumers and the economy generally. Should the proceeds from higher oil prices be rebated to the general public, go to private energy producers to encourage exploration and production, or to the government to further national energy policy? Or would you favor some combination of these alternatives or other use of the proceeds?

2. Civil Rights. With increasing frequency during recent years, the Congress has been faced with and in several cases adopted measures that would slow down or reverse progress made in erasing discriminatory practices in education and employment. The League is concerned that congressional commitment to desegregation and equal employment opportunity might be faltering.

A frontal attack has been launched against busing plans to implement school desegregation. Thus far, amendments to curtail school busing have taken two forms: one would prohibit HEW from using administrative sanctions in carrying out its constitutional authority to insist on the implementation of school desegregation plans; the second would limit the courts' ability to order school desegregation and to fashion legal remedies.

In the area of employment, Congress has been faced with anti-affirmative action amendments. For the past two years, these amendments, generally attached to the Labor/HEW Appropriations bill, have sought to cut off funds used in connection with federal enforcement of compliance with numerical requirements (goals, ratios, timetables, quotas, etc.) related to race, creed, color, national origin, sex or age.

CONGRESSIONAL INTERVIEW KIT

BACKGROUND INFORMATION ON PRIMARY QUESTIONS

FOR ALL MEMBERS OF CONGRESS

1. Oil Policy. The same of the Domestic oil production which aided U.S. economic growth through the 1960's has peaked and oil imports have risen rapidly to close the widening gap between declining domestic production and continued rising demand. At the time of the 1973 oil embargo, the U.S. was importing 36 percent of the oil it used; latest figures show the U.S. imports 47 percent of all oil used. Energy prices, which had declined in real terms through the 1960's, have risen rapidly in the 1970's as the more accessible oil reserves are depleted and the power to set prices shifts to an increasingly effective and cohesive foreign cartel. The quadrupling of oil prices by OPEC since 1973 has stabilized at the current $13 per barrel but another OPEC price increase is expected soon. In 1977, the most recent year for which total figures are available from the U.S. Department of Commerce, the U.S. spent over $45 billion on imported oil.

Price controls on domestically produced oil were first instituted in 1971 as part of the overall wage and price control program initiated by President Nixon to limit inflation. These price controls were continued after the oil embargo, in part to prevent a precipitant price increase which would further cripple economic recovery, and in part to prevent domestic oil producers from gaining windfall profits: by raising prices to the OPEC cartel level. Under current law there are three tiers of oil prices: imports and oil produced from stripper wells (those well producing less than 10 barrels per day) are exempt from controls and receive the import price of approximately $13 per barrel; upper tier oil, including new domestically produced oil, is controlled at about $11 per barrel; lower tier oil, including that produced from wells in existence in 1973, is controlled at an average price of about $5.25 per barrel. The mandatory price control system ends in the spring of 1979, though the president has authority under current law to maintain the controls until October 1981. In addition, he has authority to impose import fees or quotas on oil.

In his national energy plan announced in April 1977, the president proposed imposing a crude-oil equalization tax (COET), a standby tax on gasoline, and taxes on the use of oil (and gas) by industries and utilities. None of these proposals were enacted as part of the National Energy Act. COET would have imposed a tax on domestic oil at the wellhead over a three year period to raise the price to the 1977 world level. The proceeds from COET would have been rebated to all persons on a per capita basis. The user tax was aimed at encouraging conservation and conversion to fuels other than oil and gas and included provisions to allow an additional 10% investment tax credit or an offset from taxes paid to those industries and utilities converting from oil or gas use.

The League believes the federal government should gradually deregulate the oil prices and at the same time tax windfall profits attributable to deregulation. The taxes could be imposed either at the wellhead, as envisioned in the COET proposal, or could be imposed as income taxes. The taxes are needed to prevent domestic producers from profiting from the OPEC cartel, which sets prices without regard for production costs. Gradual deregulation will raise oil prices to world levels and thus serve to reduce imports and encourage conservation and the use of renewable resources and coal. The League also supports user taxes as a means of accomplishing conservation and reducing imports. Both types of taxes should be used to reduce the impact of higher energy prices on low-income consumers and the economy in general and/or to encourage conversion to alternative fuels.

2. Civil Rights.

Desegregation—The landmark 1954 Supreme Court decision in Brown v Board of Education started the dismantling of our country's dual school system. It has taken many years and scores of court cases to clarify the language of Brown and subsequent decisions. Progress in school desegregation has resulted from efforts by all three branches of the federal government to expand and enforce civil rights as well as careful and sensitive community planning to bring about compliance. The progress, however, has not been regionally distributed and desegregation advocates recently have focused increased attention on the North and West where findings show Health, Education and Welfare enforcement of school desegregation has lagged behind earlier efforts in the South.

As the North has been increasingly faced with court-ordered desegregation and the threat of HEW's withholding of federal funds, anti-busing amendments in Congress have gained support from an increasing number of the traditionally "liberal" Members of Congress representing districts and states in the newly affected and potentially affected areas. They're joined by those Southern members who argue that the amendments represent attempts to get out of the desegregation requirements the South has had to comply with for many years. Congressional attempts to thwart civil rights desegregation efforts have appeared in two forms: one would prohibit HEW from using administrative sanctions in carrying out its constitutional authority to insist on the implementation of school desegregation plans, the second would limit the court's ability to order school desegregation and to fashion legal remedies.

The Byrd amendment to the fiscal year 1977 Labor/HEW Appropriations bill prohibited HEW from using funds to require local school districts to bus students away from their neighborhood schools in order to comply with Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964. HEW responded by issuing regulations allowing the pairing or clustering of local schools. Busing opponents considered this to be a circumvention of congressional intent and subsequently moved to prohibit the transportation of students in any manner away from local schools. Commonly referred to as the Eagleton-Biden amendment, this legislation in effect curtailed HEW's powers in taking remedial action under Title VI when confronted with unlawful practises of segregation. Although HEW has brought about compliance in most instances by negotiating voluntary school desegregation plans, the threat of withholding federal funds under Title VI historically has been a powerful and effective tool in working with school districts.

Supreme Court rulings uphold the use of student transportation and reassignment as lawful remedies to overcome unconstitutional school desegregation when no other methods are available. The Supreme Court has not ruled on the constitutionality of any anti-busing amendments, but a U.S. District Court did rule that Eagleton-Biden is consitutional on its face. However, according to a recent memorandum prepared by the Assistant Attorney General for the Civil Rights Division of the Justice Department, "the interpretation which would apply the transportation limitation of Eagleton-Biden before a remedy is proposed would conflict with Title VI and raise constitutional questions; (because) the principles of statutory construction require that a statute be interpreted if possible, to avoid conflict with the Constitution and with other statutes."

Faced with a Fall 1978 desegregation deadline in metropolitan Wilmington and New Castle County, Deleware, U.S.Senators Biden (D-DEL) and Roth (R-DEL) introduced a new element into the debate. Turning attention directly to the courts, their legislation (S. 1651) would limit the authority of federal judges to order desegregation of public schools and fashion remedies. The Senate defeated this bill on a very narrow margin. The winning margin, unfortunately, did not fully represent support for desegregation efforts—it also included those opposed to busing but voting against the measure because they believed it would, by interfering with the court, violate the principle of separation of powers.

It is very important, when discussing the issues of busing and other efforts to effect school desegregation, to realize that only about 4 percent of school busing occurs as a result of desegregation plans. This statistic, cited by the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights and Library of Congress, indicates that the negative reaction to busing is not based solely on the transport factor, but represents a stronger, usually hidden, societal attitude of racial prejudice.

The LWVUS views busing as a reasonable tool to bring about school desegregation and has opposed congressional attempts to stall or eliminate this remedy. In addition, the LWVUS has opposed the Roth/Biden busing bill as unconstitutional under the separation of powers doctrine. We believe these amendments to be pernicious attempts to weaken the process of desegregation.

Affirmative Action—The use of affirmative action plans to redress past discriminatory practices in education and employment is an issue of growing national debate. Opponents of affirmative action claim that any numerical requirement is discriminatory and results in reverse discrimination. Supporters of affirmative action view these requirements as tools which are necessary to implement the concept of equal opportunity. Both sides have looked to the courts and Congress for support.

Because of the growing interest in questions of affirmative action and "reverse discrimination," much national attention was focused on the 1978 Regents of the University of California (Davis) v. Bakke decision and its potential as a vehicle for a definitive Supreme Court ruling on affirmative action. While the Bakke decision left many questions unanswered, many constitutional and court scholars agree it does affirm the principle of affirmative action. While rejecting Davis' affirmative action plan because of no past discriminatory practices at the university, the Court did rule that schools may give special attention to race as a factor in admissions.

The Supreme Court appears to give every indication that in the area of employment it will continue to sanction tough measures to erase the effects of past discrimination. Federal courts have consistently approved the use of numerical goals or quotas to redress discrimination in employment. This policy was reinforced a week after the Bakke decision when the Court declined to review a lower court ruling upholding an affirmative action plan at AT&T that set numerical goals for hiring and promoting minorities and women.

The Congress has been more receptive than the courts to pleas to discontinue affirmative action tools. For the past two years, legislation to curtail federal quencies' ability to use goals, timetables, numerical requirements, ratios and quotas to enforce statutes prohibiting employment discrimination have been introduced in Congress. In fact, such a rider to the 1979 Labor/HEW appropriations bill was passed in the House but rejected by House/Senate conferees in clearing the final version of the legislation.

Civil rights enforcement statutes that would be made meaningless under such legislation include: Executive Order 11246, requiring federal contractors to adopt affirmative action plans designed to ensure that contractors do not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin or sex; Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, prohibiting discrimination based on race, color or national origin in federally assisted programs; Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972, prohibiting sex discrimination in federally assisted programs; and, compliance requirements set by the courts which may require the use of numerical requirements. In addition, federal laws containing special provisions such as the 1977 Federal Public Works Employment Act's ten percent set aside for minority contractors would be threatened.

The LHVUS has been a consistent supporter of affirmative action and its constitutional safeguards and opposed actions to undermine civil rights enforcement.

3. Electoral College Reform.

There are serious defects in the present electoral college system of electing the President and Vice President. The worst defect is the possibility that a President and Vice-President can be elected who have not received the most popular votes -- who are not the choice of the people. Direct popular voting would eliminate this possibility. Other serious defects eliminated by the direct election method are the winner-take-all system of allocating electoral votes with its attendant injustices and the possibility of the "faithless elector."

The LWVUS supports a constitutional amendment to provide for the direct popular election of the President. We believe that the present system of channeling people's votes for President and Vice-President through a state-related system of electoral votes is archaic und unnecessary. If Presidential Electors are the reflection of the popular vote their function is redundant. If, on the other hand, they exercised their independence, they would be an obstacle to the popular will as it is expressed at the polls.

We believe that the present outmoded system should be replaced by a method that incorporates the principle of one person, one vote through direct popular election. We also believe that voter participation would be encouraged by a system in which each citizen's vote has equal Weight.

Throughout the years there have been various bills introduced in Congress dealing with either reform of the electoral college system or with abolition of the system, replacing it with a direct popular election. In the 93rd, 94th, and 95th Congresses, constitutional amendments were introduced (all carrying the number SJ Res 1) which would permit direct election. The League supported all these initiatives. Senator Bayh (D-IN) is expected to reintroduce the resolution in the 96th Congress.

One of the problems involved in gaining support for a direct election resolution has been a difference of opinion over what the bill should provide in the case where no candidate receives more than 40% of the popular vote. The League prefers a run-off provision.

4. Trade.

The staggering increase in the price of oil since 1973 and the subsequent worldwide recession of 1974 and 1975 plunged the world economy into a state of disarray from which it has not yet recovered. The basic problem for the United States and other energy importing nations is the inability to balance the cost of imports with the sale of exports. Faced with trade deficits, high unemployment and inflation, the debate between freer trade and restricted trade once again comes to center ground.

League of Women Voters of the U.S.

During the 95th Congress the interplay between protectionist and liberal trade supporters netted little damage or benefit for either side but set the stage for the next session of Congress when trade debate will reach high pitch. If they are successful the multilatrral trade negotiations going on in Geneva and scheduled to be completed in December will result in new rules for international trade which will not only require other countries to trade fairly but also give us a means to require adherence to those rules. Upon completion of the agreement, Congress will have to review the provisions and accept or reject the agreement without amendment. The Ways and Means Committee and Finance Committee have primary responsibility to review and analyze the agreement but other House and Senate committees including Commerce, Agriculture and Governmental Affairs will be reviewing provisions.

For over forty years the LWVUS has supported a liberalization of U.S. trade policy through the systematic reduction of tariff and nontariff barriers. The League has been involved in every major piece of trade legislation, always coming out strongly for measures that are trade expansive rather than trade restrictive. In 1974, we supported provisions in the Trade Act authorizing U.S. participation in the multilateral trade negotiations under the auspices of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade. Since then, the League has worked to deflect protectionist efforts such as tariffs, quotas, and Buy America provisions and to keep them from jeopardizing the progress of the negotiations.

The League hopes that in congressional consideration of the MTN agreement and any other trade legislation, the emphasis will be on a flexible, efficient and effective trade policy based on the public interest, not on special or sectional interests. We are convinced that the political and economic interests of this country and of its citizens collectively and individually are best served by such a policy.

INTERVIEW WITH JIM MATTOX

1. Re. Oil Policy

Congressman Mattox says he favors gradual deregulation of the price of new oil. If there are any windfall profits to oil companies, they could be taxed, but gradual deregulation should prevent this. If profits were taxed, the funds could go for research for alternate energy sources. Having the company put their profits back into oil exploration in this country would be a good use of the money.

Mr. Mattox is a member of the Alliance to Save Energy, a two year old group which a number of Congressmen belong to, but the group has so far been inactive.

Mr. Mattox also wonders why LWV is concerned about how much we pay for OPEC oil.

2. Re. Trade

Free trade is the ideal situation. However, if an imbalance of dollars is leaving the country as we purchase oil at fixed prices, we may have to resort to restrictions on the importation of manufactured goods to avoid placing the dollar in a dangerous position. On the other hand, we would not like to precipitate an international crisis by stopping the flow of foreign goods. We would like other countries to voluntarily reduce their exports to the U.S.

By the way, if the LWV claims to be for free trade but would favor raising oil prices to encourage conservation, isn't that protectionism and an inconsistent viewpoint, queries Mr. Mattox.

Concerning trade with underdeveloped countries, Mr. Mattox claims to be for reducing trade barriers.

3. Re. Electoral College

Congressman Mattox says he is for direct election of the president, but not for direct run-offs because of the possibility of minority parties bargaining and joining together. He may vote for direct election, but he would never sponsor such a bill. In general, he feels that "League of Women Voters is off on an esoteric issue," one that does not generally trouble the public. He feels the system works rather well now, and says, "If it's not broken, don't fix it."

4. Re. Civil Rights

Mattox has had a long personal involvement in civil rights issues. He is not opposed to busing, but he feels that "we haven't developed a concept of busing that works." Present forms of busing are destroying our educational system and neighborhoods, and causing white flight. We need fine central city and magnet schools to encourage volunteer busing, or the redrawing of district lines to naturally integrate schools.

Congressman Mattox favors affirmative action in employment.

CONGRESSIONAL INTERVIEW KIT

ADDITIONAL OUESTIONS

Questions and Briefing on Additional Issues of League Concern to be Used As Possible.

It is hoped that you will have time to cover all these questions. However, we realize that some Members will not have the time or interest to answer questions in all the areas. You should use your own judgment as to which items will be most suitable for that particular Member. Because we have no information on newly elected Members, it is especially important that you cover as many questions as possible with them.

NATURAL RESOURCES

Water Resource Policy. The President has announced a series of water resource policy reforms and backed up his concern in this area by vetoing the Fiscal Year 1979 Public Works Appropriations bill because it did not conform to the proposed reforms. The reforms include: requiring states to pay a greater share of the costs of water resource development; providing additional federal monies for comprehensive water management planning by states; making cost-Sharing for structural and non-structural projects uniform, increasing emphasis on water conservation and non-structural alternatives to water projects, strictly protecting the environment; ranking projects by their potential contribution to the national economy; and full, upfront funding for water projects. The President's reform list did not include: increasing the discount rate used when computing project cost/benefit ratios nor an increase in charges paid by private users of water projects.

QUESTIONS: Would you support the President's proposed water resource policy reforms? What additions or deletions would you make to accomplish reform of water resources policy?

HUHAN RESOURCES

Fair Employment. Despite studies clearly showing that widespread discrimination exists on Capitol Hill, Congress continues to reject legislation which would bring Congress itself under anti-discrimination statutes. During the 95th Congress, corrective measures contained in the Obey Commission Reform package were defeated in the House and the Lee Metcalf Fair Employment Practices Resolution was prevented from coming up for a vote in the Senate.

QUESTION: Will you support legislation that ensures congressional employees protection against job discrimination?

Welfare. There is general agreement that the current welfare system needs reform, but welfare reform means different things to different people. To some, it means federal assumption of state and local costs; to others more adequate benefits and coverage for the poor, and to still others, cutting back on welfare rolls and costs. While the climate in Washington for reform seems favorable, agreement on the extent of change needed, the timetable and the strategy has not yet emerged. In the 95th Congress, the Administration announced a major comprehensive reform proposal. This effort fell apart -- a primary factor for its failure was the high price tag on the proposal. We expect and will support efforts to enact significant welfare reform in the 96th Congress.

QUESTIONS: What do you view as the necessary components of an acceptable welfare reform bill? Would you support extending coverage to two-parent families? a federal minimum benefit floor? tying welfare to job training and placement assistance and public service employment? federal assumption of state and local welfare costs?

Housing. In 1968, Congress set a ten year goal to provide 600,000 subsidized housing units annually for low income people. A decade later, less than one half that national goal has been achieved and drastic reductions continue to diminish current programs. With an eye toward balancing the budget, the President has requested further cuts in the targets set by Congress. In fact, the Department of Housing and Urban Development reluctantly complied with the President's request and submitted a budget f for FY 1980 calling for less than 300,000 units of Section 8 and public housing, so low a level as to equal that set in 1967. Many, including the League support the 1968 goals believing housing for low income people is a top national priority.

QUESTION: Would you work to support a level of 600,000 units to uphold our national commitment to a decent home in a suitable environment for every American?

GOVERNMENT

Campaign Finance Reform: The League has been a strong supporter of the Federal Election Campaign Act (FECA). He worked for its original enactment, intervened in its defense before the Supreme Court and lobbied for the reconstitution of the Federal Election Commission (FEC) in 1976. In the 95th Congress, we supported both Senate and House bills that would have provided public funds to congressional candidates.

QUESTIONS: Will you vote to provide public funds to congressional elections? Can any changes be made to the FECA which would create more equal competition between challengers and incumbents?

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS

Development Assistance. Developing nations also receive economic development assistance. In recent years, U.S. contributions to multilateral programs coordinated by the UN specialized agencies and the international financial institutions have exceeded bilateral aid appropriations. Some Members of Congress have attempted to gain greater U.S. control by placing political or protectionist conditions on the use of such funds despite the prohibitions on restricting contributions to international institutions.

QUESTION: Do you favor continued U.S. participation in multilateral development aid efforts at increased levels without restrictions?

Many development programs currently are in a variety of departments: Agency for International Development, Treasury, State and Agriculture.

QUESTION: Would you favor creation of an independent agency to coordinate and administer U.S. development aid?

TO: State League Presidents

FROM: Ruth J. Hinerfeld, President and Nancy Neuman, Action Chair

RE: Congressional Interviews

Enclosed is the material to be used in interviews with your state congressional delegation. We are sending you enough copies for use by one League in each of your congressional districts and for use by the state board members who will be talking with your Senators and with Representatives who have no local Leagues in their districts. Two extra kits are included for your files. In each kit for local Leagues are included:

- 1. An instruction memo from Nancy Neuman (blue).
 - A copy of "Tell It To Washington" which contains committee chairmen and assignments for the 95th Congress.
 - 3. A listing of primary questions to be asked (yellow) with an attachment providing background material (pink) and a set of additional questions (green) to be asked if time and interest permit.
 - 4. Three copies of the interview report form: one copy for the national office, one copy for the state office, one copy for local League files, (white).

DEADLINES FOR RETURN OF INTERVIEW REPORT FORMS

NEW REPRESENTATIVES AND NEW SENATORS

January 26

The Action Committee must have interview reports as soon as possible so they can acquaint Board members and staff with the positions of the newly elected members of Congress early in the first session of the 96th Congress.

RE-ELECTED REPRESENTATIVES AND SENATORS

April 6

If you cannot undertake the interviews of re-elected MC's by the start of the new session, they should be scheduled early in 1979. The National Council will meet in Washington on April 30-May 3, and the legislative action staff needs returned interviews in time to prepare for Council lobbying on the Hill.

PAGE TWO, November 1978 Congressional Interview Forms

STATE BOARD RESPONSIBILITIES

It is the state board's responsibility to assign local Leagues to interview Members of the House of Representatives in the congressional districts. When there is more than one League in a district, we hope you will encourage the assigned League to include members of the other Leagues in the meeting. If other Leagues cannot be included, the assigned League should see that those Leagues get a report on the interview to help them become familiar with their own Representative. The state League also handles the interviews with the Senators and any Representative who has no local League in his/her district.

State Leagues may want to hold orientation sessions for local League interviewers in order to sharpen up their techniques. If you decide to hold an orientation, you will probably want to cover 1) the program areas to be discussed, 2) background information on the congressional delegation, 3) tips preparing, conducting and reporting the interview, 4) the necessity for filling in and returning reports, etc.

A copy of "Tell It To Washington" is enclosed in order to provide a ready reference on committee chairmen and membership for the 95th Congress. It has become increasingly difficult to predict upcoming committee chairmen; and committee assignments. This is due to internal reforms affecting seniority, the growing decentralization of power from the leadership and committee chairmen to the subcommittee chairmen and the increase in the power of the various caucuses, e.g., the DSG, Freshmen, Women, Black, Rural, etc. Therefore, a list of probable chairmen and committee assignments would be speculative. Nevertheless, in your interviews with returning members you will find it convenient to refer to their previous assignments in the 95th Congress so that you can zero in on questions which relate to that committee's jurisdiction. It would be very helpful to ask both new members and returning members what committees the member is particularly interested in serving on.

Because of the internal reforms and growth of the caucuses, the ability of freshmen to have an impact on legislation has been greatly enhanced. Freshmen no longer are thought of as apprentices who merely follow the lead of experienced members. They have larger roles to play in the workings of Congress than their predecessors in past Congresses. For this reason, it is important to interview new members as thoroughly as returning members.

- OIL: There is a shortage. There is a serious problem. Deregulation should encourage the increased production and exploration for oil, not only in the US areas of present production but also in areas not now producing. Proceeds from higher oil prices should not be rebated to the general public. Mr. Hall discussed the proposed tax on "windfall" profits. Gov't should not set oil prices. Should work with Mexico for oil. Possibly some allocation for ranches and farms.
- CIVIL RIGHTS: Regarding the amendment to limit the courts' ability to order school desegregation, Mr. Hall says that that amendment has not yet passed. He feels that present laws, if enforced, would provide equitable desegregation. Mr. Hall probably would be against a bill which would require every federal agency the ability to ensure affirmative action on employment. He feels that is inefficient and inappropriate. Mr. Hall is concerned regarding the CETA program, feeling that it is not working in many areas, especially urban areas.

ELECTORAL COLLEGE REFORM: Has mixed emotions. In past would have been for direct election but after his experiences and further study in the last few years, he is now tending toward a negative opinion regarding direct popular election for President and Vice-President.

Mr. Hall is undecided regarding reform of Electorial College.

TRADE: Mr. Hall would not support legislation aimed at reducing US trade barriers. The US should stop allowing foreign countries to dump cheap goods on the US economy such as steel and cheese.

(Hore space on back. Attach another page if necessary, as well as additional information: see "Reporting" in Fis. Neuman's covering memo)

In general Mr. Hall believes government must be most careful when considering new regulation. One should always remember and try to calculate the added cost of that regulation to the economy in general and to the particular item to be regulated. As a result of the interview, how do you think the League can work most effectively with the Hember of Congress? What is the MCs attitude toward the League as an organization and in general toward the League's national positions? Prior to the interview we have had a close and open relationship with Mr. Hall. He has been most helpful in helping us obtain needed information on PCB's and has been available to us and the community. He was most supportive to the community when Shreveport, Louisiana, wanted to take water from Marshall's only municipal water source. Our League has been most active in that area. As a result of the interview we feel even more firmly that Mr. Hall is willing to "give his all" in working for our community, district, and for our country. He noted that many more involved and complex international problems come before the Congress than one would expect. Other organizations and/or individuals to whom the MC is particularly responsive: Mr. Hall receives over 1400 letters a week from his constituents and they are read. He does want to hear and he does answer. He is interested in what they are thinking and what their needs are. Kind of interview (where held, number of Leagues and League members involved): Saturday morning, 2 hours, in Mr. Hall's local office 4 Leaguers involved, cross section of League by office and interests New Pres, immediate past Pres, legislative chair(white male),1st VP(black female) Signed Sallie Gullion Portfolio Immediate Past President Representing the League of Women Voters of Marshall/Harrison County, Texas (address) FOR CONGRESSIONAL FILE LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS NOT FOR PUBLICATION

- 3. Electoral College Referm Representative Collins has not taken a position on direct election of President and Vice-Pres. yet. His only concern with the idea is that 15 states in the Northeast could determine the winners.
- 4. Trade A. Favors trade with any country that will pay on delivery.
 - B. The high cost of U.S. labor is the prime reason we can't compete with other countries.
- 5. Water Rep. Cellins supports federal assistance for water projects. (This is especially critical to Dallas 7th ranked of major cities; first 6 cities are on waterways.)
- 6. Fair Empleyment Against jeb discrimination.
- 7. Welfare Against guaranteed income plan; would prefer to have incentives provided to encourage recipients to get off welfare. Each case should be classified, like the draft, to see which recipients are fit/able to work, manually or otherwise. These that are able should be given two jeb offers by the government. One or the jeb should be accepted or the recipient taken off the reals.

Against federal assumption of state and local costs.

- 8. Housing Galy the elderly should be provided with government housing.
- 9. Campaign Finance Reform Rep. Cellins supports the individual denating money to his or her preferred candidate, and is against the use of public funding for congressional elections.

He feels there should not be a ceiling on campaign spending because limiting spending gives the incumbent unfair advantage ever the challenger, TV expesure, printed materials, etc.

Additional Question on Housing(on more subsidized housing units to be built annually for low income people): Nr. Mattox: "300.000 units-600.000 units! Does it really make any difference? People will tear them up no matter how many we build ... You should see public housing in South Dallas ... 235 concept is OK if not in impacted area or if just build a few." As a result of the interview, how do you think the League can work most effectively with the Member of Congress? What is the MCs attitude toward the League as an organization and in general toward the League's national positions? We felt that the best approach would be to take facts and information to Fr. Report Of Congressional Interview (Confidential)

Date NOV. 22, 1978

Member of Congress (MC)

Name Dr. Phil Gramm

District #

State TX

Party DEMOCRATIC

Particular legislative interests (committee preferences if new): COMMERCE

Dr. Gramm is an expert in Economics. He would limit the growth of federal power and spending; encourage unbindered free enterprise; and give power back to local governments. Subjects discussed and views of EC on each: 1) Oil policy: favors total de-regulation of domestic oil and gas prices. Categorically opposes tax increases and additional taxes. Favors tax credit incentives for business. Believes that government should not tamper with markets. Supports little or no tax credits for individuals. Energy funds should go to primary research, not to development and pilot projects. Opposes corporate divestiture. Would open both East and West coasts to extensive offshore drilling, permitting involvement of "small" operators. Favors improved relations with Mexico.

2)Civil Rights: Categorically opposed to school busing. Opposed to administrative sanctions by Hawa Opposed to court-ordered busing to achieve racial balance. Federal money should be used to upgrade schools in deprived areas and should go directly to school districts, based on a formula guaranteeing minimum standards for facilities and teacher-pupil ratio. There should be no limit on the local enrichment of schools (flore space on back. Attach another page if necessary, as well as additional in-

in wealthy discricts. Current grants-in-aid and Title funding should be dropped. Gramm does favor integrated schools, but feels that district structuring under local control is the answer. Affirmative Action: supports limitation of federal affirmative action programs; opposes quotas in hiring, favors equal access. Congress should re dress the undemocratic mistakes of the 1960's. ERA should be scrapped and rewritten to preserve women's sports programs and to protect women with small children from Selective Service. Favors recission (See attached sheet for electoral college and Trade)

As a result of the interview, how do you think the League can work most effectively with the Hember of Congress? What is the MCs attitude toward the League as an organization and in general toward the League's national positions?

His wife, Dr. Wendy Gramm (Chinese extraction from Hawaii) is local LWV member, also in Economics, BA Wellesley 1966; PhD North Western 1971. He is friendly to local LWV, but clearly disagrees with national LWV positions.

Other organizations and/or individuals to whom the MC is particularly responsive:

Texas Democratic Caucus; petroleum companies; banking interests.

- 3) Electoral College Reform: Opposes popular election of President and Vice-President. President should have the broadest possible geographic base, Otherwise, campaigns would take place in only the 20 largest cities. Opposed to electoral college reform--Founding Fathers knew what they were about.
- 4) TRADE; Supports free trade. Would not limit the President's power to set tariffs, but would vote to over-ride Presidential veto of beef importation. To encourage competitiveness of US trade, Gramm supports total deregulation of industry and agriculture; supports elimination of "redtape"; supports tax credits for industrial modernization;; would encourage kexake only with for LDC's that AID clearly align themselves with U.S. policies. Opposes technological aid to Russia without firm copyright and patent agreements, but supports unlimited sale of our agricultural products.

 affirmative action for Congressional employees and has made an effort to place minorities on his staff. He feels that affirmative action will mean more judicial action than legislation.
- (3) Electoral College Reform: Mr. Pickle would not support the Bayh proposal. He feels that popular vote is not the best approach since the 5 or 6 most populous states would be able to elect a president for the rest of the country. He would support a proportional system but did not go into detail on what this would be.
- (4) Trade: Mr. Pickle was not a member of the Trade sub-committee of Ways and Means but the impression was that he would like to be. He described himself as a "free trader" but not as much as 4 years ago. He says he is becoming more sensitive to domestic industry's problems (i.e. he would support a cyclical meat import bill and would probably trade votes with the textile people to get it passed.) He has hopes for voluntary trade agreements through special trade representatives and the Geneva conference. He indicated that labor supports tariffs for domestic job protection.

How can the League work with Mr. Pickle: Mr. Pickle's aide for the past 5 years has been a past Austin League president. However, Barbara Ruud will be returning to Austin in the summer. However, Mr. Packle and his aide, Reg Todd, seemed to have a healthy respect for the League and our views. He did mention that he was unaware of much League presence on the hill. He knew the League spoke most often to Barbara Ruud and that Barbara was always good about presenting the League's views. He seemed critical of Common Cause and other militant groups. He tends to his district and is very conscientious about what his constituents say about an issue. He is concerned that "people projects" will suffer in the "where-do-you-cut" from the federal budget.

Where was the interview held? Barbara Nobles, President-Elect) and myself conducted the interview on January 3. Because of a fuel oil curtailment in Austin, the Federal Building (where Mr. Pickle has an office) was closed due to lack of heat. Therefore, he agreed to meet us in a restaurant. He asked for and was granted the use a dining room which was unoccupied at that time. His aide had sceduled appointments for him all over the city that day because they could not be in the office.

(Jake) Piask Pickle LONGING DS 21 OF GRANT RECTURE District 10 State Texas Party Democrat Particular legislative interests (committee preferences if new): Mr. Pickle indicated he would like to remain on the Ways and Means Committee and would probably be interested in serving on the Trade subcommittee. Subjects discussed and views of MC on each: 411 4 primary questions were discussed.

(1) Oil Policy: Mr. Pickle supports deregulation even though he realizes we will not get full deregulation. He thinks unit price penalizes Texas. He would support import fees before he would support quotas. (He doesn't like either one.) Before a quota is used, he wantwate be satisfied that an oil supply was available from another source. He was part of a sub-committee which worked on reducing an amendment to reduce imported oil over a period of time but was convinced by business, industry & labor that the GNP would drop and unemployment would escalate. He does want to reduce dependence on foreign oil by increasing domentic sources & "doing something" with Mexico. He thinks Congress will support alternative fuel sources if they think the money is being spent wisely. He feels certain that in 20 years the U.S. will be using and relying on wind, geo-thermal, solar, and nuclear fission and gasefication for a majority of fuel. He is a members of a solar coilition.

(2) Civil Rights: Mr. Pickle has consistently voted against forced busing but he is a members page if necessary, as well as additional information: see "Reporting" in Ms. Neuman's covering memo)

As a result of the interview, how do you think the League can work most effectively with the Hember of Congress? What is the MC's attitude toward the League as an organization and in general toward the League's national positions? The interviewers suggest giving him lots of detailed information. He is quite willing to study and learn. His attitude toward the League was good after the interview; he had been familiar with only the Voter Service aspect of LWV previously and did not realize our involvement with program or the depth which with the League studies issues. Other organizations and/or individuals to whom the MC is particularly responsive: He will be responsive to the interests of agriculture and oil producers. and thinks HEW has made a "shambles" of the busing issues.

He would support the Byrd and Eagleton-Biden amendments and the reasons for their implementation. He is for equal rights (but not for the ERA), but has experience with quotas and "quotas won't work.". Affirmative Action cannot mandame be mandated because it then becomes quotas.

- 3. Electoral College Reform--He "as of today" would vote for the direct election and would favor the run-off provision but has some reservations about the 40 percent.
- 4. Trade--Yes, Stenholm said he would favor reduction of trade barriers; however, he felt that trade negotiators should be "tougher" in the best interest of the American producers (i.e. the Russian wheat deal). He was emphatic that products should not be sold below production costs. He added that if we lessen restrictions the action would have to be reciproxcal. Congress can encourage trade by eliminating, or at least reducing, those barriers which hinder or prohibit businessmen from successfully developing markets. Yes, he felt wex should aid the LDC's trade market, within limits.
- 5. He listed as major issues: Balancing the federal budget and reducing the deficit to below $30 billion. (See Selection) Energy and international relations (i.e. Red China and Taiwan). He also strongly supports a Sunset Law.

SUBJECT AREAS TO B" COVERED WITH ALL MEMBERS OF CONGRESS

1-OIL POLICY. He favors orderly deregulation of domestically produced oil. He'd like to see the credit of higher taxes to the oil men plowed back into the economy for energy mesearch. He has no information on user taxes. He would encourage cooperation with Mexico to sell oil to US at less than OPEC prices. He would let the market system operate normally-less oil-higher prices.

2- CIVIL RIGHTS. He would not support amendments against affirmative action. He would not support legislation against bussing. Numerical quotes, he usually approves; but individual cases (such as the Bakke case) are "iffy" and should be judged individually.

3- ELECTORAL COLLEGE REFORM. He would vote for a Constitutional amendment providing for a direct popular election of President and Vice-President. He hasn't really thought about a run-off election; but thinks it's probably unrealistic.

4- TRADE STIMULUS. He would favor legislation prohibiting foreign countries to sell to us at less than world market prices- no dumping of commodities.

5- WATER RESOURCES. He would support the President's proposed water resources policy reform. Upholds the veto of the 1979 Public Works Appropriation Bill.

6- FAIR FMPLOYMENT. He would support legislation that ensures congressional employees protection against job discrimination.

7- WELFARE. He would support the President's welfare proposals. He thinks it important that mother's with dependent children older than 7 years old be required to take job training and employment.

8- HOUSING. He would support Pres. Carter's budget request for FY1980 calling for 300,000 units of Sect. 8 and public housing, rather than the 600,000 units goal set in 1968.

9- CAMPAIGN FINANCE REFORM. He supports House Rule 1- but with the reservation that the ceiling be $150000 or more. He thinks any law with the lower ceiling gives undue benefit to the encumbent.

10- DEVELOPMENT ASSISTANCE. He favors continual US participation in multi-lateral development aid efforts. He would not cut back any. He would have to study more about creating an independent agency to coordinate and adminster US development aid. He is wary of creating more government agencies.

clouing LWV, clouing, Texas Rena Malonay & Cynthia Faust January 26, 1979 Martin Front is on the Rules Committee. He agrees with Many LWV positions. Several clowing LWV members tworked in his Campaign, and one is working now in one of his home offices.

Member of Congress (MC)

Name Ron Paul

District 22 State Texas Party Republican

Particular legislative interests (committee preferences if new): Congressman Paul's high priority in the coming legislative session lies in the field of economics. He is a true believer in the laissez faire system of government and this belief gave a great consistency to his responses to all our questions. During his previous term in office when he was elected to fill out Bob Casey's unexpired term, he served on the House Banking Committee and is hoping to be reappointed to this committee.

OIL POLICY The congressman believes in the deregulation of oil without any government regulation of windfall profits. He believes that business takes the risks and as such is entitled to any and all profits. He is not concerned about higher prices to the consumer, believing that the removal of all government controls in the long run will benefit the consumer, citing the airlines as an example. His contention is that the OPEC prices are rising because they are being paid in worthless dollars and that a strong American dollar will correct this situation.

Civil Rights He believes that the final decision on the implementation of desegregation lies in the Congress and not with the courts. He feels that busing itself is very destructive and does not like the "Blackmail" approach of HEW. On the other hand since Federal funds are involved he feels that the federal government should have some say in how they are distributed. He sees the equitable distribution of the benefits of federal funds as a very complex issue. He feels that in the areas of employment where federal funds are involved the government has the witht to require affirmative action.

FAIR EMPLOYMENT: He would support legislation that ensures congressional employees protection against job discrimination and very strongly stated that whatever legislation congress passes for the rest of the country should be applied to itself also.

| Considering his responses, it appears that in most areas he would be opposed to Leagues' positions. However, if one could enlist his support in areas where our interests coincide and not antagonize him over economic issues, some cooperation might be elicited. Locally we find that he is interested in and open to working with all elements in the community and in particular we feel we can work with him on a traffic problem resulting from the presence of the NASA/JSC installation. I feel that the League is an unknown quanity to him but he is somewhat suspicous of our positions. |

As a result of the interview, how do you think the League can work most effectively with the lember of Congress? In knowing what he is doing in Congress we can better be able to let him know how we feel about his performance and also be able to make our desires known. Legislative Interviews RE:

LWV-Texas October, 1980 LL Pres. Mailing; MALs

NOT ON DPM

Included in this mailing you will find: one legislator's biography form and two copies of the legislative interview forms for each legislator you have been assigned to interview, plus information on the Legislative Newsletter.

| The LWV of | has | been | assigned | to | interview | legislators |
| in the following districts(s): | | | | | | |

Please make every effort to do the assigned interviews. If this is not possible, then it is imperative that you let the state of ice know as soon as possible so that other arrangements can be made. The DEADLINE for returning the forms to the state office is January 31, 1981.

PURPOSE OF INTERVIEWS

Personal interviews help League members to establish and/or maintain good rapport with their legislators and also provide the state League with valuable information about legislators and r priority issues. It is very important for League members to communicate regularly with their legislators even though we may sometimes or even often disagree on issues. The interviews give legislators a chance to discuss what's important to them and at the same time let them know about our major concerns. It should be a relaxed conversation -- this is not the time for hard lobbying which might lead to a heated discussion.

When League members project an image of being concerned and knowledgeable citizens, our grassroots lobbying during the session is enhanced. The interviews are the first step in the League's effort to have a real impact in the coming legislative session.

WHEN AND HOW TO SET UP THE INTERVIEW

We suggest that after the election you send a letter of congratulations to your legislator(s). You might mention in the letter that you will be in contact to arrange an interview. It is a good idea to delay the interviews with "freshman" legislators until December or January so that they have time to learn more about the issues they will be dealing with in the session, but don't hesitate to begin interviewing incumbents immediately after the election.

Since the LWV-T is going to produce a flyer on our legislative priorities for the 1981 session, we prefer that you do not send or give your legislator a copy of We Support. The priorities flyer is designed to help focus attention on those issues to which the League has chosen to devote most of its time and energy. The state office will send each legislator a copy of the flyer when it is completed. We will also send you copies of the flyer, which you may give to them, to other public officials, and to citizens' groups in your community.

When arranging for the interview, you may want to suggest lunch, coffee, unit meeting, or dinner in the back yard. It need not be a formal office appointment.

THE INTERVIEW

Interviews are usually conducted by two or three League members. It is important for the interviewers to review the League's program material on the subjects covered by the interview form. We Support, Program Perspectives, Facts & issues, and VOTER articles are good sources of information.

We think the interview should take no more than 30 minutes to an hour. In order to facilitate the interview, you might state that there are six major questions so that the legislator can gauge the amount of time to be spent on each question.

AFTER THE INTERVIEW

Write up your report as soon as possible after the interview while it is fresh in your memory. Try to schedule a few minutes after the interview is completed to rehash what was said and the impressions you received. It's also helpful (and more fun) to have all the interviewers in on the rehash. What one person forgot, another might remember.

Make a copy of the answers for any other Leagues within that district and send one copy of the Interview Form to the state office. You should keep the second copy for your own files.

The legislative office will compile information from the returned forms and have it ready by Legislative Day on February 25, 1931.

REMEMBER - the deadline for returning the questionnaires to the state office (they will be forwarded to the legislative office) is January 31, 1981.

Included in this mailing you will find: one legislator's biography form and two copies of the legislative interview forms for each legislator you have been assigned to interview, plus information on the Legislative Newsletter.

| The LWV of | has | been | assigned | to | interview | legislators |
|--------------------------------|-----|------|----------|----|----------------------|-------------|
| in the following districts(s): | | | | | and the state of the | |

Please make every effort to do the assigned interviews. If this is not possible, then it is imperative that you let the state of ice know as soon as possible so that other arrangements can be made. The DEADLINE for returning the forms to the state office is January 31, 1981.

PURPOSE OF INTERVIEWS

Personal interviews help League members to establish and/or maintain good rapport with their legislators and also provide the state League with valuable information about legislators and r priority issues. It is very important for League members to communicate regularly with their legislators even though we may sometimes or even often disagree on issues. The interviews give legislators a chance to discuss what's important to them and at the same time let them know about our major concerns. It should be a relaxed conversation — this is not the time for hard lobbying which might lead to a heated discussion.

When League members project an image of being concerned and knowledgeable citizens, our grassroots lobbying during the session is enhanced. The interviews are the first step in the League's effort to have a real impact in the coming legislative session.

WHEN AND HOW TO SET UP THE INTERVIEW

We suggest that after the election you send a letter of congratulations to your legislator(s). You might mention in the letter that you will be in contact to arrange an interview. It is a good idea to delay the interviews with "freshman" legislators until December or January so that they have time to learn more about the issues they will be dealing with in the session, but don't hesitate to begin interviewing incumbents immediately after the election.

Since the LWV-T is going to produce a flyer on our legislative priorities for the 1981 session, we prefer that you do not send or give your legislator a copy of We Support. The priorities flyer is designed to help focus attention on those issues to which the League has chosen to devote most of its time and energy. The state office will send each legislator a copy of the flyer when it is completed. We will also send you copies of the flyer, which you may give to them, to other public officials, and to citizens' groups in your community.

When arranging for the interview, you may want to suggest lunch, coffee, unit meeting, or dinner in the back yard. It need not be a formal office appointment.

THE INTERVIEW

Interviews are usually conducted by two or three League members. It is important for the interviewers to review the League's program material on the subjects covered by the interview form. We Support, Program Perspectives, Facts & issues, and VOTER articles are good sources of information.

We think the interview should take no more than 30 minutes to an hour. In order to facilitate the interview, you might state that there are six major questions so that the legislator can gauge the amount of time to be spent on each question.

AFTER THE INTERVIEW

Write up your report as soon as possible after the interview while it is fresh in your memory. Try to schedule a few minutes after the interview is completed to rehash what was said and the impressions you received. It's also helpful (and more fun) to have all the interviewers in on the rehash. What one person forgot, another might remember.

Make a copy of the answers for any other Leagues within that district and send one copy of the Interview Form to the state office. You should keep the second copy for your own files.

The legislative office will compile information from the returned forms and have it ready by Legislative Day on February 25, 1981.

REMEMBER - the deadline for returning the questionnaires to the state office (they will be forwarded to the legislative office) is January 31, 1981.
