Meet Tech's President . . .

Dr. Robert Cabaniss Goodwin, Texas Tech's seventh president, is known around the campus as a man who gets things done.

As one executive put it, "Maybe he will tell you no. But if he does, you get the answer in a hurry and can turn your attention to other matters."

Goodwin is no cloud-riding academician. As a chemist, he has been an industrial consultant as well as teacher. He is co-holder of a patent on a method of accelerating vulcanization and has been recognized for his research on the removal of flourides from public water supplies.

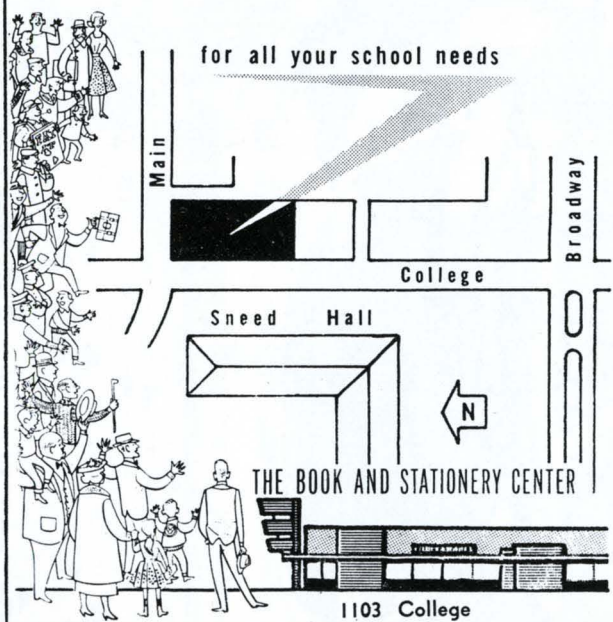

But his administrative abilities have caused him to be "drafted" from the classroom and laboratory and into Tech's Graduate School deanship (1938), School of Arts and Sciences deanship (1945) and academic vice-presidency (1959). In September of 1959 he was named acting president. In August, 1960, he accepted the presidency.

A native of Brownwood, Texas, the 63-year-old educator holds a bachelor of arts degree from Howard Payne College, master of arts degree from the University of Texas, and doctor of philosophy degree from Harvard University. He joined the Tech faculty in 1930 as chemistry department head, coming from the University of Florida.

● The New Regime . . .

An excellent blend of youth and maturity is provided by the new football regime headed by J T King.

When DeWitt Weaver, who contributed so much to the expansion of Texas Tech's athletic program, resigned in November after nearly ten years of service as athletic director and head football coach, his successor as athletic director was his assistant, Polk Robison.

Robison, a part of Texas Tech athletics almost continuously since enrolling in 1929, was the obvious and logical selection for the faculty athletic council to make.

In turn, Robison named as head football coach, J T King, who, as the new athletic director pointed out, "has the best combination of those qualities which we desire in Texas Tech's new football coach."

Robison cited the regard granted King by football men throughout the Southwest, the esteem in which he is held by high school coaches, and the respect held by the athletes with whom he has worked.

King, a former University of Texas gridder under D. X. Bible, coached previously at Kenedy, Tex., and Enid, Okla., high schools before entering college ranks in 1946 at Tulane. He had also coached at the University of Texas and Texas A&M before joining the Texas Tech staff in 1958.

Despite his maturity, King has retained the enthusiasm of his playing days in recruiting, conducting staff meetings, and coaching. His assistants show the same qualities.

Nowhere are experience and enthusiasm more neatly combined than they are in King's choice for the all-important post of freshman coach. There the appointee is one of the persons who first helped establish Texas Tech athletics — Berl Huffman.

Huffman, a Trinity graduate, coached at White Deer and Lubbock high schools before joining Texas Tech in 1935. After the war he coached at University of New Mexico before taking posts with the State of New Mexico and the City of Alamogordo, N.M. But, fortunately for Texas Tech, Huffman never got coaching out of his blood and readily answered King's call.

Other coaches include Merrill Green, formerly with the University of Arkansas; Willie Zapalac, formerly with Texas A&M; Matt Lair, from A&M and University of Kentucky; and John Conley, former Snyder High School coach.

As Bill Van Fleet, Fort Worth Star-Telegram executive sports editor, put it: "If King can coach like he can hire, the Raiders are in."

Van Fleet, a staunch admirer of King's coaching ability, only inserted the proviso to emphasize the strength of the Texas Tech staff.

Athletic Director . . .

ROBISON

Polk Fancher Robison is an athletic director who believes in setting a proper example.

Less than four months after he was named athletic director, Robison coached Texas Tech to its first Southwest Conference basketball championship and third place in the NCAA Midwest Regional tournament, earning "Coach of the Year" honors for the Southwest from Coach and Athlete Magazine.

Conference championships were nothing new to Robison. In Texas Tech's last three seasons in the Border Conference, Robison's Red Raiders won two titles and a co-championship, and he played on first place teams at Texas Tech.

When DeWitt Weaver resigned as athletic director in November, 1960, after a 10-year tour of duty, to join

Phillips Petroleum in Mobile, Ala., Robison was the logical choice as a successor. Assistant athletic director for five years, Robison had been associated with Texas Tech for 24 of the school's 34 years of athletics.

Robison, born in Springfield, Tenn., moved to Ranger in 1926, later to Lubbock, where he completed his high schooling. He played tennis and basketball while majoring in journalism. Robison co-captained Texas Tech's 1934 Border Conference champs as a 6-2 center.

Robison coached at Burkburnett, joining Texas Tech in 1941 as assistant in football and basketball. He has been head basketball coach since 1942-43 (except for '46-'47) and has had the Raiders in the upper division in all four seasons of Southwest Conference play. Robison is serving on the American Basketball Coaches Association rules committee and has been a member of the NCAA tournament selection committee.

Mrs. Robison is the former Stephanie Corley of Eagle Lake. They have three children and two grandchildren.

Football Coach . . .

J T King, who served as an assistant coach at four major schools, begins his first season as a head college coach this fall.

King previously was an assistant coach at Tulane, Texas A&M, University of Texas, and Texas Tech. After three seasons with the Red Raiders, he was promoted from his No. 1 assistant's post to the top job in late November, 1960, following DeWitt Weaver's resignation.

A 1938 graduate of the University of Texas, where he lettered at guard, King compiled an enviable record at Kenedy and at Enid, Okla., High schools before going into college ranks. During King's six seasons at Enid, the team won its conference five times and was regarded as unofficial state champion three years.

In 1946, Henry Frnka summoned King to Tulane to help re-build the school's grid squad. King recruited so well in Texas that 14 of Tulane's top 22 players two years later were from the Lone Star state.

After Tulane compiled a 9-1 mark in 1948 for the New Orleans school's best record in the last 21 years, King returned to Texas to coach, first a year at Texas A&M, then to his alma mater. In his 1950-56 period at Texas, the Longhorns won three Southwest Conference titles.

King, after serving successively as end coach, line coach, and head defensive coach, under Blair Cherry and Ed Price, was brought back to Texas A&M by Paul (Bear) Bryant. When Bryant moved to the University of Alabama following A&M's Gator Bowl appearance, King went to Texas Tech in 1958.

Considered well-versed in all phases of the game, King saw his defensive abilities nationally recognized in 1953, when the American Football Coaches Association asked him to address its annual convention on "Defensing the Spread Formation."

King, born in Hamburg, Ark., and educated at Houston's John Reagan High School, is married to the former Beth Buttrill of Lometa. They have four children, John 20, Charles 15, Robert 11, and Betty Jane 7.

BAYLOR UNIVERSITY . . .

Dr. Abner V. McCall
President

Dr. W. R. White
Chancellor

Baylor University was founded in 1845 at Independence, Texas, under charter granted by the Republic of Texas, the University later moving to Waco.

The University was named for Judge Robert Emmet Bledsoe Baylor, veteran of the War of 1812, who was one of the school's three founders. Co-founders were Rev. William M. Tryon and Rev. James E. Huckins.

Judge Baylor, native of Kentucky, was a member of the Kentucky legislature. He moved to Alabama, where he also served in the legislature and the national congress, before he moved to the then Republic of Texas. He became a supreme court justice in the new republic.

Rev. Tryon was a New York City native, educated at Mercer. He became chaplain of the congress of the Republic of Texas. Rev. Huckins, native of New Hampshire, educated at Brown University, came to Texas in 1840, became principal, at Galveston, of Texas' first public school.

Now the world's largest Baptist university, Baylor has 10 schools and colleges in Waco, Houston and Dallas, offers 19 degrees on the baccalaureate, graduate and doctorate levels. The College of Medicine is in Houston, the College of Dentistry and Graduate Research Institute in Dallas.

The College of Arts and Sciences, the Schools of Business, Law, Education, Music, Religion, Nursing and the Graduate School are located on the 50-acre main campus in Waco, a growing city of 112,000 located in the heart of Texas and looking to accelerated growth with a greatly increased water supply assured for the very near future.

Baylor has added over $12,000,000 in new buildings in less than a dozen years, the newest being the beautiful Hankamer School of Business building and Penland Hall men's dormitory. Others of very recent construction include Morrison Constitution Hall for the Law School, the huge new Book Store building, Music Building, Ruth Collins women's dormitory, Student Union building, beautiful Armstrong Browning Library, Tidwell Bible Building, Allen and Dawson women's dormitory, D. K. Martin Hall men's dormitory, Speight-Jenkins married students' dormitory.

Although a Baptist university, Baylor has students of many denominations, including Catholics, Methodists, Episcopalians, Presbyterians and more than 30 other denominations and faiths. Many of these have their own campus clubs and organizations; many compete on Baylor athletic teams and in other activities.

Baylor has a strong unit of the Air Force ROTC on its campus, active since World War II days.

Armstrong Browning Library, a campus showplace, houses the world's largest collection of manuscripts, first editions and personal material of the English poet Robert Browning. The Baylor Theater on the campus is world famous for original plays and stagings, attracts some of the world's greatest actors and directors to observe and participate.

Varsity and freshman home football games are played in lighted, 50-000-seat Baylor Stadium, sunken concrete bowl built in 1950. Playing surface is 26 feet below surrounding ground level and fans enter at a point half way to the top of the stands.

The athletic staff is housed in a new, air-conditioned office building under the stadium's east stands, part of a $125,000 addition that also includes new and greatly expanded home and visiting team dressing quarters, two new football practice fields and a new full-sized 8-lane quarter mile oval cinder track with 10-lane 220-yard straightaway, rapidly nearing completion. Baylor, the 1960 Southwest Conference track champion, will host the 1962 Conference meet in its new track stadium.

"At both ends ... really?"

"Imagine!
A Deep Weave Filter!"

"Deep-cured
the slow way."

"You get more to enjoy."

SHE: I'd heard about the famous filter, never knew Viceroy had the best taste, too.

HE: You get both! Viceroy's Deep-Weave* Filter and the rich tobacco blend!

Compare the filter: Only Viceroy has the Deep-Weave Filter. Viceroy's Deep-Weave Filter is woven from a vegetable substance that's pure, and safe!

Compare the blend: Only Viceroy has this rich tobacco blend, deep-cured the slow way to bring real taste to filter smoking!

SHE: Mmm, now I've really got it! Viceroy's Deep-Weave Filter and the best taste, too!

HE: You'll feel a big difference in pleasure... because Viceroy's got it at both ends. Got the filter! Got the blend!

Join The Red Raider Club . . .

Each week during the football season and at intervals throughout the year, a letter, reporting on Tech's athletic program, is sent to Red Raider Club members.

The Texas Tech Athletic Department publishes each year a pressbook for football and one for basketball. Only distribution of the pressbook other than to newspapermen, radio, and television sports directors is to members of the Red Raider Club.

Red Raider Club members are hosts at social events to Tech athletes.

RED RAIDER FUNDS ARE USED TO FURNISH ATHLETES WITH ROOM, BOARD, TUITION, AND BOOKS.

Red Raider Club members have the satisfaction of knowing that they are helping worthy boys obtain a college education, and that they are helping build an athletic program this region can be proud of.

If you would like to participate in this splendid program, and are interested in joining the Red Raider Club, you may request details from the club's executive vice president, Leete Jackson, Box 456, Lubbock, telephone POter 2-8680.

Conference Participation . . .

Texas Tech has been eligible for official Southwest Conference competition for four seasons in all sports except baseball and football. Football could not be included until last fall because of various schedule commitments.

During the school year 1960-61 the Red Raiders finished fifth or better in every sport. By sports, beginning in the 1957-58 season, the Raiders have finished as follows: Tennis—2nd, 4th, 4th, 4th. Basketball—3rd tie, 3rd, 4th tie, 1st. Swimming—5th, 4th, 4th, 4th. Golf—6th, 1st, 3rd, 2d. Track—8th, 4th, 4th, 5th.

Texas Tech formally resigned from the Border Conference, which it entered in 1932, during the summer of 1956 (following the favorable Southwest Conference vote May 12, 1956). The Raiders won 11 football championships in 17 official Border Conference campaigns. Tech compiled a conference record of 52 wins, 5 losses, and 3 ties.

Texas Tech's football record with Southwest Conference schools:

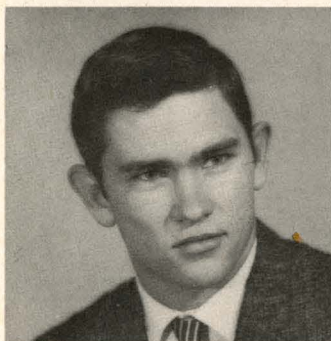

Team	W	L	T	Pct.
Southern Methodist	4	4	0	.500
Texas Christian	6	11	0	.353
Texas A&M	5	13	1	.237

WHEN YOU SING . . .

THE MATADOR SONG

Fight Matadors for Tech;
Songs of Love we'll sing to thee.
Bear our banners far and wide
Ever to be our pride.
Fearless Champions ever be;
Stand on heights of victory.
Strive for honor, evermore,
Long live the Matadors!

FIGHT RAIDERS FIGHT

Fight Raiders, Fight, Fight Raiders Fight
Fight for the school we love so dearly.
You'll hit 'em high, You'll hit 'em low,
You'll push the ball across the goal—
TECH FIGHT FIGHT!

We'll praise your name, boost you to fame
Fight for the scarlet and the black.
You will hit 'em, you will reck 'em
HIT 'EM, RECK 'EM, TEXAS TECH!
And the victory bells will ring out.

RED RAIDERS

Let's go Red Raiders, let's every man get in the fray,
Let's go Red Raiders, let's fight until we win the fray,
The Bells of Victory will ring out—and ev'ry heart —
In Texas Tech is gonna sing out.
We'll show the foe — a Matador is master
Oh, we'll show the foe — the meaning of disaster.
They'll turn their backs — to the Texas Red and Blacks
They'll run like hell, we'll ring the bell
And show who wears the crown,
When those Red, Red Raiders go to town.
Let's give a cheer boys, send it down the field.
Let's make it clear boys, Tech will never yield.
We'll give the Raiders' name greater fame,
We'll show the foe we're out to win the game.
Hi Yi De Yi, Red Raiders on the run.
Vict'ry or die, our battle will be won.
Hi Yi De Yi, they'll soon be bounding back,
Holding on high our glorious Red and Black.

Salem refreshes your taste —“air-softens” every puff

- menthol fresh
- rich tobacco taste
- modern filter, too

Take a puff... it's Springtime!

When you light a Salem, you can almost imagine yourself in this scene — all golden sunlight and new green, with air so fresh. Salem is the most refreshing cigarette of all, for its High Porosity paper “air-softens” every puff. Rich-tasting, too, with the full flavor of fine tobaccos. Smoke refreshed... smoke Salem!
