

Dec. 8, 1884.

My darling Ann.

Now I am going to bind you to secrecy. What I tell you must go no farther than your mother and Emma. I expect to be married a week from next Tuesday, October 21, are you surprised? You are the only one outside of the family that knows. We do not want it out, as the ceremony is to be performed at the minister's house. I am going to have cards sent out the next day. We are going to board at Belle's this winter, after we are married we expect to travel as far as New York may stay a couple my hat will match, that is being of days. There you have the whole thing made now. Annie has made me in a nut-shell. Now I will tell you some handsome dresses. Can't you how it came about. You know I was come and see me before the happy very sick, so (Archie) ahem! thought I would love to have another the work was the cause, and came good talk as Moll Hunt. Ann to to the conclusion we had better we will love each other just the be married. I have been living with same won't we? ~~Billie~~ Billie three weeks, we are doing ~~you can~~ Billie is going out. we a deal of sewing, but am not having could have a good talk. While I ing an extravagant trousseau. think of it can you give me Lizzie but I have enough to suit him. Gands and Cousin Alfreds address Ann can you realize it, I hardly also Al's send them if you cant can, but I am as happy as the come please Will is to order the day is long. he certainly is cards to-day. Where I crossed off splendid, he is quite domestic. I told you to come Friday, but I ted already. is here about every night forgot I am going out so come some so you see I am pretty well occupied other day. Will I have enough to I am going to be married in a gar. say if I could see you but my net silk, Billie gave me the dress thoughts run for faster than my pen. Remember Ann don't tell anyone.

Yours with love
Mollie.

181 Wall Street,
Brooklyn.

TWO CENTS

Miss A. Trud
282 Mc Donough St.
Brooklyn

