IT'S A BEAUTIFUL DAY

From Cinco de Mayo to the Memorial Weekend kickoff of the Kerrville Music Festival, May marks the beginning of Austin's outdoor music scene. In town, Chances, Grizwalds, Green Mesquite, Magnolia Cafe, Symphony Square, Fiesta Gardens and Auditorium Shores come into their own with a steady flow of patio and pallet music. Wildflowers, festivals, clear-running streams and lots of other good reasons abound to get outside. Central Texas day trips, with a local tape in the car deck and a musical destination—Grüne Hall, Wimberley, Pickin' in the Park at Marble Falls, Ski Shores, The Pier, all draw on Austin music more heavily once the mesquite trees bloom. Which isn't to say that the night scene is any less busy; Daylight Saving Time entices us all to be more active and keep going longer. After a day of sun and music, a dark cool club is a welcome place to land for thirst-quenching and more music. Plus, May's college student exodus makes the 6th Street beat more accessible, less frantic. Events like the 3-week Kerrville Festival draw visiting artists as well as tourists who spice the Austin club circuit. After winter's gloom, March's schizophrenia and April's showers, we owe ourselves a mental health prescription of sun, fellowship and music to get our molecules realigned. Happy trails, ya'll.

• You may possibly have noticed the odd few changes in this issue of MUSIC CITY. The size, well, it was OK being different and distinctive and all that, but we got tired of being the "little" magazine, even when nice things went with it. Apologies to everyone who liked us being pocket/purse sized, but it seemed time to become Texas pocket/purse sized. We're also trying to make it easier to read. Hope you like it.

• The other main change is that we've taken the commentary out of the Calendar and put (some of) it into a new section, PREVIEWS. We always welcome contributions whether they be Great Literature ready to go straight in or Hot Tips, especially for this new section. We try, but we can't be everywhere.

• The New Look MUSIC CITY will still be available free at our advertisers, other venues, record and music stores, the airport, UT and various other spots, but if you want to make sure of getting your minty fresh copy every month, you could join the Music Citizens, our growing band of subscribers, from Austin to Australia, Dallas to Denmark, San Francisco to Boston. The price is one thing we haven't changed, a mere $10 ($20 overseas) for 12 issues of what we like, not what they'd like us to like. See you at the music. EM/JC

DAVID RODRIGUEZ

We'll skip that stuff about his being an emmajoe's star 10 years ago—the point is that David Rodriguez is a Chicago House star right now, reborn as a performer when he started playing their open mikes in January. And we'll skip the endorsements from songwriters who say he's pretty damn special because anyone with half an ear can figure that out on their own.

• Synthesising intellect and emotion into a double whammy of immediate impact and subtle resonance, Rodriguez dazzles the senses with the fireworks of beautifully crafted and delivered lyrics but, long afterwards, delayed action fleurettes of meaning blossom across the mind's sky.

• Flowing through his work is the ambiguity of the river "the gringo has always called the Rio Grand, in his native tongue," and many of his songs probe and articulate, often with sardonic irony, the patronising fascination/contempt of American tourists for the border and beyond. "This really is occupied territory," says Rodriguez, "even Anglos can see that. Cultural and economic tensions are constantly having to be resolved, and a lot of my songs study those tensions. For better or worse, I poke around that. Tourism is an analogy, the micro form of oppression that illustrates the macro, and you can candy-coat it with a certain humor, but if it's entertaining, that's incidental."

• Ambivalent to music business, Rodriguez enjoys the luxury of being able to perform (or not) for personal satisfaction, but still, "making a living at it wouldn't be enough for me." Lamed by childhood polio, he acknowledges his handicap may be a reason he's shied away from total involvement.

• On May 31st, Rodriguez will record live at The Chicago House, solving a problem that kept a 1984 album on the shelf. "I think of songs as monoprints, performance being the last dimension. It's anti-theatrical to me to make a single official version to be reproduced thousands of times. A recording should document a particular performance at a particular time. Ideally I'd like to record the same songs several times, so you'd have a May 31 version, a September 9 version and so on." I don't expect a more truly significant album to be made in Austin this year. JC

MVPs #9

From a San Antonio family of musicians that includes father Pedro, brothers Pete and Javier and niece Sheila E, Escovedo first came to Austin with Rank & File and stayed here after he quit, Javier leaving LA to join him in one of the most popular and exciting bands ever to shake Austin, The True Believers, whose one album sits in an EMI vault with a $250,000 price tag on it.

• Along with the EMI fiasco, the band's demise was hastened by Alejandro's involvement with an acoustic splinter group, The Make Believers. The Troubs were pure rock & roll energy, blasting out Alejandro's material at high intensity; the Make Believers, playing the same songs, were melodic and reflective.

• The same dichotomy exists between Escovedo's current projects, The Alejandro Escovedo Orchestra and Buick McKane. The AEO is a semi-acoustic gathering of superlative musicians, Alex Coke, Bill Averbach, Spot, Chris Knight, Christine De La Garza, Hector Munoz, Mark Rubin, Dave Fairchild, Danny Barnes, Lisa Mednick and Henry Martinez, proof, right there, of the esteem in which Escovedo is held. It doesn't even pretend to rehearse, but AEO's intricate and innovative ensemble playing is compelling and addictive.

• Taking their name from a line in a T Rex song, "she was a sexual goddess, Buick McKane . . .", Escovedo's high energy black leather rockers sometimes fret at his double life, but a more serious problem is comparisons with the Troubs. "It's a pain in the ass," says Alejandro, "and unfair. True Believers were a bunch of guys hanging out, playing rock & roll, but going in different directions. Buick are completely different. I truly believe it's more focussed and often better. But we're too straightforward for the alternative clubs, too lyrical for the hard core."

• Escovedo's hopes/plans are to get Buick McKane out on the road and find an audience, "I think the French would really like us." But the logistics of the Orchestra bar that approach. "I enjoy it for what it is while it's happening. It would be great to put a record out and then do two or three date tours, but we couldn't put it on the road." JC

DAN DEL SANTO MUSIC CITY DOSSIER #9

Occupation: Musician, Composer, DJ

Current Group: Dan Del Santo & His Professors of Pleasure, reknowned for coining the phrase, 'world beat music.' May 1990 marks The Professors' 15th anniversary.

Born: September 5, 1951

Parents: Marie & Dominick Del Santo; French/Italian heritage; father is a country & western musician.

Married: Anne Sherwood, an artist, does the band's graphic design and merchandising art.

Children: Rose, Dominique and Alexis.

Influences: Blind Blake, Howlin Wolf, Lefty Frizzell, Sun Ra, Joe Higgs, Lord Kitchener, Fela Anikulapo Kuti, Thomas Mapfumo.

First Public Performance: At a state hospital, I was 8 years old. I was a visitor, not a resident.

First Paid Performance: With my dad's country band; I can't remember where, but I can remember I made $10, a lot of money to a 10 year old.

First Recording: White Feathers in the Coop, Trix 1974.

Other Recordings: That's Life in the Big City, Pleasure 1980; World Beat, Pleasure 1981; Ten From Texas, Elektra compilation 1982; Merci, Baby, Mercie, Pleasure 1982; Make it Right, Pleasure 1984; Strength to Strength, Earthworks, 1986; In South Africa/Sun City, Earthworks 1986; My Own Country, Pleasure 1989; All Jazz, Pleasure 1990; Off Your Nyash, Flying Fish 1990.

Favorite Venue: New Orleans Jazz & Heritage Festival, WOMAD Festival (England & Canada), Tipatina's, El Casino Ballroom (Phoenix), The Lingerie (LA), Caravan of Dreams (Ft. Worth), The Milkveg (Amsterdam).

Reason for Austin Residency: Moved here 15 years ago because of my love of Texas music—from Lefty Frizzell to Ornette Coleman.

TEXAS HYMNAL #9

MC celebrates Mother's Day with every Texas mother's nightmare—her very own little redneck boy bringing home not just a Yankee but a New York City girl. Paul Percy is best known as the poll-winning drummer of Darden Smith's Big Guns but he's also a member, with Jimmy Pettit of the Joe Ely Band and Joe Eddy Hines, of ace groovers The Skeletones, fronted by John Reymond Reed who can also be seen as a solo singer-songwriter. They seem such nice boys, so why do they want to break their mothers' hearts?

PAUL PERCY & JOHN REYMOND REED: TEXAS BOYS

I met a girl named FiFi LaFluff
In New York City and that was enough
From that day on, this southern boy was hooked
I liked her big-city smile and the way she looked
I tried to think of something real sophisticated to say
But my cowboy boots kinda give me away
She asked me to dance and got me up on my feet
Then we did the Cotton-Eyed Joe to a disco beat
Texas boys love New York City
girls
I've seen it happen time and time again
They'll spin you round and around
and around
Just like a Texas whirlwind

I guess my Panhandle charm musta
lit her fire
'Cause that look in her eye was raw desire
She said "Let's go back to my penthouse and really get down
Then she stole my heart and took it uptown
So we left the streets of Manhattan for the Texas plains
Where the sky is big, the stars are bright and it hardly ever rains.
Miss FiFi LaFluff still looks good wherever she goes
You oughta see when she's all dressed up for the rodeo.
Texas boys love New York City
girls
I've seen it happen time and time
again
They'll spin you round and around
and around
Like a Texas whirlwind.

SOUND RECORDERS

Sound Recorders' duplicators are a key element of Austin's independent tape scene, but the studio set up in 1972 to serve ad agencies has been completely separate since 1985 when it was bought by Ben Blank. A Philly R&B guitarist who graduated in TV production and first came to Austin as Channel 36 audio director, Blank was formerly it's chief engineer and manager. After years of demos and pre-production work, he's taken a dramatic step forward, and upward, with his April acquisition, thanks to a bank that, perhaps uniquely in Austin, is willing to invest in music, of a state of the art British-made Trident 24 Console. With 28x24x24 inputs, all available on mix-down, the board has tremendous flexibility, a vast dynamic range and superb sonic capabilities. Blank thinks it could help keep music projects here in Austin. "Many of the people I'm working with aren't recording here when it comes to major projects. I'd like to see that change and this is the first step. Austin needs to offer both competence and capability and we can provide a recording facility that doesn't cost a whole lot of money."

#2

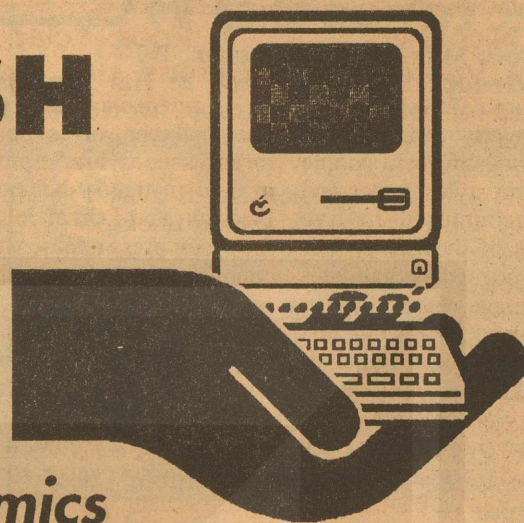

• Now working with Chaparral, Blank has reggae band One Nation, Barb Donovan, Bouffant Jellyfish and Brent Wilson arriving in the immediate future. Recent projects have included 2 Nice Girl's Like A Version (reviewed this issue), High Noon's tape, Spy Vs Spy's album and Slash Cowboy's CD, but much of the studio's output is invisible—material for Jennifer Cook, Monte Warden, Ian Moore, Mike Hall and others, all strictly for deal shopping, that hasn't surfaced in public.

• Blank revels in this mix of styles. "I'm always looking for ways to break out of traditional recording modes and having all these different kinds of music stops me getting into the usual trap of pat solutions that tend to create a uniform, homogenous sound, so that everything from a studio sounds like everything else."

MUSIC CITY RECORD & TAPE REVIEWS

TWO NICE GIRLS LIKE A VERSION (Rough Trade)

I've been eagerly awaiting this release. Six songs are just a sample of the different styles, tastes and attitudes encountered in live performances of the group. The first cut, a disco medley, validates what were average, classically '70s songs, bestowed with soul and heart missing in the original. If you like rockabilly, you'll jump right out of your seat for Bang, Bang, a bouncy, hopping ditty that shows what an energetic, controlled drummer Pam Barger is. No Karen Carpenter (thank the goddess), Pam's Top of the World gives life to what was dull and sappy. Gretchen Phillips' ultra cool, theatrical performances of Speed Racer are best live, but even taped is one of the all 'round coolest songs I've heard. Ethereal, spacey, poetic, Cotton Crown, a Sonic Youth remake, provides a taste of another style in which these women excel. I spent my Last $10 on Birth Control and Beer, 2NG's trademark (yes, you guys are stuck with it), wraps up this Version with a proper perspective—fine, wry, original humor. E=MC<sup>2</sup>

POOR YORICK COMEDIES AND TRAGEDIES (independent cassette)

They call themselves 'house band for an insane asylum', a proud boast in a town that's sheltered Roky Erickson and Daniel Johnson. In fact, their press release was clever enough to plagiarize, and the lyrical content and musical stylings more than meet expectations. Varied rhythms/instrumentation complement topical, mature lyrics, giving new dimensions to traditional styles/subjects. The lead voices—gritty, gutsy, rock & roll aged—season the mix perfectly. Standouts are Babies for Two (parenthood with a backbeat), Rock & Roll Catholic, May Be Confused (a Yuppie rock/rap), Living in a Frictionless World, The Cowboy's Song (complete with introspective yodel) and Salvador (a strong ballad about the massacre of the nuns). None of the 12 cuts gets near a cliché. Songwriters Patrick Haney and Ron Nottebart also sing and play, joined by Perry Hubert, Robert Woodruff and John Casner (who mixed and engineered); Pat Mears and Linden Sherwin add vocals to Salvador. Buy this—forget Randy Newman. EM

JUNIOR BROWN 12 SHADES OF BROWN (independent cassette)

However bad your memory, you'd remember Junior. He's the one with the git-steel, a unique double neck electric/lap steel guitar made by Michael Stevens, and he plays holy hell out of both ends. But if his axe is radical, his style is fundamental Bakersfield Sound. Brown produced, sang and played electric, acoustic and steel guitars and piano, with muscular support by Michael Ballew, Tanya Rae Brown and Erik Hokkanen on acoustic rhythm guitars, Hokkanen also on fiddle, and minimalist rhythm, Donny Dolan snare drum and Spencer Starnes upright bass. Ten of the 12 tracks are originals, but though Brown's strong, unaffected voice carries his brand of sturdy sentiment—very successfully in Baby Let The Bad Times Be, a tad disappointingly in a lackluster take of his best song, Too Many Nights In A Roadhouse—it must be said that the standout is a blistering version of Paul Revere & The Raiders' Free Born Man, where both Brown and Hokkanen really cut loose. If MC was a radio station, you'd be hearing it a lot. JC

AUSTIN KLEZMORIM SHALOM Y'ALL! (independent cassette)

The Klezmorim, groups of Jewish musicians, lived in tour buses (er, carts), crisscrossing 19th century Ukraine, playing wedding and bar-mitzvah one-night stands, pioneering the destructive effect of loud music on pantie elastic. And that's how rock & roll was born. Their Texan spiritual descendents are serious ethnomusicologists, exploring their unique and distinctive cultural heritage. Klezmorim, with roots in gypsy styles, is best described as Jewish jazz, and many Austin jazz stalwarts, such as Bill Averbach, Alex Coke, Danny Levin and Steve Schwelling, play in this ten-strong trumpet, tuba, euphonium, trombone, clarinet, sax, accordion, violin, bass and drums outfit. Klezmorim's wild, improv spontaneity takes some adjusting to, you won't hear anything like it on 6th St. A Yiddish proverb says "Two Jews, two political parties," with Klezmorim it's ten Jews, ten keys, ten tempos. One thing you don't get and that's Israeli folk music—as Kurtz said, "The Hora! The Hora!" JC

JUBAL CLARK GYPSY COWBOY (independent cassette)

Jubal is one of the grandfathers of Austin's original band of long-haired cowboy hippies and this simple, clean, 6-cut collection premieres his work admirably. No romanticized gypsy this, rather the grimy reality of no-collar workers, couch circuit kings, alcohol-eased idealists, farm hands and motel maids. A better writer than singer, Clark is distinctive, real, one of a kind, a master of the country song metaphor. Black Granite is a Vietnam retrospective 'You gave what you could, he gave it all... names, names, names on a wall.' America, America gives a typically Texas anarchist's tribute to farmers. The poet in Clark is evidenced best on the prayer-song, Cowboy Gypsy. This release is another production of John Casner's, whose piano graces most all of the selections, which also include White Rails, Poor Me Blues and Jubal's Unfinished Fifth. Clark's live performances are rare these days, so it's good to get some of his gritty soul on tape. EM

JOHNNY MEARS & THE TEXICANS HIGH CALIBER (independent cassette)

In Tennessee Johnny Mears is the Songwriters' Guild Rising Star award winning writer of a #1 single for Janie Fricke. In Texas he's the leader of a kickass band more rock than country. His 6 tracks fuse the two into something we'll call rock & western. The melancholy Fricke hit, Always Have Always Will, seems at odds with the tough cowboy lyrics of Terlingua Sunset and Leavin' Texas (On The Run), which Marty Robbins would have killed for in his El Paso follow-up hunt, and the related In Every Woman's Heart ("there's a wanted man") which would fit Tanya Tucker like a glove. But Mears has a secret weapon in handling even Nashville material—Joe Eddy Hines. Anywhere but Austin Hines would be a guitar hero, an exceptional player whose biting style, given full freedom on the instrumental High Caliber, along with understated vocals and minor key arrangements, give the tape a Dire Straits feel. JC

THE CHROMATICS NEVER ENOUGH (independent cassette)

Intricate vocal harmonies, intelligent content, and infectious rhythms—the Chroms have a fine 10 song debut. A blend of styles, it's fresh sassy Texas Pop. Saffron & Synde Parten have compelling, sometimes chilling vocal ability; supplemented by brother Stacy's baritone harmonies, they achieve a rare and wonderful genetic mix. Never Enough and City of Night spin out of the jambox with impelling danceability; Say What is Synde's tongue-in-cheek assessment of significant others, Just A Boy Saffron's humorous reply; Synde's eerie yet lovely lament, Valentine, with RC Banks on accordion, reminds me of primo Lucinda Williams. Love Will Find A Way captures Saffron at her heart wrenching best. Their best yet to come, these native Austinites' adventurous melange of multiple influences is a very different, very new, sound. Once they get past sometimes repetitive phrases their unique vocal approaches just can't miss. SVB

SHOULDERS HUNGRY MAN'S DANCE (independent cassette)

This is one of those cases in which I like the tape more than I like the band live! A real stand out; very good material, solid performances, and on target production by Mike Stewart. Michael Slattery proves he's not just a one trick pony, giving us a number of different styles on vocals and—oh my gosh—he even sings pretty on one or two! Slattery gets credit for all the lyrics, which range widely, from the drunken, carousing Lula's Bar & Pool and Little Reckless to almost Chapin-esque ballads like On Sunday and Trashman Shoes. Throughout, his bizarre sense of humor emerges. The uncredited arrangements are noteworthy. This is a big band (6 people), yet despite the size and the raucous nature of some songs, the music never descends into a featureless din. My only criticism is that some of the songs aren't as coherent as might be desired. Lula's and Odyssey are fun, but musically schizophrenic. No biggie, but something to think about. RIC

JOY STRING

(Independent cassette)

I'd been waiting a while to get this first effort from Joy String. The wait was worth it. A neat little piece of music, two originals and two covers by Austin's only jazz string quartet (actually strings plus drums). The recording was done live and is sonically quite pleasing. The only exception being that the drums are a little heavy in the mix when he goes to sticks, but does n't blur the quality of the performance. I would recommend the band to anyone with a critical ear. The two originals, Weminuche Wilderness and String Quartet No. 1, are written by Will Taylor. Both have swing sections but feature a more traditional, classical feel in regards to harmonic progressions and textures. The covers are Easy Living and Well You Needn't. The stand out on the tape is Thelonius Monk's classic Well You Needn't which is arranged and performed with an almost tongue-in-cheek cool—I think Monk would approve. The swing and bop sections could be less rigid, but on the whole, this tape is cool. RIC

THE PROWLERS

(Independent cassette)

Previously known as The Troublemakers, The Prowlers are Andy Bullington on vocals and guitar with Pat Kotyuk on drums. Al Billings sits in on this recording on bass. A straight-ahead R&B band, the tape collects 7 of the band's originals, all penned by Bullington and Kotyuk. The performance is middle of the road. Bullington's guitar playing is steady and consistent and has some good moments, but the vocals lack that special spark that makes a performance click. It feels almost as though Bullington held back in the studio, sacrificing the energy and edge that comes out live. The problem is compounded by the nature of some of the lyrics. The lines are clever, perhaps too clever, and therefore need a forceful, soulful delivery to avoid appearing contrived. The tape is self-produced and I can't help but wonder if outside production help would be a good step toward providing a little objectivity and critical input. Let's see what the next project brings. RIC

RICHARD DOBSON & STATE OF THE HEART HEARTS & RIVERS

(Independent cassette)

This Texan moved to Nashville oh so long ago and has written many fine songs, some for Big Name recordings, but this self-production seems to showcase personal taste rather than commercial values. All 12 cuts are his songs except the Appalachian-style Highland Rim by Susie Monick and the traditional Texas Rivers Song. Most of the subject matter is traditional and, with the exception of Old Man Collecting Cans, could have been written 30 years ago. The traditional sound is guaranteed by using mandolin, washboard, autoharp, squeezebox, banjo (all Monick), dobro and fiddle. The production values are pristine, but I wanted more innovation, variety or passion. My favorite cut is Old Friends, co-written with Guy & Susanna Clark; Don't Know Why Blues is the most upbeat, least predictable. Richard writes well, yet it may be time to come home. The $$$ may be in Nashville, but innovations are in the heartland. EM

LET THERE BE DRUMSTICKS

Tuesday, May 8th there's an event for some of the Best of the West percussionists. Eddie Tuduri, former Yoakam drummer, now president of drumstick makers RIMSHOT, will visit with local wizards of skin, including Jimmy Carl Black, Mike Buck, Roddy Colona, Rodney Craig, Ernie Durwawa, Chris Layton, Teri Lord, Joey Machado, AD Manion, Paul Mills, Hector Munoz, Paul Percy, George Rains, Dick Ross, Chris Skiles, Barry 'Frosty' Smith, Jim Starboard, Tommy Taylor, John Trainor, Bon Wier. Out of this all star list, Tuduri will be choosing endorsees for his LA/Nashville based company's products, for which Tommy's Drum Shop are negotiating regional distribution. The beat goes on—and on and on.

HOW MANY ROADS MUST A MAN WALK DOWN?

Here's a heartening little stat from the Texas Music Commission. From 1980-89, major label signings in Texas included 1 each from Temple, San Marcos, Lubbock, Kerrville and Fort Worth, 2 from San Antonio, 5 from Houston, 6 from Dallas and 42 from Austin.

MUSIC CITY PREviews

You can always tell the out-of-towners, they're the ones who try to get to ALL the good gigs while they're here, and then go back to work for a nice rest. As we know, it can't be done by merely mortal men, and even women have trouble with it. So, figuring you'd rather know about what you're missing before you miss it rather than afterwards, MC presents our view of the creme de la creme of Austin music in May—every one a winner.

2nd • Ruben Ramos & The Texas Revolution (Auditorium Shores). Rare Austin chance to see the Tejano legend.

3rd • First Thursday Bluz (Chicago House). Powerhouse chanteuse Lillian Standfield's monthly invitational keeps up high standards with Marcia Ball on the House's 1922 baby grand, Ian Moore, whizkid guitar slinger of Moment's Notice, and Artie Gold.

4th • David Halley + Kimberly M'Carver (Cactus Cafe). "So handsome he should be illegal" (KNON), Halley's local best-seller tape has stirred up mucho industry interest in his excellent songs, fine voice and distinctive guitar work, here heard solo (see 11th below). Houstonite M'Carver (debut Rounder album due soon) sings intricate, slow, melancholy originals in a beautiful, high, crystal clear voice.

4th • The Skeletones (El Chino). John Raymond Reed, Paul Percy, Jimmy Pettit, and Joe Eddy Hines (see Reviews: Johnny Mears), the newest r&r band on the block sing their philosophy—Play Loud, Act Tough, Impress Girls And Kick Some Butt. See Texas Hymnal.

5th • Tish Hinojosa (Chicago House). Cinco de Mayo with an evening of the canciones that are many people's favorite part of Senorita Tish's repertoire. As ever, extraordinary songwriting and, even if you can't understand the words, beautiful delivery.

5th Talking About Music (KFIT 1060 AM). Bob Livingston's new radio show does what it says, this session Erik Moll, Heinz Geissler and MC's John Conquest brainstorm international perspectives on Texas music.

6th • Shiva's Headband + Steve Fromholz (Green Mesquite). 20th Birthday Party of the Armadillo World HQ with a rare reunion of the seminal Austin late 60s psychedelic rock band. Accomplished musicians who played together for so long they can read each other's mind. Fromholz wrote some of the finest songs of the era and performs them and newer material engagingly. Wear boots and tie-dye.

7th • PMS Monday with Marcia Ball (La Zona Rosa). No one seems sure what this new Monday slot (see 14th below) will bring, but the hypertalented Ms Ball, sans band but with chums, can be relied on to recolor the day.

8th • What Does The Austin Music Community Need? (Austin Opera House). An Austin Music Commission public forum—no prizes for saying money.

9th • Alan Haynes (Antone's). Joined recently by Stevie Ray Vaughan's rhythm section, and bassist Keith Ferguson, Haynes turns in sizzling slide work and knock-out velvet vocals. This guy carries the blues into the 90's.

10th • High Noon (Headliners East). Out of town until July, a frustrating au revoir for the primal rockabilly trio's hard core fans, who need lotsa jiving room. Whether playing classics or originals, they deliver the authentic Sun sound with love and panache.

11th • David Halley + Trainwreck Ghosts (Liberty Lunch). The other, rocking, side of Halley, where he kicks butt with the best but can change gears into slow, moody ballads. The much admired at SXSW Ghosts from LA feature ex-Plimsoul Eddie Munoz.

11th • Diablos Tejanos (Hole In The Wall). Warning: Tex Thomas is unleashing a new band, featuring Tomas Ramirez on sax.

11th/12th • Paul Glasse Quintet (Top Of The Marc). Country/folk mandolin master goes jazz with most of the dream band that played on The Tilt, which has stirred up so much interest that Glasse has put independent release on hold. Extraordinary, very cerebral, individual and ensemble playing.

11th/12th • CJ Chenier & His Red-Hot Louisiana Band (Antone's). CJ and Cleveland continue and expand on Clifton's zydeco tradition. Plan to dance till you drop.

12th • Dan Del Santo & His Professors Of Pleasure (Blue Bayou). Rare home town show by the inventor and personification of World Beat (see Dossier), famed everywhere outside the city limits for what Robert Palmer described as "what the truly international pop music of the future might sound like," whose band celebrates its 15th active year this month.

12th • Joe Ely Band + Jesse Taylor & Tornado Alley with Junior Medlow (Gruene Hall). Hard stomping at the oldest dance hall in Texas with the relentless Ely supported by his former guitarist, the great Jesse Taylor, whose show has been galvanized by the addition of former Bad Boy Medlow.

14th • PMS Monday with Toni Price (La Zona Rosa). See 7th above, another unstructured night, with a flame-haired blues singer who packs a gallon of voice into a pint-sized frame.

16th • Sandy Coleman Band (Hole In The Wall). A classic C&W voice, good taste and great support from Scott Neubert and Randy Glines. All they need now is some original material—or anyway obscurer covers.

17th • Antone's Records Showcase with Angela Strehli, Marcia Ball & Lou Ann Barton + Sue Foley (Antone's). A stellar line-up, the three queens of Austin blues with the label's hot new guitar-playing signing opening.

17th • Hounddog Trio (Cypress Creek Cafe). Celebrate Norwegian Independence Day with Erik Moll (American-Norwegian) and Erik Hokkanen (American-Finnish).

18th • Alejandro Escovedo Orchestra (Hole In The Wall). See MVP feature; acoustic, melodic, high class ensemble performances of True Believer Escovedo's rhythmic rock material. All the musicians shine, with Spot on fiddle and the very lovely Christine De La Garza's harmonies adding the sparkle on top.

19th • Second Annual Fiddling Contest (Green Mesquite). Sanctioned and judged by the Old Time Fiddler's Association, with Alvin Crow as MC, Paul Pryor on live remote and special guests Erik Hokkanen, Champ Hood and Howard Kalish, with a $500 prize to flush out fiddle players from all over.

20th • Hal Michael Ketchum (Gruene Hall). Central Texas day trip de luxe. MC#4's coverguy, voted Best Male Vocalist, #2 Male Songwriter, his Threadbare Alibis Best Album, in our 1989 poll, has just signed to Curb Records, so grab this chance to see him in idyllic circumstances, and for free at that.

20th • Ponty Bone & The Squeezetones (Zilker Hillside Theater). Back from Europe with a killer Wes McGhee produced album smoldering in the can, the trilingual Sultan of Squeeze goes on at 7pm.

22nd • MARS Party (Chicago House). Acoustic all-star line-up in appreciation of Charlie Hollis of Mid-Austin Recording Studio, source of many of MC's rave reviews.

24th • Rosie Flores (Antone's). The return of La Rosalita with her LA band, which she says is wonderful. Whatever, the lady is enough on her own, a powerful writer, distinctive singer and outrageous guitar picker, who trashes the distinctions between country and rock.

24th • Butch Hancock, Marce Lacouture & Jesse Taylor (Kerrville Folk Festival). The reunion with Lacouture will ensure this is special. Marce's vocals add depth and spice to Butch's West Texas mindscapes. Not to be missed are her acapella Louisiana 'home songs' in French.

25th • Vanguards + Neptunes (Continental). The Vans live performances (and costumes) get more outrageous gig-by-gig. R&B to rock to Cajun, with John Trainor's washboard alone worth the price of admission. The Neps are a young, very high energy, party band.

26th • Hugh Moffatt + David Rodriguez (Chicago House). When last in town, the Fort Worth troubadour astonished long-time fans with his new found ability and confidence on stage which he credited to a long and supportive European tour. See MVP feature for Rodriguez.

29th • Open Stage with Eric Blakely (Austin Outhouse). Fraught with perils and rewards, this open mike has the bonus of a rare solo guest appearance by MVP Alejandro Escovedo.

31st • David Rodriguez (Chicago House). See MVP feature. Be part of history.
