

Miss Fannie Jennings
Lubbock
Texas.

WEST TEXAS SANITARIUM
AND TRAINING SCHOOL FOR NURSES

LUBBOCK, TEXAS

May 23-1918

My Dear Miss Naomi:-

I simply could not wait till Monday without seeing or hearing from you. You will remember that I ~~told~~ ^{Monday} ~~you~~ ~~last~~ ~~Friday~~ evening, that I did not know how I could wait till next Monday, to see you again and as the days go by and I get to thinking of it, it seems harder than ever. Do you know what I have been thinking about a great deal ever since last Monday evening? The picture comes constantly before me of how pretty you looked in that pretty white dress the other night. Always pretty but prettier than ever that night. I wish you knew how much you have entered into my life and how much pleasure it gives me to think of and to see you. You can thus see why I proposed to try and trade Kathleen out of her interest in you. If I could get a little interest to begin with I might hope for a larger interest after while. "Great oaks from little acorns grow." Kathleen got away before I had the chance but with the poet I can say, "Hope springs eternal etc" and I am going to continue to hope for some one else has said "Faint heart ne'er won fair lady."

WEST TEXAS SANITARIUM
AND TRAINING SCHOOL FOR NURSES

LUBBOCK, TEXAS

I know this is a very busy week with you and I want you to enjoy it with and to help Evelyn have a "big time" of it in this her graduation week, but I cannot refrain from writing a few lines and indulging the hope that you will find a few minutes you may spare to think of me and write a little to make Friday seem not quite so lonely.

I am going to try and go to the exercises Friday night and if so I hope to see one that will interest me a great deal more than the graduates will.

Wishing you the best of every thing,
I am most sincerely,
M. C. Overton