Stilwell's Troops Wipe Out Japs in North Burma Area

Two Airfields and Important Roads In Allied Hands

By Associated Press

Myitkyina has fallen, conquered by hard-bitten Allied troops who in 10 weeks overcame monsoon, jungle and 3,000 Japanese defending this North Burma base vital to reopening the Ledo road back to China.

Southeast Asia headquarters announced Lt. Gen. Joseph Stilwell's triumph today, saying that remnants of the 18th Japanese division were wiped out with bazookas, flame throwers, heavy artillery and mortars in the final hours of the long siege.

Stilwell, nominated to be a four-star general, had by this victory cleared more than 200 miles for his now-building Ledo road out of India, which he plans to link up with the Burma highway into supply-hungry China. His Chinese, American and Imperial troops have in six months swept down the Hukawng valley to capture Kamaing, Mogaung and now Myitkyina, most important enemy base in North Burma.

Beat the "Hump"

Two airfields and important road and rail terminals came into Stilwell's control with Myitkyina's fall. The airfields could serve as way stations on the air route from India to China, making it possible to fly around instead of over the awesome "hump" of the Himalayas, the world's highest mountain range.

Chinese fighting toward Myitkyina from China's Yunnan province broke into walled Tengchung, another major Japanese base, and fought to annihilate the enemy garrison. Tengchung is 60 miles southeast of Myitkyina.

Patrols of the Yunnan force and Stilwell's army were within 20 miles of each other.

More than 3,000 miles to the east, American troops squeezed 7,000 Japanese into the northern sector of Guam, giving them the hard choice of death or surrender. The U. S. soldiers already hold Guam's strategic airfields, harbor and capital city of Agana. A forested eight miles of Guam stood between the Americans and the sea toward which they were pushing the Japanese. Adm. Chester Nimitz announced last night that 7,893 of the enemy have been slain on Guam since the July 20 landings.

Kill 4,000 Japs In New Guinea

On conquered Tinian to the north 4,000 civilians gave themselves up to internment, while 7,000 have done so on Guam.

On New Guinea the trapped Japanese suffered heavy losses in four more attempts to breach the Allied ring in which they are caught. Nearly 4,000 have been killed since the breakout attempts started July 12.

In China the battle for Hengyang continued at a bloody pitch, with relieving Chinese forces trying to break through the Japanese ring encircling the city. U. S. aircraft, supporting the defenders, set fires visible for 50 miles with attacks on enemy objectives at Canton and Hankow, principal Japanese bases for the Hunan offensive.

Hopes to Bolster Slow Production

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4—(AP)—War Mobilization Director James F. Byrnes today ordered the fixing of employment ceilings on non-essential and less essential factories to free 200,000 workers for lagging war production programs.

Byrnes, in a directive to all war agencies, ordered them to "use every available power of government" to force comoliance with the manpower ceilings, directing them even to withhold materials, equipment, power of transportation from civilian and non-essential employers who fail to comply.

Reds Push Swiftly Toward Nazi Silesia

STOCKHOLM, Aug. 4—(AP)—Aftonbladet said today that 45long trainloads of German troops had been seen moving toward Hango, Finland's southwestern coastal fortress, where transports were waiting to carry them out of the country.

The newspaper, which quoted a traveler from Finland, said the troops were taking their guns and tanks with them.

Heavy Bombers Swarm All Over Germany Today

LONDON, Aug. 4 —(AP)—More than 1,200 U. S. heavy bombers attacked a variety of targets in Germany today, including the Peenemunde experimental station where the enemy develops flying bombs and rockets.

About 1,000 fighters accompanied the bombers, making the armada 2,200 strong.

Other targets included:

An aircraft assembly plant at Rostock, at the Baltic 110 miles notrheast of Berlin.

Port installations at the great naval base of Kiel.

An oil refinery at Bremen.

The planes made a flying roundtrip of about 1,200 miles to the German Baltic coast town of Peenemunde, 100 miles north of Berlin.

Before dawn, bombers from Italy and Britain scourged German supply routes across France

MOSCOW, Aug. 4—(AP)—Russian hosts which smashed the German Vistula river line advanced swiftly today to within 91 miles of German Silesia while other army groups in the north shelled towns and villages inside East Prussia from positions three miles from the frontier.

Another triumph in the Carpathians carried the Red army within five miles of Czechoslovakia after chasing the Germans from Jabonkow, a short distance from the crest of Uzok pass, through which Russia invaded Hungary in the first World War.

Russian forces moved within 58 miles of Krakow, fifth city of old Poland, over difficult hill country. In this area west of the Vistula, some 110 miles below beleaguered Warsaw, the Russians were within 30 miles of Tarnow and 28 of Kielce Pop.: 58,200), last large Nazi bastion before Krakow.

Silent at Warsaw

Official sources were silent on the siege of Warsaw, where Marshal Konstantin Rokossovsky's army group was pulled up just east of the Polish capital. In the Baltic states, Russian tanks were patrolling the shores of the Gulf of Riga 25 miles west of Riga and Pravda said they were striking both east toward that capital of 393,000 and also west toward Liepaja, Litvia's second city and a west coast seaport.

All along the 1,000-mile front from the Baltic to the Carpathians, the Germans were reported rolling up reserves, particularly in the warsaw and Vistula breach area. Concentrations of the German air force appeared i na desperate attempt to check Russian lunges.

The belief in Moscow quarters was that the Vistula breakthrough might be the start of a serious German rout.

Russian planes as well as cannon strongly attacked East Prussian towns and lines of communication, despite poor flying weather. Russian vanguards were within 93 miles of the provincial capital of Konigsberg and 44 from Insterburg, where five railroads lead from iron foundries and machine shops.

German resistance stiffened, appreciably near the Prussian border town of Eydtukhnen. But along the Nienen river due east of Tilsit, Gen. Ivan Cherniaksovsky

Charge Sympathy For Enemy in Philadelphia Strike

Violence Threatened After Army Takes Over Transportation

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4—(AP)—An immediate investigation of the Philadelphia transit system strike to determine whether there has been any violation of federal law was ordered today by Attorney General Biddle.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 4—(AP)—Bands of strikers threatened violence today to operators attempting to restore service on Philadelphia's paralyzed transportation system and the army, which seized the lines last night, announced that persons with apparent enemy sympathies had prevented resumption of service.

"Protection will be provided on the trolleys, buses, subways and elevated lines," Maj. Gen. Philip Hayes, commanding general of after only a few subway and elevated trains and the trolleys on Hayes took control on orders of President Roosevelt last night after the stoppage had stranded hundreds of thousands curtailed vital war production and given rise to race violence.

New Clashes Occur

Even as the army took over, new clashes between whites and Negroes — with one shooting — were reported.

General Hayes said would-be workers were kept from work "by threats made by persons who are apparently more interested in aiding the Axis than in seeing to it that essential transportation is provided for Philadelphia's war workers."

"Delay in restoring full operation is measured in the blood of American soldiers overseas," he said. "Those who obstruct our operation have that blood on their hands."

He promised full legal penalties for any who interfere with service and said "it is obvious that the overwhelming majority of transit employes are conscious of the supreme obligation they have to our fighting men."

Only 12 elevated trains, seven subway trains and the trolleys o none route had operated up to 10 a. m., five hours after the army's deadline for resumption of service under an order from President Roosevelt seizing the lines in the name of the government.

Clashes between whites and Negroes — with one shooting —broke out again during the early morning. The stoppage began in protest against the transportation company's upgrading of Negroes to operating jobs.

Post-war Plans Would Make City State Oil Capital

Hopes of making Roswell the oil capital of New Mexico and of furnishing opportunity and employment for Chaves county men and women in the armed forces when they return home, were expressed at a meeting of employers at the Pecos theater this morning.

The employers were asked to fill out and return immediately a questionnaire on employment and post-war employment plans which is being sent all businesses in the city.

Bert Aston, who said three had been a happy number for him, pointed out that he has been instrumental in the opening of two oil fields and hoped to also participate in the opening of a new field in southeastern New Mexico. The area, he added, is accepted by expert opinion as likely the scene of the nation's next big oil development.

Replies From Overseas

Col. D .C. Pearson, reporting on a letter sent to men and women overseas as part of the work of the post-war planning committee of the chamber of commerce, said the 334 replies, about 25 per cent of the letters sent, had been received. Only one reply had been unfriendly.

Using a "Gallup Poll" compilation, Col. Pearson reported that the answers showed: 276 wanted to return to ranching or farming; 208 wanted to return to educational and professional pursuits; 204 wanted to return to clerking and public utility employment; 332 looked forward to mechanical jobs and construction; 72 wanted occupations in trucking and 16 wanted to stay in the army. The breakdown showed other preferences as well.

All, he said, were either now actively saving money or were planning that some time sooner or later they would own a home in Chaves county. Some, however, remarked that they were "fighting Japs and not planning."

Needed Projects Listed

Projects which were listed as needed, he reported, were as follows;

1, Definite plans for flood control; 2. Widening of Second street, with an overpass at the railroad crossing; 3, A new hotel; 4, A recreational center; 5, A

Parley of 26 Republican Governors Reaches 'Thought Unity' with Dewey

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 4 —(AP)— The 26 Republican governors, asserting that they had achieved "unity of thought" with Presidential Candidate Thomas E. Dewey, charged today that the asserted failure of President Roosevelt to exchange views with state executives had produced "costly misunderstandings" in the past.

Summing up two days of conferences on what Dewey has called "areas of friction" between the states and the federal government, the GOP governors asserted it was their intention to work closely with Dewey if he becomes president.

Calling for postwar simplification and reduction of taxes, the governors' conference said in other conclusions that the state and national governments must create "clear-cut labor and industrial polices," must develop coordinated social welfare services and should work together in the use and control of war resources.

In their general conclusions the governors charged that there had been "a constant grasping for power on the part of the federal government." They said that only through cooperation and "sympathetic understanding" could this nation's system of government be made to work.

"This can best be accomplished when all parts of the country are represented in the councils of the federal government," the report said, "and when by personal contact the president of the United States and the governors of the states achieve that unity of national purpose which transcends partisanship and strives unselfishly for the solution of their common problems.

"For the past ten years, entire regions of our country have been without representation in the cabinet or administrative agencies of the federal government. During that period the governors of the states have never once been invited to exchange views with the president of the United States. Both of these conditions have produced costly misunderstanding and can and must be remedied."

Allied Entry Into Florence Appears Matter of Hours

Report Germans on Run; Guns Blaze From Peaks Above

ROME, Aug. 4 —(AP)— Allied entry into Florence appeared imminent today, with the Germans falling back before the unrelenting presure of New Zealand and South African troops.

The Germans were on the run back through Florence, and their guns flashed from the peaks which rise behind the beautiful Tuscan city.

Nazi forces departed last night from a ridge south of the city. from that vantage point today AP Correspondent Lynn Heinzerling looked down on Florence and through the smoke of German guns just outside the city was able to pick out glistening church domes.

In Three Miles of City

Some of the Allied troops were less than three miles from the city. Lt. Gen. B. C. Freyberg, commander of the New Zealanders, made plans for an entry by his troops, which have been on the go since the battle of Crete.

Today's German communique said German troops had "detached themselves toward a narrow bridgehead immediately south of Florence" and that renewed Allied attacks against this position were frustrated. It declared—without Allied confirmation—that Allied artillery fire was directed "on the historic city with its irreplaceable cultural treasures.")

The New Zealanders drove the Germans from high ground southwest of Florence in the advance to the river Greve.

The latest advance gave the Eighth army a strong hold on the hills two miles northeast of Laromola. Ciogoli, less than five miles southwest of Florence, was captured in the course of the thrust.

Enemy Resistance Strong

Enemy resistance continued strong due south of Florence, after the Nazis pulled back and permitted South African armored units, employing American Sherman tanks and a British guards brigade, to capture the important town of Impruneta, five and a half miles due south of Florence's outskirts.

Allied artillery was now in a position to shell enemy positions. The Arno river crossings immediately west of Florence and the bridgehead across the Pesa river farther to the west have been strengthened sufficiently to become a grave threat to German troops on the south banks of the Arno.

An example of the toll taken of the Nazis was the announcement that the Eighth army captured 5,000 prisoners in 24 days, ending July 27, only 2,000 less than the number captured in the preceding eight weeks.

Although there were no major actions reported on the Fifth army front, the Germans continued their efforts to send their troops into American lines on the south banks of the Arno river.

In the coastal area near the mouth of the Arno, heavy small ars fire from the Americans broke up an enemy attempt to send troops across in small boats.

Washington Military Experts See Possibility Nazis May Quit France

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4 —(AP)— A general German withdrawal from France before the end of the present fighting season is expected by some military authorities here.

The political impact in Germany of so vast a retreat within the next two months or so, coupled with the enormous backward marches on the eastern front, may be enough to force the enemy's final surrender or the collapse of his will to resist.

But the possibility is not entirely discounted in informed quarters that the Germans may try one last stand in the west—provided eastern front developments permit—if they can get back into their inner fortress protected by the old Maginot and Siegfried lines.

Nazi Troops Off Balance

The enemy must still hope, since it is the only hope remaining to him, to reestablish a war of position at some point. But his troops have been thrown so far off balance in France that they almost certainly will not be able to stop short of the French frontier.

This point, accepted by many military men here, should become further evident as Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower develops his strategy aimed at destroying Hitler's western armies. This is expected to blossom swiftly into new strikes and more advances as the imminent conquest of Brittany adds the facilities of Brest and St. Nazaire to those of the crippled port of Cherbourg.

With three such ports the Allied armies in France may be supplied not only from Britain but also directly from the United States. This should mean an additional flow of reinforcements and munitions in the immediate future.

To Keep Punching

Now that Allied armies have broken out of the Normandy beachhead trap, Eisenhower's dominant consideration, according to top-flight strategists here, is to keep punching the Germans so hard and fast that they can not stop and dig in.

The possibility of Allied seaborne flanking attacks remains great. It is possibly significant that Lt. Gen. George S. Patton has not yet been heard from — that there has been no announcement if he has yet joined the fight.

Capt. Egleston Decorated Again

SANTA FE, Aug. 4—(AP)—Two officers received decorations at ceremonies held at Bruns General hospital at retreat yesterday.

Capt. Elmer F. Egleston of Roswell, now a staff officer at the hospital, received the Oak Leaf Cluster for the Silver Star for gallantry in action, and Lt. Richard R. Sandoz, AC, of Tempe, Ariz., a patient at the hospital, was awarded the Purple Heart.

Captain Egleston was cited for having crossed an exposed road under enemy fire to treat a wounded soldier. Lt. Sandoz' award was for wounds suffered during a bombing mission over Berlin.

Capt. Egleston is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Egleston, 111 So. Richardson. His wife, the former Virigina Hervey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Hervey, 2 Park road, and their small son, Chico, make their home in Santa Fe.

Jackie Cooper Is Held on Charge of Indiana Official

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Aug. 4 —(AP)—St. Joseph County Prosecutor Arthur F. Scherr said today affidavits had been filed charging four persons, including Jackie Cooper, 22, of Beverly Hills, Calif., whom he identified as a star in a recent movie called "Where Are Your Children," with contributing to and encouraging the delinquency of minors.

Cooper has been stationed at the University of Notre Dame here as a navy V-12 student since last November.

Also charged in the affidavits, which Scherr said grew out of a police investigation of a party at the LaSalle hotel here the night of July 22, were Pauline Frederic, 19, of South Bend, George Bender, a V-12 student at Notre Dame, and Olie Lowery, a hotel waiter.

Deputy Prosecutor Leo J. Cook said Juvenile Referee Albert L. Doyle would issue warrants for the arrest of the four defendants, who would be arraigned in juvenile court.

Bataan Relief Group Moves to Keep Pace With Rising Tempo of Jap War

ALBUQUERQUE, Aug. 4—(AP)—The New Mexica Bataan Relief organization moved today to see that steps for aid to Americans who are held prisoners by the Japanese keep pace with the rising tempo of the war in the Pacific.

Carl Whittaker, New Mexico BRO president, said the executive committee last night voted to suggest to affiliated organizations a national conference in Washington to discuss such plans with federal department heads.

A date not later than Sept. 1 was suggested.

Saying that there had been a transfer by the Japanese of American prisoners from the Philippines, Whittaker added:

"The longer military action in the Philippines is delayed, the less chance there will be for eventual recovery of our boys."

BRO information, he said, indicated that in late 1942 and 1943 about 25 per cent of the Americans taken prisoner when the Philippines fell had been removed and that since that time others have been moved, but the organization did not know how many.

Details of the plans to be laid before the Washington meeting have not been decided, he said.

Dr. V. H. Spensley, national president of BRO, will attend the meeting and will be joined there by W. Blythe McCollum, executive secretary of the New Mexico War Prisoners Relief commission, who plans to go to Washington in about two weeks to press for prisoner relief.

Street Fighting In Progress in City of Rennes

Other Americans Swarming Forward Toward Brest

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, Aug. 4—(AP)—The Americans were believed tonight to have swept close to St. Nazaire, virtually completing the cut off of the Brest peninsula.

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS Allied Expeditionary Force, Aug. 4 —(AP)— An American armored force column, bypassing the Brittany communications city of Rennes, has speared 20 miles to the southwest, negotiating two-thirds of the distance across the Breton peninsula toward St. Nazaire, front dispatches said today.

Other American forces swarmed along the north side of the peninsula driving west toward Brest.

The column racing below Rennes was last reported five miles northeast of Pipriac.

Fight in Rennes Streets

A field dispatch sent from the Rennes area last night said street fighting was in progress in Rennes itself. Secretary of War Stimson announced in Washington yesterday that Rennes had been occupied.

As the American spearheads pressed on toward the three great ports of Brest, Nantes and St. Nazaire the German front of organized resistance in northwestern France shrank to a mere 35 miles.

It was estimated that the total Nazi csaualties since the invasion totaled 200,000 men—half the enemy's initial force.

Bedraggled German units which once hemmed in the Allies along a 100-mile expanse in Normandy were retreating in confusion and abandoning their equipment virtually everywhere except along a short stretch between Vire and Caen.

Entrapment Threat Grows

Faced with the growing danger of entrapment against the Orne river, the Germans near the middle of their still organized line in Normandy lashed out in a series of tank-supported counterattacks and forced the British to fall back more than 2,000 yards, a front dispatch said.

This blow staved off an immediate British threat to Aunay-sur-Odon. Bolstered by reinforcements from east of the Orne river, the Germans drove the British from the villages of St. Georges D'Aunay, La Lande and Le Manoir immediately west of Aunay.

A British staff officer discounted the German gains around Aunay, declaring that the counterattacks might be the enemy's final gesture to cover a retreat from the river bastion.

In the 24 hours up to yesterday afternoon, American troops took 8,000 more prisoners, bringing their total since D-day to around 70,000. The British have captured an estimated 30,000, making the prisoner total 100,000.

The Americans have buried 10,000 German dead, and the Germans themselves have buried at least that many of their own dead.

In the westward push past Rennes, the Americans were reported approaching Mauron, 27 miles directly west, and within two miles of St. Meen le Bretagne, nine miles to the northeast.

Broons, nine miles northwest of St. Neen and 14 miles southwest of Dinan, also was reached in the westward drive.

St. Meen le Bretagne is on the main road running almost down the center of the peninsula from Rennes to Brest. Both St. Meen

Hottest Week in State Ends Monday

ALBUQUERQUE, Aug. 4—(AP)—The week ending Monday, was the "hottest week of the year over most of the state," the weather bureau reported today.

James R. Long, meteorologist, said the first three days of the week brought below-normal temperatures and frost damaged potatoes in the Eagle Nest area. But old Sol came back strong in the last four days of the week to make the "hottest" rating, sending the mercury to 107 at Hagerman, Clovis, and White Sands national monument, and 109 at Carlsbad.

Political Fatalities

PRIMARIES this week have added to the already present indication that you can't oppose Roosevelt and stay in Democratic politics, and at the same time the influence of Governor Dewey has been discounted.

Dewey's humiliation came in the renomination of Rep. Hamilton Fish in New York, after the governor had declared he was opposed to him and had attacked the New York solon on racial issues.

Just how telling Dewey's defeat in this instance will be is a matter for conjecture but it may be assured that it will do him no good, at least, since it may be argued if he has no more influence than that in his own state his chance for election may be small.

Missouri, however, delivered the killing blow in its defeat of Senator Bennett Champ clark for renomination Clark, it will be remembered has not been an ardent supporter of the Roosevelt policies. His opponent, Attorney General Roy McKittrick, ran on an out and out Roosevelt platform, and gave Clark a licking that is a surprise.

McKittrick, however, has been building up for this scrap for the last eight years. He is a crusader with an iron fist and a golden voice. He's a hard campaigner and makes a splendid rabble-rousing speech, whereas Senator Clark is not a first rate platfrom performer. It may be assumed that McKittrick's campaign personality may have had something to do with his victory, but mainly it must be supposed that his support of Roosevelt gave him the larger number of his votes.

Missouri's support of the Roosevelt program contains a surprise element, too, since four years ago the state turned from its regularly nominated Democratic candidate for governor, a Roosevelt supporter, and elected a St. Louis Republican.

The most one can say for the situation is that there is no consistency in it.

Reason for Fear

SECRETARY Wickard yesterday warned the country, again, that a land boom has been instituted that will bring regret to the nation when normal business conditions prevail again.

Land values have been going upward for the past two years, with demand for property increasing as the price ascends. Therein lies the danger of some one getting hurt.

It may be recalled that during and immediately after the first World war land values skyrocketed to a record high, and that shortly afterward the bottom dropped out of the market, leaving many purchasers with high priced land on their hands and large mortgages to take care of on falling agricultural markets.

Thousands of farmers went broke in the deal, and many others held on by the skin of their teeth over a long period of years.

Repetition of that incident in our national economy is about to be realized in the present tendency. Therefore, the secretary's fears are well grounded and his advice to buy war bonds with surplus earnings is also sound.

WINNING THE WAR
By ALBERT LEMAN

SAIPAN. Here is a graphic eyewitness account of the fighting an Saipan, as described in a letter just received from a U. S. marine officer. It gives a vivid picture of what our men are up against there and what they face in Tinian:

Leathernecks who were on Guadalcanal and Tarawa, he writes, say that Saipan was considerably tougher.

"We get some funny habits in the lines. I can't sleep when I have taken off my clothes and I feel much more contented when I have a loaded .45 strapped to my chest. A wet uniform and a muddy foxhole don't disturb me in the slightest.

"One of our platoon leaders got nicked the other day and was sent back to the aid station for the night. When he returned he informed us how he stripped, lay between two blankets and felt wonderful—but couldn't sleep. At 1 a. m. he exclaimed, "the hell with this!" put on his clothing, laced up his shoes and slumbered like a baby for the rest of the night.

"For a solid month the only time that we had our boots off was to change our socks and bathe our feet if we were near a cistern. This happened exactly twice.

SURRENDER. "After dark, with our shells flying over us toward the enemy positions, the boys would look up and remark, 'there goes another well-spent war bond.' And when the shots were not falling among us — as has happened — the sentiment was heartfelt.

"We captured a lot of natives and civilians. But the more we see, the more we are convinced that the Japs on the islands that we hit will really have to be virtually exterminated. The Nips use concombatants as shields. They force them into caves with the soldiers, hoid up babies with one hand and then heave grenades with the other—blowing up and killing their own civilians along with themselves.

"There were quite a number of casualties among our boys while the Americans were trying to get the natives out of the caverns. The poor devils cried that the Japs would cut their throats if they surrendered.

"It is a peculiar psychology that we must combat. It seems ironic that we should be attempting to save Japanese civilians from their own soldiers. I have often wondered how they must feel after surrendering.

COSTLY. "The natives are very small people and the marines as a whole are quite tall.

"Time and again you would observe a group of captives, more or less shot up and in a semi-starved condition, led by big, hulking Americans. Paddling along behind the men and women would be tiny children. In the rear—as likely as not—would be a huge, dirty, unshaven marine carrying a baby with one hand and guiding a two-year-old with the other.

"Much as the kids in our outfit hate the Japs and talk about massacring the whole lot, they are surprisingly kind to women and children. It is a different story with regard to the men. Our troops are about ready to shoot anyone who would give a Nip a cigarette.

"We have learned that the Jap is a tricky article. While some units will take prisoners if the Nips give themselves up, they prefer to exterminate them. It's a cold-blooded, deadly business—very much like a rat in a nold barn—particularly in the mopping-up phase.

"There is no question that Saipan was costly in lives. But if the island is used properly, it was worth it. Without doubt this position is of the highest strategical importance and will be the keynote for most other operations in this part of the Pacific.

WRECK. "A common sight was the various mortar platoons which rounded up all the bulls and carts. There were strings of them plodding along the roads escorted by tough-looking marines with their gear and weapons lashed high.

"Before an attack in an area where there was scant opposition, the boys peppered a cane field. Three of the kids had mounted a machine gun on a cart and one lad was leading the animal back and forth while his two companions were perched high on the wagon manning the gun.

"Our youngsters are amazing. After 25 days' constant fighting over tough terrain and no sleep to speak of, give them four hours' rest and they star triding the bulls or engage in similar nonsensical pursuits. We were, however, a thoroughly tired outfit when the big battle was finally over.

"The island has taken a pasting. There are practically no buildings left intact in the villages; the cane fields are burned and the sugar mill is a wreck. Although the Japs had been here 20 years and had considered Saipan an important base, everything was on a very primitive scale. Roads were bad; equipment other than military was poor and inadequate. It probably will not be much of a job to set the native Chamoros back on their feet with a much higher scale of living."

Conquest of Brittany Is Race to Beat Germans in Adding to Forces

By Dewitt Mackenzie
Associated Press War Analyst

The fast-moving conquest of Brittany seems to be developing into an astonishing race to determine whether the speeding American armored columns can overrun the great peninsula with its magnificent ports before the weakened Germans can bring up reinforcements.

Thus far the Yanks haven't encountered any organized Nazi front, and resistance has been comparatively light. This has been due in considerable degree to the fact that the Hitlerites have had to pull many troops out of Brittany to defend their tottering Normaidy line.

Of course we don't know how strongly the ports of Brest, St. Nazaire and Lorient—our chief objectives—may be garrisoned. However, we get some measure of enemy weakness in our walk-over at the Breton capital or Rennes. This is a pivotal rail and highway center and the Nazis would defend it to the best of their ability.

If the Germans aren't already holding the ports strongly, their prospects are slim. By capturing Rennes the Americans have severed the main railroad into the peninsula and one column is thrusting swiftly across the base of the big triangle towards St. Nazaire while another heads for Best at the apex.

Although the southern two-thirds of the base is still open, the Allied air armada is rendering communications devilishly precarious. The sky navy is a major factor in this battle of lightning movement which may teach Adolf something about the blitz warfare he initiated in '39 with so much guttural bombast.

The Breton peninsula is a pearl of great price. Not only will its fine ports greatly increase our capacity to pour troops and material into France but—and this is of great importance—Hitler's U-boats have been using Brest, Lorient and St. Nazaire as prime bases from which to rail Allied shipping.

Berlin now admits that Marshal Rommel, field commander on the invasion front, suffered concussion of the brain, although he is said to be doing well. One wonders how much the Nazis have felt the loss of his undoubted skill. They likely wish now he could have remained on the job, to settle the argument with his old antagonist, Montgomery.

Victorious Cubs Add to String by Beating Brooklyn

By Jack Hand
By Associated Press

Cholly Grimm's banjo strummed a merry tune today as the Chicago Cubs inhaled rarefied first division air after spending the first three and a half months of the season in and out of the National league cellar.

The Bruins headed home via Pittsburgh with a nine-game win streak and a record of 12 victories in 17 eastern starts.

Bill Nicholson stepped up his home run production from its usual sub-par start and clouted Nos. 22 and 23 yesterday as the Cubs humbled Brooklyn twice, 6-2 and 7-1. Nicholson moved past Mel Ott of the New York Giants in the home run derby and passed the Cards' Ray Sanders to take the R. B. I. lead with 75.

Tommy Hughes continued his heavy hitting when he shifted to the short field to let the veteran Stan Hack pick up his old third base job.

Bob Chipman, who was acquired from Brooklyn for Ed Stanky June 7, topped the club with an 11-4 win record, three against his old Dodger mates.

Chipman needed help from relief hurler Derringer yesterday to grab a 6-2 nod in the first game over Curt Davis, but Passeau went all the way, scattering 10 hits, to decision Tom Warren in a 7-1 nightcap.

St. Louis humbled Pittsburgh, 15-2, with Teddy Wilks copping his seventh straight and his 10th win to one loss. Danny Litwhiler batted in six runs with four hits, including a three-run homer.

Chicago's White Sox went into a fifth-place tie with Detroit in the American league by downing Cleveland twice, 3-2 and 5-1. Bill Dietrich nosed out Al Smith in the opener with the help of Johnny Dickshot's triple, and Orval Grove got the nod over Chief Reynolds in the second.

All other big league clubs enjoyed an open date.

The Stars Say—

For Tuesday, February 4
By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

ACCORDING to the lunar and mutual aspects this should be a lively and moderately successful day, depending upon the degree of strategy and deft handling of matter-of-fact and tricky situations. There is need for much polity and finesse in meeting circumstances menaced by undercurrents of a bewildering nature. In such treacherous matters it will be found that employers, superiors or those in prestige and power may not be depended on to lend a helping hand. Impulsive or wayward moods also menace in purely private affairs, although an intriguing phase may be turned to good account by tact and shrewdness, especially concerning art, drama, romance and confidential interests.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is should be on the eve of a year in which the productive and happy outcome depends upon a definite degree of cleverness, vigilance and clear insight into obscure, confusing and treacherous situations. Such menace may be successfully worked out by stratagem and diplomacy, particularly when dealing with superiors or those in authority. A similar state of affairs prevails in all confidential and intimate relations, although these may carry a benign and happy aspect, if impulsive and erratic behavior be suppressed. Under such rule the arts, drama, poetry, music and romance flourish.

A child born on this day should be talented in many forms of creative expression, with art, music, drama,

Lindbergh Refuses To Testify Again

Colonel Turns Down Senate Invitation

Washington, Feb. 3 (INS).—While two leading opponents of the "lend-lease" bill testified that the measure would take this nation far along the road to war, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh today declined an invitation to testify before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Colonel Lindbergh, who last week delivered a scorching attack upon the bill before the House Foreign Affairs Committee, advised the Senate committee he did not desire to appear as he had nothing to add to his previous statement.

Ex-Gov. Philip F. La Follette of Wisconsin expressed the conviction that President Roosevelt would regard passage of the measure for all-out aid to nations fighting the Axis powers "a mandate" to get us into the war. He declared that in March, 1939, French Premier Daladier told him Britain and France would expect "munitions and men" from the United States if they engaged in war with Germany.

Following La Follette to the stand, Norman Thomas, Socialist leader, declared passage of the bill would empower the President to "commit acts of war", would mean the abdication of Congress and vest in Mr. Roosevelt "powers greater than those of Winston Churchill and equalled only by those of Josef Stalin."

'Loan Shark' Bill Proposed In Legislature

Austin, Texas, Feb. 3 (INS).—A bill designed to curb "loan shark" activities today was introduced in the Texas Senate by Sen. T. C. Chadick of Breckenridge.

For any person charging more than 10 per cent per annum interest on a loan, Chadick's bill provides several penalties:

1. A $500 fine in addition to other penalties for each violation;

2. Forfeiture of the lending company's charter on application of any county attorney, district attorney, or the attorney general of Texas, and

3. Any loan on which usurious interest is charged will not be enforceable in any state court.

Kaplan was charged with accepting money on his promise to exempt a man from deferment of a draft registrant.

7 BELIEVED DEAD

Missing Army Bomber Wreck Found On Cliff

Tacoma, Wash., Feb. 3 (UP).—A twin-motored Douglas B-18-A light bomber missing since Jan. 16 with seven men, was found wrecked near Brenner, tiny southwestern Washington lumbering community, today by two woodsmen who spent a week searching for the plane, Col. William H. Crom, commandant of McChord Field, said tonight.

The men, Harry Studhalter and Tom Harper, operators of a tie mill at Brenner, sighted the wreckage through field glasses at a distance of eight miles against a rocky cliff at an elevation of about 4300 feet in the foothills of snow-covered Mt. Rainer.

No sign of life was seen about the wreckage, which was strewn over a wide area, and it was believed all aboard the ship died when it struck.

Brenner is about seven miles west of Mineral, 40 miles south of the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific railroad in Lewis County, and about 50 miles due south of Tacoma.

NEWSMEN BARRED FROM WRECK SCENE

Army authorities said they would not permit any newspapermen, civilians or photographers to go to the wreck scene, which was about four hours hard hiking from Morton through rough, timbered country.

Retail Food Prices Rise One-Half Per Cent

Washington, Feb. 3 (AP).—Retail food costs advanced about one-half of one per cent between Dec. 17 and Jan. 14, the Labor Department reported today.

Meat prices advanced about four per cent, it said, and the cost of vegetables and eggs increased, while coffee and flour also increased. These advances were partially offset, however, by seasonal declines in prices for eggs, butter and oranges.

Aid Bill Hit And Praised In The House

Washington, Feb. 3 (AP).—With administration leaders predicting approval by a margin of at least 100 votes, the lease-lend bill was brought to the House floor today to be heatedly denounced as a step toward war and dictatorship, and warmly defended as a measure to keep the horrors of conflict away from American shores.

As the House proceeded through the first hours of three days of general debate on the measure, Representative Fish (R-NY), took the leadership of the opposition. He asserted that enactment of the bill would plunge the United States into war in Europe and Asia within six months and bring a dictatorship at home.

It was apparent, however, that party lines would be split on the bill vote. After Chairman Bloom (D-NY), of the Foreign Affairs Committee, in reply to Fish, declared the legislation would lessen war away from the United States, Representative Cannon (D-Mo.) declared that "this measure is not a defense measure."

ASKS HOW LONG BEFORE WE'RE SENT

Coffee asked how long it would be, if the bill passed, "before our army may be transferred" to Britain.

For the most part, the debate followed the general lines of the argument which has raged since the measure was first proposed.

At one point, however, Representative Dirksen (R-Ill.), demanded to know what had occurred when Lord Halifax, new British ambassador to Washington, left the Capitol last Saturday. His face flushed, Bloom called Dirksen's question "very improper."

"The destiny of America hangs in the balance," Dirksen shouted, "it is a proper question."

Bloom, in tense voice, said he and Halifax had talked of the exhibition of the Magna Carta at the

General Urges Defense Guard In New Mexico

Santa Fe, N. M., Feb. 3 (AP).—Adj. Gen. R. C. Charlton told a committee of the whole House today that the New Mexico had not enough men in the entire state to prevent the landing and organization of enemy parachute troops.

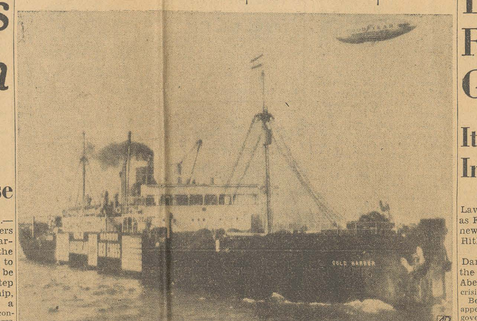
Speaking in behalf of four national defense bills, including one to set up a state guard, the general agreed that such a force, by itself, would not be a particularly effective military body.

Mr. Charlton said the shock of an enemy attack until help could arrive," he said, "but that would be about all.

"And if it came to a matter of parachute troops, New Mexico is so large that we haven't enough men in the entire state—let alone the state guard—to stop them before they could get landed and organized."

The adjutant general explained that the state guard would be used to guard "fences around the nearly every strategic point in the state which might be attacked by saboteurs, enemy agents or enemy forces."

Red Cross Relief Ship Sails For Europe



LYING deep in the water, the 5100-ton freighter Cold Harbor steams out of Baltimore heavily-laden with relief supplies for Spain and France, with a blimp circling overhead as escort. The cargo included tons of flour and powdered and condensed milk, clothing and medicine. The ship, with huge Red Crosses on its sides, will be fully-lighted at nights on the way across. All belligerent nations have been given notice of the sailing. The British granted permission for it to run the blockade.

Subsidence Call Made For 62 Army Trainees

An unexpected call for a Feb. 24 quota of 62 El Paso County selective service trainees was received by the El Paso County enrolled Draft Board Monday.

The quota is in addition to a previously announced quota of 33 men scheduled to be inducted Feb. 6 and 7. Quotas for these dates are as follows: Board 1, seven men; Board 2, six men; Board 3, seven men; Board 4, seven men, and Board 5, eight men.

Board quotas for the Feb. 24 call were given as follows: Board 1, 12 men; Board 2, 11 men; Board 3, 9 men; Board 4, 12 men, and Board 5, 14 men.

It was indicated that the unexpected late-February call will be really part of the heavy quota for March, when the local boards expect to furnish approximately 200 men. The five local boards met Monday, but not in January.

MEN CALLED FOR INDUCTION

The following men from Boards No. 1 and 3 who have been called for induction Feb. 6 and 7 were announced by Board 3: Francisco Rubio, laborer, Safford, Ariz.; Raymaldo Sotero Ortiz, safety inspector, 615 North Ochoa Street; Jose E. Senate Passes $313,500,000 For Ship Construction

Washington, Feb. 3 (INS).—The Senate today passed, by a voice vote, a joint resolution appropriating $313,500,000 for construction of additional merchant vessels for the U. S. Maritime Commission.

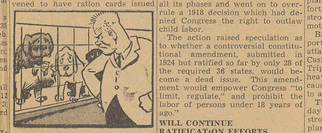
The measure now goes back to the House for concurrence in Senate amendments.

Only Ritzy Dogs Get Food Now In Belgium

Brussels, Feb. 3 (AP).—The days of the mutt dog in Belgium is over.

Dog food, and other food as well, is so scarce that unpedigreed dogs are denied rations.

The Belgian Kennel Club intervened to have ration cards issued for pedigreed dogs. Immediately there was a scramble of many owners to prove their own dogs were pedigreed. Dog experts examined many, saved some, rejected others.



Judges Approve Wage-Hour Act Unanimously

Washington, Feb. 3 (AP). — A sweeping decision of the Supreme Court today upheld the constitutionality of the wage-hour law in the case involving the validity of a rule a 1918 decision which had denied Congress the right to outlaw child labor.

The action raised speculation as to whether a controversial constitutional amendment, submitted in 1924 but ratified so far by only 28 of the required 36 states, would become a dead issue. This amendment would empower Congress to limit, regulate," and prohibit the labor of persons under 18 years of age.

WILL CONTINUE RATIFICATION EFFORTS

Officials at the Children's Bureau said they would continue to press for ratification of the amendment since two-fourths of all child labor is employed in intrastate industry, but the court's decision appeared to place at least a large part of this within the control of Congress, along with all child labor in interstate industry.

The wage-hour law itself, passed in 1938 and known technically as the Fair Labor Standards Act, prohibits the employment of children under 16 in mining and manufacturing and of children under 18 in hazardous occupations, but its chief purposes are to fix minimum wages for all maximum working hours for all workers whose products enter interstate commerce.

Another provision of the law, requiring employers to keep records of their employes' wages and hours to prove compliance, also was specifically upheld.

The decision, by Justice Stone, was unanimous. The court became a full bench tribunal temporarily upon the retirement Saturday of Justice McReynolds, who celebrated his 78th birthday today.

DECLARE UNIONISTS CAN NOT BE TRIED

In another far-reaching decision today, by a vote of 5 to 2, the court held that unionists could not be prosecuted for conspiracy to restrain interstate commerce under the Sherman anti-trust law for picketing and boycotting activities resulting from a jurisdictional dispute between two AFL unions at the Anheuser-Busch Brewery in St. Louis.

The majority opinion, by Justice Frankfurter, held that the Clayton and the Norris-LaGuardia anti-injunction acts modified the Sherman law so that a union might freely undertake such activity "so long as it limits acts in its self-interest and does not combine with non-labor groups."

Berlin, Feb. 3 (AP).—Ruth Schubert, 20, of Hildesheim, the first woman to be executed in Germany this year, was beheaded today following conviction on charges of espionage.

65 Billion Debt Limit Gets Committee Nod

Washington, Feb. 3 (UP).—The administration's bill to increase the national debt limit from $45,000,000,000 to $65,000,000,000—a step regarded as necessary to help finance rearmament—won approval of the House Ways and Means Committee Monday. It may come up for floor consideration next week.

The vote reportedly was 15 to 10 with Republican members solidly opposed. Chairman Robert L. Doughton (D-N.C.) obtained consent of the House to bring up the measure under a three-hour general debate agreement after a vote has been taken on the Britain aid bill.

Republican committeemen fought unsuccessfully to limit the debt hike to $36,500,000,000.

Besides raising the debt limit the bill wipes out a special $4,000,000,000 debt category set up last session to finance defenses, provides authority for taxing future issues of government securities, and authorizes the Treasury to issue savings stamps and low-denomination bonds. These would be designed to interest the general public in contributing its bit to finance the rearmament program.

Willkie Will Confer With King, Queen Today

Woman Hands Him Bottle Of Beer. Kisses His Cheek

Manchester, England, Feb. 3 (AP).—Kissed, cheered and honored with the "Red Rose of Lancaster," Wendell L. Willkie cut short his tour of north England's bomb-scarred industrial centers tonight to return to London for a meeting tomorrow with King George VI and Queen Elizabeth.

Willkie cancelled a scheduled visit to Sheffield, famed steel manufacturing city, telegraphing the lord mayor that he would be unable to appear because "unfortunately my return to America to testify on the lease-lend bill necessitates my return to London Monday night,"

The 1940 Republican presidential candidate appeared visibly affected by what he had seen in an all-day tour of Manchester's bombed areas —a triumphal procession which found his automobile constantly flanked by shouting, cheering throngs.

"I found the answer to the question I set out to ask," he told newsmen, sitting on a table top in an dswinging his legs.

"The people's spirit is magnificent."

Willkie received the "Red Rose of Lancaster"—a high honor springing from the bloody 15th Century Wars of the roses, in which the red rose signified the House of Lancaster and the white rose the House of York—at the Manchester town hall.

Then, holding the rose, he set out for the busy river dockyards. At one point, an old woman pressed through the crowd to hand him a bottle of beer and planted a smacking kiss on his cheek.

He declared that since this war was particularly one of production, he was impressed here "not with what has been destroyed, although it is appalling, but with what is being produced—because freedom will survive only if production survives."

Laval Will Get Return To Post, Greater Power

Italian Army Of 200,000 In Africa Faces Disaster

Vichy, Feb. 3 (UP).—Restoration to power of Pierre Laval "with even greater authority" than before his ouster as French vice-premier on Dec. 14 and perhaps a completely new Vichy cabinet pledged to closer collaboration with Adolf Hitler appears imminent.

Monday's conference in Paris among Admiral Francois Darlan, special emissary of Marshal Henri Philippe Petain, the Pro-German Laval and Hitler's personal envoy, Otto Abetz, was said to have "practically ended" the 50-day-old crisis in French-German relations.

Beaten and trouble-beset France appeared to be heading toward a government dominated by four men —Laval, Admiral Darlan, Paul Baudouin, and Gen. Charles Huntziger—with the aged Petain retaining full authority as chief of state.

(The Vichy radio called the Paris conference a meeting of "men who have set as their goal fighting the Petain government" and said it "has nothing in common with the newly formed Committee of the National Revolution" formed by Petain last week with 40 members.)

It is predicted in Vichy that within a week the present cabinet of Petain will be swept out and replaced by a new cabinet, including Laval, pledged to a policy of "active collaboration" with Germany.

British Smash Deeper Into Mussolini's African Empire

Cairo, Feb. 3 (UP).—An Italian army of 200,000 men tonight faced dismemberment and entrapment by British Empire forces smashing deeper into Benito Mussolini's East African empire on five fronts.

The British had seized strategic Barentu, 70 miles inside Eritrea near the Ethiopian border, on Sunday, barely 24 hours after they had captured Agordat, 40 miles along a mountainous road town of Agordat, 40 miles northward. Here fierce fighting cost the Italians 3,000 killed, dead, 10,000 wounded and prisoners.

The 10,000 Italian defenders of Barentu fled, it was said, after a heavy dive-bombing by British planes which went on to destroy forts and military buildings and destroyed or captured at least 30 motor transport vehicles.

British bombers tonight were reported to have struck at oil a heavy attack on Italy's Libyan air base at Castel Benito, 20 miles southeast of Tripoli, where "several tons of heavy explosives and incendiaries" were dropped in addition to damage to an RAF communique.

The attack, following an earlier daylight raid, was said to have destroyed by fire at least seven Italian bombers and all oil stocks stored in a large hangar and other buildings.

British Bombers Hit At Nazi Objectives Across Channel

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS

London, Feb. 3.—British bombers struck across the channel in pre-dawn darkness today at objectives in German-held northwestern France the government announced, following up British weekend air assaults against both ends of the Axis.

A terse air ministry communique listed neither the precise targets nor the damage inflicted.

But said all bombers returned safely.

An Admiralty communique reported that British naval planes had smashed yesterday at one of the Italian sources of power supply in Sardinia." It said the attack by naval Swordfish aircraft was successful" and that one plane failed to return.

Today's communique of the Italian high command identified the target in Sardinia as Adam across night.

Single Nazi Raiders Harass Britain In Minor Assaults

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS

London, Feb. 3.—Single German raiders harassed British towns today and a high Royal Air Force officer expressed the opinion such forays would persist until a break in weather permitted a return to mass bombing.

But, continued the officer, superior aircraft and pilots of Britain "will again beat back any return to mass daylight bombing" as they did in the battle of Britain invasion," despite the fact that German air power is concentrated in the "measurably in excess" of Britain's on March 1. The British, he said, are "a little ahead" in night bombing experience.

An air raid alert preceded by a burst of anti-aircraft fire was heard in London shortly before midnight but the warning ended within a few minutes.

A German plane apparently in continuation of hit and run raids of the day, caused the alarm.

Bombs were dropped by the raider were put out quickly by fire wardens.

A few German aircraft braved the Channel weather to penetrate parts of Britain tonight but no heavy attack was reported and up to late hour no alert sounded in London.

Raiders were reported over an East Anglian town, another in the East Midlands, two in southwestern England and one in Wales. The worst blizzard of the winter died down over the Strait of Dover after an all-day snowfall. The weather turned bitter cold and a gale blew the full force of the army dropped by the raider were put out to the fog-wreathed Belgian and French coasts.

Honor Of Youth, $10 Bet Prompt Marathon Race

So did two friends, Thomas Deangelo and Alfred Burns, when Morton allowed he could, without special training, run 34 miles in 7½ hours, with one hour of rest for each hour of running.

They had $10 which said he couldn't be done by anyone except a Hopi Indian.

Morton hopped on the wager. He started his marathon at 8 a. m. yesterday at the Northeast High School's 400-yard track.

Lending moral support was his sweetheart, Miss Betty Grantelio.

At the end of the first hour she drove him to her home where Papa Grantello massaged his muscles. Throughout the day the youth rubs in the odd hours. In the even hours Grantello applied alcohol.

At the end of 148 laps Deangelo and Burns conceded. Morton ran two more laps for good measure, called for a steak dinner and went to collect his $10.

"I feel fine today," said young Morton. "Got up and went to church, too.

"And say, I hope the paper hears about that."

Two Negroes Are Wounded In Shooting Here

Two negro men, John H. Williams and John Sampson Richardson, were wounded in a shooting affray at Richardson's residence, 204 East Summit, Friday night. Both suffered only minor wounds.

Williams is being held in the county jail and charges will be filed against him when district attorney G. T. Watts returns to Roswell, officers stated. Richardson was taken into custody and later released.

According to a statement made by Richardson to officers, Williams came to Richardson's home about 10 p. m. Friday and started an argument. Then the latter man said, Williams fired two shots into the house, the second bullet striking Richardson in the right arm below the elbow. Richardson said he then got his gun and fired one shot at Williams, the bullet entering a window.

Williams was hit in the left side. He was taken to St. Mary's Hospital where the bullet (.25 calibre) was removed from his side, and was then removed to the county jail.

The case was handled by city officers.

CHANGES IN STATE POULTRY CEILINGS

The State Office of Price Administration today announced sweeping new changes in its poultry price ceilings, and simplified regulations to facilitate enforcement.

Substantial savings to the consumer were predicted by Vernon G. Sorrell, state OPA price officer, in the result of the following measures:

1. Uniform prices are established for many different types of poultry. This is the most important of marked reductions in prices of those exempted from ceilings, and by increases in prices of cheaper poultry.

2. Prices of drawn and quick-frozen eviscerated poultry items are reduced by an average of about 11 cent to 10 cents a pound. These reductions are slightly offset by increases of from 1 1/2 to 2 cents a pound in the cases of quick frozen eviscerated broilers and fryers.

Other measures include:

1. Establishment of FOB prices for the sale of live poultry at local country shipping points. Formerly the country shipper calculated his price on the basis of delivery to the buyer's place of business. This gave country shippers different cities different buying prices at the same point, and encouraged violations of ceilings. From now on all buyers will pay the same price at the same point.

2. Establishment of an allowance for truckers who will haul live poultry to city markets, rang-

Where To Learn About the WAAC

Chaves county girls and women who see about joining the WAAC by writing at once to the WAAC Procurement Office, Santa Fe, said Lt. Col. Howard W. Clark, today.

"Every woman in Chaves county who is 21 to 44 years of age inclusive, and who is in good health and feels that she could be available for Army duty should investigate what the WAAC means to herself and her country," he said.

"Those women who have no skill are trained in Army schools in the kind of work they can do best, and those with some special skill will get a chance to use it.

"For example, girls who can read, write and speak Spanish are enrolled as linguists. Clerks, stenographers and typists can replace soldiers in offices. Others will be trained as mechanics, truck drivers, radio operators and similar trades.

WAACs start at $50 a month and can go up to $138 in non-commission ranks, and corresponding higher if they earn commissions.

"But that is just base pay," said the Colonel. "In addition, all living expenses are paid. There is dental and medical care, and every $200 worth of clothing is furnished for every member.

"Service wives continue to receive their allotments, and every WAAC is entitled to insurance benefits, and to 30 days' leave or furlough with pay.

"Candidates must have at least two years of high school or its equivalent, and must be at least five feet tall and weight at least 100 pounds."

NMMI Polo Team Plays Lamesa This Afternoon

The crack N. M. M. I. polo team will attempt to make it two in a row over the strong Lamesa, Texas, quartet in a game on the Institute field at 2:30 this afternoon.

The cadets maintained their first defeated record this season with a 4-1 victory over the Lamesa riders in an exceptionally fast game Saturday, but had to come from behind after the visitors had taken a 1-0 lead in the first. The LaMesa team brought their own horses.

President Orders—

country." It was understood Ickes also was considering the advisability of asking war production chief Donald M. Nelson to declare a national dimout to conserve coal.

A solid fuels administration spokesman, meanwhile, said the great steel and rolling mills of the Pittsburgh and Bethlehem, Pa., area face a shutdown in five or six days unless the miners go back to work at once.

Expect the Soldiers

In many coal towns, the impression appeared to be that soldiers would march at once into the diggings. The general reaction was: "You can't mine coal with bayonets."

Both the president and Ickes, however, gave assurances that troops would be employed only in the event of disturbances which made their presence necessary to protect mines and miners.

R. J. Thomas, president of the United Automobile Workers (CIO), said President Roosevelt promised him and other labor leaders at a surprise White House conference that he would not use troops to force strikers back into the mines.

He told the president that troops would raise chaos, that labor couldn't stand up under it," Thomas said. "I also said that you can't force a man to work with a bayonet—and the president agreed with me."

Others present with Thomas were AFL president William Green; David B. Robertson, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, and Mrs. Anna Rosenberg, New York regional war power commission official.

No Contract Work

Typical of comment on the president's action was the remark of John Kramrech, CIO organizer in Uniontown, Pa., who said: "As far as I can see, the situation is still the same—no contract, no work."

Hugh White, vice president in charge of Illinois UMW headquarters, said at Springfield, Ill., that he did not believe the government's action would "make any difference in the situation."

In Pennsylvania, where 125,000 soft coal and 80,000 hard coal miners constitute the UMW's biggest state membership, the government was generally inimical to the government's plan. Governor's anthracite coal telegraphed the president that it was 100 per cent behind Lewis and that "we will turn to work until we get a wage increase."

Meanwhile, in addition to mines in Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Kentucky, Illinois, Alabama, Indiana, and Ohio, 6000 UMW members in Oklahoma and Arkansas were reported on strike, swelling the total.

Roosevelt or Lewis

The issue, fraught with danger for the nation's war effort, appeared to have become a test of whether President Roosevelt or his political enemy, Lewis, had the stronger claim on the miners' loyalty.

Operators, on the other hand, generally acquiesced —if sometimes reluctantly—in the seizure.

President Roosevelt had appealed to the miners over Lewis' head and planned to talk to them in a nationwide broadcast at 10 p. m. tomorrow.

War production chief Donald M. Nelson acted to minimize the effects of a prolonged strike insofar as possible by assuring most effective use of coal already produced. He ordered that no anthracite in transit be delivered to users who have more than a five day supply on hand. The order was similar to one announced yesterday in which soft coal deliveries were limited to consumers having less than a 10 day supply.

45-Day Supply

At the interior department, it was estimated that soft coal above ground now is equal, on the basis of even distribution, to a 45 day supply. Distribution is not even, however, and some war industries may have to shut down within a fortnight if production is not resumed at once.

In carrying out the President's order, Ickes appointed the managers of 11 field offices of his bituminous coal division to serve as regional managers of all coal mines taken over by the government.

A majority of Congressmen, Democrats and Republicans alike, approved the President's action.

Lewis stood pat on his promise that miners would not work without a contract. Mr. Roosevelt had acted on his promise to exercise his full powers to maintain the coal production without which a major portion of the nation's war and transportation industries cannot function.

Its a Showdown Now

It was the climactic showdown between two men who once were political friends and are now the bitterest political enemies a three-cornered fight the nation stands to lose heavily if the coal mine controversy continues despite the President's action.

Because many mines do not normally operate over the week end, it will not be possible to tell until Monday which mine has the stronger hold on the miners' loyalty. If the miners decide to stick with Lewis—a decision which, as things stand now, presumably would keep them out of the mines —the President will have lost.

But if Roosevelt should do in that event cannot now be foretold. The guess now is that he might order drafting of miners, and then have them assigned to the work at once.

Lewis Won't Talk

In New York, veteran observer of scores of bitter union battles in the coal fields refused to hazard comment.

"The President gave Ickes virtually unlimited authority to take whatever action he deems necessary," he said. "What action will be the succesful prosecution of the case. He also gave Ickes power to make their pressure necessary to protect mines and miners.

R. J. Thomas, president of the United Automobile Workers (CIO), said President Roosevelt promised him and other labor leaders at a surprise White House conference that he would not use troops to force strikers back into the mines.

He told the president that troops would raise chaos, that labor couldn't stand up under it," Thomas said. "I also said that you can't force a man to work with a bayonet—and the president agreed with me."

"The President gave Ickes virtually unlimited authority to take whatever action he deems necessary," he said. "What action will be the succesful prosecution of the case. He also gave Ickes power to make their pressure necessary to protect mines and miners.

"I now call upon all miners who may have abandoned their work to return immediately to the mines and work for their government," he said. "Their country needs their services as much as those of the members of the armed forces."

Will Obey Demands

He promised them that their demands for a $2 a day wage increase would be considered promptly, and in accordance with the procedure and rules applicable to all labor disputes" by the war labor board whenever they agreed to accept WLB jurisdiction. He promised, too that any wage adjustments would be retroactive.

Most of the miners now on strike work in the great coal producing states of Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Kentucky, West Virginia and Alabama. Some 15,000 others in the Rocky Mountain states had given five days notice of intention to strike.

In the states primarily affected, virtually all coal production was at a standstill. In West Virginia, state police were dispatched to the mines to prevent possible disturbances. In Alabama a "strike detail" of U. S. soldiers patrolled on the scene.

Throughout the nation, there was enough coal above ground to supply industrial needs—on the average—for more than a month, but in some areas acute shortages, disastrous to war production, threatened in the event of a prolonged stoppage.

Shut Down Furnaces

Officials of the Republic Steel Corp. and two blast furnaces at Youngstown, O., and Buffalo, N. Y., would be shut down immediately if the government's action did not succeed in getting mine production resumed at once.

Union officials and mine operators reacted variously to the President's action. George N. Revland of the Payne Coal Co., Philadelphia office suggested "the drafting of miners into the army and then sending them back to the pits.

Ed Keenan, Pa., vice president Hubert Parrett of UMW district 2, said the leaders of his district were solidly "behind John L. Lewis." At Hazleton, Pa., miners asked: "What does he want us to do—mine the coal with bayonets?"

But Mr. Roosevelt's order and Ickes' instructions to mine operators made it clear that troops were to be used only as a last resort.

Ickes apparently was relying on the U. S. flag to keep order. He instructed all operators to "fly the flag of the United States on the mining premises."

Blame On Lewis

In his order to Ickes, the President laid blame for the strike squarely on the shoulders of Lewis, who had charged that the WLB was "a packed court against labor," and other union officials.

"Officers of the United Mine Workers of America," the President said, "have refused to submit to the machinery established for the peaceful settlement of labor disputes in violation of the agreement on the part of labor and industry that there shall be no strikes or lockouts for the duration of the war."

Duck Hunter Hits Jap Pilot With Springfield Rifle

SANTA ANA, Calif.—The story of a former duck hunter who put a rifle bullet through the temple of a low-flying Japanese bomber pilot was disclosed this week by the Army Air Forces' West Coast Training Center's pre-flight school at Santa Ana, Calif.

Lt. S. G. Saltzman, a native of Wilmington, Delaware, and now stationed at Santa Ana Army Air Base, was stationed at Oahu, T. H., as communications officer on the morning of memorable December 7, 1941. He was on duty at the time of the attack and some of his men were sniping rifleshots at the repair initial damage.

Also a man was engaged in his work he presented a beautiful picture for ground-strafing Jap planes.

Lt. Salzman observed a Jap plane approaching at low altitude—an a lineman. The young officer snatched the nearest weapon—a Springfield rifle —and waited tensely. While the Jap plane roared at tremendous speed, Lt. Saltzman raised the rifle and, with a prayer, squeezed the trigger.

The plane fluttered—then dived straight to the ground.

AMERICANS TAKE 3 NAZI KEY POINTS BY USE OF BAYONETS

Bitter Fighting in Tunisia With Allies, Paced by Americans, Making Slow But Steady Gains; Axis Ships Sunk: Italy Hit By U. S. Bombers

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, in North Africa, May 1 (UP)—American troops, setting the pace in the showdown battle of Tunisia, clamped an assault arc against the German defenses of shell-raked Mateur today after capturing three key German positions southwest of Bizerte in bitter hand to hand fighting with bayonets.

Allied airmen, in the most sweeping and accurate attack of the African campaign against Axis shipping, caught a convoy of eight ships, including two destroyers and a cruiser, while a sensational one plane blow destroyed an entire fleet of five big Junkers aerial transports.

7 Axis Vessels Sunk

In all, seven Axis vessels were sunk, among them the two destroyers, according to an official statement issued to clarify the announcement between individual communiques.

(The Admiralty announced that British submarines had sunk 10 more Axis ships in the Mediterranean, running their total bag revealed in the last month to 59 ships destroyed or damaged.)

As the Americans sliced deeper into stiff German defenses on the northern front, the British first army fought off furious counterattack, at the center of the constricting battle line, and the eighth army and French forces to the south pushed to within 30 miles of Tunis, capital of Tunisia.

Three To Mateur

The most imminent threat to Mateur was posed by American units pushing eastward along the Sedjenane valley. They took the most reached the main road running from Bizerte southward along the west side Lake Achkel and down through Mateur.

The overall picture showed no signs of weakening enemy resist-

Allied Bombers Score Direct Hits On Jap Cargo Ship

GEN. MacARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Australia, Sunday, May 2 —(UP)— Allied army bombers scored a direct hit on a 5,000-ton Japanese cargo ship in Manokwari harbor, Dutch New Guinea, it was announced today.

The ship was left settling by the stern, headquarters' noon communique announced, revealing that allied air action against Japanese submarines operating in force" off Australia might seriously threaten allied supply lines had grown by leaps and bounds and was outstripping total consumer purchases. As a result, industries were piling up in trade channels and curtailing production. If this condition were not cured immediately the abnormally large stocks in trade hands would be threatened by warm weather spoilage. When the inventory situation becomes unduly nearly normal, consideration will be given to lifting these foods back on the rationed list.

To Speed Sales

The further lowering of point prices of most fruit and vegetable juices, OPA officials said, was the part of OPA to speed up their sales and thereby relieve the inventory situation.

Blue stamps lettered G, H, and J, a total of 48 points, are valid for the month of May and, because of the latest revisions, will be sufficient to increase their purchases of several important types of canned foods, especially fruit juices.

The new list also makes changes in the point values of vegetables, except for reductions in tomato juice and other vegetable juice combinations containing 70 per cent or more of tomato juice.

Frozen fruits and vegetables continue to carry the same point values that were assigned in the term on April 22. There are no changes as to the point values of dried beans, peas, and lentils or of baby foods.

48-Hour Week Is Ordered for The Steel Industry

WASHINGTON, May 1 —(UP)— Paul V. McNutt, chairman of the War Manpower Commission, tonight ordered a 48-hour week established in the steel industry.

The lengthened work week in the steel industry, which provides the most essential material for war, will become effective by July 1.

The present work week in steel plants, according to the manpower commission, is 41.5 hours, with some plants running as low as 37 hours.

"This order will assure maximum production with a minimum of workers," McNutt said. "It will not only give a full use of existing facilities but will release much manpower necessary for the new facilities which will come into operation within the next few weeks."

McNutt acted under President Roosevelt's war powers which authorized him to establish minimum work weeks of 48 hours.

Under the order, no blast furnace, steel mill or rolling mill working less than 48 hours a week on and after June 1 may hire any new workers without the approval of the War Manpower Commission for the specific job. This "cease hiring" order is in line with the general war manpower policy which does not recognize claims for new workers until all workers on a job are fully utilized.

Russians Blast Nazi Artillery; Down 24 Planes

Russian Offensive in the Caucasus Subsides; War Mounts Higher

LONDON, Sunday, May 2 —(UP)—Russian air and artillery units, supporting infantry attacks against the Axis bridehead in the northwest Caucasus, yesterday blasted out 40 German batteries and shot down 24 enemy planes, the Soviet high command reported today.

A Red army communique broadcast from Moscow lacked corroboration of German claims that the Russians were attacking south of Orel and southeast of Leningrad in an apparent spread of mounting hostilities on the east front.

The Soviet midnight war bulletin, recorded here, said that in the Kuban area of the Caucasus, where the Nazis had reported large scale Russian attacks, Russian troops engaged in active operations while some units beat off German counter-thrusts.

Russian big guns backing up the attacks of the troops destroyed or silenced 40 Axis artillery and trench mortar batteries, the communique said, and shattered many enemy pillboxes and dugouts.

Down 24 German Planes

Soviet pilots ranging over the Caucasian battle area, where pitched air battles have been fought for some time, brought down 24 German planes, the communique said.

At the opposite end of the Russian front, in the Leningrad region, the communique said, an assault group of Red army troops, attempting to hurl the Nazi account of Leningrad, killed more than 100 men in that region.

Soviet artillerymen silenced two trench mortar batteries, destroyed two anti-tank guns and three trench mortars, and destroyed four dugouts, the Moscow bulletin said.

The German radio said the Soviets had resumed offensive operations below Orel and along the Nova river sector near Leningrad, the scene of some of the fiercest fighting in the Red army's winter drive.

Orel, major German-held base jutting like a salient into Russian fronts, also anchors the Nazi salient jutting eastward midway between Kharkov and Moscow. The Russians drove a corridor through the German siege lines below Leningrad last winter and captured the key fortress of Schlusselburg.

The German Claims

"The Germans repelled the attacks, the further assaults by Soviet shock troops remain unsuccessful," the Nazi broadcast reporting the new assaults said.

The Red army command, meanwhile acknowledged that the Germans had pushed a spearhead down the Donets river in the Ukraine south of Izyum—principal of the Nazis in weeks of fighting southeast of Kharkov.

"South of Izyum a group of German tommy gunners attempted to force the northern Donets," the Soviet communique said. "The larger part of the Hitlerites who crossed the river were wiped out.

Sidelights On The News

By Will Robinson

(Written exclusively for the Roswell Daily Record)

Since it isn't cricket for a wiving fellow to say "I told you so," or to draw attention to the mistakes of Moses when somebody else's money is concerned, the hired man probably better have left unwritten this paragraph. Perhaps he's bousing at the magic points along the Pecos, in each of which a more or less desperate battle has arisen in regard to the taking care of both the natural accretion of population and the emergent tide of war workers. Years ago this writer, in various papers, pointed out that the congestion now existing was certain to come, and that it would be good business and good sense to build against it. Only one town, Artesia, is not bleeding for want of housing, and its future is certain to be a repetition of the other points though the moving factor seems to be an industrial one.

Suppose, for example, that the government acts on its hunch for the building of a big road oil refinery at Artesia. It is known that the Federal Department of Roads has for some time been studying the establishment of such a plant at Artesia, which is only a few miles from Roswell, long marked as the probable location for a lay-out to use the asphaltic base from the Gettys field of bituminous oil. Such an establishment would mean a call for at least a hundred homes for workers, and it is a pretty safe bet that there will have to be hectic building campaign. There will be a sore need for the many business lines that have been moved bodily to Hobbs and other points. The oil capital made the same mistake twice, and is now at the point of desperation in taking care of the needs of the newcomers. So is Carlsbad.

That great road oil refinery can not be built in the duration period.

Top-Notch Soldier Show Will Be Given May 7th at NMMI Auditorium

"On the Beam," an all-star army show will be presented here next Friday night for civilians, it was announced yesterday. The show will be given at the New Mexico Military Institute auditorium, starting at 8:30.

Roswell is one of the few towns in which this all-soldier, all-air force musical revue is being presented for civilians. Permission for the performance here was secured from the Army Air Forces West Coast Training Command at Santa Ana, Calif.

Staged in an laugh-provoking scenes, the show was produced under the supervision of Captain Frederick Brisson and Special Service of the West Coast Training Center on order of Major General Cousins. The revue was organized to meet the demand for entertainment which exists among officers and soldiers at isolated contract schools, and isolated posts. After it's organization, the show has played over twenty such stations and held it's civilian world premiere at Tucson, Arizona on April 17, where it played to a capacity audience of over two thousand.

The cast consists of soldiers gathered from stations within the West Coast Command. The gags and the entertaining theme before entering the army, performed professionally in night clubs, theatres, pictures, and radio. Included in the cast are Sgt. Ray Wencil, portraying an M. C. in the "4-F Paradise" night club. Wencil is a radio and comedian with a very funny monologue. Sgt. Peter Lind Hayes, who before entering the Air Force was featured in the Broadway musical comedy, Victor Mature and Lucille Ball. Cpl. Hayes impersonations of various motion picture stars is an outstanding item.

Tin Can Drive In Roswell Saturday "Very Successful"

The tin can drive in Roswell on Saturday netted twenty truck loads of tin cans and was regarded by the salvage board as being a very successful affair.

These cans will be shipped immediately to a smelting plant and will be of material aid in the war effort, it was stated.

The salvage board expresses its thanks to all of the patriotic men and women who saved these cans and also to the forces preparing them and collecting them.

New Equipment At Capitan Theatre

Installation of a new Walker double-molded plastic silver screen at the Capitan Theatre, and the construction of a new projection booth, with all new projection equipment and wide-range sound, have been completed, it was announced yesterday by Mrs. E. C. Trieb, owner.

The new projection booth is of fireproof construction, with tile floor. The theatre has also been artistically re-decorated in a rose and coral color combination, and shaded blue neon lights at the exit.

The heavy-insulated screen represents a departure from the conventional. Instead of being perforated in the usual manner, it is provided with holes molded in the shape of flaring holes, the sidewalls of the holes providing part of the surface contour. Sound transmission is piped to a manifold from the newly-devised perforated screen, and this is invaluable in producing the illusion of three-dimension properties and is especially effective when used with a cinemiscolor film. "It is one of the finest projection properties of the Capitan in reaching the goal of realism," said Mrs. Trieb.

Delaney C. Jones of Baltimore, Maryland, arrived last night to assist J. C. Burton with the installation and operation of the projective equipment and the electrical operation of the booth. Jones is considered an expert electrician and motion picture projectionist. The two experts will complete an experienced personnel.

Fine leather cushioned seats have been added throughout the theatre to further contribute to the customers' comfort. The curtain effect is a tribute to Roswell's field of entertainment.

Chinese Flier Writes His Thanks For Hospitality

Hospitality extended them by Roswell people while they were members of the Chinese Flyers who were stationed at the R.A.F.S. if a letter received by Mr. and Mrs. George Caraway from Lt. Anthony Han Lung Chi, a typical expression of their feelings. Besides the courtesies extended the Chinese soldiers by individuals, a dinner party was given in their honor by Fashions in burglars change too!

The old fashioned masked burglar sought only the valuables he could carry in his sack, but his modern brother sets a new style in burglary technique. He arrives in broad daylight, backs a moving van up to the door and directs his helpers to a complete removal job.

But fashions in burglary protection are up to date too! For instance, the new F. & C. Residence Theft Policy not only covers the insured property on your premises but also when it has been placed in a warehouse, bank, safe deposit vault, or the home of a friend or relative for safe keeping.

Damage to the interior, exterior, and contents of your premises by housebreakers and theft coverage away from the premises for you and your family are some of the many other features contained in this up-to-the-minute policy. COUNT FLEET WINS THE KENTUCKY DERBY

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 1 (UP)—"The Count" became a king today.

The time was 2:04 as compared with the Derby record of 2:01 2/5 set by Whirlaway in 1941.

By virtue of his victory, Count Fleet earned for his owner a net purse of $69,725.

Blue Swords took down $8,060 for finishing second, the third place finish was good for $3,000 for Slide Rule and Amber Light garnered $1,000 for his fourth spot.

Count Fleet, one of the great three-year-olds to appear on the American racing scene in the past decade, became the ruler of turfdom when he won the 69th annual running of the historic Kentucky Derby before 65,000 fans at Churchill Downs.

The sleek speedster from the stable of John Hertz, Jr., proved by only won, but won handily by a three-lengths margin.

Blue Swords was forced by Allen T. Simmons, Akron, O., radio station executive, was second with six lengths margin over Slide Rule, the property of W. E. Boeing, the Seattle airplane manufacturer. Amber Light from Charles T. Fisher's Detroit stable, finished fourth to earn a little more than his entrance fee.

Back of the four leaders the field was well strung out in this order:

Amber Light fourth; Bankrupt fifth; No Wrinkles sixth; Type File seventh; Gold Shower eighth; Modest Lad ninth and Burnt Cork 10th and last.

Count Fleet went to the post as well-backed as any horse since the pari-mutuel machines became a fixture at Churchill Downs. He returned his multitude of backers only $2.80 to win, $2.40 to place and $2.20 to show.

Blue Swords returned $3.40 to place and $3.60 to show and Slide Rule paid $3.20 to show.

The payoff on Count Fleet equaled the Derby record as the shortest price to which a horse ever was backed in this classic. In 1940, Col. E. R. Bradley's Bimelech went to the post as the 5-2 favorite odds of 40 cents to the dollar. Bimelech however failed to get to the winner's circle as he was beaten by Gallahadion, a 35 to 1 shot.

Count Fleet broke well from his fifth place post position, but Jockey Johnny Longden elected not to send the son of Reigh Count quickly to the front immediately.

The Pace-Setter

The pace-setting role went to Gold Shower, followed by Burnt Cork, Blue Swords and "The Count" was fourth.

Down the first quarter mile, which stretches in front of the crowded grandstand and club house enclosures, the quarter ran in that order.

Just before the half-mile post Count Fleet moved up and took over "The Count." That was all that was needed. He rolled by Gold Shower and the tiring Burnt Cork and went to the finish.

They could have flagged Count Fleet down then and let him back through the infield to get the big trophy that goes to the winner, because to all intents and purposes the race was over.

Once Count Fleet went to the top he was there to stay.

As they raced down the back stretch Count Fleet had a two lengths margin over Gold Shower, which in turn was a length in front of Slide Rule, with the early leader Blue Swords fourth.

As they hit for the head of the stretch and the real "run for the roses" Count Fleet kept that two length margin, trailed by Blue Swords, which came gamely when put under heavy pressure by Johnny Adams. Amber Light and Slide Rule.

A True Champion

There was no question of the issue once the stretch was entered. It had to be Count Fleet, for he was running like a true champion—a Derby winner who may go on to turf triumphs that will put his name alongside other equine immortals.

Longden hand rode "The Count" down the stretch and the Hertz ace needed no more urging than the gentle whisper of the little fellow in his saddle as he romped across the finish line three lengths to the good.

Blue Swords was no match for Count Fleet, but he was much the best of the remainder of the field and had a six lengths margin over Slide Rule, which had a similar margin over the fourth finishing Amber Light.

The Awards

Don Cameron, who trained the winner, received $3,000 for the effort. Walter Kelly, the conditioner of Blue Swords was awarded $2,000 and $1,000 of the added money went to Cecil Wilhelm, who readied Slide Rule for the blue-ribbon event.

In addition to those awards from the gross pot of $82,750, Mrs. Hertz received $2,000 as the breeder of the winner.

Samuel D. Riddle was given $1,000 as the breeder of Blue Swords and a $500 award went to A. B. Hancock, the breeder of Slide Rule.

Count Fleet's victory added to Derby history in another way, as he is a son of Reigh Count, winner of the 1928 renewal of Col. Matt Winn's stake. Reigh Count is the fourth winner in the long history of the Derby to sire a colt which proved talented enough to earn the floral horse shoe that traditionally goes to the victor.

The other Derby winners to sire a colt that triumphed in the classic are Haima, the 1895 victor who sired Alan-A-Dale triumphant in 1902; Bubbling Over, the three-year old ruler in 1926 whose son Burgoo King copped the 1932 event here and Gallant Fox, winner in 1930 sired Omaha, which

War Record of New Mexico Industries

New Mexico's heavy industries—its mines, its mills and its oil fields—are far ahead of sister-industries in other states of this region in turning in scrap for the war effort; said the War Production Board office at Albuquerque today.

"And a good part of the credit for collection of 167 per cent of the state's quota of industrial scrap is due to the work of Clyde Oden, chairman of the statewide industrial salvage commission, and his workers throughout the state, and of John P. Murphy of the Chamber of Commerce, secretary of the committee," said Carroll Bowlin, WPB salvage field representative.

"The record is all the more remarkable," he went on, "when it is understood that the quota was for six months of this year, and the 167 per cent collection has occurred in only three months."

This does not mean, however, that we can let up one whit. Many industry still needs every bit of scrap we can get."

The quota for the period from Jan. 1, 1943 to July 1, 1943 was 7,700 tons for New Mexico, and the state's industries produced 4,-711 ton during March alone, Mr. Bowlin said, to bring its total for January, February and March to 12,873 tons, which is 167 per cent of the whole six-month quota.

Industrial scrap is collected and moved from mines, mills, oil fields, railroads and other industries by themselves. It does not include other scrap such as that from households and jalopy yards or junk yards.

Half Million Bet

A total of $537,392 was bet on the Derby. A year ago the handle on the race was $631,198. In 1941 an aggregate of $654,353 was bet on the big race. Today's figure however, topped the wagering on the classic in 1940, when $465,149 was bet on it.

RAFS Ball Team Plays Clovis Air Base Team Today

Sgt. Tom Merrick Taking Squad of 35 Plays Game at Clovis

The Roswell Army baseball team journeys to Clovis this afternoon for a practice game of the season with the Clovis Air Base club. The test will be played at Lesley Field, Clovis, former home of a ball representative in the defunct Arizona-Texas league.

S/Sgt. Tom Merrick, RAAF mentor, is taking a squad of 35 players on the trip. It is intended that the majority of the players will see action, should give him a line on each under actual game conditions before he cuts the squad to the 17-man limit allowed in Southwestern Air Force league. The Clovis and Roswell teams are members of the SWAFL.

Ray Kuhlmeier, veteran right-hander, will start for the RAAF team, will start on the mound with Eddie Lucas, burly Chicago semi-pro, behind the bat. Fred Bellacano, stumpy shortstop, will also see action in the late innings.

Manager Tex former Kiwa City standout in the Dan Johnson league, is taking a strong lineup back, with Lt. Shep Brown, ex-New York CYO luminary at the initial sack, and Lt. Hilbert Wolf will cover shortstop, and W. E. Haack will be at third.

Ernie Cox, big Asheville, N. C. journeyman will be in the field, with Fred Matthews of Shreveport, La., in center. Sam Schoester, slugging pitcher-outfielder will be open in right.

48-Hour Week—

Gives Some Time

At the same time WMC said, the order gives the steel industry time for making technical adjustments necessary to reach a 48-hour week. By the July 1 deadline, it said arrangements can be made for the absorption of workers by expanding facilities in the steel and other industries badly in need of skilled help.

"The War Manpower Commission reports that enough orders are now placed with the United States Employment Service offices to absorb all the men released," the announcement said. "Most of them can be absorbed by the steel industry itself and those for the most part in the district where they are now at work.

"The U. S. Employment Service presents no problem in clearance throughout the county orders for one-half million men for shipyards, mines, naval establishments and other war industries.

"Raising weekly scheduled hours of work in steel plants will add the equivalent of approximately 50,000 workers to the labor force, and a 48-hour week may be expected to substantially reduce turnover in the steel industry because of the increase in earnings to steel workers it will provide.

"Until the adoption of the order the steel industry has operated under handicaps with respect to other war plants which have offered greater opportunity in overtime pay. By eliminating this factor, turnover may be expected to be shortly reduced."

Pair of Softball Games Scheduled This Afternoon

RAFS Grays Play Busy Bee And RAFS Red Raiders Meet East Grand Plains

Two softball games are scheduled at the Air Base this afternoon. The first contest will begin at 1:30 p. m. and will bring together the Busy Bee Cafe team and the RAFS Grays, a soldier aggregation.

The Bees defeated the Grays when they met two weeks ago by a 2-1 margin, with victorious Jimmy Jiminez and Howard Reeves, soldier pitcher, allowing only four hits apiece. These pitchers are expected to oppose each other again today. Ken Rambeau will be the receiving end of the soldier battery.

In the nightcap, the RAFS Red Raiders play the East Grand Plains Baseball Club. The Raiders humbled the RAFS Grays last Sunday in a game in which their ace hurler, Allen Lillard, came close to the Roswell all-time strikeout mark by fanning 13 batters. Lillard is expected to toss the slab again against the East Grand Plains visitors. His batterymate will be Manny Rosacek.

Baseball Trophy To Air Force Winner

Announcement was made this week from the headquarters of the Southwestern Air Force Baseball League in Albuquerque that the winner of the circuit's championship race would be awarded a handsome trophy emblematic of the loop title. The trophy is being donated by the Wilson-Wall sporting goods firm of El Paso, Tex.

The league season is slated to start May 15th. Teams will face each other four times, exchanging Saturday and Sunday dates on a home-and-home basis. The top four clubs at the end of the regular schedule will then engage in a Shaughnessy round-robin playoff for championship laurels.

Nine Army Air Bases are presenting teams to the loop. Besides Roswell's, there will be aggregations from Albuquerque's Kirtland Field, Camp Luna, Carlsbad, Fort Sumner, Hobbs, Alamocordo, Clovis and Deming. There is a possibility that a tenth member from Texas may be added before league play gets under way.

The RAFS ballroosers will play home games in Roswell. Since the league permits the carding of outside contests, several extra-loop engagements are now under consideration.

Bobo Newsom Hurls One-Hit Shutout Against the Giants

Sixth Inning Single Robs Him of No-Hitter, As Dodgers Win 2 Games

NEW YORK, May 1 (UP)—Percily Buck Newsom, baseball's one-man road show, enhanced his reputation as a "special events" pitcher today by twirling a fancy one-hitter in the nightcap of a double-header at the Polo Grounds as the Brooklyn Dodgers slumped the New York Giants twice, 9-2 and 3-0.

Only a single by the Giants' Babe Barna in the sixth inning kept Bobo from sneaking in the back door of the Hall of Fame after 15 years of knocking around in eight leagues and earning a reputation as the man who introduced the forwarding address to baseball.

Homers by Arky Vaughan and Dolph Camilli in the opener carried the Dodgers into their 7th triumph as Max Macon and Les Webber were combining to hold the Giants to four hits while Brooklyn was getting 11 off Cliff Melton, Slats Coombs.

In the nightcap, the Dodgers picked up a homer by Dixie Walker with Newsom's mound performance for the victory. The Brooklyn Dandies combed Tom Sunkel, Ace Adams and Sayles Hamlin for a total of eight hits.

The Chicago Cubs had the misfortune to face Rip Sewell of the Pittsburgh Pirates for the third time this season and went down to their third defeat as the Ripper scattered eight ine

Inspiring Talk By—

Field, Albuquerque, on April 1st, 1942, and last June he was the bombardier and navigator of the first American crew to engage in a bombing raid over German occupied territory with the R. A. F. Altogether, he has been on 17 raids and declared, "I wish it were 117."

Vividly he described his feelings on that first raid, and freely admitted that "I was scared to death." When the ack-acks and enemy fighters started shooting at them, "I wanted to go, but I also wanted to come back," he said. He told many intimate things about the lives of the airmen on combat duty and about their customs and feelings. We exchange buttons with our buddies, he said, showing the R. A. F. buttons on his coat.

For the English people, he has the greatest praise. "I think they're wonderful," he declared.

"Actually, I love it," said Lt. Bell in telling of his great thrill every time he saw one of his bombs strike home.

Closing with an earnest plea to the people on the home front to get solidly behind the fighting men, he declared that "you have just as important a fight here at home as we have on the other side."

"I have actually seen men shot down because they didn't have the proper equipment," he said.

"You can be as proud as proud can be," he declared "of the American soldiers," adding that he did not mean it as a boast, but that he thought "we are doing a pretty good job for the amount of training we've had."

"You can be proud, too," he said, "of your New Mexico boys." He said that a number of his best friends were from this state and that he saw one New Mexico boy shot down.

The sooner that every American citizen realizes fully there's a war on and that the sooner one hundred million Americans get behind every American soldier, the sooner we will win the war," he declared.

At the close of the talk, Lt. Bell answered a number of questions by members of the club. He was introduced by Capt. Hamlin Ayers, public relations officer at the AAFRS.

Student Member

Kiwanian Paul H. Deaton, Roswell High School principal, introduced William Dickenson of the high school as a student member. Member of the Kiwanis Club for one month's period in Kiwanis pin was presented to him by secretary Ed Harbaugh. He is the first student member under a plan just adopted to have one outstanding high school boy each month as a member of the club. Mr. Deaton said Dickenson was one of the finest boys with whom he had ever worked.

It was announced that Col. Murray P. Gibbons, commanding officer of the Roswell Internment Camp, would speak at the Kiwanis meeting next Tuesday. President W. C. Taylor presided.

Black Sea naval fortress, and an early communique today told of hand-to-hand fighting as the Red army shoved deeper into the Nazi fortified zone.

Other Soviet forces were steadily driving near Novorossisk, against the Kerch strait farther north, pushing through salt marshes and swamps in the closing phases of a sweep to throw the Nazis back across the strait to the Crimea

German Blows Fail

On the Kharkov front, the Russians said counter-attacking Red army troops crushed seven German attempts to cross the Donets river just below Kharkov and around Izyum, while on the flooded central Moscow - Leningrad front chief activity was artillery dueling on the approaches to the big German citadel at Smolensk.

In aerial warfare, Germany and occupied Europe were apparently given a respite after 72 hours of unrelenting assault by allied warplanes, while Axis broadcasts listed a total of 521 persons killed and more than 1,065 injured in yesterday's American raid on Antwerp and today's attack by U. S. planes on the Renault armament works near Paris.

An Italian communique added to the toll, reporting that 36 persons were killed and 118 injured in raids on Palermo and Trapani, Sicily.

Exodus From Naples

One report said Premier Mussolini had ordered a hasty mass exodus of the civilian population from Naples in the wake of Sunday's 100-plane Flying Fortress attack on the Italian port city.

Britain had a night-and-day, but RAF fighters and royal navy planes raked Axis shipping off the French coast, damaging three merchant ships and two small escorting craft.

Allies Win Great—

Bad News For Germans

The concerted tone of Axis broadcasts, all stressing allied offensive maneuvers, suggested that the Nazis were preparing the German people for more bad news on the critical struggle in North Africa.

A communique from Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters announced that allied bombers were "active in all sectors" of the 250-mile battle line, but said there were no major engagements on land.

In the skies, the communique said, allied warplanes kept up their terrific assault on Axis airdromes, shipping, railways, troop concentrations and other targets. Altogether, 48 Axis planes were destroyed, while 12 allied planes were lost.

Sweeping out over the narrow Sicilian straits, allied medium bombers escorted by fighters attacked an Axis convoy and "a decided" was sent to blow up and other vessels received direct hits and were left burning," a communique said.

American P-38's escorting the bombers met "large formations of transport aircraft with strong fighter escort," the war bulletin said, "and during the ensuing combat 16 of these transports and 35 other enemy aircraft were destroyed."

Sink Axis Ships

At the same time, the London Admiralty announced that light British warships probing off the Tunisian coast sank an Axis supply ship and probably sank another in an attack on a strongly escorted three-ship convoy bringing vital war materials to Rommel's army.

The Admiralty said the attack took the enemy by surprise and crashed through great armed escort when the British forces withdrew. No Axis escorts were firing when the attack came.

On the Russian front, Adolf Hitler's long and bitter struggle for the oil riches of the Caucasus appeared to be nearing its end today as the Red armies scored new gains against the last German footholds along the Black Sea.

Blasting Nazi Points

The Russian command said big Soviet guns were now blasting a major center of German resistance and had already knocked out more than 60 Nazi firing points. The objective was not specified, but the Russians disclosed three days ago that they were hammering at the gates of Novorossisk.

WALL STREET

NEW YORK, April 6 (AP)—Late buying in steels steadied the stock market today after insistent profit collectors had stalled numerous leaders in the early part of the session.

Dealings again were among the speediest of the past 15 months, with blocks of low-priced issues running to 10,000 shares dominating the ticker in the morning.

Rails lost most of their driving power but, despite a wide assortment of losers in most departments, advances of fractions to a point or more were plentiful near the close. New tops for the year or longer were well distributed. Transfers were 2,462,900 shares.

Supported were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, Studebaker, Packard, Woolworth, Anaconda, American Telephone, Baltimore & Ohio, Radio Corp., Homestead Mines, Armour and International Telephone. Resistant were Western Union, N. Y. Central, Great Northern, Goodrich, U. S. Rubber, Oliver Farm and North American.

Inspiring Talk By Bombardier Home From Combat Duty

Man Who Dropped First U. S. Bomb on Nazi Occupied Land Speaks at Kiwanis

Speaking with the same enthusiasm and dead earnestness with which he has bombed enemy targets, Lt. Bernard Bell, the first American to drop bombs on German occupied territory, gave an inspiring talk at the Kiwanis luncheon today.

It was the 158th talk he has made on a lecture tour of the United States since which he was sent by the war department, but he declared he was anxious to get back into the fight. He speaks at army posts and civic clubs, and is scheduled to address the Rotary Club here Thursday.

Attempted Holdup Results In Gun Fight; Suspect One Of Wounded

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., April 6 (AP)—A black-long gunfight between a pair of bandits and police left one man dead today and two others wounded, including the suspected gunman.

Al Mathieu, 63, bar proprietor, was shot and killed, night chief of police E. J. House, said, late last night when he attempted to tackle the suspect as he fled by Mathieu's place.

In a hospital, the chief announced, is Robert Pangburn, 25, of San Francisco. House said Pangburn had confessed orally to holding up three filling stations and fighting the gun battle. Charges were filed immediately.

The shooting wound man is Dave Apsa, Indian bystander, who was shot in the upper arm during the opening gunfire on one of the city's busiest intersections. First Sgt. Lee Wilson, Albuquerque police, said Sappington, wounded in the right leg and creased on the head, moaned "why didn't you kill me?" as he told of turning robber "because I got a foolish idea" when he was stranded here.

Shot By M. P.

The chief said Sappington's leg wound, his most serious injury, resulted from a .45 caliber bullet from an military police officer. Mathieu was killed by just after Mathieu's place.

House related the following story:

Sappington's motorcycle broke down 30 miles west of Albuquerque on U. S. highway 66, and he was en route to the east. He caught a ride with Mathieu, who was out funds.

Stealing a pistol from a pawn shop, the night he held up a filling station, a garage and a bar, getting $143.

Police R. C. Carlson tried to question him at the downtown intersection, but Sappington whipped out his gun and disarmed Carlson.

Policeman Joe Wilson saw the incident as he drove by in a patrol car and he and Sappington exchanged a dozen shots. Apsa was caught in the cross-fire, and Sappington slightly wounded on the head.

As Sappington fled past Mathieu's bar on the road, Mathieu yelled "I've got him," and tackled Sappington. The youth turned and fired with "oh, you want it, too," and fired twice.

Mathieu was shot in the abdomen.

Pvt. Wallace Woolfram drove by then and felled Sappington.

J. E. Wimberly, Long Time Valley Resident, Is Dead

Funeral Services Tomorrow For Well Known Newspaperman of Hagerman

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 2:00 p. m. at the Presbyterian church at Hagerman for Joe Edward Wimberly, who died late Monday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Floyd Childress, following an illness of over a year.

Mr. Wimberly, who would have been 69 years old on May 10, was a Hagerman newspaperman of New Mexico, having established the Hagerman Messenger in December, 1904.

He was publisher of the Messenger a greater part of the 38 years he lived at Hagerman, but during a period of nearly 25 years he also served as rural mail carrier.

An active member of the Presbyterian church, Mr. Wimberly was Sunday school superintendent for nearly 20 years and attended two general assemblies as a delegate from the Roswell Presbytery.

He was a charter member of the Hagerman church.

Mr. Wimberly was born near Hope, Ark., but moved to west Texas as a youth. He was married on December 2, 1894 to Miss Maggie Wilson, and to the union four children were born: Arthur B. Wimberly, who died at Hagerman in 1921, Frank E. Wimberly of Las Cruces, Mrs. Floyd Childress of Alton, Okla., and Mrs. Claude of Roswell.

He was while working on a ranch in west Texas that Mr. Wimberly became interested in the newspaper business. He established the Messenger at Hale Center in 1902 and two years later moved the plant and newspaper to Hagerman where he continued its publication. He was active in political and civic affairs of Hagerman where he continued publishing the paper until his death.

Surviving in addition to his wife are his daughters and sons-in-law, children, 1st Lieut. Clifford Wimberly, who is serving with the army somewhere in Alaska, Elizabeth Ann Childress of Roswell; Cora Belle Wimberly of Hagerman and Janis and Mary Margaret Wimberly of Alton.

Funeral services will be in charge of Rev. Harry Cox, a former pastor of the Presbyterian Church. He will be assisted by Rev. Leroy Thompson, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Roswell, and Rev. Powell, pastor of the Hagerman church.

Burial will be at the Masonic cemetery at Hagerman.

Aubry Maddux Is Prisoner of Japs

Aubrey Maddux of the 200th Coast Artillery, who was reported missing in March, 1942, is a prisoner of the Japanese in the Philippines, according to notification received from the war department, his wife's aunt, Mrs. T. B. Maddux, 615 East 2nd Street. The wire from the war department, which said that it would follow, was the first word which had been heard of Aubrey Maddux since he was reported missing over a year ago, and his relatives and friends had about given up all hope that he was still alive.

Before entering the service he had lived in Roswell several years, and worked at the Standard Oil Company station at 2nd and Virginia.

Senate Passes Bill Make Primary Date Early in June

SANTA FE, April 6 —(AP)—The state senate today passed and sent to the house a revised primary law which would set the election date on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in June. The vote was 18 to 3.

Opposition to the measure was heard from senate minority leader J. B. McWhirter of Mountainair, who declared that many of the smaller elective offices would not be worthwhile if the campaign was too long.

The senate in passing the bill, overrode a move by Senator Joe M. Garcia (D-Valencia), who attempted to set the date back to August.

Over the protests of house majority leader Vearle Payne, who said he would just be throwing away another $13,000," the house passed a revised appropriation compensation for a state advisory commission to make a comprehensive study of all phases of state government. The vote was 30 to 14.

Principal speaker in favor of the bill was its sponsor, Rep. Lilburn Homan, Estancia republican. He declared it was not a political measure, and that its aims of studying overlapping and complicating phases of government "will benefit the people of the whole state."

HB240, setting up procedure for municipal school election, was recalled on motion of Speaker M. S. Smith. The bill passed the house yesterday, 21 to 20, but leaders said there was some question about amendments it carried. The bill has drawn considerable opposition, and one of those opposed said the measure mainly was designed a partisan fight on Socorro county. It was introduced by Rep. Earl Douglass, Socorro republican.

The revised primary law would prohibit a person from presenting more than one nominating petition for the same office, and from needing help in filling in their petitions, provide for certification of successful candidates, and for certain court jurisdiction over election contests.

The upper house also approved a repealer to the contractors' license law, after hearing it assailed as a "collecting agency," but not an inspecting agency."

Senator M. Montoya of Santa Fe presented a defense of the law, asserting that it served to provide an index of all contractors operating in the state.

After two hours of work, the senate recessed until 1:30 p. m., when the appropriation bills relating to tax and Senator Morrow's bill to provide three months' pay to soldier clients were to come up for final consideration.

Members of both houses were guests for "prison chow" served by the state penitentiary in the house chamber at 12:30 p. m.

Compromise On Reciprocal Trade Pact Extensions

WASHINGTON, April 6 —(AP)—Strong republican support for a compromise reciprocal trade agreement program appeared today to take much of the fire out of a threatened house debate over extending the president's authority to negotiate foreign trade pacts.

The authority, first granted in 1934, expires next June 12 and the house ways and means committee expects to act soon on a renewal proposal.

Republicans generally have opposed the program, but a move around the president was using the powers to strike tariff-rate barriers protecting American business.

The compromise proposal, reported to have been accepted tentatively by influential house republicans, was drafted by Rep. Dirksen (R-Ill), who said he believed it met most of his colleagues' basic objections.

"There appears to be some concern about the attitude of congress on the reciprocal trade proposal," Dirksen said. "Such is one of the bitter fruits of war. It can be discharged only by the flow and exchange of goods and services. Developing trade in the post-war world in order to maintain our domestic economy and well-being will be one of our principal tasks and I expect to support an extension of the trade agreement program."

No political party, Dirksen said, could afford at this time to oppose continuation of the foreign trade program.

The compromise which Dirksen said he would submit at the "proper time" would require adequate notice before a trade agreement is concluded, Dirksen said, is to give affected business and industry ample time to request modifications.

Condition of Negro Charged With Murder Of Deputy Improved

Improvement was reported today in the condition of Robert Cummins, 24 year old negro convict, who was seriously wounded by a shotgun blast from a fellow negro after he had allegedly shot and killed deputy sheriff Tommy Hopkins at a dance early after midnight last Sunday morning.

Cummins, who is charged with murder for the slaying of deputy Hopkins, was taken to an Artesia hospital.

Funeral services for Mr. Hopkins were held at Artesia today and an inquest into his death will be held Thursday morning.

According to district attorney G. T. Watts, witnesses stated that Cummins shot deputy Hopkins at close range while he and two Artesia policemen, D. D. Hubbard and Ted Hodges were making a routine check of two colored cafes in Artesia. The two police officers and Counts then exchanged shots with the pair of negroes sending a slug through the negro's chest, killing him instantly. Neither of the officers was hit.

Charges of being accessories after the fact have been placed on five negroes who are alleged to have attempted to hide Counts when he ran off after being wounded.

District attorney Watts said that, according to witnesses, deputy Hopkins and the officers had not been talking with Counts, and that Hopkins probably had not even seen him when he fired. Hopkins reached for his gun and had it in his hand when he fell dead, but did not fire. The bullet pierced his heart. The district attorney said Counts had served a term in the Oklahoma penitenti

THESE PEOPLE ARE WORKING FOR VICTORY

Curtis Hill, successful lawyer and Hereford cattle grower, served his country in the armed forces in the first world war and is serving his country in the present conflict as a member of the Chaves County Selective Service Board.

The local board is the foundation and the most important unit in America's selective service system—the democratic system of drafting men for the armed forces—and the local boards of America have done a wonderful job in fulfilling fairly and importially their immense responsibility.

The Chaves County board has done particularly fine work, winning the highest praise of Brig. Gen. Russell C. Charlton, New Mexico director of Selective Service, who said on a recent visit here that "these men give freely of their time, at the sacrifice of their own business, to get the job done." Chaves County, he said, has a "rattling good board."

Other members of the board are Reed Mulkey, chairman, and Oldham Moore. The board devotes uncounted hours of time in the conscientious fulfillment of its vital task without any compensation except the personal knowledge which each member has that he is doing a great patriotic service to the best of his ability.

38 to 45's Must Be In War Work or Fight

WASHINGTON, April 5 (AP) — In an order recalling the erstwhile "over-age" group of potential fighting men, the government has told the nation's 38-45 year-olds to get into war production or face the prospect of being drafted after May 1.

Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, selective service director, made public over the weekend a letter to local draft boards stating that the men in the older age group may be drafted unless they leave the list of "non-deferable" jobs after that date. His order amounted to an extension of the rule in effect for younger draft age men since April 1, which removed family or other dependency status as a deferment element for those in the less essential jobs.

At the same time, what was termed as "administrative" reduction was made in the April draft quotas, but selective service officials indicated it was merely to level off the month-to-month induction rate, and added that the downward revision in this month's calls would be made up later.

National headquarters gave no figures, but reports from various state headquarters indicated the reductions would range up to 20 per cent in some sections.

Voting and Fighting Age

The Georgia legislature passed a bill authorizing the submission of a constitutional amendment reducing the voting age from 21 to 18 years. Governor Arnall was chiefly responsible for the passage of the bill and the submission. His brief sentence that "if boys of 18 are old enough to fight, they are old enough to vote," practically eliminated all opposition. When it goes to the people the measure is sure to pass.

Constitutional amendments do better in Georgia than in New Mexico, where some form of crookedness is invariably at the bottom of most of the changes asked. What do you think of Gov. Arnall's view? Is it possible to correctly answer in any other way?

Wanted, A National Anthem

Mrs. Walter Fergusson, well known to people of New Mexico, has attracted much attention by her columnic call for the submission of a new National anthem. This interestingly comparable in a larger way to paragraphs herein at many times in recent years.

Mrs. Fergusson, without abating her love and veneration of "The Star-Spangled Banner," points out that it were not only epochal but parts of it are quite beyond the reach of the average voice. What is needed in a song that will meet the modern needs, that is singable with or without orchestration, and which more fully meets the modern spirit.

She points out that we are pretty well supplied with "trench" and ensemble shorter harmonies, such as "God Bless America," and several other offerings from "Tin Pan Alley," but when it comes to numbers comparative to "The Marseillaise," "The Battle Hymn of the Republic," and so on, we simply haven't got 'em.

There is a very wide difference between a national hymn and the mass songs of a war time. So far no composer or author has come anywhere near supplying the call, and the war that points out the need of it may be past the center. However, real national anthems last through all wars and endure

The Call of the Red Cross

The response of the people of Texas" to the $125,000,- of the Red Cross has positive and extremely gratifying indicating the great common sort of our people.

There is more to it than the mere philanthropic spirit, acting under the spur of national necessity, so far as the people of New Mexico are concerned. We have more than a thousand perfectly good reasons why we should give and give. These are in Japanese camps and at isolated places of refugee in the jungles. Since half of the money given to the Red Cross is used at home, it may be an over-guess to vision the use of practicaly all of the rest of the money for New Mexico boys. Some of it will go to the other oldiers, of course, in the interval ill the Red Cross is establishg units-of-way in Japan-controlled prison centers, which may not be as long as expected when it is noted that the "Greatest Mother" is looking after the Japanese camps in this country.

It is an argument that requires little amplification when the moment is made that there is a strong possibility that a substantial part of every dollar you give to the Red Cross will make a little easier for our boys now held in foreign lands, many of them under conditions that we don't like to think about.

With the assurance that what we give to the Red Cross will be to a positive degree to take care of our own boys, there is no room for "Battle Texas" is shelling out.

According to Time's report, lost or mislaid last week by the Dept. of Agriculture statisticians were 3 million pigs which should have been a part of last year's output. Recovered before it was too late by farms throughout one of the 22 feeding states were 5 million pigs. Total swine population during spring and fall and 25 more million porkers would have to be tallied!

IN THE PHILIPPINES

The loyalty of the people of the Philippines to the United States and to the Allied cause has been most outstanding, there being very few exceptions like Aguinaldo, who is reported to be in the Japanese to have nuisance value to their support.

Last Sunday marked the seventh anniversary of the founding of the Philippine Commonwealth and this has been celebrated by Filipinos wherever they escaped the clutches of the Japanese. One of these is Manuel L. Quezon, president of the Commonwealth of the Philippines. In an interesting article distributed by United Press, Mr. Quezon told of the sacrifices and of the bravery of the Filipinos. This is something that America must remember when the war is over and the victory won, and the freedom of the Philippines is established. The Record is privileged to carry President Quezon's statement. He said:

"Some 20,000 Filipino soldiers were killed in action in the Philippines before American and Filipino resistance was overwhelmed.

"We could compelled them to fight—these 20,000 Filipino soldiers who died and their 75,000 comrades who fought to the last. They were fighting because they were determined to keep the large degree of freedom which was already theirs, and to protect the final, complete independence which they knew was definitely to be theirs in 1946 under the Philippine Independence Act. This act was passed by the United States Congress and signed by President Roosevelt in 1934.

"In these days of global war, the story of American-Filipino cooperation is something that every citizen of the United States ought to know—and take pride in. America accomplished something in the Far East which explains exactly why the Filipino people were willing to spring to arms and fight so fiercely when attacked by the Japanese. In that accomplishment is the real reason why those 20,000 young Filipinos were willing to lay down their lives in the hour of our common peril.

"Luckily, the United States started out, after the Spanish-American war, with none of the 'experience' and prejudices of the so-called 'colonial powers.' As a result, America treated the people of the Philippines as human beings entitled to a square deal, rather than as helpless subjects fit only to be ruled and exploited for selfish gain.

"The United States wisely promised the Philippines a system of democratic government modeled on American institutions. By an act of the United States Congress, the Commonwealth of the Philippines was formally created, in 1935, with a pledge that my country would become a completely independent republic in 1946.

"Thus, years before the principles of the Atlantic charter were enunciated, America was already applying those principles in actual practice and was proving that the Filipinos, or any other people, given a fair chance, can successfully arrive at Democratic self-government.

"The whole process of democracy in the Philippines, under the administration of the United States, is the more remarkable when you remember that the Philippines consists of 7000 islands spread over 750,000 square miles, comprising a total land area about equal to that of the British Isles.

"If the Japanese had not subjected the Philippines to ordeal by fire in 1941 and 1942, the seventh anniversary of the Philippine Commonwealth on November 15 would be no more than a patriotic observance of interest chiefly to the people of my country. But with the coming of the global war, in which the Filipinos have undergone the terrible trial of battle, death, invasion and occupation by the enemy, this anniversary becomes an occasion of significance, not only to the Filipinos, but also to freedom loving men everywhere throughout the world. What has been done cooperatively by the United States and the Philippines can be done by the United Nations in the world of tomorrow, throughout the whole Southwest Pacific and wherever men yearn for liberty and the right to work out their own destiny."

GOOD RECORD

Roswell is proud of the records our high school and other schools are making in the matter of buying war stamps and war bonds. The high school this past week bought $4,600.70 worth of these investments in liberty, or an average of $9.13 per capita. That is certainly a wonderful record.

Chavs county last month more than doubled its county quota of $77,500 and the state went far in excess of the state quota of $1,250,000, passing it by around $600,000.

That's certainly a fine and a wonderful record.

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

SLASH: Scores of complaints against the sudden and wholesale cancellation of Army-Navy contracts are pouring in to House and Senate Military Affairs Committees and the Truman investigating committee. His move seemed to bear out their predictions that the cocky young man would soon talk himself out of the national picture. According to their view nobody who wants to work need go without a job, so why probe a myth?

The fact is that Dr. Dewey has tackled a problem which local and state governments are said to have neglected. The metropolis is one of the few communities which have not yet profited from the emergency. The Army and Navy shy from handing out big contracts to firms in this area because of its vulnerability to attack from air and sea. Construction, garment and shoe industries are operating only part time. Because of high taxes and labor costs many concerns have moved to the South. The war has virtually killed shipping returns. Almost the only enterprises enjoying a boom are the hotels and amusement centers.

The incident does, however, foreshadow a tough time ahead for the Democrats in November in Albany. It suggests that Tom's enemies will lose no opportunity to trip him up on his way from the house on the Hudson to that goal of so many other Empire State executives—Washington.

HOVELS. President Roosevelt has taken some good-natured joshing from linguistic experts about his "poor delivery" in addressing the people of France in their own language the night our troops invaded North Africa. But the know-it-alls are not savvy to the inside story.

Mr. Roosevelt can speak excellent French, as anybody who has heard him conferring with diplomats can testify. He betrays no trace of schoolboy-ish or even Groton-Harvard artificiality. He utters it rippingly and mellifluously almost as if he were his native tongue. But he talked slowly and haltingly in order that the people of metropolitan and colonial France to regard as liberators rather than enemies. To the casual listener he seemed to have mastered the strange lingo by vote for this special occasion.

Here is the explanation: F. D. R. wanted to get his message across to the academic men of Paris as well as to the longshoremen in Algiers, to all the other elements whose dialects differ. He was not thinking of the effect his speech would have on the intelligentsia here and abroad. In short, he was talking political rather than literary finesse.

DUDS: John Thomas Taylor has been a popular and picturesque character on the banks of the Potomac since the First World War days. He became an important figure in the American Legion and for years functioned as the organization's lobbyist on Capitol Hill. Slightly stuffy and pompous, he took himself ultraseriously. On Memorial and Armistice Days he leaped into his nice uniform and proudly strutted up and down Constitution Avenue.

John became a reserve officer in the Chemical Warfare Service and was humorously dubbed the "gas colonel" by Legionnaire buddies. After Pearl Harbor he was called to active duty and although smoking a cigar was his chief form of exercise he was placed in charge of the athletic branch of the War Department. He planned to stage the flights and football games which brought hundreds of thousands of dollars into Army-Navy relief funds. But somehow he had the faculty of getting mixed to the hair of professional soldiers and more than once the pair tangled was none other than the Secretary of War.

To paraphrase the hit song of "This Is The Army," John isn't here any more. Few weeks ago he was given about two hours in which to pack up his duds and ship for—of all places—the dust, dirt and storms of North Africa.

John's many friends are now plotting to get him back on the station a tear-faced youngster who cries "Joe" Jackson after the White Sox baseball scandal, "Say it ain't so, Henry."

DUROCHER GOES TO SEE RICKEY TODAY

NEW YORK, Nov. 17 (AP).—Leo Durocher went to see a man about a job today.

Durocher, who has managed the Brooklyn Dodgers for four seasons and is more than slightly interested in continuing in that capacity, was scheduled to talk over the situation with the new president of the National League baseball club, Branch Rickey.

Rickey arranged to meet with Durocher today, but declined to discuss the conference in advance.

is in the treasury of the union, for such it is. There was no explanation as to why this considerable amount isn't in war bonds, of why the fees clamored applicants hasn't been reduced. The commission spends 41.09 a year on its overhead, including several automobiles. All of which shows that beauty who bosses. Like the barber bosses it now would seem to be a dandy time for them to economize and put their money into war securities. Still why pick on this girl today when a gray mass of labor bodies have rolls of hundreds of millions, on which no taxes are paid, and which are subject to study by nobody?

While none have surpassed the eulogy of Texas delivered by the late Sol. E. W. Baker, you have to admit that every once in a while a gray mass a stanger is heading his time. For example that person George Sessoms Perry, in the book "Texas: a World in Itself," bravely starts himself on the road to fame. He describes Texas as "A mountain area west of the Pecos as large as West Virginia; a timber belt the size of Indiana; an area of sea level equal to the state of South Carolina; cattle country as large as Tennessee; an area of mildly temperate climate the size of Pennsylvania, a farming country equal to Ohio and Kentucky; the climate of Algeria, the high-speed atmosphere of gang-ridden Chicago; the savory food of Arabia; the excitement of New York; where the open, teachable swaying mind predominates." Whew! That ought to hold the banners of Texas for a while!

There never was a time when figures were so confusing. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, director of the Selective Service, who occasionally gives out figures that are not proven to be wrong, says that 5,000,000 persons are employed in federal, state and local governments and Representative Mike Moroney of Oklahoma says that 22,00,00 out of the 58,000,000 persons gainfully employed in the United States are on government payrolls in one form or another, in the armed forces, as employes of the federal, state and local governments, or indirectly by receipt of war industry wages. Just how many of these do an honest day's work for possibly three or four time more than a fair day's pay you can answer as well as anybody. Land alive, but there will be a shake-up when the country finally takes a dose dive back to "normalcy."

Liberia, the free negro country in Africa, hooks up with the daily news about the global war, because it promises to be useful to the allies, and secondly because two former negro citizens of this state are residents therein. Born at Albuquerque, both of them became convinced that the only solution to the color question was a country owned and operated by negroes. There is but one, unless you count Haiti. They went to Liberia and have prospered. Freed slaves from the United States established Liberia in 1822. It was declared a republic in 1847, with a constitution and government modeled after ours. It has a total population of 1,500,000, of these 150,000 are civilized protestants. It is essentially a tropical country.

The Alamogordo Rotary Club pulled off its annual celebration of Dr Yaca day, the day when the first Europeah to see the Pecos river, after sneaking across the mountains, landed on the Plains of the Sacramentos about twenty miles south of Alamogordo. Tom Charles made the speech as usual, and it was a darned good one. This writer wasn't there as usual to hear it, but since Tom wrote and delivered it, there is no question about its being good. This time they didn't hold it out on the lone prairie where the Bussey monument is, but in the cobby basement of a church, which is called "Undercroft" over there. This time there was no barbecued venison feast, and no missing sheep from the flocks of Otero county. There won't never be no venison barbecue over there again. It isn't easy living a thing like that down. Even Tom's speech couldn't wipe out the unholy doubt hanging around that last occasion.

Doc Puckett, the best district health officer in the state, goes even farther than civilian defense sharks in saying that every family should keep at least a gallon of pure water in the house all of the time, in case there should be a break in the pipes or a bomb raid in case of war. But Dr. Puckett goes 'em one better by urging that the water should be boiled!

GIRL IN THE GREEN COAT

by HAZEL LIVINGSTON

CHAPTER FOURTEEN

I walked home for exercise, exulting in the sunshine, the good, safe streets, and the normal looking people who got their murder mysteries, like most of us, from books. I even stopped to stare in the shop windows as I went, and found myself debating the relative merits of a printed silk or a navy wool, exactly as if the only man I ever loved wasn't being buried Saturday, and I'd not just been politely thrown out of his mother's house.

The Roller building looked much the same as usual as I walked into the foyer and rang for the elevator. Even Mr. Grant had recovered most of his equanimity now that Inspector Hare was no longer around to call him "Dad" and refer to him as "the Janiter."

Peg was out, but the studio was bright and sunny and I thought I could sleep. Perhaps I did for a moment or two, but I lay there, more and more restless and unhappy, until I decided to go to the Lee's and go down to Jan's studio for consolation.

There, to my great disgust, was Chris Hall, highball in hand, obviously very much at home.

"May I present my good friend, Chris Hall," Jan began and I rather curtly, "We've met before. But I didn't know that you two had!"

"Chris? One of my oldest and dearest pals. Both New York, in '26, eh, Chris?"

Hall said to me:

"I didn't know you were one of Jan's friends, Miss Driscoll."

You can't say that was the defensive with Jan, but I wished he hadn't been so chummy with Hall. Except for the first few minutes when he came back from Hollywood I had hardly seen him alone, and there were still some questions I wanted to ask him about the keys. He did say when I first told him about Emily's getting rid of the one he had left with her that she needn't have bothered, because half a dozen of his pupils had them and he rarely locked the door.

Now there wasn't a chance to go into it further, for Jan was bent on taking us all to dinner, as soon as Pegey could join us.

Nobody ate much, but we talked a lot. The funny part was that all the while we were talking and getting more acquainted with Hall, a new and uncomfortable idea was forming in my mind.

This very agreeable young man whom I liked in spite of myself, not only knew a whole lot about Emily and admitted to being with him on the night that he was murdered, but he knew Jan Proust, too.

He might have taken Gil to Jan's studio. They might have quarreled—over a girl, perhaps. He might have . . .

"It was queer that you were the last person to see Gil Castle alive!" I said suddenly.

"Mary!" Peggy cried, appalled. "Of course she knew it.

"I'm sorry, I just happened to think of it. I didn't realize how it would sound."

"It's all right," Hall said. "I think about it all the time, myself. It was unfortunate, I wish I'd never gone to the Castles', and I already know why I did except that I—well, I did have the idea of borrowing some money, and there was the idea of free lodgings, too."

"But Chris, my friend," Jan interrupted in his suavest, generous way, "Surely you should have come to me first. I feel hurt! Surely after all our friendship—"

"But you weren't here, Jan."

"How did you know he wasn't here? None of the rest of us knew it," I said.

I thought he looked startled, and embarrassed, I'd almost swear that he did, but I'd never make a detective, for I'm never sure. I'm always afraid I have imagined something.

There was an awkward moment, and before Hall could answer, Jan broke in:

"But you didn't know, Chris, did you?"

"No, I didn't, Jan. But after I explained you twice without getting the point, and spent a good deal of time with waxed mustache, shirt sleeves bunched up with pink sleeve-garters or whatever they call them, and a great, big white apron, was frankly listening in. We had to wait until he left, reluctantly, before we could go on.

"Just what was the low-down on your story that you heard him say he was going to break with a girl named Emily?" I asked.

Hall filled his wine glass before he answered.

"Just what I gave out to the police, and what had been going on. When I got the paper, your paper, Mary, Tuesday morning and read what had happened, I went right over to police headquarters and told what I knew. I went over 'em like the Express' and got myself a job on the spot. Of course I'm not sure myself for doing so, but a man must eat. You weren't home, Jan," he said, "and stuff and other person I would sponge on was dead."

There I don't know how, silence and then he looked at me quizzically and smiled. "I didn't murder my self, Miss Driscoll."

"Really, Mary, I'm not that kind of a guy. I have been known to drink too much and I've done a lot of silly things, but murder, no. A little children love me and dogs let me pat them and I've never, never murdered anybody, not even somebody I didn't like. And I liked Gil. What's more I had the idea I might take up winter quarters with him, while I finished writing a book. It wouldn't have killed him. It spilled all my plans. Made me go back to work again."

Everyone was smiling, a little puzzled, looking at me.

Am I that transparent, or was it the man's mind reader.

The upshot of it was that we all let down our hair and talked too much and finally I broke down and told what I knew about Uts, and his love for Peg because he talked in his sleep.

Then they all jumped on me for not telling before, and Jan took Peg and me back to the studio, while Hall went in search of Inspector Hare. I could imagine how popular I would be with Hare, but Hall would handle him better than I could.

So the three of us went on upstairs to Peg's studio, each of us conscious that a weight was off and have been Jan's studio that we would have gone to. Everything was spoiled for us forever. It could never be the same again.

were firing at each other.

"We hope," he commented wryly, "that they matched their usual high skill in that engagement."

Battleships of both sides participated in these brief, bitter flights, two night engagements and one early morning affair, but the Japanese were without airplane carriers.

"Either they didn't have any left, their losses being greater in the Oct. 26 engagement than we estimated, or they didn't choose to risk them," Admiral Nimitz said.

Lost 20,000 To 40,000

Nimitz estimated between 20,000 and 40,000 Jap troops went down on the sunken transports, which he described as "jammed full."

If he were a Jap commander, he said, "I'd be sweating and bleeding if I had to explain such a loss."

Our over-all loss of personnel was relatively small while that of Japan was tremendous, he said.

Sec. Knox—

eral also praised the naval forces participating and, Knox said, "apparently and deservedly" implimented his own air forces on Guadalcanal.

Vandegrift, Knox added, concluded his message with a "beautiful moving tribute," to the effectiveness of navy-marine cooperation in the Solomons.

The Final Fight

There has been no further word from the battle area on the still unreported results of what apparently was the conclusive encounter of the running sea battle of last week. This encounter occurred on the night of November 14-15 and Knox said information as to the results was still lacking here, but would be released as quickly as possible once it came in.

Since the secretary had characterized the Solomons campaign as a series of "rounds" he was asked how many rounds it might go on, that is how many times the Japanese would come over and how many rounds there would be.

Expect Them Back

"The only safe assumption," he replied, "is that they will come back and that is exactly what we are making our plans for."

He said that as a result of this most recent battle it obviously would be more difficult for the Japanese to come back, but declined to say that they might be greatly impeded by their losses.

Asked why radio silence was investing so heavily in the battle for control of the Southeastern Solomons, Knox said that the islands were obviously of first class importance to the United States because they "are a flank outlines of communication and supply with Australia and from them the Japanese could make direct attack on those lines.

They are important to the Japanese, he continued, because they could serve as a base for hammering away at Australian warships as compared with the enemy's construction program, Knox said that the "speed of delivery" of our combatant ships is one of the most gratifying phases of the whole picture," and that the process of converting large noncombatant ships into aircraft carriers was going along with "gratifying speed."

Can Replace Losses

He was asked whether this country would not be able to replace easily and quickly its losses in the Solomons battle of two light cruisers and six destroyers. In reply he simply reminded the conference that by Armistice Day the Federal Shipbuilding Company yard at Kearny, N. J. launched four destroyers.

Knox called the Solomons battle the "greatest surface action of this war to date," and said that while it was apparently the greatest surface action singe the engagement between Britain and Germany at Jutland in the North Sea during the first world war it was not "greater than Jutland."

Allied Forces—

toward the disputed area between Tunis and Bizerte and the Axis showing no abatement in preparations for the battle.

French forces in Tunisia already were fighting the Germans and Italians. The American consul at Tunis, who managed to make his way out of the Axis-held city and reach Algeria, said that French troops near Tunis had thrown back German patrols and "the French population is eagerly awaiting the arrival of the Americans."

The consul added that "the large Italian settlement is frightened to death."

French Join Allies

French troops apparently were joining the British and American columns speeding to battle as they passed through the Tunisian countryside, a communique from allied headquarters reporting that "small French military units have begun to cooperate with the eastern and center task forces."

While the activities at sea were shrouded in secrecy the British navy unquestionably was contesting any Axis effort to reinforce the Nazi armies in Tunisia by sea and a communique said "the royal navy maintains control of the western Mediterranean and its approaches."

"This naval force has sustained losses," the communique added, "which have been small in proportion to the size of operations and casualties on the whole have been light."

Trying Keep Ports

The communique said that Tunis on arriving in Algeria said he believed the Germans and Italians were trying to keep the ports of Tunis and Bizerte open to support Marshal Rommel's retreating forces, last reported in the neighborhood of El Agheila, Libya, some 400 miles from his main base at Tripoli.

A German radio report of fighting between Axis and allied forces in Tunisia said that a "counter action" was taken against United States forces "at one point which was executed strategically and tactically important." The German radio claimed that it had bombed an allied air base at Youks-les-Bains, 60 miles from the Tunisian border.

Titanic Smash—

were damaged.

"I think they brought everything they had," Admiral Nimitz said, at Pearl Harbor.

"As at present the air the enemy forces were either destroyed or driven back and a major victory was obtained by our gallant forces."

American losses were officially listed as two cruisers and six destroyers.

No Jap Carriers

Aside from the deadly accuracy of American naval gunners, one of the keys of victory apparently lay in the widespread Japanese airplane carriers.

"Either they didn't have any left, their losses being greater in the Oct. 26 engagement than we estimated, or they didn't choose to risk them," Admiral Nimitz said.

Naval observers declared the running three-day battle largely was fought at close range and in the night, might well have broken the back of the Japanese fleet and seriously jeopardized the enemy ground forces on Guadalcanal Island.

Admiral Nimitz said the huge enemy sea-borne armada had assembled all available forces at Rabaul, New Guinea, with that destined for Guadalcanal and part for New Guinea.

"It looks like they were disappointed in both cases," Admiral Nimitz commented.

MacArthur in New Guinea

On the New Guinea front, Gen. Douglas MacArthur personally went into the battle as directed American and Australian troops pushing ahead through the Papuan jungles for a climatic assault on the main Japanese invasion base at Buna.

With Gen. MacArthur were Gen. Sir Thomas Blamey and Lieut.-Gen. George C. Kenney, respectively his chiefs of land and air forces.

Latest dispatches said the Allies had reached the vicinity of Awala, only 30 miles by trail from Buna, and that the Japanese were fleeing down the Kumusi river in canoes toward the coast, under attack by Allied warplanes.

A Jap Disaster

While the whole South Seas campaign began to take shape as a Japanese disaster of the first magnitude, the Tokyo radio hysterically increasing to its listeners that the American fleet had been "annihilated" again—for at least the fifth time since Pearl Harbor.

"The Japanese have the Americans where they want them and are ready to finish them," declared no American warship is left in active service."

Associated Press tabulations showed that so far in 11 months of war, Japan has lost at least 365 ships, including 119 warships, against 84 American vessels.

Other developments in the global war:

Russians Holding

Russian front reports of Soviet headquarters reported that the Red Armies were holding solidly all along the wintry front, even taking the initiative at some points, and declared that 1,500 more German were killed as the historic steep of Stalingrad entered its historic week.

Another 1,500 Germans were left dead on the bloody battlefield below Stalingrad, in the Volkhov sector, where the Russians were reported advancing after a long period of quiet.

London military quarters said desperate Axis rearguard actions had delayed the pursuing British 8th army enough to prevent Gen. B. L. Montgomery from delivering the coup de grade, but there was still no sign of a determined stand by the beaten enemy.

The cadet officers had another night-fall reconnaissance problem Saturday night, while several newcomers adding to the efforts to find the stakes.

"Ugh" Conner, Hinkley, and Matchin want it distinctly understood that they redeemed their futile efforts of last week by being the first group in each of the two trials.

There hardly seems reason to mention it now, but VOTT is back on the air with full facilities restored. It brought up two questions of controversial nature; first, do cadets appreciate Mexican music, and, secondly, do they appreciate the really fine humor? Both of those questions were answered pretty much in the negative, but everyone agrees on the popularity of "Der Fuehrer's Face" —the sentiment it expresses, if not the type of music.

Two things were missing from the cadet hop last night. Kunkle failed to live up to his old standards in dancing, and neither did appointed every one who was waiting to see him dance with his pogo stick. Ward and his zoot suit were conspicuous by their absence, but more thrills in unusual dancing. Ward is the only drummer who can play with his feet (on two-by-four while he plays, so that he'll always be on the beam).

Allied Forces Are Hitting Tunisia From The South

Bad Weather Delays Air Activity; Nazis Said Have Landed More Men.

LONDON, Nov. 17 (AP) — A German report that British and American motorized forces have reached the southern Tunisian border area suggested today that the allies might be massing two armored spearheads into Tunisia, one toward Bizerte and Tunis along the coast, and the other through desert and mountain trails directly toward Tripoli to trap Axis forces in North Africa.

There was no word from allied sources that the battle yet was joined, but German broadcasts said Nazi planes bombed British and American mobile columns sweeping along the coastal road from Algeria to Bizerte and on the southern border of Tunisia.

What was meant by the southern border was not defined, but it was recalled here that as early as the middle of last week an American force from Algeria was reported moving southeast on the Bou-Saada road in the direction of lower Tunisia and a short cut to Tripoli.

Nothing has been reported from this column since.

Other desert trails, it was noted, lead to southern Tunisia from the Lake Chad region where American and fighting French forces have been reported gathered in the north of French equatorial Africa. It is roughly 1,000 miles from the Lake Chad country to the Tunisian border, however.

Weather Is Bad

Meanwhile bad weather over the Libyan desert curtailed aerial activity, and a United States communique from Cairo said there was can reconnaissance planes patrolled the desert without encountering the enemy. British reports also suggested that Field Marshal Rommel's quartermaster had outdistanced the British eighth army in pursuit across the hump of Cirenaica.

Military sources in London said that what was called Rommel's force had been able to delay pursuit enough by rear guard action and mines to prevent General Montgomery from delivering the coup de grace.

Reports that the Germans had landed 15 more planes at El Agheila in the Wadessa area of Cirenaica to support the rear guard action of the first of two newly organized Nazi parachute divisions were being thrown into the Tunisian battle line, the first divisions numbers some 7,500 fighting troops, 1,500 parachute troops, and 1,000 engineers.

Battle Already On

In the air front, the lesser extent, at sea the battle already was joined, with allied naval planes of the RAF continued to bather the Axis-held airport near Tunis, but a spokesman at allied headquarters in North Africa said last night that reports of fighting between allied and Axis troops at Bizerte were premature.

Both radio Morocco, in allied controlled Morocco, and Axis stations broadcast reports of heavy fighting for a dash which will determine the success of the allied operation in North Africa and probably settle the fate of Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's defeated Africa Corps, retreating westward in the Libyan desert.

Report Fierce Battle

The London Daily Express already so said the British and American troops in Algeria "are reported to be fighting a fierce battle with the Germans near Tunis," but there was no confirmation for the report.

Certain it was that the clash could not be long delayed with the allied forces moving in the country from both the Algerian and Libyan borders.

Dempsey Urges U. S. Steps To Get Oil

SANTA FE, N. M., Nov. 17 (AP) — Governor John J. Dempsey said today there "is very much in the complaint" New Mexico oil operators that a price incentive is necessary for adequate exploration and development of new oil reserves.

Commenting on the oil men's opinion expressed in a resolution adopted at a state-wide conference here last week, Dempsey said he "is going to be sent to Washington with oil.

If steps are not taken to encourage the discovery of new reserves, he said, "we may wake up one day and find we just haven't got what we need."

The governor-elect declined to discuss what appointments he would make after his inauguration, saying it was "too early" although he said he was "going over the situation carefully and giving it a lot of thought."

Start Registering For Gasoline In State Tomorrow

Despite Reports of Delay It Seems Unlikely; Short of Material Here.

Registration for gasoline rationing will begin tomorrow in Roswell and in all other points in the 17 state area comprising the eastern rationing district. Gasoline rationing itself is not set to start on December 1, despite many rumors and reports that a decision has been made. It has been some steps taken to organize the state and to investigate into the need for rationing, but as of now oil is plentiful but so far nothing has come of it. This matter is handled in other stories in The Record today.

Registration for passenger automobiles will be conducted at school buildings. Registration for motorcycles will be held at the Junior High School and for trucks, tractors and commercially rationing board in the basement of the city hall. The registration period will be for three days, since changed, being Nov. 18, 19 and 20. The central rationing board is in the basement of the city hall.

Roswell automobile owners will register at the grade school in the school district in which they live. Before going to the school to register, you should obtain and fill out an application form, which you can get at filling stations and brake and light inspection stations. You must also take your automobile to the place of registration to the school building.

Hours of registration at the Roswell school will be from 3 to 6:30 p. m. on Wednesday and from 8:30 to 8:30 in the evening of each of the two succeeding days. The registration will be conducted by school teachers.

Anyone living in the country should register at the nearest rationing board.

Ration books cannot be obtained for cars with more than four tires, tires should be taken to the Railway Express Office for shipment to the government.

May Be Short Supplies

It seems likely that the local rationing board may be short some of the supplies needed. So far only ration books have been received, along with application blanks. There are 5900 cars registered and there are several hundred others. It was estimated that the local board may be short 1,000 books and 1,500 application blanks.

Drive In Congress Started To Delay Rationing Gaso.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17—(AP)—A congressional drive to postpone the nationwide rationing of gasoline, now scheduled to start on Dec. 1 was reported by its backers today to have gained strength in influential quarters.

Without disclosing one names of the more than a score of congressmen he said had assured him of support, Representative Johnson (D.-Okla) said there was "a splendid chance" for an early hearing on a resolution he introduced yesterday to set up a three-man board to study the entire petroleum situation.

Johnson's Resolution

Johnson's resolution automatically would forestall nationwide application of gasoline rationing for three months to give the board a chance to complete a survey. It was referred to the banking and currency committee, several members of which have been outspokenly opposed to extension of rationing into areas having plentiful supplies.

Her children and home were her main interests in life. She was a fine christian woman, doing good wherever she went and was highly respected in the community. A year ago last August she went to Los Angeles, California, to visit her two daughters.

Her husband passed away here in September, 1933, and was interred in South Park Cemetery.

She is survived by four children, George McFadden of Roswell, Mrs. Paul R. Catherine Mahan and Mrs. James H. (Elizabeth) Willsey, both of Los Angeles and Mrs. Fred (Ruth Westfall of Carlsbad; also by one sister, Miss Kate Miles, of Salina, Kansas and by one brother, Ben Miles of Peoria, Illinois.

CLEARING THE OLD DESK

The order of the OPA providing for periodic inspection of tires by a local board body to have unsuspected intervals of almost human length. It will do more to conserve rubber than the whole silly rationing thing. With such a check every 5,000 miles, the life of every tire will be materially increased.

The American Mental Institute, whatever that is, says that the most common of all human shortcomings is the inability of the average person to remember names, especially after the individual has gotten along toward the evening. If you doubt it, in the evening try and recall the new names you have heard during the day and try to make a mental picture of the persons. You will be astonished to find how quickly the hall of the skips that pass are forgotten. And yet most really successful men are good at remembering names.

Mrs. Clauda Elliott, who has been serving the state board of cosmetology as secretary at a pittance of $300 a month as secretary, has resigned to join her husband, who is in training at Ft. Scott, Ill. Her passing means that a surplus of $23,572.45

Two Roswell Boys In Armored Force

Elzie Rice, son of Mrs. Lizzie Rice, 304 E. 8th St., Roswell, N. M.; Grady T. Lick, Rt. 1, Roswell, N. M., have arrived at Fort Knox, Ky., ready to begin their training for the Army's Armored Force, according to the public relations officer at Fort Knox.

For the first six weeks of the 12-week training period the men will be taught the fundamentals of soldiering. They will study the organization of the army and armored force; insignias of rank; military courtesy and discipline; care of clothing and equipment; and reading and map reading courses.

During the second six-week period, the men may find themselves in one of the following companies: special training, light tank, medium tank, scouting and patrolling, mortar, anti-tank, machine gun, assault gun, reconnaissance, communications, or engineer training.

The training center is equipped to house and care for thousands of trainees at once and with the rapid expansion of the Armored Force the Fort Knox "grammar school" has been operating at capacity. There are eighteen training battalions under the direct supervision of Maj. Gen. Charles L. Scott, and each boasts that when it graduates a class of trainees they are the best qualified men in the Armored Force.

Upon "graduation" from the training center, most of the men will go into an armored division, while those showing exceptional ability will be sent to the Armored Force School here at Fort Knox to become technical specialists.

Sports Briefs

NEW YORK, Nov. 17 (AP) — Notes on a heavy week-end in the sports-writing business:

Friday is fight night at the Garden, and sometimes you wonder why you keep going there week after week. Of course you see some good scraps—and some bad ones, but it's one sure place to pick up the odd bit of news or gossip to use in a column.

...Last Friday there was an undercurrent of excitement as the ringworms discussed Sammy Angott's sudden ambition of a lightweight title and the probable effect upon the Beau Jack-Allie Stolz affair they were about to see and several of them stopped satisfied.

The training center is equipped to house and care for thousands of trainees at once and with the rapid expansion of the Armored Force the Fort Knox "grammar school" has been operating at capacity. There are eighteen training battalions under the direct supervision of Maj. Gen. Charles L. Ohio State-Mich. Game Year's Great COLUMBUS, Ohio, Nov. 17 (AP) —A football player who is a sensation without being sensational is Charley Chuck" Csuri, Ohio State tackle and candidate for All-America honors.

Paradoxical as it seems, it's Csuri's lack of sensational color that makes him what coach Paul Brown describes as the greatest player at his position in the Western Conference, the nation's toughest collegiate football circuit.

The 80,000 fans expected to jam Ohio Stadium Saturday for a bitterly fought Michigan-Ohio game could well afford to keep an eye on this handsome, six-foot, 200-pound lineman. He'll be rubbing his nose in the dirt... in the thick of the action.

Brown says Csuri carries out his assignments in such a simple, effective way that he makes the job look easy.

Mistakes? He makes them like everyone else, but he's fewer than the average player's and seldom does he make the same one twice.

Csuri and the other Ohio linemen are under the gun during stop Michigan's Tom Kuzma, who was stepped right into Bill Daley footsteps of his predecessor, halfback Tom Harmon.

Kuzma is expected to attract the season's largest football crowd for the game. He can be counted upon to provide one of the collegiate sport's greatest displays of gridiron skill and power. He'll be a scoring show from the opening kickoff.

by boxing commissioner Phelan's seat right behind you to confirm Sammy's retirement.

The fight was pretty good while it lasted, too.....And with some satisfaction you remembered that piece in another column by Stolz on how different boxing styles made good or bad ones. Sammy Angott rushed out in his own odd way and Allie used a left deep in his body and that was about what had been expected....But in the fourth a red, fiery appeared on Stolz's eye where the unorthodox Angott had thrown a clout and from there on about all Allie could do was try to protect himself until the arena's ice pail and shouted to the referee, "call it the doctor."

Saturday it was Baker Field for the Yale-Princeton game, with a bitter wind whistling through the almost unpopulated horseshoe.....You just sat there and shivered.

And pretty soon Dillon Graham came along and asked, "why is it Texas men in the south they have steam-heated press boxes while up here they only need heat they don't even have the decency to stoke the place?" You didn't have the answer.

Next on the list of what did some strange tricks with the ball and so did the players, but mostly it was pretty good football, especially when Yale found a weak spot in the right side of the Tiger line and smashed through for two touchdowns and the ball game.

Monday there was a long subway ride to Van Cortlandt Park for the I. C. 4-A cross country meet and a jouncing ride on the railboard of a truck over the rough trails and shortcuts through the picnic grounds.....But that way you saw the whole race and, as someone wisecracked, got some training for riding in a jeep.....Frank Fixon, a well-built, fan-skinned negro lad from New York U. made a show of the field and took first forward to seeing him again in the winter track meets. He ran some pretty good miles last winter.

It was a busy week-end, all right, but there's nothing doing for a few days now and you wonder what you'll write about until the next one comes along.

Albuquerque Hi Grid Year Ends

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Nov. 17 (AP)—The Albuquerque high school Bulldogs' 1942 football schedule reached an abruptly premature end today with cancellation of this week's last scheduled game against the Albuquerque Indians, who called off the tilt because of their first stringers were laid up with injuries.

The unexpected action left the high school team undefeated in state competition and sharing the mythical state prep championship with the Raton Tigers and Carlsbad Cavemen, also unbeaten by New Mexico teams.

Nevertheless, coach Tony Wilson, maintaining a close slumber on the chances of post season playoffs to settle the issue, said he had not decided whether his squad would have any more drills this year.

More White Sox Players Join Navy Or The U. S. Army

CHICAGO, Nov. 17 (AP)— Jimmy Dykes, pugnacious Chicago White Sox manager, shifted the government slogan in his mouth which signalled that he had something to say.

"I'm happy—and it's a funny feeling being that way when you got so many troubles," he said. "Two more of my lads enlisted yesterday and that makes 18 in all to answer Uncle Sam's call. Of that I'm happy and proud.

"But boy, have I got troubles! I nearly have to rebuild my whole baseball team for next year"—and with what he viciously sank his teeth into the cigar.

Dykes had just received word from Lon Perme, the left handed pitcher brought up from Waterloo, Iowa, of the Three-Eye League last September, that he had joined the navy. Earlier in the day, Myril Hoag sent in the tidings of his enlistment in the army air forces.

With Hoag gone, most of Dykes' troubles are spotted in the outfield. Wally Moses, 31, is the only veteran fly chaser left. Taft Wright and Sam West preceded Hoag by several months. Two outfield rookies, Bill Mueller and Al Milan, called up from Waterloo late in the season, are in the army. Dave Philley, another prospect, who was in last spring's training camp, is in the army.

Tightens Control On Deliveries Of Gas in Winter

DENVER, Nov. 17—Faced with possible gas shortages in many parts of the country this winter, including sections of Colorado, Wyoming and New Mexico, the War Production Board has tightened control over the delivery of natural and manufactured gas, Leslie A. Miller, regional WPB director, said today.

"The action is taken because of the tremendous demands for petroleum," Mr. Miller said. "Use of gas is showing great increases compared with last year in many sections of the country, and in some localities a shortage is alarming.

"Critical materials are not available for new pipelines and manufacturing equipment with which to meet the increased demand, and the fuel oil shortage will affect the ability of gas companies to make production to 110 points in his record-breaking walkaway for the scoring championship.

He sprang out of bed all Geared complete
He ran to the hangar and Climbed into his seat.

American Soldier Is World's Best Fed Fighting Man

But At Roswell Air Base, As Throughout The Army, No Food Is Wasted.

It takes a lot of food for fighting men and the American soldier is the best fed fighting man in the world! He eats more than any other soldier and it also takes a lot of meat to keep him going.

And that doesn't mean the Army wastes food. Out at the Roswell Flying School husky mechanics and airmen eat like healthy farm hands but their diet is constantly checked and controlled so that there is no overfeeding or throwing away.

Army cooks, known affectionately to Army men as "bellyrobbers," are masters at their trade and, through long years in the service, they have learned short cuts and conservatism methods that would make the ordinary housewife turn green with envy.

The average soldier consumes 18 ounces of meat a day, statistics taken over a period of time show. That may sound like a lot of meat but it includes beef, pork, chicken and bacon. He also eats a lot of potatoes, eggs and vegetables. In fact, taken by weight, a soldier's meals contain about as much solid foods daily!

For John Doughboy even old Army ham sometimes are unable to equal soldiers eat more when in the Army than they did as civilians. They eat a lot and they eat fast. Most soldiers wolf their food. But just as surely as the Army crawls on its stomach, just as surely do the mess officers see to it that there is no waste. RAFS cooks are consistantly cautioned to conserve food and yet give the men all they want to eat. On meats, for instance, all meat is cut from bones so there will be no loss. Cooks know how to use parts of meat that still contain meals best. And not a single raw bone is thrown out of RAFS mess halls! Everything is saved for seasoning and other uses.

There are few "leftovers" after an average meal at the Flying School, but what "leftovers" remain are converted into other meals that please the most critical soldier. Even the garbage is salvaged and turned over to a local hog raiser who uses it for feeding.

Fats are conserved, too, being used for cooking and pastry purposes. Spent fats are retrieved and saved, to be converted later into the glycerin to make shells for American fighting men on the world's war fronts.

To the layman, the daily menu of feeding thousands of men seems a quite a task, comparable, perhaps, to the problem of the housewife who doesn't know how many

Hutson Holds To Pro Grid Lead

CHICAGO, Nov. 17 (AP) — The Chicago Bears' Ray McLean jumped into second place ahead of the teammates Cliff Famiglietti and Frank Nazmicki today in the National football league scoring records.

McLean scored two touchdowns against Green Bay last week to push his output for the season to 42. The Packers' Don Hutson increased his production to 110 points in his record-breaking walkaway for the scoring championship.

GEORGIA CLINGS TO FIRST PLACE IN NATION'S FOOTBALL HONORS

NEW YORK, Nov. 17 (AP) — Georgia clung to first place in the Associated Press' poll to determine the nation's best college football team although its share of the first place votes slumped from 76 per cent a week ago to 54 per cent in today's tabulation.

Much of the favorites formerly shown the southern powerhouse switched to Boston College but the Eagles were unable to better their third place rating behind Georgia and Georgia Tech.

Sixty-nine of the 126 voting experts figured the Bulldogs were the best although 85 of 112 had that opinion a week ago before the men of Wally Butts buried Chattanooga, 40 to 0.

However, the 56-to-6 pasting the Bostonians applied to Fordham brought them 37 first place votes in contrast with the 10 of a week ago. And Georgia Tech, which cleared one of the toughest hurdles in downing Alabama, gained points and respect but also lost first place votes in the general swing to the Eagles.

All three of the top clubs are barging along unbeaten and untied, a situation that may last until the two Georgia elevens collide in Atlanta and Boston College meets its arch foe, Holy Cross, the winner of the southern battle and the Eagles have been labeled as prospective foes in the Jan. 1 Sugar Bowl contest.

Michigan, which lived up to early season hitting by downing Notre Dame, vaulted from sixth to fourth place while the Irish skidded from fourth to eighth.

Three other Big Ten clubs in addition to the Wolverines gained rankings in the first ten, Ohio State grabbing fifth place, Wisconsin seventh and Minnesota tenth.

Tulsa Unbeaten

Tulsa, also unbeaten and untied, swirled into sixth place on the strength of its 24-to-0 victory over highly rated Baylor of the Southwest Conference last Saturday.

The standings of the teams (first place votes in parentheses, points figured on 10-9-8-7 etc., basis;)

	First ten:
Georgia (69)	1171
Georgia Tech (13)	1096
Boston College (37)	1025
Michigan (3)	827
Ohio State (1)	609
Tulsa (2)	532
Wisconsin	408
Notre Dame	279
Alabama	266
Minnesota	180
Second ten:

11—Tennessee 105; 12—Washington State (1) 74; 13—William & Mary 65; tie for 14th and 15th, Santa Clara and Texas 54, 16-A. Southern California 19; 17—Harvard-Simmons 18; triple tie for 18, 19 and 20—Indiana, University of California at Los Angeles and Texas Christian 16.

Germany Faces A Grim, Hard Winter, Reserves Gone

(Editor's note: The following article by Edwin Shanke, analyzing the Nazi position on the home front at the start of another war winter, substitutes for "The War Today" by DeWitt Mackenzie. Mr. Mackenzie is en route to another war zone and will resume his column soon. Mr. Shanke is a former member of the Associated Press staff in Berlin and now is stationed in London.)

Grim Winter For Germany

(By Edwin Shanke)

LONDON, Nov. 17—The allied blows in North Africa struck Nazi Germany at a time when it was entering the grimmest winter of the war.

From the standpoint of five determining factors of war—military, economic and political strength, tenacity of nation and morale—Germany is at a crossroads.

It is not a question of a "turnip winter" like that in 1917 which pressaged the fall of imperial Germany. Reichsmarshal Goering already has told the world the suppressed peoples will starve before Germany does.

Reserves Eaten

But Germany has eaten through her reserves despite the strictest rationing. This year's overall harvest is reported to be only 80 per cent of normal, although the Germans now are tilling a million more acres than last year when the harvest was 15 per cent below average.

Disorganized by war, flood, drought, peasant hoarding and guerrilla warfare, the rest of Europe is much worse off. In France the total wheat production is down a half-million tons to 6,000,000 and the Germans have ordered the French to double their deliveries to the Reich despite the recent loss of African supplies. Italy can barely squeeze through with its 7,000,000 tons.

The Balkans, supposed to be the Nazi granary, will have barely enough food for themselves. Fodder is generally less, meaning that there is likely to be extensive livestock slaughter. The Nazis are claiming nothing from the Russian Ukraine this year. Finland, Poland, Belgium, Norway and Greese are Europe's black spots, with young and old sinking under food deficiencies and diseases.

An All-Time Low

Economically Germany is hitting an all-time low. Most of the deterioration is traceable to manpower shortage and transportation knots. And Hitler still does not have the oil and rubber he covets.

In Russia, the war has proved a tremendous drain of economic resources for Germany and blockaded Europe, instead of filling the reservoir as had been hoped.

The North African occupation has cut off Germany's access to phosphates—irreplaceable as fertilizer— cobalt, vegetable oils, manganese, antimony, wool, cotton, fresh fruits and vegetables. Besides, it has closed a leak in the blockade through which Hitler was getting far eastern supplies such as rubber.

Politically, Hitler's last year has been barren.

Instead of winning over the suppressed peoples, he was forced to use harsher measures to keep them in control. Hitler, Goering and Goebbels have been apologizing for hardships and making threats against saboteurs. Doubt about the outcome of the war is creeping into the leaders' speeches.

Montgomery Ward's Reply to the NATIONAL WAR LABOR BOARD

National War Labor Board.
Department of Labor Building,
Washington D. C.
GENTLEMEN:

We have the National War Labor Board's order of November 5. *

In this order the board demands that Montgomery Ward & Company enter into a contract establishing a form of closed shop called "Maintenance of Membership", together with a check-off of union dues from wages. Under this form of closed shop, the employees who are members of the union would not be free to resign from the union without being discharged, and Ward's would not be free to retain a competent worker who had resigned from the union. This making of union membership a condition of employment is the essence of the closed shop, whatever form it may take. "Maintenance of membership" is the starting phase which inevitably leads to the full closed shop.

The president of the United States is quoted as having said, on November 14, 1941: "The government of the United States will not order, nor will Congress pass legislation ordering, the so-called closed shop." Wards is in agreement with this statement and believes that the board's order is not in accordance with the President's principles.

Wards believes that the Board's demand not only violates the fundamental principles of liberty but are economically unsound and are illegal under the terms of the National Labor Relations Act.

If the Board's order against Wards is enforced, the pattern will be established by which all unions in all industries can secure a form of closed shop and check-off merely by appealing to the war Labor Board.

The Board further ordered a form of compulsory arbitration for Wards. Wards is not opposed to voluntary arbitration. However, Wards' management should not, as demanded by the Board, abandon responsibilities which have been vested in it by the owners of the corporation, and so surrender to outside arbitrators the final decision on all matters which the Union may wish to treat as grievances.

The Board further ordered that Wards guarantee its wages and other working conditions for a one-year period. Wards believes that a fixed duration of one year is unsound in these uncertain times.

Wards operates in a highly competitive field composed of one million seven hundred fifty thousand retail establishments. It is unfair to impose burdens upon Wards and not upon those with whom it is in competition.

Ward's efforts to preserve the essential freedoms between itself and its employees have not been prompted by any feeling of anti-unionism. The report of the mediation panel expressly recognizes this fact. Ward's policy has been to obey the law. Wards has twenty-nine union contracts with both A. F. of L. and C. I. O. Unions.

Wards has already given its employees the increases in wages previously recommended by the board. Wards did this even though its wages were already as high as or higher than those prevailing in the industry and had been increased an average of over 21% since January 1941. Wards is willing to include these increases in a contract with the Union. There is no issue over wages.

The War Labor Board was created by the President to replace the old defense mediation board. The mediation board was destroyed by the resignation of the Union members following the board's vote of nine to two against a closed shop in the captive coal mine case. The War Labor Board, in name only, is composed of representatives of the unions, of industry, and of the public. The union representatives are men chosen for leadership by the unions, and have actually protected the interests of the unions. On the other hand, neither industry nor the public have had any voice in the selection of those who presumably represent them. By their decisions, the supposed representatives of industry and of the public have because of inexperience, prejudice or lack of understanding, abandoned the interests of those whom they were appointed to represent.

Under the constitution, congress is the sole law-making authority. If closed shops and compulsory arbitration are to become requirements upon employers, it is congress and not the War Labor Board which should make them so. Congress has not empowered the board to order any employer to do any of the things it demands of Wards.

Accordingly, Wards rejects the orders of the board. If congress imposes closed shops, compulsory arbitration or contracts for a year's duration on employers, or if the President of the United States, as commander-in-chief in time of war, directs that Ward accept the board's rulings, which we earnestly believe are illegal and uneconomic, we will respectfully obey.

Yours Very Truly

SEWELL AVERY
President

Union Musicians Not Allowed to Make Recordings

Chicago, Oct. 18 (AP)—James C. Petrillo, fiery head of the American Federation of Musicians, announced today his union's executive board had voted unanimously to bar union musicians from making phonograph records and radio transcriptions after December 31.

Petrillo asserted that union musicians were "destroying themselves" by making records and transcriptions and added, "there will never be any more phonograph records or transcriptions made by the 225,000 members of the musicians' union."

The AFL musicians union boss made the announcement after a closed meeting of the executive board. He said the move dated from a convention of the union last June, but did not elaborate.

However, Petrillo hinted last summer that such a step might be in the cards. He conceded before a house labor subcommittee in Washington that the "big reason" for his threat to ban recordings was to make 603 radio stations "more susceptible to employing musicians." There were that many broadcasting outlets using only records or network music, he said.

Poultryless Day May Be Abandoned

Washington, Oct. 18 (AP)— The issue of poultryless Thursday is the most frequently criticized phase of President Truman's drive to save grain for Europe—will get a showdown hearing Monday.

Some officials of Mr. Truman's citizens food committee said privately they believe changes are about even that Chairman Charles Luckman will call off meat, egg and chickenless day and emphasize Tuesday meat denials as a more certain way of saving grain.

The national poultry producers federation is expected to urge abandonment of the Thursday plan in ameeting with Luckman Monday. Luckman, after first rejecting poultrymen's pleas that the idea would not work, finally said this week he is open to conviction.

Truman Statement Meets Opposition On Grain Exports

Chicago, Oct. 18 (AP)—Richard Uhlmann, first vice president of the Chicago board of trade, said President Truman's comments on American grain exports" is in definitely not in accord with the facts.

At a new conference in Washington, Mr. Truman said the United States always has exported a third or more of its wheat crop. Mr. Truman attributed much of increased food costs to speculation and said government buying had some effect, but that it was not considerable.

Uhlmann, in a statement, said "official figures of the department of agriculture" disclosed that "our total clearances have been only 12 per cent of the crop for the past 17 years."

Speaking for the board of trade in the absence of C. O. McClintock, president, Uhlmann said that during the past two weeks the government has purchased 40,000,000 bushels of wheat. He added this was more than was exported in 1932, 1933, 1934, 1935, 1936, 1940 and 1941.

"Wow" the tournament buys more wheat in two weeks than it often shipped during the entire year it is bound to have its effect marketwise," Uhlmann said.

Legion Auxiliary Receives Reports Of All Activities

The regular meeting of the American Legion auxiliary was held at the Ingalls Memorial home Thursday evening.

After regular committee reports the following announcements were made: The auxiliary sponsored a luncheon on Oct. 8 for 40 members of the bands who marched in the fair parade.

Mrs. LePell reported on the volunteers who had worked in the booth downtown on Sept. 20 and 27 receiving donations for the CCMYC.

Mrs. Richardson gave report on the district meeting which was held in Artesia. The highlight of that program was an address by Mrs. Smith, who is visiting in Artesia and whose home is in England. She told of auxiliary work in England and gave an account of the poppy day memorial.

The auxiliary sponsored a silver art tea on Sept. 28 at the home of Mrs. Cliff Conley and it was announced this the tea had been very successful and Mrs. Conley was commended for her work in assembling the interesting art collection, most of the work being painted by her mother, Mrs. Kennedy, of Gallup, and herself.

The Junior auxiliary girls held a bake sale downtown Sept. 27 and made a great enough profit to enable them to sponsor a booth at the fall festival on Oct. 18.

Mrs. Cooper, president of the auxiliary, announced that the organization will serve a banquet Oct. 28 for the Baptist brotherhood.

The program for the evening was in charge of Mrs. Ann Walker, chairman of the committee on observation of war orphans, who explained the work of her committee, telling of the scholarships to be competed for by children of by veterans' daughters. The main speaker of the evening was Mrs. C. C. Bogard, a member of the county committee on child welfare. She gave an informative address on the recent meeting in Albuquerque and of the work being done by this committee. Chief among these is that of securing teh passage of a bill providing a state hospital for children afflicted with tuberculosis to be located in Socorro.

The remainder of the program was given by Gloriz Zent and Bill Kelly, who sang several solo and duet numbers and refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Murray Hamlett, Mrs. Cornett and the Smith girls.

Greece Puts Lid On Red Activity

Hatch Declares Russia Out to Beat Capitalism

Albuquerque, Oct. 18 (AP)—United States Senator Carl Hatch of New Mexico said that Soviet Russia is determined to destroy capitalism, and the United States with it, and has abandoned any pretense of friendship to this country.

The senator who returned from a tour of eastern Europe as a minority member of the senate foreign relations committee, declared in an interview here that Russia has embarked upon a studied program to achieve its goal.

"The plan includes," he said, "what might be termed an assault upon America herself through the processes of infiltration.

"The Communists are not shooting at anything less than complete control (of the world)."

Although Russia is not planning a war with the United States now, the senator added, the Soviet program may provoke an incident which might explode into hostilities "at any moment."

MacPhail Gives Explanation for His Retirement

New York, Oct. 18 (AP)—Larry MacPhail wants to get the record straight.

He says his resignation as president and general manager of the New York Yankees—his retirement from baseball for good—"was not influenced in the slightest degree" by Commissioner A. B. Chandler "nor any other individual."

Returning to the Yankees' plush Fifth avenue offices to read his valedictory to a group of baseball writers, MacPhail declared in a prepared statement yesterday that the deal whereby he sold his one-third interest in the Yankees to partners Dan Topping and Del Webb had been agreed on Sept. 18.

His retirement, he said, was prompted because of the heavy tax on the profits of his sale of stock that would leave him little of his salary were he to continue as general manager through the three years of his contract.

Building Plans Are Delayed

New York, Oct. 20 (AP)—Shortage of nails for home building may cause a virtual stoppage of construction in some areas within the next 30 to 60 days, Fred H. Ludwig, president of the national committee on housing, said today.

A nationwide survey by the committee revealed the acute shortage is slowing down residential construction. Hardest hit is the northeastern United States. The midwest, the committee disclosed, seems to be getting a more generous supply.

The active grey market in nails is appearing, Ludwig said, with nominally regular stocks at from $9.75 to $12 a keg compared with the regular price of $5.

Survey Shows Deaths Among Navajos High

Mortality Rate For Children Is Largest In U. S.

DALLAS, Oct. 20 (AP) — A death rate among children of Navajo Indians in New Mexico and Arizona that is more than six times higher than the average figure for the United States has been reported by six faculty members of Southwestern Medical college.

A statement from the school said a report by the six on results of a survey of health conditions of Arizona-New Mexico Navajos had been completed and forwarded to the U. S. department of interior and the American Medical association, sponsors of the survey.

The six faculty members made a two-weeks trip last month, covering 4,000 miles on horseback reservation. Serious undernutrition, a high incidence of communicable diseases, an acute doctor and nurse shortage were among the findings, the statement said.

Infant mortality rate of the United States is 38.6 per 1,000 population, Dr. Orro T. Woods, clinical associate professor of surgery and surgical pathology at Southwestern Medical college, who headed the survey team, said.

Other members of the team were Dr. Arthur Sullivan, professor of medicine and chairman of the experimental medicine department; D. Francis Reichamann, assistant professor of medicine; Dr. Salmon R. Halpern, clinical instructor in pediatrics; Dr. Martin S. Buehler, clinical instructor in medicine and Dr. John H. Fish, of the Dallas Parkland hospital staff.

Hospitals, missions and schools were visited on the reservations and patients and students examined.

Over 60,000 Navajos are living on land that can adequately support only 35,000, the report said.

The agriculture secretary is here as a guest of the American Royal Livestock show.

New York, Oct. 20 (AP) — John Hartley Titus, 94, who claimed authorship of the original version of "The Face on the Bar Room Floor," died last night in Bellevue hospital of injuries suffered when a trailer was overturned by the hurricane which swept West Palm Beach, Fla., Sept. 18.

Titus, lecturer and one-time leather merchant, Titus never established clear title to authorship of the famous ballad. Most of the glory went to Hugh Antoine D'Arcy, an actor late in the last century, who died in 1925.

Pressure Groups Are Blamed for State Road Snarl

Santa Fe, Oct. 20 (AP) — State highway engineer Burton Dwyre has quoted today by the Santa Fe New Mexican as saying pressure groups had influenced state highway activities to the detriment of the road system.

The highway engineer, who last week proposed a higher gasoline tax, cash basis operation of the highway department, and long range planning, said the activities of civic and political groups over the past two decades had forced "hit-to-toe" operation of the highway department without planning for the future, the newspaper said in the third of a series of articles on the highway situation.

Dwyre, in the article, said the failure to operate on continuing, long-term basis equalled an growing $21,600,000 road debt as a factor in bringing the state to a position in which it cannot make urgently needed road improvements or maintain the existing roads.

The 47 million persons employed in the United States in 1940 are estimated to have worked a smaller number of aggregate hours than the 37 million employed in 1910.

Robbers Steal Safe Here With $1400 in It and Make Escape

A small safe, containing $1400 and weighing about 300 pounds was stolen early this morning from the Busy Bee cafe, 318 N. Main. The sum represented last week's total receipts.

Harry C. Kappas, proprietor of the restaurant, knew there was something wrong when he came to open up this morning at six. He found a window missing in the skylight and a rope dangling from it, a stanchion beside the sky-light down in the floor of the restaurant. Tracks showed that the safe had been dragged out of the back door.

The safe was found abandoned about 6 a.m. today by a lady who lives in that neighborhood on a vacant lot on the west side of J. E. Peck's farm about three miles east of Roswell. It had been broken open with a chisel, but everything was intact except for the $1400 in cash which had been removed. Sheriff George Wilcox recovered the safe and took it to police headquarters in the City hall.

Kappas said he suspected that the robber was some person who was familiar with the workings of the restaurant. He picked the safe up from the bakery, as Kappas always turns in his cash to the bank on Monday mornings.

Bob Crosby Is Killed In Jeep Wreck

As Crosby Looked in Roswell Event

Bob Crosby, former world champion cowboy and one of Roswell's best known figures, died this afternoon when the jeep he was riding missed the bridge over Acme Draw and fell into the ravine.

Crosby was thrown from the jeep and hit some boulders. He lived about 15 minutes after help arrived. The jeep landed in the bottom of the draw, which is dry.

He was apparently on his way to his Cross B ranch, located in Rock Valley, some 45 miles northeast of Roswell, at the time of the accident.

Crosby had serious head and chest injuries.

Call for the ambulance came at 2:45 and the body was brought to the Ballard funeral home.

Crosby is the permanent holder of the Roosevelt trophy, awarded to the world champion cowboy, after winning the event in Roswell's annual rodeo three consecutive contests in Cheyenne, Wyo., and Pendleton, Ore.

He was an astute showman and has worn the same black hat which he felt fit for over 20 years, occasionally changing to another, and similar one, known as his "Sunday hat."

He has competed in hundreds of rodeos and roping matches and was known over the country as a topland performer.

3,000 State School Teachers Will Convene at Albuquerque

Albuquerque, Oct. 20 (AP)— Some 3,000 teachers from all parts of New Mexico are expected to converge into Albuquerque this week-end for the 60th annual meeting of the New Mexico educational association.

Meetings of 32 separate divisions or organizations under the association will be held in addition to continuing group sessions Friday and Saturday, general assembly sessions are set for Thursday and Friday at Albuquerque high school.

Convention officials said all available hotel and tourist court accommodations have been taken for the weekend and many of the teachers would have to make rooms in private homes. Division and organization meetings will tax all available meeting places in Albuquerque during the four days' convention.

Principal speakers for the general sessions include John H. Furbay, world traveler and head of the world education program of Trans World airlines; Mrs. Pearl P. Wannamaker, former president of the National Education association and now state school superintendent for Washington; and Willard B. Givens, executive secretary of the National Education association.

The association council Wednesday night will consider a proposed platform calling for 12 years schooling for every child in New Mexico. The proposed platform also would recommend maintenance during the summer, also calls for appointment instead of election of the state school superintendent, adjustments of curriculum, improved teaching with a minimum of four years of college training for teachers, and conservation of school funds.

De Gaulle's Candidates Lead In France's City Elections

Paris, Oct. 20 (AP)—Candidates nominated by Gen. Charles De Gaulle's six-months-old rally of of the French people (RPF) were leading in 29 out of 37 major municipalities today as returns from yesterday's balloting rolled in from all over France.

De Gaulle's party held a substantial lead over all other parties, including the communists, in the early returns.

"There's no doubt about it, De Gaulle's won," said Maurice Schumann, parliamentary leader of the popular republican movement (MRP) which followed closely in yesterday's voting. De Gaulle's RPF, although leading the communists, did not appear to have dented communist voting strength in any substantial amount.

Running on an anti-communist platform, and competing in a French election for the first time, RPF was averaging between 38 and 40 per cent of the total vote, as against 26 to 28 per cent for the communists, 19 per cent for the socialists and less than 5 per cent for MRP.

In the last municipal elections, MRP fought it out with the communists.

The election figures indicated that the strength of the RPF was coming mainly from previous adherence to the MRP, which also is anti-communist, and to a lesser extent from the socialists.

Premier Paul Ramadier, a socialist, was reelected mayor of Decazeville, a village in central France, although his party was running third.

Cutter Given Welcome As Port Reached

Rescued Members Of Flying Boat Land at Boston

Boston, Oct. 20 (AP)—Back again on the land they never expected to see, survivors of the ill-fated Bermuda Sky Queen headed for their homes today as the civil aeronautics board prepared an all-out investigation of the near-disaster in the mountains near the Atlantic.

The coast guard cutter Bibb, which wrote maritime history in effecting the rescue of every man, woman and child on the plane which was ditched 800 miles off Newfoundland last Tuesday because of a gasoline shortage, brought the Sky Queen's erstwhile passengers to Boston yesterday.

The 1,600 mile run from "Station Charlie," the coast guard code for its weather station where the flying boat came down, ended some of the most emotional demonstrations since the first troopship of World War II returned to port.

From the entrance to Boston harbor to Constitution Wharf, it was a continuous round of salutes from other craft. Whistles were sounded down. Fireboats sent up colored streams of water.

Thousands of relatives, friends and folks who just came down to lend a cheer, met the rescued and their saviors at the dock.

Eggless Thursday To be Continued

Washington, Oct. 20 (AP)—Eggless Thursday will continue even if poultryless Thursday is abandoned, citizens food committee officials predicted today.

They told reporters it is probable that chicken and turkey would be restored to Thursday menus as a result of conferences starting today between Chairman Charles Luckman and spokesman of the poultry and feed industries.

Opposition to dropping the "eggless" feature of the day was strong in both the agriculture department and the food committee.

One prime reason being that to stand is the department's campaign to induce farmers to cull stewing chickens out of their flocks. "Stewers" are hens past their egg-laying prime.

Girl's Defender Slain by Gunman

Dracut, Mass., Oct. 20 (AP)— Fighting in defense of his girl friend, a 32-year-old Lowell construction worker was slain early today by a gunman who then kidnaped the girl and, police said, assaulted her repeatedly during a wild four-hour automobile ride. A short time after the girl, Marian Richards, 24, of Lowell, reported the attack, Detective Conniff sai Danother Lowell man hunted for questioning attempted suicide by shooting himself in nearby Lexington. Conniff identified the man as Russell Davis, 23, an army air corps veteran.

The police officer was sent to Davis' bedside in Symmes-Arlington hospital, Arlington. His condition was not critical.

Admission Made Of Red Activity In Film Colony

Washington, Oct. 20 (AP)—Jack L. Warner, Hollywood movie producer, has admitted to committee on un-American activities today that there are "communists and un-American leanings" have infiltrated into the movie industry.

But he carefully declined to say under questioning from committee members that these people are communists and insisted on using the expression "un-American."

When Robert E. Stripling, chief investigator for the committee, wanted to know where communists have invaded the film capital, Warner said:

"The answer is that there are people with un-American leanings."

They are mostly in the "writing division," Warner added.

"I know they're un-American in their method," he went on, explaining that they endeavor to put into scripts "certain things which in my opinion are un-American."

"Would you admit there are certain people in your studio, who are un-American?" Stripling asked.

"Yes," Warner replied.

But he emphasized that whenever un-American ideas crept into scripts, the studio cuts them out.

At the outset of the hearing, Chairman Thomas J. (R-NJ) refused to hear a motion to quash subpoenas issued to 19 Hollywood personalities to appear before the committee during its three weeks of hearings.

Many Pay Tribute To Miss Garrett

Hundreds of Roswell people paid tribute to the late Elizabeth Garrett in a beautiful funeral ceremony yesterday afternoon at the Ballard Funeral home. Flowers filled the funeral parlor as Mrs. Ralph Vandervaart, reader of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, read the funeral service.

Two songs, "O Gentle Presence," and "There Is No Death," were sung by Mrs. Janice Conner, who accompanied at the piano by Lee Henrich.

Present at the service were Miss Garrett's sister, Pauline Garrett of Las Cruces, and brother, Oscar Garrett of Odessa, Texas. Her other brother, Jarvis Garrett, is in Caracas, Venezuela.

Casket bearers were: John A. Barnett, R. M. Tipner, John C. Martins, Tom Mann, Rayburn Rice and R

'Calcutta' Fulfills Desire for Action

Two movie directors, John Farrow and George Cukor, met recently at a Hollywood party and it was inquiring about Farrow's latest picture, Paramount's "Calcutta," which arrived Sunday on the Plains and will continue through Wednesday.

In the first reel, we have an airplane crash, a free-for-all fight, a murder, and a girl sings a sexy number in a night club," said Farrow.

"The rest I need to know," grimmed Cukor. "You're in!"

Such violence is the rule in today's pictures, although Farrow has perhaps more than his share of it in "Calcutta." Its star is Alan Ladd, who has packed a ton gun and flailed his fists in eight of his nine Paramount pictures. In this one, he and William Bendix are pilots flying cargo over the "hump" from India to Chungking, and the story gives them the opportunity to participate in one sanz fight and several individual battles.

Farrow sees a couple of reasons for the trend that finds fisticuffs featured in many films today.

"We have out-grown the 'drawing room' period of early talking pictures," Farrow says. "When do the movies learned to talk, they moved into the parlor and concentrated on wordy dramas.

"Now pictures are going back to action, 'Calcutta,' for example, is sheer adventure stuff, with a murder mystery as an added attraction.

Top Teams Fall From Unbeaten Football Lists

By Austin Bealmear

New York, Oct. 20 (AP)—A dozen major college football teams still own all-victorious records today but several of them will have to do some fancy stepping Saturday to keep from joining eight others which were tumbled from the ranks of the unbeaten and untied during the past week-end.

Such previously undefeated elevens as Minnesota, Vanderbilt, Yale, Maryland, William and Mary, Marquette, Boston College and Muhlenberg dropped out of the all-victorious class and now can concentrate on returning the compliment to such other hopefuls as may cross their paths.

Among the topflight aggregations, those whose perfect records survived the week-end firing include Michigan, Notre Dame, Texas, California, Georgia Tech, Pennsylvania, Penn State, Southern Methodist, Baylor, Washington State, Virginia and West Virginia.

Probably the finest comeback immediately ahead for any of this select group is that faced by the Golden Bears of California, who tangle with Southern California's unbeaten but once-tied Trojans at Berkeley Saturday in one of the top games of the day.

California opened its bid for the Pacific coast conference crown by slipping Washington State, 21-6, for its fifth straight triumph Saturday—a development considerably less impressive than the 48-6 haymaker which Cal landed on Oregon State.

UCLA, the other team involved in a three-cornered scramble for the coast title and Rose Bowl honors, steps out of conference play to meet the invasion of Southern Methodist, which kept its slate clean by shaking Rice, 14-0, while UCLA was trampling Stanford, 39-6.

Other western highlights Saturday include Stanford at Washington, Montana at Washington State, Portland at Oregon State, Brigham Young at Utah State, Colorado vs. Colorado A and M, Utah at Wyoming, Texas 13th at Denver and Tulsa at Nevada.

Texas, which downed Arkansas, 21-6, to clinch its first southwest conference hurdle, goes after its sixth win of the year against Rice at Austin and Baylor invades Texas A and M in quest of its fifth in a row.

Football Player Dies

Vandergrift, Pa., Oct. 20 (AP)—Robert Eugene Fitzgerald, 16, Vandergrift high school substitute halfback, died in a hospital Saturday after collapsing in a game in which 7's teammates defeated Baldwin township, 41-20. Death was due to a cerebral hemorrhage, according to a report to Allegheny County Coroner William D. McClelland.

Stars of the White Top

Animals, pretty girls and clowns are prime essentials with any circus, and if one looks at the show these merits then the famous Bailey Bros. Circus coming to Roswell Thursday, October 23rd for two performances under the auspices of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, will be called the "pick of the whole crop."

Miss Peggy Henderson reads the story of beauties who appear in the aerial displays while clown alley is augmented by three new clowns, Bobo Kiltzman.

A complete traveling zoo with strange beasts and the only twin baby elephants in the world is open to patrons one hour before each performance. Performances are scheduled for 2:00 and 8:00 p. m.

Lobos Will Tackle Wildcats Saturday

By Eddie Lee

Associated Press Sports Writer

An important question is expected to be answered next Saturday when the University of New Mexico Lobos tangle with the University of Arizona Wildcats in a conference football game at Tucson, Ariz.

The Lobos entered the season classified as the dark horse of the league race. They dropped their first game to the Sun Devils from Arizona State at Tempe, defeated the New Mexico Aggies, then dropped their third conference game to Hardin-Simmons 33-7 last Friday.

The Wildcats, meanwhile, were beaten 35-7 by Hardin-Simmons and edged Texas Mines 14-13 in their two conference games.

The question is whether the Wildcats were over-rated in pre-season figuring and the answer will depend on their performance against the Lobos.

The other conference game on the schedule this week-end is a Friday meeting of West Texas State, who upset Texas Mines a week ago, and the New Mexico Aggies at Las Cruces, N. M.

Tempe's Sun Devils take the week-end off, the Hardin-Simmons Cowboys, who like Tempe have won both their conference tilts, play at Mississippi State's Texas Tech is at Denver university and the Arizona State College at Flagstaff plays at Wichita.

The Sun Devils knocked off Flagstaff 31-7 Saturday to keep pace with the defending champion Cowboys. The Buffaloes of West Texas slammed Hardin college 26-0 while Texas Tech won down 32-6 before Baylor. The Aggies defeated Sul Ross 27-14 in a Friday game at Las Cruces, N. M.

If the Cowboys can get by Texas A&I and the Sun Devils, they are likely to retain their conference honors and if they do, a close fight for second place is anticipated.

Oklahoman Winner In Two Events at New York Rodeo

Whatley's rides shared the Madison Square Garden rodeo.

Steer wrestling: 1—Mickey McCreery, Reno, Nev., 10.1 seconds; 2—Kenny Reno, Okla., and Bill Hedge, Bixby, Okla., tied with 14 seconds; 3—Mike Fisher, Las Cruces, N. M., 19.3 seconds.

Wild Brahma bull riding: 1—Todd Whatley, Bethel, Okla.; 2—Hubert Dalton, Duncan, Okla.; 3—Jim Bowlders, Tulsa, Okla.

Institute to Clash With Sul Ross Team

By Associated Press

A three-way tie for leadership in the New Mexico conference will be trimmed to two this week as Sul Ross engages New Mexico Military Institute in a Friday night game at Roswell. N. M., and Adams State of Colorado takes on fifth-place Panhandle (Okla.) A & M Saturday at Alamosa, Colo.

Adams State and NMMI evened the score with Sul Ross this week at two wins and no losses in conference play. Sul Ross has a non-conference game to New Mexico A & M 27-14.

On the conference circuit NMMI spoiled a Hishlands university homecoming, bowling over the Las Vegas, N. M., team on its home field 26-7. Adams State downed fourth-place eastern New Mexico college 19-6 at Portales.

Panhandle A & M moved up to fifth place with its initial conference victory, a 13-6 win over New Mexico State Teachers at Goodwell, Okla. It was the first conference victory, in a Saturday night game at Silver City, N. M. Highlands has three losses on its record, the Teachers one.

Eastern New Mexico college, remaining team of the circuit, is idle this week.

Local Art Display At The Museum

The Roswell museum reminds the community of its current all-Roswell exhibits. With Sunday this display of both fine art and craftwork is changed for the first week. Since fair week the displays have been rearranged to show all of them to better advantage. Two Artesia artists, Mrs. M. A. Magee, Jr., and Miss Violet Robertson, are represented by pictures striking on account of color. Mrs. Magee's "Mountains" is especially rich; furthermore it yields delightful impression of mountain massiveness. "Autumnal" is a kitchen canvas that has an appeal to persons familiar with old fashioned housekeeping.

Sidney Redfield shows two of his popular black-and-white paintings. "The Old Corral," and "Old Ellis Place, Lincoln," both of which are splendid examples of this aspect of his work. He also shows three paintings, "Berrendo Fall Scene," "Peach Orchard at Picacho" and "Ranch Scene."

Mrs. Mildred Sumner has four pictures that have attracted great attention.

Charles Bode displays four pastels.

Mrs. Carl Welch's coats-of-arms are authentically designed and charmingly colored.

The craftwork offers Roswell something rather new in the copper "fretings" or embossings that Charles Bode is making. When suitably mounted on wooden plaques this copper work becomes very decorative. Hand painted handkerchiefs by Tess Kirby are attractive with their delicately done rose designs. Hand-tooled leather work is shown by Frank J. Mack.

J. D. Rowland, Roswell's nearest approach to a toymaker, is represented by certain new creations, called African Head Hunters.

Finally there is an interesting case full of ceramic articles. Charles Bode shows pottery and saucers, bowls and figurines. Mrs. Sumner shows some vases and bowls; Mrs. Vaye Fulton shows samples of ash trays, cigarette holders, pipe stands, and other bric-a-brac.

Museum hours are from 2 to 5 p. m., every day except Saturday.

More Grazing Land

LIVESTOCK growers will be permitted once more to use grazing lands in the huge four-million acre Alamogordo bombing range in southern New Mexico according to information received by the New Mexico Cattle Growers association. The war department is now negotiating co-use agreements with ranchers involved, and as soon as individual agreements have been completed, the bureau of land management is prepared to issue grazing permits to former users.

Following 18 months of negotiations with the war department and the department of interior, it finally appears as though ranchers in the area will be given some relief. The vast area was created in 1942 when the war department condemned nearly four million acres of grazing lands in Otero, Socorro, Lincoln and Dona Ana counties to be used as a practice bombing area and rocket proving ground.

When this land was acquired by the department, little time or consideration was given to ranchers who used the area and who for generations had grazed cattle, sheep and goats for a livelihood. The area had been used by more than 100 ranchers and had a carrying capacity of more than 28,500 head of cattle year around. The bombing range under former war department regulations has not been used for grazing for four years and its use comes now as a great source of relief to drouth stricken ranchers in southern part of the state.

The division of grazing of the bureau of land management is preparing to issue co-use agreements and supervise grazing practices as soon as the war department authorizes individual agreements with ranchers in the area. War department officials have been and are now surveying the area to determine actual destruction to ranch improvements caused by military practices.

This agreement on the part of the department of interior and the war department with ranchers will serve to greatly facilitate increased production of meat in New Mexico and it will save a vast amount of grain and feed which would have been fed to livestock which will now be able to use the range.

Sports Roundup

By Hugh Fullerton Jr.

New York, Oct. 20 (AP)—The American Legion boasts that 204 players who played for major league clubs during 1947 are former Legion baseball players, 113 in the American league and 91 in the National. This probably has nothing to do with the American league's world series victory except that Joe DiMaggio is one of the Yankees' 12 former Legion boys . . . When anyone suggests that Western Michigan College was a bit rash in booking a football game with Illinois for Nov. 8, tub thumper Homer Dunham replies: "We won't be as bad as UCLA was last New Year's day."

Right after the baseball season, Ted Williams went fishing near Princeton, Minn., carrying a weighted bat with his fishing tackle . . . Ted doesn't use it to club muskies to death; the bat is to keep his wrists strong and supple and he puts the fish back in the water . . . Because it has been chosen to represent the east in the first national collegiate basketball championships (conservative title, what?) at Los Angeles Olympic auditorium Dec. 26-29 . . . Coy McGee, Notre Dame seatback, has an 89 average in his course in aeronautical engineering. He also is noted for his size five shoes—so there's one football player whose brains can't be in his pedal extremities.

The Jewish population of the world is believed to have been reduced from about 17,000,000 to about 11,000,000 from 1939 to 1946.

Showing of New Oil Venture Indicates Added Production

In Northeast Gaines County, about 25 miles northeast of Seminole, one mile southeast of the nearest completed oil well in the Adair field, and 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 3, block C-31, psl survey, Paul F. Rutledge, and others, No. 1 Bice, was bottomed at 4,600 feet in the San Andres-Permian lime, and perforated 5 1/2 inch casing opposite pay section. The casing was cemented on bottom. It was treated with 6,000 gallons of acid after which time it was swabbed at the rate of three to four barrels of new oil per hour. This showing indicates that the venture will be completed as a producer and an extension to the field.

About two and one-half miles northwest of Seminole, in Central No. 9 Riley, Gaines County, Amerada Petroleum Corporation, 650 feet south and 725 feet from east lines of section 229, block G, WT survey, and on the northeast side of the Seminole field, where the current production is from the San Andres-Permian at above 5,100 feet, was preparing to plug back and tester lighter.

This project had some slight shows of oil in the Glorieta in drilling to the present bottom of 5,598 feet. It set a string of casing through those shows and then perforated at 5,470-6,510 feet and at 6,320-70 feet.

Those intervals tested for 16 barrels of oil in eight hours and 45 minutes.

The perforated zones were then treated with 5,000 gallons of acid and after the load and residue had been recovered they swabbed at a rate of 28 barrels of fluid per hour—95 per cent water and five per cent oil.

Operator is expected to test another section in the Glorieta, following the plug back.

Wildcat to the Ellenburger, in the Jones Ranch Area of Extreme Northwest Gaines county, No. 1-D Jones, of Amerada, 661 feet from north and 1,980 feet from east survey, has reached a total depth of 13,028 feet in granite. This exploration found granite without encountering the Ellenburger since there were no indivation of oil or gas in any of the formations drilled through it is probable that the operator will plug and abandon.

A test to the Devonian at around 10,800 feet, in extreme Northwest Gaines county, in the Jones Ranch area, No. 3-A Jones, of Amerada, is drilling lime and chert below 9,719 feet.

DeKalb Agricultural Association, Inc., of Lubbock, No. 1 Northupbridge, about 14 miles west of Seminole, and 660 feet from west and 1,980 feet from north lines of section 367, block G, CCSD&RGNG survey, had penetrated below 5,400 feet in middle Permian lime, and at last report, was drilling at 5,478 feet. It is contracted to core to around 7,500 feet, unless finds commercial production in the Clear Fork-Permian above at point.

In the Adair field, about 25 miles northeast of Seminole, Amerada designated the location for No. 5-A J. A. Hicks, et al, 2310 feet from west and 1,650 feet from north lines of section 17, block C-31, psl survey. It will drill to about 5,000 feet with rotary.

In North - Central Andrews county, 12 miles north and a mile west of Andrews, Sinclair Prairie Oil Company, and others, No. 1-173 Skelly-University, new Devonian discovery, has completed on a 24-hour flowing potential for 1,036 barrels of 38.3 gravity oil from pay at 9,700-9,940 feet.

The flow was natural and was through open, two-inch tubing. Gas-oil ratio was 369.1. No water showed in the oil produced during the test.

This new well have about 200 feet of pay cased off back of the pipe which is cemented at 9,700 feet. That section may be produced later.

The operator has suggested the field name of Shafter Lake Devonian for this discovery which is 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 25, block 12, University survey.

Stanolind Oil & Gas Company staked locations for two outposts from the Three Bar field, in South-Southwest Andrews county, and about 20 miles southwest of Andrews.

The No. 1-AR, University of Texas, 660 feet from south and east lines of section 5, block 11, University survey, will drill with rotary to about 8,600 feet to test the Devonian.

The other Devonian tester to about 8,600 feet is the No. 2-AG University of Texas, 660 feet from south and 2,051 feet from west lines of north half of section 8, block 11, University survey. It also will use rotary.

An outpost to the Fullerton field, in Northwest Andrews County, and about 20 miles northwest of Andrews, was marked by Frank and George Frankel, to be their No. 1-K University of Texas, 660 feet from north and east lines of northwest quarter of section 43, block 12, University survey. It is contracted to use rotary to go around 7,500 feet.

Magnolia Petroleum Company has filed an application with the Railroad Commission of Texas to deepen their No. 8-DD-B Cowden, 660 feet from north and west lines of lease in section 4, block A-55, survey, to 10,500 feet with rotary to examine the Ellenburger on the north side of the Dollar Hide field. It has shown for production in the Devonian — the original contract formation. It is now drilling below 9,236 feet in lime.

Tobe Foster, of Lubbock, has designated a location as a flanker to the Fuhrman-Mascho field to be No. 1 A. J. Edwards, 1,980 feet from north and west lines of section 25, block A-42, psl survey. It is 14 miles southwest of Andrews and will use rotary to breach a contract depth of 4,595 feet or production above that point.

In the Union field of extreme Northwest Andrews county, Shell Oil Company, Inc. marked the location for No. 1 Brown, 662 feet from north and 656 feet from west lines of section 3, block A-31, psl survey. This outpost to production will use rotary to bore to about 7,500 feet to test the Clear Fork-Permian time.

Two explorations in the Martin-Ellenburger field, in Central-Southwest Andrews county, about 22 miles southwest of the county seat, have been completed on 24-hour potential tests as new oil wells.

Nor 2-D University of Texas, of Atlantic Refining Company, 615 feet from north and 678.4 feet from west lines of lasse in section 1, block 11, University survey, completed flowing, through 1/4-inch choke, for 927.8 barrels of 43.7 gravity oil. The gas-oil ratio 229.1. It flowed, natural, for a pay section at 8,736-8,942 feet.

Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 9 Parker, corner of section 24, block A-41, psl survey, 888.72 barrels of pipelines oil in 24 hours on potential through 1/4 inch choke. Gas-oil ratio was 140-1.

In Southwest Andrews County, two and one-half miles northwest of the Martin, multi-pay field, and 1,980 feet from south and 660 feet from west lines of section 8, block A-41, psl survey Mabee Drilling Company No. 1 Heydrick has penetrated past 9,378 feet in lime and was continuing.

Standard No. 1 Nix, 1,994 feet from north and 1,985 feet from east lines of section 21, block A-47, psl survey, and 12 miles southwest of Andrews, is drilling below 6,665 feet in lime.

In Central-West Andrews, Magnolia No. 1, E. C. Nix, about 10 miles west of the county seat, and 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 18, block A-47, psl survey is boring below 6,903 feet in lime and continuing.

Stanolind has plugged two wells in the past week as dry holes, in the Nelson field area, of extreme North-West Andrews, about 30 miles west of Andrews.

No. 1 Huth 2, 660 feet from south and east lines of section 18, block A-39, psl survey, was bottomed in basement rocks at 10,876 feet. Tests were made of formations above that depth, but they failed to show any commercial oil.

No. 1 Celia A. McCrea, 660 feet from north and west lines of section 24, block A-39, psl survey, is abandoned at a total depth of 10,478 feet, in an unidentified lime.

The oil fraternity will be glad to know that the No. 1-DD Stark Walton, of Magnolia Petroleum Company, has completed its machinery repairs and is drilling below 9,233 feet in lime.

This deepening job in North-Central Winkler County, about 3 miles north and slightly east of Kermit, is 2,310 feet from south and 660 feet from east lines of section 7, block B-3, psl survey. It has already had indications of commercial production in the Fusselman section of the low Silurian.

In Central Winkler county, about seven miles southeast of the county seat and 660 feet from south and east lines of section 24, boring ahead below 8,450 feet in lime. This project, which was originally started under a permit to go to 7,500 feet, is now operating under an amended permit to go to a possible bottom of 12,500 feet. That depth should take the project into the Ellenburger.

Gulf Oil Corporation has completed the first producing well for a new pay in the Keystone area. It is that concern's No. 48 Keystone, located 440 feet from north and west lines of lease in section 10, block B-2, psl survey. It was finished on a 24-hour flowing potential of 585 barrels of 39.6 gravity oil. The gas-oil ratio was 1,388-1.

This is an old shallow producer from the Keystone lime pay at above 3,300 feet. The new producing zone is from 4,860 feet to 5,040 feet. It was treated with 4,000 gallons of acid, to complete

MacKenzie Says—

AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The extent of the politico-social unheaval which is sweeping the world is strikingly illustrated in British officialdom's quietly spokes but nevertheless sensational announcement that plans for Princess Elizabeth and Lt. Philip Mountbatten to drive through central London, so that crowds could see them after the forthcoming wedding, have been cancelled to safeguard the heiress apparent to the throne.

Scotland Yard and the cabinet feel that such a ride would involve risks ("doubtless remote" which shouldn't be taken. The risks aren't specified, but they are self-explanatory in these days when political passions are producing violence and death in many countries.

England and her friends are shocked by this shadow of threat to her charming princess. It has been long since that tight little isle of democracy has known anything like this. Up until the war the British royal family moved about freely, and mingled with crowds, even as you and I. Presumably, too, their protection was confined to a small and more or less invisible escort.

Despite the cancellation of the post-wedding drive, thousands will have a chance to see the bride and groom as they ride from Buckingham palace to Westminster abbey and back over a route of less than a mile. However, Scotland Yard will take extreme precautions to safeguard that journey. As is the custom, windows in buildings along the way will be rented to parties for great sums, and the police will know the identity of every person in those windows. Naturally the street will be equally well watched.

SPOKANE — The great desert of the Northwest, which was to have been transformed into a growing garden of hope for the world's hungry when blessed by the cascading waters of the Grand Coulee Irrigation System, is still a desert. Not an acre has been brought under cultivation on the most elaborate project of its kind ever visioned for the American Continent.

There is a grim tragedy, in these days of foreign starvation and dollar-a-pound meat, in the generally unknown story — unknown, that is, outside the "inland empire" and neighboring states on the West Coast.

Although F. D. R. and numerous other vote-irrigators, both Republican and Democratic, have won many elections with the pledge that the 1,000,000-acre Columbia Basin would "soon" become America's agriculture's dream valley, producing everything from asparagus (no pun) to roast beef, lamb, and pork and sustaining several hundred thousand prosperous farmers, it remains an ugly blotch on a rugged but lovely landscape.

Only Grand Coulee Dam, key engineering feature of the proposed reclamation system, has been built. Still to be thrown in living form across this expanse of earth, fifty miles wide and eighty miles long in eastern Washington, are pumping facilities, reservoirs, 4,000 miles of causeways, canals, tunnels, siphons and lateral ditches and 17,000 miles of hairways.

DELAY. The people out here, including thousands of ex-G.I. applicants for land, have been left to ask: "Why the delay?" The undertaking has been discussed for twenty-five years, and it was first authorized by Congress in 1935.

Despite the many political-social profit from capitalizing on the reclamation project, the delay is no individual's fault, save Adolf Hitler's. The war forced postponement of all construction except on the great dam, which rivals the ancient pyramids of Egypt, the ruins of Athens and Rome and the skyscrapers of Manhattan. It is an awesome sight, with its spillway dividing down twice as deep as Niagra Falls. Simply a look at the mingled majesty of man and nature sends boosters enthusiastic over their marital insignificance and, perhaps, resolved to be sweet to each other.

When Coulee was completed in 1942, its power was needed for the network of war plants which crisscrossed the Northwest. In fact, there are those out here who maintain that the Allies, including Stalin, could not have won the war without the vast energy and efficiency generated at this "eighth wonder of the world."

IRONY. The early story and present chapter of the proposed irrigation program is tinged with historic irony. When northwestern representatives at Washington pressed for authorization and appropriations in the early thirties, congressional halls echoed with parliamentary cat-calls. Nowhere had the depression struck with more violent force than in rival farm regions.

Prices in the Midwest had slumped disastrously. Surpluses were being destroyed — and that was before the days of Henry Wallace — and corn became a fuel instead of a food on cold nights. Farmers were overturning trucks on the way to market, in protest against selling crops at such ruinous prices.

"And yet," they growled, "those guys at Washington want to bring 1,000,000 more acres of competing products into production.

In similar tones, private power people out East complained over construction of Coulee and Bonneville for production of power. It would mean a surplus and disastrous competition, they thought and said. Now, the great Northwest is handicapped in its post-war growth by an acute shortage of electricity.

CLAMORING. Today, with the world's hungry clamoring for American food, and with domestic shortages threatening even higher prices, the produce from these potential undeveloped acres would be a blessing and a salvation.

For instance, it is estimated that the annual value of future crops at 1945 prices will be $100,000,000 with a $500,000,000 increase in taxable wealth. The list of prospective crops reads like a menu at Delmonico's, Antoine's or the Early Birds' Club in Spokane, to wit: Beef, pork, lamb, butter, cheese, milk, strawberries, asparagus, sugar beets, small grains, alfalfa, feed, field peas, potatoes, onions, squash, pears, peaches, apples, plums.

"Every item on the menu," grins a local booster, "except coffee and brandy!"

BLAME. It is the Eightieth Congress which now gets the blame for another threatening delay. The Federal Reclamation Bureau asked for $47,500,000 for construction during the current fiscal year. The Budje tBureau reduced this figure to $27,500,000.

But Capitol Hill Republicans, although they hope to convert this country from its long course of Democratic sin, slashed that amount to $17,000,000. Unless this sum is increased by a supplemental appropriation of at least $15,000,000 at next winter's session, all work on the irrigation phase of this gigantic project will stop on February 1, 1948. Certain Republican leaders traveling through here have promised that at least this amount will be restored.

Apparently, they didn't know their political asparagus, onions and apples when they treated the Northwest's baby like an orphan. It is doubtful if President Truman

Race Track Strike Reported Settled

New York, Oct. 20 (AP)—Striking grooms and exercise boys return to the Jamaica race track under a two-year "code of honor" agreement tonight as the Metropolitan Jockey club resumed its fall meeting with the program which was called off Saturday because of the walkout.

More than 100 owners and trainers already had signed the agreement with the AFL Teamsters union, bargaining agent for the grooms and exercise riders, and others were expected to do so within the next 48 hours.

Under the agreement, grooms will be guaranteed a minimum of $225 a month while the minimum scale for exercise riders will be $210 for beginners, $235 for those with more than three months' experience and $275 for those with three or more years' experience.

Race for Pennant Gets Into Lineup For Pro Gridders

New York, Oct. 20 (AP)—There isn't an unbeaten team in the major professional football leagues today and the pennant races in both the national and all-America conference are taking shape as down-to-the-wire affairs.

The Chicago Cardinals became the last eleven in either circuit to taste defeat by losing, 27-7 to the Rams before a National league record crowd of 69,631 fans in Los Angeles yesterday.

The defeat dropped the Cards into a three-way tie with the Rams and Green Bay Packers for the lead in the nation's western division pennant chase. The Packers turned back the Washington Redskins, 27-16, in Green Bay.

Meanwhile, the Pittsburgh Steelers vaulted to the fore in the National's eastern half chase by a half game as a result of their 35-24 decision over the Philadelphia Eagles. The Eagles and Redskins are now deadlocked for second place.

In the junior circuit the defending champion Cleveland Browns snapped their tie with the San Francisco 49ers for the western half lead with a 31-28 win over the hapless Chicago Rockets.

In the only other game in the AAC yesterday the Los Angeles Dons came from behind and walloped the Baultimore Colts, 38-10.
