Home Economics Solves Problem Of Ex-Students

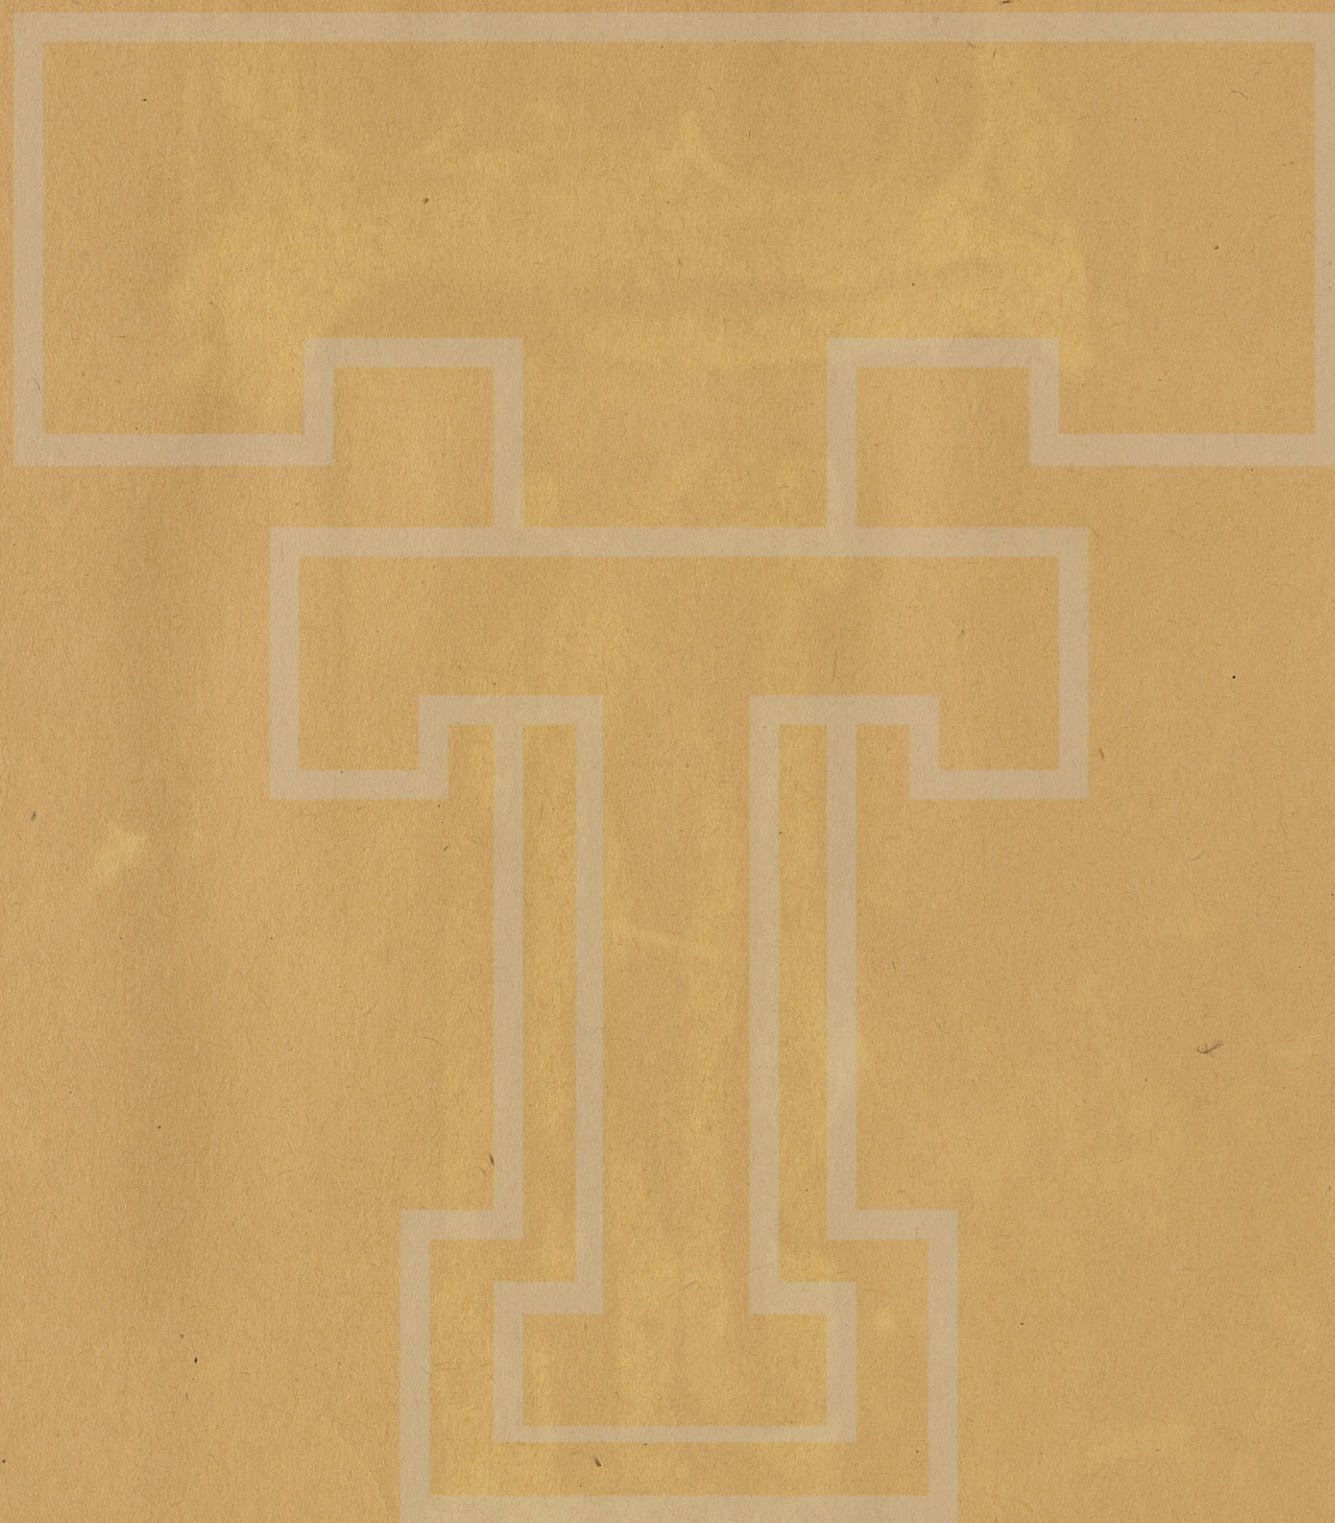

Have you ever wondered what happens to the great number of students who graduate in their field and leave Tech to find work? The home economics department satisfies curiosity by posting a list each year of the recent graduates, where they are and what they are doing.

The list this year proves that home economics graduates are an industrious lot and go into many fields. Eighty-four girls were graduated in June and August of last year, and all except four of them are busy in at least fifteen different types of work. They are doing everything from their chosen work of teaching and homemaking to running PBX boards in army camps and are scattered from Lubbock to Ft. Huachuca, Arizona and Tallahassee, Florida.

Twenty nine girls are teaching home economics and five are teaching other subjects in schools scattered throughout Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma. Eight have gone to dietician jobs, two of which are here at Tech. Government work such as the NYA, WPA, and FSA has attracted six recent graduates.

Several have wandered from the HE fold and become bookkeepers, PBX operators, and secretaries. Four have returned to school to do graduate work.

The list shows that one of the most popular careers is, of course, homemaking, for twenty 1941 grads have become real homemakers, the job they spent years preparing for.

What if There Was a Dispute?

Most people just have one mother in a life-time, but Marie Knall, new 6-month-old resident of the home management house, already has seven.

Marie found them waiting for her when she came in last Wednesday from the Milam Orphans' Home to be the child of seven students and Miss Doris Hittle, supervisor of the house.

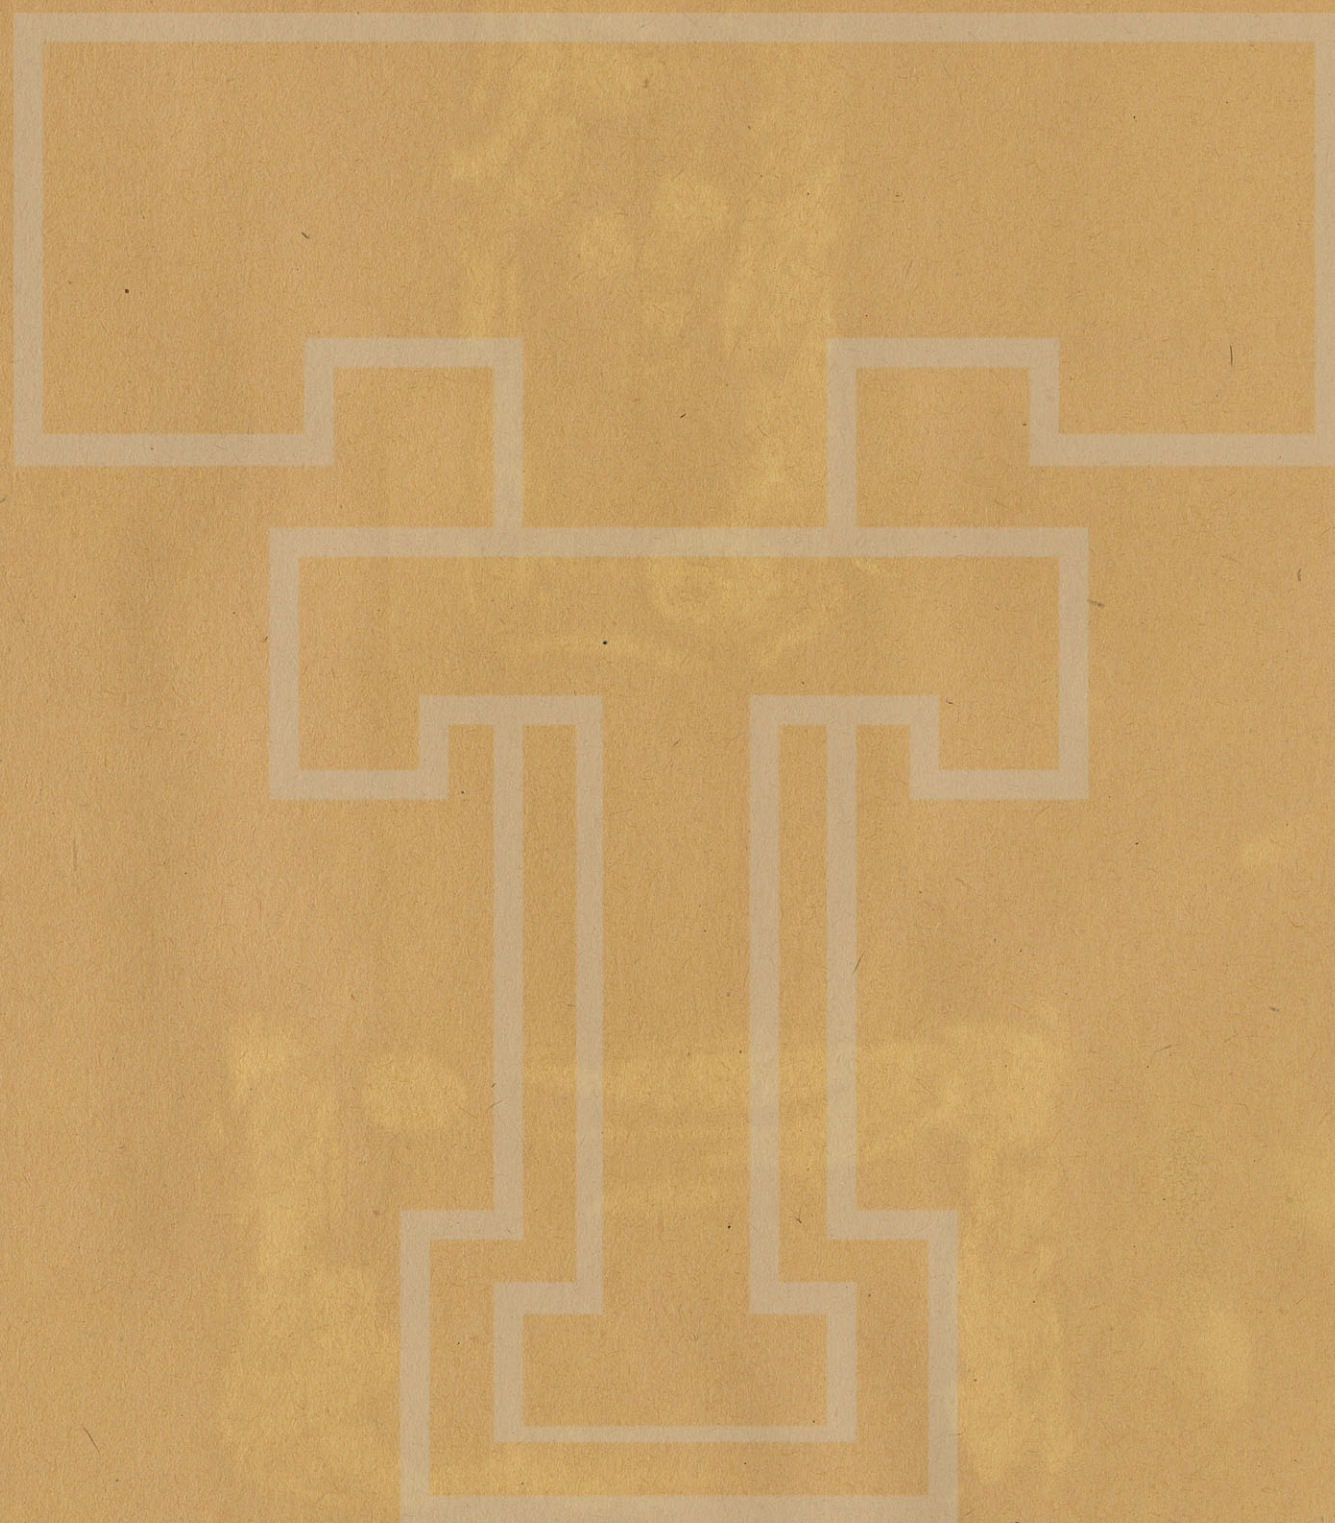

The unfortunate part is that by the time Marie gets to know her mothers, they will move out and seven more will move in.

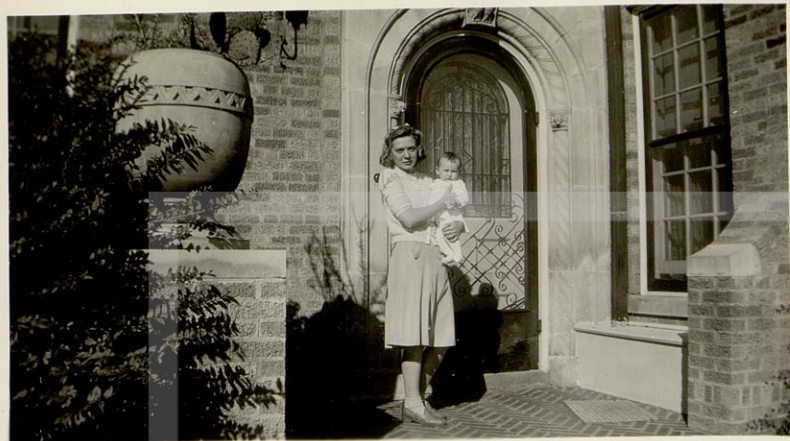

Girls in the home management house at this time are Marjory Oliver, Erma Griffin, Martha Price, Onita Hutto, Donna Duckworth, Catherine Harmon and Lorene Newsom.

The girls remain in the practice house for six weeks and manage the home, applying all the principles of good housekeeping and family relations that they have learned in classes, including care of the baby.

Girls Of Management House To Entertain

Honoring all faculty members, February graduates, freshmen and transfer girls in home economics, girls of the Home Management house on the Texas Technological college campus will entertain with a tea this afternoon from 3:30 to 5:30 o'clock.

The refreshment table will be laid with a hand blocked rust and turquoise cloth. The centerpiece will be of yellow chrysanthemums. Dean Margaret Weeks and Mrs. Clifford B. Jones will pour tea.

Other special guests will be Mrs. Eleanor Chitwood and Mrs. Mary W. Doak. Girls living in the house who are to be hostesses are Misses Irma Griffin, Marjorie Oliver, Onita Hutto, Martha Price, Donna Duckworth and Katherine Harmon. Miss Doris Hittle is supervisor.

Dear Miss Kittle and the girls:-

I have just about let this week slip by without writing you and I didn't intend to. This has been a very busy week Mr Price went to New Mexico to look at some cattle, we took him to Amarillo and met him again ^{with} Co's Company in the house too you'll all understand, why I have been slow.

We all had such a nice time with you Sunday and it was worth the drive to have such a nice dinner and get to meet you all.

We had a nice trip home without any trouble. got here a little after seven.

Thought about you all the day of your tea and know you would be very busy.

I wonder if you have the baby and how she is getting along.

I made crab apple jelly today it looks so nice I hope it is -

Well when I come to Lech again I will come over ~~and~~ see you ~~and~~ until then very best regards to all

as ever

Dear Miss Nittle:

Wish you please tell the Home Management family that they restored my confidence in my powers to get what I want without positive theft?
The candy was fine. What I need now is a lesson in the method of producing a similar product.

Let me thank all of you for a most pleasant afternoon.

Sincerely yours,
