LEGISLATURE APPROVES "GOOD BILL FOR TECH"

The Texas Legislature's appropriations measure, according to Bill J. Parsley, vice president for Public Affairs, was a "very good bill for Texas Tech."

The two-year budget bill called for $59.8 million for Texas Tech University and $18 million for the Texas Tech University School of Medicine. The first-year portion for the university was $29.7 million.

The measure included a pay raise for faculty and non-faculty personnel. Faculty salary increases are included in appropriations for faculty salaries generally. For the first time funds were appropriated for staff benefits.

The non-faculty salary hikes will amount to 10.2 per cent for workers earning less than $6,500 annually, 6.8 per cent for those making between $6,500 and $9,500, and 3.4 per cent for those earning more than $9,500 per year.

Another across-the-board hike of 3.4 per cent will be forthcoming in September 1974.

The total medical school appropriation for the biennium was almost $18 million. The Panhandle Area Health Education Center was given $2 million to build a facility and $543,000 over the two-year period for operations.

A total of $500,000 is provided for two years of planning and operations at the El Paso center.

Other major items in Texas Tech appropriations:

- *$376,000 over two years for The Museum of Texas Tech University.

- *The first operational funding for the International Center for Arid and Semi-Arid Land Studies (ICASALS), $80,000 over two years.

REPORTING CHANGE

With the increasing development of instructional and research programs in The Museum of Texas Tech University, its director, Dr. Craig C. Black, has begun reporting directly to the Office of Academic Affairs.

In announcing the change effective July 1, Texas Tech President Grover E. Murray said this arrangement will enable better coordination of the academic, research and cultural objective of The Museum.

TECH CONTRIBUTION TO EMPLOYEE INSURANCE PREMIUMS INCREASED

Texas Tech's contribution toward employee's group insurance premiums will be increased from $3.50 to $12.50 per month for full-time employees effective Sept. 1, 1973, according to the Personnel Office.

Regular part-time employees who participate in the Teacher Retirement System will receive a pro rata share of the new contribution based on the number of hours worked, said C. B. Strawn, director of Personnel.

A special open enrollment period is scheduled from Monday, July 23, through Friday, July 27, to give employees the opportunity to receive the full benefit from the University's increased contribution. Representatives of the several underwriters of university group insurance programs will be available in the Personnel Office, Room 42, Administration Building, from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. during the period.

Special group meetings have been scheduled for employees in some departments and a general meeting has been scheduled for other employees in the Chemistry Auditorium, Room C-38, Wednesday, July 25, at 1 p.m.

Employees who did not enroll in insurance programs at the time of their employment or who wish to increase or otherwise change their plan of coverage, may do so during special enrollment.

The university's contribution will be applied to permit employees to retain the income-tax deduction currently allowed by the Internal Revenue Service for medical insurance.

"With the university's increased contribution rate, each employee should be able to participate in several areas of group insurance coverage without personal cost," Strawn said. "Each employee is urged to take advantage of the professional counseling available during the open enrollment to develop a program of insurance coverage which best serves his specific individual needs."

UNIVERSITY CALENDAR

Faculty and staff members are reminded that it is the responsibility of the sponsoring agencies to see that events are recorded on the University Calendar which is maintained by Information Services.

Scheduled events should be submitted to Information Services in writing as far in advance as planning will permit. The form printed in this issue of FYI may be used, and calendar cards in the same form will be distributed soon to department chairmen for use in placing events on the calendar.

Before selecting dates for an event, individuals may phone Information Services (2-4136) to learn what conflicts might occur on the dates chosen.

The university calendar is published on a continuing basis in FYI, and the publication of semester calendars is planned for August and January. Events already listed on the calendar are scheduled for the fall of 1974, and early listing is encouraged to avoid conflicts.

A calendar listing does not provide facilities, funds, approval or permission for an event. These must be arranged through regular channels of responsibility.

It is the responsibility of the sponsor to coordinate an event with the Office of the President whenever the President's participation is appropriate.

Please complete and return to the Office of Information Services.

FIFTIETH ANNIVERSARY OF SELECTION OF LUBBOCK AS SITE FOR TEXAS TECH TO BE COMMEMORATED

Bells throughout the city of Lubbock rang Aug. 8, 1923, when it was announced that Texas Tech University would be coming to Lubbock.

In recognition of the 50th anniversary of this event, the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce in cooperation with Texas Tech University will reenact this historical event starting at 11 a.m. Wednesday, Aug. 8. Citizens from Lubbock and surrounding communities are invited to attend.

The ceremonies will be conducted in the vicinity of the Ex-Students Association building on the campus. Features of the program, according to A. C. Verner, president of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, will include music by the old-time community band, remarks by Texas Tech President Grover E. Murray concerning the background and importance of the university to the Lubbock area and the reading of the original ground-breaking address of Gov. Pat Neff by former Gov. Preston Smith. The bells again will be sounded on this occasion.

Special guests will include college officials, Lubbock citizens and government leaders who were on hand at the original announcement.

Leaders of Lubbock have expressed the opinion that the decision to locate Texas Tech here was one of the greatest single factors in the fast and tremendous growth of Lubbock from a small town of approximately 5,000 to a metropolitan city of more than 150,000 with a booming economy.

The anniversary observance committee is composed of Smith, chairman; Mrs. W. B. Blankenship; County Commissioner Arch Lamb and City Commissioner Jack E. Baker.

PARKING PERMITS

Applications for parking permits accompanied by checks are due in the office of the Traffic and Parking Counselor no later than Aug. 24, according to Gene Lake.

Return of the requested information earlier "will be greatly appreciated," he said. The fee for 12 months is $30, the same as last year.

After Aug. 2, reserved parking will be sold on a first come-first served basis.

In the interest of prevention of pollution and conservation of fuel, the Traffic and Parking Counselor encourages faculty and staff members to form car pools. The office will issue up to six permits for any reserved location. The only stipulation is that only one car may be on the campus at any time.

AGRICULTURAL SCIENCES DEANS ARE ANNOUNCED

Dr. William F. Bennett has been appointed associate dean and Dr. James E. Osborn assistant dean of the College of Agricultural Sciences effective Aug. 1.

Dr. Bennett has been serving as assistant dean and Dr. Osborn as interim assistant dean. Former Associate Dean Samuel E. Curl recently assumed duties as associate vice president for Academic Affairs after returning from an internship as American Council of Education Fellow at Oklahoma State University.

88 UNIVERSITIES SEND DELEGATES TO MEETING

Some 130 representatives of 88 universities from throughout the U.S. and Canada concluded a three-day meeting of the Universities Council on Water Resources (UCOWR) here today (Aug. 1).

Central theme for the meeting was "The University and Public Policy in Water Resources." Implications of the National Water Commission Report and water resources research projects on university campuses across the nation were also discussed by the group.

The 1973 UCOWR meeting was the first hosted by Texas Tech since the group's inception.

SCHOOL OF ALLIED HEALTH SCIENCES, PROGRAMS IN OCCUPATIONAL, PHYSICAL THERAPY APPROVED

The Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System, has approved a School of Allied Health Sciences and baccalaureate programs in Occupational Therapy and Physical Therapy for Texas Tech University and the School of Medicine.

The School of Allied Health Sciences will be within the School of Medicine and the Bachelor of Science degree programs in Occupational Therapy and Physical Therapy are joint programs of the School of Medicine and Texas Tech University.

"The approval," President Grover E. Murray said, "demonstrates the Coordinating Board's recognition that these are integral parts of the developing Medical Center at Texas Tech University. I am extremely pleased that the board has recognized the progress made by the Texas Tech University School of Medicine and has seen fit to authorize these additional programs for the Medical Center in Lubbock."

DEVELOPMENT DIRECTOR

W. Graves Blanton has been appointed Director of Development for Texas Tech. He will serve on the staff of Vice President for Development Clyde E. Kelsey Jr. The appointment becomes effective Aug. 15.

Blanton comes to Texas Tech from the University of Texas at Austin where he served five years as associate director of the Development Board.

ENGINEERING INSTITUTE SCHEDULED AUG. 20-24

The Texas Tech University Division of Continuing Engineering Education will co-sponsor with International Business Machines Corporation an engineering institute on the campus the week of Aug. 20-24.

IBM institute manager Lou Bifano of Poughkeepsie, N.Y., chose Texas Tech as the site for this first offering directed specifically to engineering executives. Approximately 200 industry leaders are expected to attend the four and one-half day meeting. The participants will attend five general sessions and select from 39 "elective" sessions offered by IBM representatives, members of the faculties of Texas Tech's colleges of Business Administration and Engineering, and members of faculties from other universities throughout the United States.

The institute is designed to familiarize executives with unique methods of applying computer techniques to engineering problems. The sessions also include topics on motivation, administrative skills and the national research and development posture.

Most of the sessions will be held in the Business Administration Building and participants will stay in the Wiggins Complex. They will be invited to a showing of "Texas" in Palo Duro Canyon. Author Herb True, research psychologist and humorist, will speak at a banquet meeting at Lubbock Country Club the night of Aug. 23.

LUBBOCK LAKE OFFERS ARCHEOLOGICAL FINDS

The Lubbock Lake Site is providing "clean evidence" of life as long ago as 12,000 years and signs of a structure built by Archaic man perhaps as long as 3,500 years ago.

Documentation of the archeology at the site began this summer and the first "highly satisfactory" segment ended this week (July 31).

Dr. Craig C. Black, director of The Museum of Texas Tech University and director of the Lubbock Lake Site project, corroborated field supervisor Eileen Johnson's statement: "We uncovered more questions than answers but we found one bank which is extremely rich. It appears possible that we will find a sequence of evidence from Archaic man back to Clovis man who lived 12,000 years ago."

Eventually the site will be converted into a park area with an interpretive museum available to visitors. This is a project undertaken by city, county and state governments.

SPECIALISTS SOUGHT FOR PEACE CORPS SERVICE

The Southwest Alliance for Latin America is recruiting volunteers for a new and unusual program offering special university training in preparation for Peace-Corps service.

Texas Tech is one of 15 universities in the SALA consortium and one of seven which will offer the special training program in agriculture and the Spanish language to 50 volunteers.

The program has four phases: recruitment, university training, specialized Peace Corps training, and finally service in Latin America.

Eligible for internships are those who will have graduated by June 1974 with a bachelor's or master's degree in agricultural science, zoology, biology, botany or another of the natural sciences.

The Texas Tech program will be administered through the Office of Research and Special Programs headed by Vice President Orlo E. Childs.

GENERAL CATALOGS NOW AT REGISTRAR'S OFFICE

The general catalogs for the new academic year are now available at the Registrar's Office, according to Gale Webber, editor, University Bulletins.

A limited quantity of ring-bound desk copies will be available for office use soon. Departments will be notified by memo from the office of the editor when those copies are available and they will be distributed from her office.

TECH GRADS DOING WELL IN PERUVIAN SCHOOL

Three Texas Tech University graduates working toward master's degrees in business administration in Peru are doing well and the institution they are attending would like more such students from this university.

Graduates Katherine Updike of El Paso, Anne Jarboe of Richardson and Dale Buckner Jr. of Lubbock are attending La Escuela de Administracion de Negocios para Graduados.

ANNIVERSARY CEREMONY COMMEMORATES SELECTION OF LUBBOCK AS SITE FOR TEXAS TECH COLLEGE

"Texas Tech University was established, in the eyes of West Texans, to become a university of the first class," President Grover E. Murray said. "We at Texas Tech take that mandate seriously and in the years to come this shall be our goal."

Dr. Murray made the statement in an address at a golden anniversary program conducted on campus Aug. 8 by the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce. More than 200 persons, with a generous sprinkling of pioneer educators, former and current members of the Board of Regents, and city, county, district and state officials, attended the program which commemorated the 50th anniversary of the selection of Lubbock as the site for the institution.

"We shall continue to seek out the finest teachers and encourage the scholarly students," he said. "We shall seek funding beyond what the state can supply and ask for private support. To achieve our goals for excellence we shall need and continue to be grateful for the kind of support West Texans have given us for 50 years, the kind that is enthusiastic and dedicated."

Former Gov. Preston Smith re-read the scholarly address delivered by the late Texas Gov. Pat Neff at the laying of the corner stone of the Texas Tech Administration Building.

Smith and Neff paid high tribute to the nation's institutions of higher learning in molding the nation's leaders, political and otherwise, throughout its history.

Thomas Jefferson was quoted as saying "that if a people expect to be ignorant and free they expect what never was and never can be."

Texas' own president Lamar said,

"The cultivated mind is the guardian genius of Democracy; it is the only dictator that freemen acknowledge, and the only security that freemen desire."

Lubbock Chamber of Commerce President A. C. Verner presided over the ceremony conducted on the green east of the Ex-Students Association offices. A luncheon in the University Center followed.

REGENTS MEET

The Boards of Regents for Texas Tech University and Texas Tech University School of Medicine will meet at 3:30 p.m. Friday, Aug. 17, in regular session.

Prior to the formal afternoon session, the regents will divide into groups for committee work.

INSURANCE ENROLLMENT PERIOD IS ANNOUNCED

A special open enrollment period to permit faculty, staff and other Texas Tech employees to receive full benefit from the University's increased contribution toward insurance programs has been scheduled for Sept. 4-7.

This additional enrollment period has been provided particularly for faculty who were not on campus during the last enrollment period and for new faculty who have arrived to begin their duties here during the fall semester.

Representatives of the several underwriters of university group insurance programs will be available in the Personnel Office, Room 42, Administration Building, and at the entrance of the Faculty Club in the University Center during the enrollment period.

TECH TESTED RECIPES INTRODUCE PRODUCT

The research was sponsored by Plains Cooperative Oil Mill, producers of cottonseed flour. The flour is now available in stores. Sample recipes were available at the reception. A display of baked goods produced at Tech was included at the reception. The reception was at Plains Cooperative Oil Mill.

Those parking permits on your car are good until Aug. 28, the date when the new stickers must be displayed on windshields. The current permits have an expiration date of Aug. 18 printed on them, but that date is in error since the official calendar for the university was revised.

Applications for new parking permits accompanied by checks are due in the office of the Traffic and Parking Counselor no later than Aug. 24.

After Aug. 24, reserved parking will be sold on a first come-first served basis. The office will close at noon, Aug. 29, and remain closed through Sept. 1 so that employes may work at registration in the Coliseum.

The office will reopen Tuesday, Sept. 4.

REGENTS SEEK CONFERENCE ON INDIANA AVENUE QUESTION

Regents for Texas Tech University and the Texas Tech University School of Medicine Friday, Aug. 17, were given an illustrated report on alternatives for future campus traffic planning and then voted to meet with the Lubbock City Council and representatives of the Texas Highway Department before deciding which alternative to favor.

Dr. Ernst W. Kiesling, chairman of the Department of Civil Engineering and special consultant to study traffic and parking on the university campus, reviewed for the regents two major alternatives regarding traffic systems.

The regents pointed out that the city should have an opportunity to present a similar report demonstrating the need for the extension of Indiana Avenue through the campus before any Board action is taken.

They authorized Chairman Bill E. Collins to arrange for a meeting of all the regents, all members of the City Council and with Texas Highway Department officials who are above the district level and in a position to speak in regard to the disposition of funds which have been set aside for the proposed extension of Indiana Avenue.

Kiesling told the Board that it had two major alternatives, either to extend Indiana Avenue through the campus or to defer action on the Indiana Avenue proposal until the feasibility of another concept can be ascertained.

He recommended that the Indiana Avenue extension through the campus should not be implemented until all other possible methods of meeting transportation needs in the campus area have been "exhaustively explored."

The extension of Indiana Avenue as a six lane at-grade street with an interchange at US 82, the Tech Freeway, at about the geometric center of the campus, would be funded at $1.7 million by the Texas Highway Department. Additional facilities necessary for campus use of this avenue would bring the total cost to about $2,091,000.

"Growth on the campus--both in physical plant and in population--defines a clear need for an intracampus transportation system," Kiesling's report said. He said the growth eventually would put the population center of the campus at the approximate same location as the proposed Indiana Avenue and Tech Freeway interchange.

The main concerns--feasibility, flexibility and overall cost--are the most basic considerations, Kiesling said. The location of permanent buildings (primary facilities) are considered fixed, whereas the locations of streets (secondary facilities) are considered changeable.

In conclusion, Kiesling said that a decision to approve the Indiana extension through the campus would: solve some access-egress problems to the campus and to the Medical complex; severely limit flexibility of the campus transportation system and future campus development; require transfer of custody of approximately 15 additional acres of campus land to the Texas Highway Commission; bring to approximately 134 acres land on the main campus made unsuitable for permanent building sites by thoroughfares and railroad tracks; limit freedom of movement for some modes of traffic between the medical school and the university; encourage the use of campus land as a traffic corridor; serve well the needs of those who need to cross the campus north-south; seriously impact the unity of the campus.

Adoption of the second concept would: call for eventual removal of US 82 and possibly the railroad tracks from the campus; retain custody of approximately 1,100 acres of continuous campus land with the Board of Regents; allow flexibility of the campus transportation system to meet changing needs; and place greater responsibility on the university to develop a campus transportation system.

The need for flexibility is felt to be an overriding consideration--one that dictates that the current plan to extend Indiana Avenue through the campus should not be implemented if campus transportation needs can be met some other way," he said.

NOTABLE QUOTE

"The big business of a college is service...It must have its habitat in the hearts of the people, to give, not to get; to construct, not to destroy; to impart, not to acquire...Its graduates must be lifters up, not leaners on, civilization."

It includes the organization of the University, faculty business and professional relations, faculty privileges and benefits.

All faculty under full time contract with an academic rank of instructor, assistant professor, associate professor or professor belong to the council. President Grover E. Murray is presiding officer of the council which usually has a called meeting each semester.

The Faculty Council's Executive Committee has 21 members, chosen from tenured faculty. Each college and school except the Graduate school elects one member of this committee and others are elected at large. Elections are held in March. Dr. Charles Hardwick, chairman of the Department of Philosophy, is the 1973-74 chairman of the committee which meets the second Wednesday of each month at 3:30 p.m. in the Board of Regents' room. The meeting is open to faculty and students.

The Office of Research Services provides centralized administrative research services, coordinating university policies and procedures with federal, state and private sponsor requirements. It oversees proposal processing for institutional approval and supplies information for announced programs.

The official agency responsible for governing the Graduate School is the Graduate Council, composed of eight full members of and elected by the Graduate Faculty, two members appointed by the Graduate Dean, and such ex-officio members as may from time to time be designated. The council determines policy and establishes standards, criteria, regulations and procedures subject to approval by the President and the Board of Regents. The Graduate Dean is a Complex officer, serving Texas Tech University and the Texas Tech University School of Medicine.

Faculty and staff may not use visitor parking spaces but may use those marked "temporary."

The Texas Tech Federal Credit Union provides savings and borrowing facilities. It is situated in Building X-82, south of the Agricultural Engineering Building.

Questions regarding optional retirement and insurance programs should be directed to the Personnel Office.

Texas Tech University has on campus chapters of the American Association of University Professors and the Texas Association of College Teachers.

"SPECIAL SERVICES" PROGRAM IS FUNDED

Texas Tech University has been awarded a $100,000 grant from the Office of Education to implement and operate a student "Special Services" program to meet the special needs of disadvantaged students to enable them to complete successfully their university education.

The program, said Dr. Robert H. Ewalt, vice president for Student Affairs, proposes to serve all disadvantaged students but emphasis is directed toward the two dominant minorities: Mexican-Americans, who comprise 20 to 25 per cent of the population of Texas, and blacks, who comprise 7 to 9 per cent.

Texas Tech has 231 blacks and 356 Mexican-American students, 1 and 1.5 per cent, respectively, of the total student body. Plans call for the program to begin within the next few weeks.

The "Special Services" program is one of the "trio programs" which also include "Talent Search" and "Upward Bound."

EDITORIAL

What is important? The answer is PEOPLE -- AND THE QUALITY OF LIFE. The basic function of the 31 United Fund agencies in Lubbock is to encourage and improve the quality of life. During this next year, more than 100,000 Lubbock citizens will be counseled, treated, represented in court, rehabilitated, sheltered, fed, guided by youth organizations, encouraged and loved through the services of United Fund agencies. As a result the quality of the lives of that 100,000 and of all in the community will be improved. Along with the industrial development of Lubbock, it is equally important that the lives of its residents be improved and developed. None is more aware of this than are the people of the Texas Tech University Complex community. This year the goal for Texas Tech is a contribution of $36,000 for the United Fund. The financial goal is as reasonable as the quality goal. A better life for everyone!

"It is sometimes claimed that there are two camps -- the teachers and the researchers -- and that an accomplished researcher is not necessarily a good pedagogue. I have a fundamental distrust of the pure teacher. He cannot really know his subject the way a creative researcher does, and he will always be teaching yesterday's ideas." -- Lawrence Klein

TECH EMPLOYMENT OF HANDICAPPED PRAISED

Texas Tech University was presented a Merit Award by the Texas Rehabilitation Commission Monday (Oct. 15) "in recognition of your outstanding contribution to the handicapped and to your state."

The presentation was made by Jack Thurman, regional director of the Texas Rehabilitation Commission, Region 1, to Texas Tech President Grover E. Murray. Participating in the ceremony was Charles B. Strawn, director of personnel at the university.

Thurman said Texas Tech has pioneered in "practicing their employment of the handicapped" and the university is an "equal opportunity employer in the strictest sense."

Texas Tech was the second university in the state to house state rehabilitation agencies on the campus and this has attracted many handicapped students to the university, Thurman said.

Former Gov. Preston Smith, when he was in office, encouraged state agencies to employ the handicapped to set the example for private industry.

FACULTY, STAFF MEETING

A meeting of all faculty and staff will be held at 4:30 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 23, in the ballroom of the University Center.

The office of the President has urged that all members of all departments attend.

NOMINEES ARE SOUGHT FOR PIPER PROFESSORS

Texas Tech University has been invited to nominate three professors for "Piper Professor of 1974." Nominations may be made by administrators and nominees' colleagues and current or former students.

Ten awards will be made in April by the Minnie Stevens Piper Foundation. Each award is accompanied by a certificate of recognition and a cash honorarium of $1,000.

Professors are honored for outstanding academic, scientific and scholarly achievement and for their dedication to the teaching profession.

Deadline for receiving nominations by the Foundation is Dec. 1. The Texas Tech deadline is Nov. 1. Letters of nomination should be addressed to Dr. William Johnson, interim vice president for Academic Affairs.

PUBLIC HEARINGS

President Grover E. Murray reports that he has been advised that the Texas House Appropriations Subcommittee on State Employees Salaries and Fringe Benefits will hold hearings in The Museum of Texas Tech University from 9 a.m. to 12 noon Friday, Oct. 26. Any state employee who wishes to testify is invited to appear before the subcommittee.

SPECIAL EDITION

Editor's Note: This special edition of For your Information is devoted almost wholly to the report on the "state of the university" by President Grover E. Murray, Tuesday, Oct. 23.

ACCOUNTABILITY RESPONSIBILITY COUNSELING

There is continuing pressure building, President Murray told the faculty and staff, for accountability by institutions of higher education.

This requirement for accountability touches all segments of the campus, except the students, he said, and it may even reach that segment because the state is investing approximately $1,600 in support of each student this year, excluding capital equipment and buildings.

"The people of the state are entitled to accountability," he said, "and we are prepared here to give them a very good accounting of our activities."

The President also spoke on the responsibility of faculty and staff as members of the university community and as members of the Lubbock community.

In addition to the recruitment of students, the President asked that special attention be given to counseling and advising on the undergraduate level and also for graduate students, young faculty and new faculty.

HALCOMB RECEIVES WELLS AWARD

Dr. Charles G. Halcomb, professor and director of the graduate program in experimental psychology, has been named to receive the Dads Association's Spencer A. Wells Foundation Faculty Award for 1973.

TTUSM PROGRESS REPORT GIVEN FACULTY, STAFF

Since officially opening its doors to students in 1972, the Texas Tech University School of Medicine has made great developmental strides in every phase of its operation, Dr. Murray told faculty and staff Oct. 23.

"Especially significant progress has been made in the areas of faculty and staff recruitment, facilities development, planning and organization of regional education programs, research activity and curriculum development," he said. Part-time faculty appointed from the area's medical community number 280. Students number 103.

Twenty-six health care institutions in the West Texas region are affiliated with the medical school.

Dr. Murray reported that the regents have approved master's and doctoral degree programs in anatomy, physiology and pharmacology. The microbiology faculty participates in a joint program in microbiology offered through the university's Department of

A DEFINITION

In his opening statement to the faculty and staff Tuesday, Oct. 23, President Murray defined the institution he heads.

"What is a university?

"It is a collection of people, engaged in all sorts of activities, within a collective enterprise -- learning.

"The sole justification for our being here and the substantial support provided us by the state of Texas is the provision of an environment in which interested individuals can pursue knowledge and learn to apply it creatively.

"A university can do only a couple of things for people -- First, provide a systematic approach to knowledge and second, help people learn to utilize the knowledge acquired.

"In the process people of a university perform teaching. They engage in searches for new knowledge available to the public.

"People are the key element of a university and therefore a university is only as good as the people who are a part of it. Quality people make for a quality institution, and conversely.

"This university then must, as all others, strive continually and deliberately to improve the quality of its students, faculty, staff administration -- all of its people.

"This university has made admirable strides in the last decade. But because the world is changing so rapidly and because the competition ever increases, we cannot rest on past laurels but must be ever mindful and in search of new quality -- in people, in programs, in all the varied activities in which we engage.

BUDGET, BUILDING AND PEOPLE INJECT MILLIONS INTO ECONOMY

Everybody's interested in the budget, and the Texas Tech University Complex has a record budget this year of $62.3 million -- up from $51.2 million a year ago and up from $15.4 million a decade ago.

In the past decade the state Legislature has upped Tech's appropriation from $7 million to $43.4 million.

Add to the budget the $67 million building program and the money students bring into the local economy annually and, to these figures, apply the value of the multiplying factor which affects every dollar. The result, according to Dr. Murray, is an economic contribution from the Complex into the immediate area of hundreds of millions of dollars.

The major increases in the budget this year, the President said, went for salaries -- $1.5 million for faculty and $1 million for staff and administration.

"For the first time during my presidency," Dr. Murray said, "we have had to depart from a basic merit increase system as a result of the legislative requirement for across-the-board increases, regardless of merit.

"I shall continue to press for monies," he said, "in amounts sufficient to permit us to differentiate and to reward quality performance."

The President said that the departmental operating budgets this year represented an increase of $700,000 over a year ago.

He said that academic programs face severe restraints. The Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System, is taking a hard look at any types of duplication, Dr. Murray pointed out.

"No matter how difficult the paths to get the programs approved," he said, "we must move ahead on new programs -- in depth and in breadth -- if we are to become the fine university we can be."

TECH TRAFFIC PROBLEMS REVIEWED BY PRESIDENT

Because of all that has been said and written in regard to Texas Tech related traffic, the President reviewed for faculty and Staff Oct. 23 several pertinent facts:

Tech's original tract of land, offered by the city in competition to gain the location of the school, was 2,008 acres, 165.6 of which have been re-deeded for various uses, mostly roads and streets.

In the early 1950's when there was no long-range anticipation of Tech development, approximately 100 acres was deeded to the Texas Highway Department for the Tech Freeway. This cannot be controlled by the regents and no adequate underpasses or overpasses are provided. This funnels traffic through the campus, not into it, with severe traffic problems at its intersections with city streets.

The initial concept of the Indiana extension was for a submerged road with overpasses at ground level and no interchanges with the Freeway. Each subsequent proposal made for this extension would have created a second traffic artery through the campus and would have required additional deeding of land.

"It is clearly apparent the university complex will continue to grow," Dr. Murray said, citing particularly the expected growth of the medical school and related facilities.

Approximately 50 per cent of the medical school programs, excluding programs in medicine and dentistry, will use existing Texas Tech University courses, personnel and facilities, he said.

"There will be a daily interchange of thousands of students, faculty and staff."

He said the regents carefully reviewed the situation and concluded that a six-lane road with interchanges was detrimental to Texas Tech's welfare and restrictive of future growth.

The regents have directed the administration to conduct a careful study of internal traffic needs and of ways to maintain campus unity, he said. In addition the board asked that there be a review of traffic problems around the campus, including the problems of access, and requested the administration to work with the city in regard to solving these problems, including that of access to the campus.

ACADEMICS HAVE CONSTRUCTION PRIORITY

In discussing Texas Tech's $67 million building program, President Murray emphasized for faculty and staff that academic facilities have top priority, and he told his audience that their help might be required as Texas' new constitution reaches final formulation stages.

Texas Tech has committed all monies immediately available for building, he said.

Buildings or facilities in final planning stages or under construction, Dr. Murray said, represent a total of $67 million, most of which is injected into the Lubbock economy.

"Building costs are escalating rapidly," the President reminded his listeners, "and we are experiencing difficulties in keeping within estimates made two or three years ago -- even a year ago."

The President said it was important to recall, however, that the sole basis for Tech's existence is the provision of an educational program for students. Adequate instructional facilities are necessary for these programs, he said.

"Therefore, in the allocation of construction funds, no matter what their source, academic facilities must receive priority over all else," he said.

The Constitutional Commission now engaged in writing a proposed new constitution is recommending, Murray said, that all institutions not in the University of Texas or Texas A&M systems share in an ad valorem tax of 20 cents per $100 evaluation, as a minimum.

"Each of you may need to help," he said, "to insure the inclusion of the ad valorem tax statute in the new constitution."

BECAUSE OF YOU IT'S WORKING!

Texas Tech's United Fund campaign contributions totalled $30,875.78 Monday, Oct. 29. Campaign Chairman Monty E. Davenport called for an all out effort to put Tech over the goal of $36,000. Contributions--which serve the community of Lubbock through 31 agencies--should be turned in as they are received to Mrs. Betty Massey, 163 Administration Building.

ACADEMIC QUALITY DEPENDENT UPON FACULTY EXCELLENCE

The most essential element in the quality of the academic programs of an institution is the faculty, in the view of President Murray.

Quality faculty will draw quality students, he said, in emphasizing the necessity for striving continually for new and additional quality, in performance and in the recruiting of new faculty.

Dr. Murray described Texas Tech as a good institution with good programs, with good faculty doing good teaching, and with good research.

"There are some spots of real excellence developing," he said, "but we cannot stand on our laurels."

"I think too often we are inclined to underestimate what we have here," he said.

For instance, he said, in funding for research proposals Texas Tech has had a record in the past year of about one funding for each proposal declined with an equivalent number still pending. Tech has a 50-50 record while most institutions are exhibiting a 4-1 adverse ratio, he said.

Dr. Murray summarized his views on tenure.

"The university needs to avoid a loss in flexibility by too high a percentage of tenured faculty," he said. "We are now at the danger level. We need to stay in the 60 to 70 per cent tenured bracket in order to have flexibility."

Because of the importance of tenure, he said, he has asked for careful reviews of recommendations for tenure.

A BLESSING

The Texas Tech University Complex is blessed with an outstanding Board of Regents, Dr. Murray told faculty and staff, and he described the regents as "thoughtful, considerate, generous of their time, and interested deeply in the welfare of the institution."

The members of the board, said Dr. Murray are anxious and desirous for this institution to be first class and to progress as rapidly as it can.

"I thought you ought to know this," the President said, "particularly in view of the fact that the Board is often thought of as being removed from the University and its problems."

RECRUITMENT

The campus population was reviewed for Faculty and staff in the President's address, and Dr. Murray asked especially for faculty assistance in the recruitment of good students.

He predicted growth particularly in continuing education and said that the institutions of the complex must do whatever is possible to assist in the recruitment of women and minority students.

FACULTY COUNCIL MEET SCHEDULED NOV. 27

The Fall Faculty Council meeting will be held at 3 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 27, in the Ballroom of the University Center. Items for the agenda must be sent to Charles Hardwick, Faculty Council (or phone 742-6292) by Nov. 17.

SAVINGS BONDS MAKE SOUND INVESTMENT

"U.S. Savings Bonds provide an opportunity for personal benefit as well as a means for helping your country at the same time," said Clyde J. Morganti, chairman of the Texas Tech Savings Bond Committee.

"And during this month of November--designated as the period for this year's Savings Bonds campaign--this is the perfect time to start a systematic savings program, he said. Series E bonds earn 5½% interest when held to maturity of five years, 10 months.

Bonds are a systematic way of saving money. They offer income tax advantages, can be bought conveniently by payroll deduction and are particularly suited to educational or retirement programs.

Members of a committee appointed to coordinate the campaign on campus this year are, in addition to Morganti, Paula Daniels, Arts and Sciences; Judy Harley, Agricultural Sciences; Marym Robinson, Education; Sue Lewis, Business Administration; Ilse Wolf, Home Economics; Joy Condrey, Engineering; Sharon Nelson, Graduate School; Sandy McDonald, Law; Doris Vaughn, Medical School; Gene Lake, Administrative Services and Bill Haynes, Residence Hall Operations.

OSHA PICKS RAMSEY

Dr. Jerry D. Ramsey, associate professor of industrial engineering at Texas Tech, has been named chairman of the Occupational Safety and Health Administration's (OSHA) Standards Advisory Committee on Heat Stress. He succeeds the late Dr. Harwood S. Belding, who formerly headed the 15-member committee.

PARTICIPATION URGED IN UNIVERSITY INSURANCE

Even though Texas Tech University now pays $12.50 per month toward the cost of each employee's group insurance coverage, some employees still have not signed up for participation, according to the Personnel Office.

"This contribution makes it possible for employees to have at least some group insurance coverage without personal expense and the Personnel Office is urging all eligible employees to take advantage of these benefits," said C.B. Strawn, Director of Personnel.

Part-time employees participating in the Teacher Retirement Program are eligible to receive the pro rata amount of the $12.50 contribution toward group insurance coverage premiums.

Eligible employees who do not want to participate in any of Texas Tech's group insurance programs have been asked to complete declination cards and return them to the Personnel Office. Those who have questions about the various programs are invited to visit with insurance company representatives who will be available for interviews and counseling in the Personnel Office, Room 42, Administration Building, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Nov. 7 through Nov. 9.

TEACHER RETIREMENT OFFICIAL TO BE HERE

Frank Jackson, executive secretary of the Teacher Retirement System of Texas, and members of his staff will visit the Texas Tech campus the week of Nov. 12-16 to meet with faculty and staff members who will be retiring soon.

Prof. Haskell G. Taylor, chairman, Committee for Retired Faculty and Staff, announced he has received a supply of forms entitled "Request for Estimate of Retirement Benefits."

He emphasized that it is not an official application for retirement. He suggested that persons nearing retirement age prepare one of the forms and talk to representatives from the Austin office.

The completed forms will enable the retirement office to make a more accurate estimate of individual retirement benefits.

THANKSGIVING HOLIDAY

The Thanksgiving holiday for students, faculty and staff of Texas Tech begins at noon Wednesday, Nov. 21, with that afternoon, Thursday and Friday official holidays.

Classes and all other regular activities of the university will resume Monday morning, Nov. 26.

BANKING SCHOOL PLANS PREPARED AT TECH

More than 50 West Texas bank presidents and executives spent Nov. 13 at Texas Tech laying plans for the university's first Intermediate School of Banking to be conducted in May 1974.

Glen P. Ward, president of the Oklahoma Bankers Association, attended the day-long meeting to discuss and describe a similar program he created and implemented in Oklahoma.

The school, to be conducted by the College of Business Administration, will be open to bank employees who can benefit by additional banking education. It is designed to serve the needs of West Texas bankers and to assure continued progress of the banking tradition, said Jack Steele, dean of Business Administration.

The school will be limited to 100 participants and is expected to become an annual activity at the university, said Steele.

LIBRARY RECEIVES CANADIAN COLLECTION

Texas Tech is one of seven Texas universities to receive a collection of books from the Canadian Consul.

The 200-book collection is primarily in French and set in the North American Context. The books were presented to the Library for the university by Richard G. Seaborn, Canadian Embassy, Washington, D.C., and Marc C. Lemieux, consul and trade commissioner, Canadian Consulate, Dallas, who visited the campus Nov. 13.

The collection will be of value to students interested in Canada, contemporary North American literature, and contemporary French, said Ray C. Janeway, dean of Library Services.

STUDENTS HONOR FACULTY MEMBERS

Faculty Recognition Week (Nov. 12-16) brought honors to five Texas Tech Educators recognized by the students for contributions to the teaching profession and performance in the classroom.

Honored were: Kent Hance, lecturer in business law; Harmon Morgan, assistant professor of mass communications; Dr. Paul J. Woods, professor of history; Dr. Sujit Roy, associate professor of agricultural economics; and Dr. Panze Kimmel, associate professor of secondary education.

Each was honored on a separate day and the group was honored at a reception Nov. 16. Faculty Recognition week is sponsored annually by Mortar Board. Nominations for recognition week honors are made by students in each of the colleges of the university.

REGENTS MEET NOV. 30

The Boards of Regents of Texas Tech University and the Texas Tech University School of Medicine will meet in regular session Friday, Nov. 30.

The meeting will begin at 8:30 a.m.

BERTRAND TAKES OVER PRESIDENCY OF SSSA

Dean Anson R. Bertrand of Texas Tech's College of Agricultural Sciences assumed the presidency of the Soil Science Society of America (SSSA) at its recent meeting in Las Vegas, Nev.

Dr. Harold E. Dregne, chairman of the Department of Agronomy at Texas Tech, delivered one of the two major addresses at the convention of the American Society of Agronomy (ASA) which was held in conjunction with the meeting of the SSSA. His subject was "Arid Lands: Characteristics and Productivity."

Texas Tech's B.L. Allen is the new chairman of the ASA's Student Activities Division and Dr. Eugene Coleman, also of Texas Tech, is the new chairman of the Agronomic Education Division of the ASA.

VISITING UNIVERSITY PROFESSOR NOMINATIONS INVITED BY MURRAY

Texas Tech President Grover E. Murray has invited faculty, administrators and students to make annual nominations for the position of Visiting University Professor.

The position is a new one and related to the position of University Professor, a faculty designation reserved for individuals whose breadth of training and experience exceeds that usually identified with a single discipline.

The individual must have achieved a level of distinction comparable to a chaired position. Duties of the position are designed to cut across a broad segment of the university's activities.

"I think that substantial benefits will accrue to this university by the appointment each year of a Visiting University Professor," Dr. Murray said. "Such a program would provide both students and faculty a continuing exposure to men and women who are contributing substantial new insights to the best thought of our time."

Dr. Louis Levin has been named chairman of a committee to receive the nominations. Nominations with supporting information should be addressed to his office in Holden Hall on campus.

The committee will select two candidates from the nominations. These nominations will be forwarded through the Office of the Vice President for Academic Affairs to the President, along with the vice president's comments and comments from the dean of the Graduate School and the dean of the college in which the candidate would normally hold an appointment.

PHYSICS DEPARTMENT BRINGS NOTED SPEAKER

Prof. Walter H. Brattain, a Nobel Laureate and visiting Professor of Physics at Whitman College, Walla Walla, Wash., since 1967, will address the Texas Tech Society of Physics Students at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 27, in Room 57 of the Science Building.

His subject will be "Power Resources and Population," and the lecture is open to the public. He will be on campus Nov. 26 through Nov. 29 to deliver a series of lectures and consult with faculty and students.

Other topics to be discussed by Prof. Brattain are: "Teaching Science to Non-Science Majors" at 3:30 p.m. Nov. 26; "Phospholipid Bi-layers and Their Electrical Properties" at 3:30 p.m. Nov. 28; and "The Genesis of the Transistor" at 3 p.m. Nov. 29, all in room 60, Science Building.

Prof. Brattain shared the Nobel Prize in Physics for 1956 with John Bardeen and William Shockley for their investigations of semi-conductors and the discovery of the transistor effect.

FIVE NOMINATED FOR DORMITORY AWARDS

Five Texas Tech employees have been nominated for the first annual Residence Halls Distinguished Employee Award and for the university's entry in a 50-college regional competition.

Nominated for the Tech award were Mrs. Johnnie Letheridge of the Consolidated Cafeteria staff, representing Food Service cooks; Francisco Rodriquez, Central Food Facilities, representing other Food Service workers; Tom Morris, supervisor, representing maintenance workers; Mrs. Artie Thomason, housekeeper, Carpenter-Wells Halls, custodial; and Mrs. Polly McWilliams, secretary, Stangel-Murdough office, clerical.

A residence halls luncheon Friday will be highlighted by recognition of the winner in the campus competition. Four of the five nominees will receive a department award. The fifth will receive the Texas Tech award and represent the university in competition with nominees from Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana and Arkansas at the annual meeting of the Southwest Association of Colleges and Universities in February in Austin.

INVITATIONS SHOULD GO TO REGENTS EARLY

President Grover E. Murray has reminded faculty and staff that invitations to members of the Board of Regents and others whose presence is requested at campus functions should be mailed early enough to give them time to respond and make plans to attend.

Dr. Murray said it has been brought to his attention that on occasions the invitations had not been mailed early enough.

HOUSE-SITTERS

Several international students are available to house-sit during the Christmas holidays, according to the Office of International Programs.

Since dormitories are closed, these students need temporary quarters. Persons needing someone to house-sit during their absence are invited to call the Office of International Programs, 742-3391.

CLARIFICATION

An addition to the Agricultural Sciences Building at Texas Tech, approved by the Board of Regents at its last meeting, will complete the second floor of the building, giving more space for the Department of Food Technology. This addition has been, in some cases, misinterpreted as an addition to serve a projected Institute of Food Science. This is not the case. The new space will provide, among other things, offices and teaching and research laboratories for the Department of Food Technology.

ACARALOGIST

Dr. John George of Texas Tech's faculty in biological sciences has been elected to the governing board of the Acaralogical Society of America. His term of office is six years.

COOLING IT IS OUT AT SOME TECH BUILDINGS

The chilled water system of the Central Heating and Cooling Plant will be shut down from 5 p.m. Friday, Dec. 21, 1973, until 5 p.m. Monday, Jan. 7, 1974.

Changes will be made in the piping systems in order for the expansion of the Central Plant to proceed without interrupting scheduled classes.

The shut down will have no effect on electrical refrigeration units which are necessary to preserve foods, laboratory materials and other materials which would be damaged by an interruption.

During this period the following buildings will not have mechanical cooling:

Central Heating and Cooling Plant offices, Central Food, Textile Research facilities, Biology, Business Administration, Architecture-Art, Law, Foreign Language-Math, Meats Lab, Psychology (including addition), Industrial Engineering, Civil Engineering addition and Civil and Mechanical Engineering, Chemistry (new), English, Veterinary Sciences, Social Science, Science, Agriculture Plant Science;

Music, Mass Communications, Library, Holden Hall, University Center, University Theater-Speech and Hearing Clinic, Physical Plant, Tech Press, Agricultural Engineering (auditorium), Chemical Engineering, Engineering Complex, Electrical Engineering, Pavilion, Thompson Hall, Gaston Hall (TTUSM), Student Health Center (Infirmary), Drane Hall, Wiggins Complex, Athletic Dining, Hulén and Clement Hall, Wall and Gates Hall and Gaston Apartments.

The billfold-size brochures are designed for informational purposes and may be picked up at no charge from the Office of Information Services.

Faculty, staff and students are invited to use them generously in telling the story of the institution to all interested persons.

CUSTODIAL STAFF LEADS TECH'S CAR-POOLING

By systematic car-pooling, as encouraged by the Texas Tech University administration through its energy conservation program, 22 of the 70 cars used to bring the 130 members of the custodial staff to work daily are carrying two or more people.

This is the first organized effort to reduce gasoline consumption through car-pooling brought to the attention of the FYI editors.

NEW A&S NUMBER

The College of Arts and Sciences Dean's office has a new telephone number for the Faculty Division, 742-5132. The office retains its other telephone numbers as listed in the 1973-74 campus telephone directory.

SUGGESTIONS INVITED FOR SPEAKERS AND ARTISTS

The Committee on University Artists and Speakers invites students and faculty of the TTU Complex to suggest speakers, artists and subjects for consideration for the 1974-75 season.

Individuals and subject matter suggested for the University Speakers Series should be of high intellectual quality and interest and should have a broad appeal to the general campus community, the committee said.

Events suggested for the Artists Series may be music, theatre, dance or other artistic performances representative of both the past and present and should feature performers who enjoy national and international reputations for their artistic accomplishments.

It is also highly desirable that individuals or groups brought to the campus should afford the possibility and capability of interacting with students and faculty in one or another field of academic interest, it said.

Suggestions should be submitted in writing to the Committee on University Artists and Speakers, care of Cultural Affairs Office, University Center.

"It will be most helpful if suggestions are accompanied by short statements describing the particular group, individual or subject and stating the reasons why it is thought that particular event is of special interest to the TTU community," the committee spokesman said.

It will be most helpful if suggestions are received before March 1, 1974, he said.

ENTRIES ACCEPTED FOR SPRING INTRAMURALS

Entries are being accepted for participation in intramural basketball for all interested faculty, staff and graduate personnel of the Texas Tech University community, according to James Teague, interim associate director for the Intramural Program for Men.

Entry blanks may be obtained at the Intramural Office or they will be forwarded to departments upon telephone request, 742-3113.

Teague said all entries must comply with "league regulations" and must be filed with the intramural secretary before 6 p.m., Jan. 31.

The organizational meeting for basketball leagues will be held Friday, Feb. 1, at 6 p.m. in Room 207, Men's Gym. Each team must have a representative at the meeting.

Entries are also being accepted in individual sports, including handball, paddleball, and tennis. Deadline for entering individual sports is Friday, Feb. 1, 6 p.m. Competition will begin Monday, Feb. 11.

NEW LIBRARY SERVICES ARE MADE AVAILABLE

The Texas Tech Library's Interlibrary Loan Service now can make arrangements for Texas Tech faculty and graduate students to use materials from the Center for Research Libraries in Chicago through the University of New Mexico Zimmerman Library at Albuquerque.

The Zimmerman Library has joined the Center for Research Libraries which houses one of the largest research collections in the U. S.

Though Tech is not a member of the Center, this university's Interlibrary Loan Service can now forward requests to the Zimmerman Library, which in turn will borrow material from the center in Chicago.

The center's policy does not allow this material to be forwarded to Texas Tech or to any other non-member. Tech faculty and graduate students will be allowed to go to Albuquerque to use the material at the University of New Mexico.

REFERENCE CONSULTATION SERVICE RECOMMENDED

The staff of the Texas Tech Library has requested faculty members in charge of graduate work to recommend to their students greater use of the Reference Consultation Service.

The service which was instituted in April 1973 for graduate students has been "well received on the whole," a Library spokesman said. However, there is a greater percentage of doctoral candidates availing themselves of the service than those pursuing master's degrees.

The Library has a supply of brochures which detail the procedures and services offered.

NEW RED RAIDER TAKES AIM ON COTTON BOWL

Anne Lynch, senior animal business major from a ranch near Dell City, has been named the Red Raider for the 1974 football season.

A superb horsewoman from West Texas ranch country, she has announced plans which she and the football coaching staff hope will culminate in the Cotton Bowl Jan. 1, 1975.

Dr. Dale Zinn, chairman of the Animal Science Department, who is responsible for selecting the Red Raider each year, said Anne was chosen by the same criteria upon which selections have always been made.

"The two critical factors are scholarship, with a minimum of a 2.0 grade point average, and horsemanship. Other important qualifications," he said, "include reliability, honesty, integrity and other characteristics on which we place a high priority at Texas Tech."

Miss Lynch is taking her assignment seriously. "I want to take care of Happy Five, feed him, exercise him, groom him and work with him until we become a team."

VALENTINE PARTY

The Hospitality Committee of the University Center will sponsor a Valentine party for children, 6 to 11 years old, of faculty and staff of the university, from 9 to 12 a.m. Friday, Feb. 8.

The party will be in the Coronado Room of the University Center. There is no charge. Faculty and staff parents who plan to have their children attend are asked to notify the committee at the University Center, telephone 742-4151.

REGENTS MEET FEB. 1

The Boards of Regents for Texas Tech University and the Texas Tech University School of Medicine will meet Friday, Feb. 1.

The board will meet first to transact business for the university, then will sit as the governing body for the School of Medicine.

PAYROLL WILL DEPOSIT CHECKS FOR EMPLOYEES

Employees of Texas Tech University are encouraged to authorize the Payroll Department to deposit their payroll checks directly into their bank accounts.

"All the employee needs to do is to come by the Payroll Office and fill out an authorization form," said Max C. Tomlinson, director of Accounting and Finance. "The paychecks are delivered by hand to local banks at the end of the business day on the last day of the month and thus are available for processing early on the first day of the month. Checks designated for out-of-town banks are mailed to those banks on the last day of the month."

Earning statements and other information ordinarily attached to the check are sent to the bank which, in turn, mails this information to the individual, along with the deposit slip.

"This is a convenient way of getting employees' checks to their banks, eliminating a special trip to the bank by employees, and it also saves time for Payroll in sorting and handling the checks," Tomlinson said.

IT'S TIME TO CHECK YOUR WITHHOLDINGS

"It's time," said J. William Herron Jr., head of the Payroll Department, "for Texas Tech University employees to make adjustments on their withholding exemption certificates if there have been changes in their income tax withholding status during recent months."

"If there have been changes, or changes are contemplated, this early part of the new year is the time to review employee W-4 forms," he said. This may be accomplished at the Payroll Department, Room 42, Basement, Administration Building.

PUBLIC POLICY RESEARCH CENTER IS ESTABLISHED

A Center for Public Policy Research has been established in the library of the Department of Political Science, Room 214, Social Science Building.

It was established by the department in cooperation with the American Enterprise Institute (AEI) of Washington. The center will provide access to Institute materials such as studies, analyses, reports, symposia, proceedings and other research projects.

POLLING PLACES

Associate Vice President Monty Davenport has been named to coordinate all arrangements for the selection of polling places on the Texas Tech campus. These polling places are for students in residence halls registered to vote in city, county, state and federal elections. Questions or problems should be directed to him in the Office of the Executive Vice President, 2-6114.

UNIVERSITY CENTER

The University Center has announced that admittance to films shown at the center will be granted all Tech students, part and full time; all Tech faculty and staff, part and full time; all retired Tech faculty and staff members; and one guest per student, faculty or staff with identification card.

No smoking, food, nor drinks are permitted during the showing of films and ID's must be shown at the door. The admission price is the same for all admitted.

Any guest attending a film judged by the Films Committee to be rated PG or R may be required to show proof of age. The age limit is 17. Minors must be accompanied by parent, guardian or spouse. No person under 18 will be admitted to a film judged to be rated X.

ASSOCIATE EDITOR

Dr. Pill-Soon Song of the Department of Chemistry has been appointed to a second term, ending in 1977, as associate editor of "Photochemistry and Photobiology," international journal of the American Society for Photobiology.

TECH'S ACCREDITATION IS RE-AFFIRMED

The Southern Association of Colleges and Schools, at its annual meeting in December 1973, re-affirmed the accreditation of Texas Tech University, following completion of a recent self-study.

An essential part of the re-affirmation of accreditation process is the submission of a follow-up report to the Southern Association by September 1, 1974, indicating actions taken to implement the Visiting Committee's recommendations.

CONSELMAN NAMED TO API DIVISION

Dr. Frank Conselman, director of the International Center for Arid and Semi-Arid Land Studies, has been appointed a member of the Division of Exploration Affairs of the American Petroleum Institute. The division includes academic representatives of educational institutions with an interest in exploration. Conselman, who is president of the American Institute of Professional Geologists, will serve 1974-76.

REGENTS EXPRESS SPECIAL INTEREST IN CONTINUING EDUCATION

The Texas Tech Board of Regents Friday, Feb. 1, approved fees for three short courses and urged the Administration to develop for Board approval a comprehensive "life skills improvement program" for those "not in the active student age area."

The continuing education short courses approved were Clinical Applications for Medical Electronics for physicians, an Intermediate School of Banking and an Intermediate School of Savings and Loan Associations. The last two will be offered through the College of Business Administration. The physicians' course is a joint offering of the School of Medicine and the university's Department of Electrical Engineering.

In other action, the Board:

- * Changed the name of the Department of Park Administration, Horticulture and Entomology to the Department of Park Administration, Landscape Architecture and Horticulture to reflect more accurately the activities of the department; (The board was advised that departmental status for entomology will be recommended in the near future.)

- * Awarded a four-year contract to Group Life and Health Insurance Company (a Blue Cross affiliate) as the carrier of the Voluntary Group Term Life Insurance and Accidental Death and Dismemberment Insurance coverage for employees and dependents;

- * Empowered the Campus and Building Committee to award the contract for the construction of the Mass Communications Building when bids are received in mid-February provided bids are within the budget;

- * Awarded to Rowan and Wallace Electric of Lubbock a contract for lighting for Field Sports in the Recreational Facilities Area, on a bid of $87,149;

- * Took no action but reviewed planning progress on the Social Sciences Building;

- * Declined to take any action in regard to accepting bids for new seating for the recently renovated track or for construction of range and wildlife management departmental facilities because all bids were over project budgets;

- * Received a brief report from Bernard Johnson, Inc., representatives of Houston, a firm that has been chosen to make a traffic study and submit recommendations which will best serve the interests of Texas Tech University, the City of Lubbock and the Texas Highway Department;

- * Indicated its wish that exit interviews be conducted with any faculty leaving the Texas Tech University Complex;

- * Voted against a motion to change the University Student Code to legalize, on a trial basis, the consumption of alcoholic beverages in student rooms in residence halls;

CHARTER DAY OBSERVANCE WILL HONOR ACHIEVEMENT

Texas Tech University will celebrate its 51st Charter Day Feb. 11 with public ceremonies honoring outstanding teachers and students. The event will begin at 4:30 p.m. Monday in The Museum of Texas Tech University.

Distinguished Teaching Awards will be made. Also honored will be undergraduate students with GPAs of 4.0 for 92 or more hours earned at Texas Tech.

Visiting University Prof. Max H. Fisch will speak briefly. Others participating in the program will be Board of Regents Chairman Bill E. Collins, President Grover E. Murray, University Prof. S. M. Kennedy and Dr. William R. Johnson, interim vice president for Academic Affairs.

Texas Tech began the observance of its 50th anniversary with Charter Day ceremonies in 1973. Dr. Murray said it has been decided to continue the Charter Day observance on an annual basis.

The public is invited to attend.

- * Approved a second issue of bonds, contemplated for February 1975, pledging tax proceeds through Sept. 1, 1978, as collateral -- this made possible by a revised estimate from the state comptroller indicating additional revenue from ad valorem tax revenues for the period, 1972-1978;

- * Passed resolutions of thanks to the city of Jacksonville, Fla., and of congratulations to all associated with Texas Tech University for enhancing the image of and bringing credit to the university on the occasion of the Gator Bowl game last Dec. 29.

The Board asked President Murray to name a committee to study anticipated enrollment figures, building programs, degree programs -- including deletions as well as additions, outreach expansion and other factors which would affect the university complex over the next 10 years. (The study was suggested as appropriate to the 50th Anniversary and would supplement and complement the decennial self-study.) Committee names are to be submitted for Board approval.

The Board also received several reports, hearing from:

Vice President for Public Affairs Bill J. Parsley who urged support for the retention of an amended Section 10 of Article 7 in the proposed new state constitution, providing ad valorem tax support for institutions of higher learning other than the University of Texas System and the A&M University System;

Vice President for Development Clyde E. Kelsey Jr. who reported an increase over last year in funds donated to or channeled through the Texas Tech University Foundation;

Vice President for Financial Affairs Leo Ells who noted the "devastating effect" of inflation on both purchases and procedures at Texas Tech.

FULBRIGHT SCHOLAR

DeMaret Cocke, Dallas senior majoring in French, has been named a Fulbright-Hays scholar for the next year. She will teach English conversation classes covering literature and civilization in a French high school while pursuing her studies at a French university to be designated later.

With a 3.84 grade point average, she will graduate in May with a Bachelor of Arts degree and a teaching certificate in French and English.

DIRECT DEPOSIT OF PAYROLL CHECKS URGED

"All employees of Texas Tech University are strongly encouraged to authorize the Payroll Department to deposit their payroll checks into their bank accounts," said Leo Ells, vice president of Financial Affairs. "All the employee needs to do is to come by the Payroll Office and fill out an authorization form.

"Experience has shown that this method of distributing payroll checks is the safest and most efficient method available," he said. "This method eliminates separate handling and processing steps which must now be done by hand before an employee can either pick up his payroll check in person or receive it through his department. This manual handling is very time consuming.

"In addition to the saving of time, the depositing of payroll checks to a bank account also provides a service to our employees by reducing or eliminating trips to the bank by each employee, thereby conserving energy as well as time. The checks are deposited to the individual's account sooner than if he makes the deposit himself," Ells stated.

RESIDENCE HALLS NAME DISTINGUISHED EMPLOYEE

As a result of the designation Morris will be entered in regional competition at Austin conducted by the Southwest Association of College and University Housing Officials.

TTUSM TO GRADUATE 24 STUDENTS MARCH 31

Dean William W. Frye of the Texas Tech University School of Medicine told the TTUSM Board of Regents at its regular meeting Friday, Feb. 1, that March 30 will mark the school's first Honors Day and March 31 is the date for the school's first commencement exercises.

Twenty-four students will receive the first doctor of medicine degrees from the School of Medicine in ceremonies beginning at 7:00 p.m. in the University Center Ballroom March 31.

Dr. Frye reported that, as of Friday, 21 students have been accepted from more than 1,600 applicants seeking the 36 places which will be open in the school during the next academic year. Of these approximately 1,000 applicants were Texans. While the Liaison Committee on Medical Education, of the American Medical Association and the Association of American Medical Colleges, has recommended four more places for the school next year, this has not yet had final approval.

The Board approved a holiday schedule for the Teaching Clinic which will allow it to be closed on Memorial Day, May 27, and Independence Day, July 4.

Approved also was a schedule for the billing of indigent patients.

The Board was advised that construction of the medical school is on schedule.

TTUSM ORGANIZATION

Dr. Richard A. Lockwood has been named vice president for the Health Sciences Centers and chairman of the newly organized Health Sciences Council of the Texas Tech University School of Medicine.

University Professor John A. Buesseler, M. D., will continue as an officer of the Texas Tech University Complex as vice president for Health Affairs.

Dean William W. Frye, also a University Professor, will continue as dean of the medical school, its chief administrative officer and academic head.

MURRAY CALLS FOR LEADERSHIP IN REFORM IN WAYS OF TEACHING AND LEARNING IN TALK TO NEWSMEN

President Grover E. Murray told Texas Tech's first Media Day audience Friday, Feb. 15, that in the future the university complex can play a major role in America by not imitating other institutions but by being a leader and bringing about reform in the ways of teaching and learning.

"Universities are too rigidly structured to insure the optimal training of students to resolve today's and tomorrow's problems," he said.

"The entire curriculum is too structured. The programs are too structured, and I don't think enough counseling and guidance are involved," he said.

Media Day brought approximately 40 individuals representing the press, television and radio to the campus to tour its facilities -- including the Textile Research Center and the Ranch Headquarters, to attend a news conference of administrators of the School of Medicine, and to gain understanding and material for future dissemination to the public.

Dr. Murray addressed the group at a luncheon for the visitors and administrators.

"I think faculties have let themselves get behind, have not kept up with either their disciplines or reality," he said. "Faculties tend to imitate the way in which other institutions behave."

The President also said that he does not think that higher education has trained enough people well enough that they can solve the problems of today.

"Too many have gone through the pipeline and have come out uneducated, uninspired and unaware," he said.

He emphasized that he did not mean to imply that higher education in this nation has been a failure.

"I do intend to imply that I think it could have done a better job," he said, "and in the future it should do a better job than it has in the past."

"This has some serious consequences," Dr. Murray said. "This means we will probably have to have more faculty if we are going to deal with people more on an individual basis. We will need more financial resources in order to be able to provide the individual the attention and career guidance which seem so important in the total process of education."

The President said that institutions need to be restructured to permit them to train people to be more responsive to today's and tomorrow's problems.

Any institution worth its salt, Dr. Murray said, must have certain basic programs, and Texas Tech will continue to place emphasis on the maintenance and improvement of the core departments and disciplines and those which are supportive of the development of quality programs.

The sorts of programs which Dr. Murray said he considered innovative, creative and contributing to the solution of society's problems include two new ones at Texas Tech University -- the unique program offering the master's degree in Museum Science and the new doctoral program in Land Use Management, Planning and Design. He also cited The Medical School's emphasis on the training of family physicians.

"Education faces a tremendous opportunity," he said, "to train people to diagnose and solve problems and resources of future decades."

DISTINGUISHED TEACHING AWARDS PRESENTED TO ROBERT ALBIN, OTTO NELSON AND SUJIT ROY

Distinguished Teaching Awards for the academic year 1972-73 have been presented to Dr. Robert C. Albin, assistant professor of animal science; Dr. Otto M. Nelson, associate professor of history; and Dr. Sujit K. Roy, associate professor of agricultural economics.

The presentations were made by Texas Tech President Grover E. Murray at Charter Day ceremonies in The Museum Monday, Feb. 11. The program commemorated the 51st anniversary of the signing of the legislation creating the institution Feb. 10, 1923.

CONSERVATION OF PAPER PRODUCTS RECOMMENDED

All departments at Texas Tech are asked to make every effort possible to conserve paper and to effect maximum utilization of all paper products, according to the Office of Contracting and Purchasing.

State agencies appear to be faced with a short supply of paper products. The State Board of Control upon opening bids for annual paper supplies contract found that a substantial price increase was quoted on most supplies with some areas of the State receiving no bids. Texas Tech did not receive bids on two classes of its paper needs.

The suppliers advised that they were on an allotment basis from the mills and must, in turn, allocate to the State a portion of its total requirement.

CREDIT UNION MEETING

The Texas Tech University Federal Credit Union will conduct its 15th annual shareholders' meeting at 7:30 p.m. Monday, Feb. 25, in the Coronado Room of the University Center.

The annual report will be presented, new officers will be elected, and entertainment and refreshments provided.

The Distinguished Teaching Awards carry a $1,000 grant from Amoco Foundation, Inc., formerly the Standard Oil (Indiana) Foundation, Inc.

Albin has been a member of the Texas Tech faculty since 1964, Nelson since 1965, and Roy since 1968.

TRAVEL LECTURES ARE SCHEDULED BY ICASALS

ICASALS "Faraway Places" travel lecturers this year will be Drs. S.M. Kennedy, University Professor; Anson R. Bertrand, dean of the College of Agricultural Sciences; Harley Oberhelman, professor and chairman, Latin American Area Studies; and James Underwood of the faculty of West Texas State University, Canyon.

Dr. Kennedy will speak at 4 p.m. March 7 on Togo and the Sahara; Dr. Bertrand on India at 4 p.m. March 14; Dr. Oberhelman on Finland at 4 p.m. March 21 and Dr. Underwood on Malta at 4 p.m. April 4. The lectures will be delivered in the Assembly Room on the ground floor of The Museum of Texas Tech University.

MASS COMMUNICATIONS WEEK IS OBSERVED

The second annual Thomas Jefferson Award will be presented to Gov. Edwin W. Edwards of Louisiana Friday night to highlight the Mass Communications Week at Texas Tech.

At the Journalism Day luncheon Wallace E. Garets of Green Lake, N.Y., former chairman of the Journalism Department at Texas Tech, will be inducted into the university's Mass Communications Hall of Fame.

COLLEGE WORK STUDY FUNDS ARE AVAILABLE

Additional funds for the Federal College Work Study program at Texas Tech have been received and all employers of students on campus are encouraged to take advantage of the program, according to Dudley S. Akins, interim director of the Student Financial Aids Office.

Departments and offices employing College Work Study students are required to pay only 20 per cent of the wages earned by students. The Federal government pays the remainder.

Akins also said that some students already employed may be eligible for the programs. Employers are urged to have those students report to the Student Financial Aids Office in West Hall so that it may be determined if they are eligible. If working students qualify for the program, they should be placed under it, saving the employers 80 per cent of the wages.

ANNUITY ENROLLMENT PERIOD ANNOUNCED

The month of March has been designated as a period for open enrollment by Texas Tech employees in tax sheltered annuities, according to the Personnel Office.

Recently, employees have expressed increased interest in tax sheltered annuities, hence the designation of the additional open enrollment period. Open enrollment periods have been in September only in the past.

Annuities purchased in March will become effective April 1, 1974, said C. B. Strawn, director of Personnel.

A number of faculty and staff have found the tax sheltered annuity program to be advantageous since it enables them to channel a part of their present salary into an annuity without paying current income tax on that part.

Employees who wish to purchase an annuity should secure information and assistance from private insurance companies participating in the program and have a Tax Sheltered Annuity Agreement form completed and sent to the Personnel Office before April 1 of this year, Strawn said.

Investment values, if any, of the annuity will accumulate income-tax free until retirement, death, disability or such other time as the member receives cash benefits.

CHECK THE CALENDAR BEFORE SCHEDULING

More than 500 special programs are presented at Texas Tech during the academic year and many of these events have already been scheduled for 1974-75, according to the events calendar maintained by the Office of Information Services.

Persons responsible for scheduling seminars, guest lectures, conferences, programs in music, art and drama, symposia and the like are requested to pre-check the calendar to avoid conflicts and to turn in their own data as soon as possible so that others may know what is in prospect.

To check the calendar, call 742-4136 or go to the Office of Information Services, 218 Administration Building.

Among the major events scheduled for the upcoming year are the ICASALS Symposium, Oct. 15; the 50th Anniversary Convocation, Oct. 17-19, and the 50th Anniversary Arts Festival, March 3-7, 1975.

BOND EARNINGS HIKED

All Series E and H Savings Bonds purchased on or after last Dec. 1 will earn 6 per cent when held to maturity, according to a White House announcement. Savings Bonds had been earning 5½ per cent.

The annual rate on Savings Bonds and Savings Notes now outstanding is also increased by the same amount.

COMMENCEMENT RE-SCHEDULED FOR MAY 11; OTHER CHANGES IN 1974 SPRING CALENDAR ARE ANNOUNCED

The 1974 spring commencement at Texas Tech University has been re-scheduled for May 11, and several other major changes have been announced for the spring calendar.

The commencement exercises had originally been scheduled for May 18. The new schedule calls also for shifting final examinations forward into the preceding week, and a detailed final examination schedule will be published soon.

The schedule changes follow recommendations made by the Commencement Committee which were endorsed by the Academic Council and approved by President Grover E. Murray.

The recommendations were aimed at "developing more meaningful commencement activities and stimulating increased participation by graduating students and faculty," said Dr. William R. Johnson, interim vice president for Academic Affairs.

The committee recommended that commencement be held closer to the end of final examinations, that in addition to the university ceremony, the various colleges should conduct appropriate ceremonies in which individual students would be recognized, that commencement should be scheduled in the morning hours if possible, and that actual diplomas be awarded to students at the time of graduation."

The 1974 spring calendar as revised, is as follows:

April 18, last day to drop a course; May 1, day of no classes; May 2-8, final examinations; May 9, noon, grades for graduating seniors due in the Registrar's Office; May 11, commencement; and May 13, final grade reports due in the Registrar's Office and spring semester ends.

FOR NON-TEACHERS

Monday, Mar. 25, rather than Friday, Mar. 29, has been designated as the holiday for non-teaching personnel.

A number of non-teaching employees requested that the Spring Vacation include three consecutive days of which one should be a Monday so that they could travel.

There also were requests that the Monday be re-scheduled to coincide with the public schools' vacation week. Moving the holiday to Monday, Mar. 25, will allow Monday to be combined with the previous Saturday and Sunday for a three-day holiday and the opportunity to travel on Monday when service stations are open.

EXTRA DAY IS ALLOWED FOR SPRING VACATION

The spring vacation for Texas Tech University students has been extended one day to offset the problem of closed service stations on Sundays.

Classes will resume at 7:30 a.m. Tuesday, April 2, instead of Monday, April 1. The extension will permit students to return to the campus on Monday, when most service stations will be open. The student vacation officially begins Saturday, Mar. 23.

BACK TO NORMAL HOURS

Texas Tech University's time schedule will revert to the times printed in schedules and catalogs effective April 2, Executive Vice President Glenn E. Barnett has announced.

Classes scheduled for 7:30 a.m. will meet at that time instead of an hour later and the normal working day will revert to 8 a.m. to 12 noon and 1 to 5 p.m. The public schools will change back after their spring break, too.

COMMENCEMENT SPEAKER NAMED FOR MED SCHOOL

Dr. John A. D. Cooper, president of the Association of American Medical Colleges, will deliver the commencement address for the first graduating class of the Texas Tech University School of Medicine.

The ceremony will be conducted at 7 p.m. Sunday, March 31, in the University Center Ballroom. Twenty-four medical students will receive the first doctor of medicine degrees to be conferred by the school.

Cooper, who holds both Ph. D. and M.D. degrees, became president of the Association of American Medical Colleges in 1969 and he served the association as editor of the Journal of Medical Education from 1962 to 1969. He is Professorial Lecturer in Community Medicine and International Health at Georgetown University, and last year he was professor of the Practice of Health Policy at the Institute of Policy Sciences and Public Affairs, Duke University.

SYMPOSIUM SLATED ON MEXICAN AMERICANS

Social scientists from seven states who have a special interest in Americans whose cultural heritage is Mexican will meet at Texas Tech April 19 to discuss "Mexican Americans: Political Power, Influence or Resource."

The specialists will report on their research and exchange ideas among themselves and with any individuals from the public who wish to attend and participate during the day-long symposium.

Dr. Frank Baird of the political science faculty at Texas Tech will direct the symposium to be held in the Mesa Room of the University Center.

NOTABLE QUOTE

"The teacher has failed a student if, several years after graduation, the student tells him warmly what great experiences his class provided and how nothing since then has been so meaningful. Most of us are delighted with such reports, but it means that the student has not been able to internalize the ways of discovering deeply meaningful experiences in his own life." -- William Bridges

MEZZO-SOPRANO NAMED AFFILIATE ARTIST

Theresa Treadway-Carroll, mezzo-soprano, will spend eight weeks of the current academic year as an affiliate artist at Texas Tech University.

Her appointment is sponsored by the Sears-Roebuck Foundation and the National Endowment for the Arts. Purpose of the program is to extend and deepen public appreciation for the live performing arts while providing professional career opportunities to performers in the middle stages of their artistic development.

While at Texas Tech the visiting artist will perform in informal settings such as classrooms, churches, libraries, factories, shopping centers, hospitals and retirement homes. She also will appear in concert and before civic groups.

Miss Carroll's first appearances here are being scheduled for Mid-March.

WOMAN OF THE YEAR AWARD

April 5 is the deadline for submitting nominations for the Woman of the Year Award. Nominations may be made by either individuals or organizations (students, faculty or staff) and should be addressed to Woman of the Year Selection Committee, Student Life Office, Room 242, West Hall.

Members of both the faculty and staff are eligible for the award which is sponsored by Mortar Board, Women In Communications and the Women's Task Force.

Selection is based on contributions in five areas: campus and community service, professional performance, concern for students and the role of women.

THIS MAY HELP YOU "LIVE" WITH THE TORNADO SEASON

Tornado season is here and the following information may help you, your students and co-workers to "live" with it.

"Tornado Watch" means tornadoes are expected to develop. "Tornado Warning" means a tornado has been sighted either visually or by weather radar. Watches are announced publicly by radio and TV with many TV stations placing a "W" in the corner of the screen. Monitor radio or TV stations during a tornado watch to obtain continuous weather advisories.

The tornado warning signal is a steady high pitched tone and on the campus this is provided by a siren. The signal is augmented by police car sirens and telephoned messages from the central switchboard to dormitories and other locations where there may be a concentration of people.

General guidelines for safety during tornadoes:

Seek inside shelter, preferably a tornado cellar, underground excavation, or reinforced concrete building. All major buildings on the campus are reinforced concrete. Stay away from windows.

In office type buildings, stand in an interior hallway, on a lower floor,

TTU AND UT JOIN IN LAND USE RESEARCH

Scientists at Texas Tech University and the University of Texas at Austin have joined in a research and educational activities effort related to management of arid and semi-arid lands of the area to prevent their misuse.

To facilitate the effort, President Grover E. Murray of Texas Tech and Dr. Stephen H. Spurr of the University of Texas have signed a memorandum of agreement creating a Joint Center for West Texas Environmental Studies.

Co-directors are Dr. Anson R. Bertrand, dean of Texas Tech's College of Agricultural Sciences, and Dr. Keith Arnold, director of UT's Center for Environment and Natural Resources.

preferably in the basement.

In classroom type buildings, go to an interior hallway on the lowest floor, and a basement if possible. Avoid auditoriums, gymnasiums, or other structures with wide free-span roofs.

Evacuate a mobile home.

If caught in the open, lie flat in a depression such as a ditch or ravine.

If in a car, leave the car and seek cover in a reinforced building if time permits or else lie face down in the deepest depression available.

Keep radios and television sets tuned, but do not telephone the weather bureau or other information centers.

MURAL FOR MUSEUM

Artist Peter Rogers of San Patricio, N. M., is painting a mural for The Museum of Texas Tech University. Its subject matter will deal with the region's dependence upon water. He has chosen black ink on gesso as his medium for the mural, his third. Rogers' wife, Carol, is the daughter of Peter Hurd, who painted the mural in the building now named Holden Hall but which served as the museum until the new one was completed.

REGENTS MEET MARCH 22; GROUNDBREAKINGS PLANNED

At a special meeting March 7 the regents approved bids for the construction of two buildings. Panhandle Engineers and Contractors of Amarillo will construct the Mass Communications Building on a bid of $2.96 million. The $731,585 bid of James E. Walker Company of Lubbock was accepted for the Range and Wildlife Management Building.

NSF FELLOWSHIPS

April 1 is the National Science Foundation deadline for applications for 50 Faculty Fellowships in Science Applied to Societal Problems. Awards will be made May 31 to faculty with five or more years of full-time teaching experience. Fellowships may be used for periods of three to nine months and travel allowances are paid. Additional information may be obtained from the Office of Academic Affairs.

“READY CASH” LOAN
PROGRAM ANNOUNCED

The Texas Tech Federal Credit Union has implemented a “Ready Cash” loan program to members of the union who have a good credit rating.

The program is designed to benefit members by reducing the cost paid for consumer installment credit, generally referred to as revolving credit, budget plans, etc. It also is designed to eliminate the number of payments made each month on various department store and credit card accounts, according to Verna Bivins, office manager for the credit union.

After members apply and their application agreements are approved, they may request advances in the amount of not less than $50 by telephone, by mail or in person. The procedure eliminates time-consuming applications and correspondence.

FUTURE PHYSICIANS

Senior medical students at the Texas Tech University School of Medicine (TTUSM) gain practical experience through a Rural Preceptorship program initiated last fall.

The students assist practicing physicians (the preceptors) in rural areas. Some 24 students were involved in the first year of the program by spending four weeks with rural doctors in their practices. Next year, the program is expected to be expanded to include four weeks in an urban environment as well as four weeks in a rural setting, according to Sydney A. Garrett, M.D., acting chairman of the Department of Family Practice at TTUSM.

MEETING DATE CHANGED

The Boards of Regents of the Texas Tech University complex will meet on May 7 instead of May 17 as originally scheduled. The purpose of the change is to allow immediate action on the sale of bonds. Bids are to be opened May 6.

TTUSM REGENTS APPROVE BOND SALE FOR BUILDING

The Board of Regents of the Texas Tech University School of Medicine, meeting March 22, authorized the sale of an additional $16 million in general tuition revenue bonds by the dealer bid method on May 6.

This will allow construction of a heating and cooling plant for the medical school and will take advantage of federal funding, which must be matched, in order to complete Pod B of the medical school. With completion of Pod B 125 students may be admitted in each class instead of the 100 possible with construction only partially completed.

The regents also:

- * Accepted the names of 24 candidates for the first graduating class;

- * Heard a report that 1,643 persons applied for admission for the class beginning in July, 1974, and that by March 15 there were 26 who already had been accepted for placement in that class of 77;

- * Approved a schematic design for a Regional Area Health Education Center facility at Amarillo, to cost $1,940,000 to provide 35,000 square feet, and to be located between the Veterans Administration and the High Plains Baptist hospitals;

- * Approved contract documents for the teaching hospital of the Lubbock County Hospital District;

- * Approved an affiliation agreement with the Colonial Nursing Home, Lubbock, to facilitate particularly student understanding of geriatric medicine.

TTUSM GRADUATES 24 IN FIRST CONVOCATION

The first graduation convocation of the Texas Tech University School of Medicine took place Sunday, March 31, in the University Center with 24 receiving the M.D. Degree. The graduates had entered TTUSM as juniors when the school opened in 1972.

Dr. John A. D. Cooper, president of the Association of American Medical Colleges, was the convocation speaker.

A highlight of the event was the announcement of the Hugh P. and Lucy Murray Williams Award, the highest given by TTUSM, presented for the first time to Duane Buringrud, M.D., Hillsboro, N.D. The award honors the spirit of human understanding and medical wisdom required of all physicians.

Established by TTUSM President Grover E. Murray, the award carries a $500 honorarium from Dr. Murray and his brother, Maj. Gen. (Ret.) James L. Murray, president Aviation Division, Teledyne Corp. The award honors their deceased mother and step-father. Dr. Murray has said the brothers will provide the honorarium for the next 10 years and hope then to have established an endowment to carry it on.

FOUR DISTINGUISHED ENGINEERS NAMED-- ONE A SURPRISE

The College of Engineering Friday, April 12, designated three of its graduates as "Distinguished Engineers" and...

Surprise!

In a surprise action Texas Tech President Grover E. Murray took the microphone at the luncheon honoring the three alumni and proclaimed engineering Dean John R. Bradford a "Distinguished Engineer."

Although a complete surprise to the dean and nearly everybody else, the half dozen who did know had printed corrected programs for distribution after the ceremony including Bradford's name and a detailed biographical sketch citing his accomplishments.

Dean Bradford, with 18 years in the deanship, is the senior dean at the university in point of tenure.

The other new "Distinguished Engineers" for 1974 are Dr. John W. Sheehan of Houston, vice president of Shell Oil Company; R. L. Williams of New Orleans, vice president of the Freeport Mineral Company and the Freeport Sulphur Company; and Henry Meredith of Houston, coordinator of Environmental Conservation, Public Affairs Department, Exxon Corporation.

Research Day...

For the first time the Distinguished Engineers program was augmented by the college of Engineering Research Day with the morning devoted to a presentation of research reports in the departments and institutes in the college and the afternoon given to tours of the departments and their research projects.

NINE-MONTH EMPLOYEES MUST PAY INSURANCE

Employees who are paid on a nine-month basis are advised by the Payroll Department that they must pay their insurance premiums by check during the summer months.

Insurance premiums are deducted from salaries on a 12-month basis. Therefore it is necessary for premiums to be paid by check for any month in which no salary check is received by the individual employee, the office said.

If the insurance premiums are not received, the individual's name is deleted from the insurance list and his coverage is canceled.

Payments should be made to Texas Tech University and may be mailed to the Payroll Department, P. O. Box 4400, Lubbock, Texas, 79409

PRESIDENT RETURNS FROM SAHEL STUDY

President Grover E. Murray returned from Niger Saturday and the other five members of the Texas Tech University team studying long-range plans for the stabilization of farming and ranching in the Sahel are expected to return Thursday, May 2.

The group arrived in Niger hours after a governmental coup which delayed their investigations, but the new government assured the Texas Tech team of full support in its efforts to help alleviate the devastating problems in six sub-Saharan nations, brought on by one of the worst droughts in human history.

The Lilly Endowment, Inc., supports the Texas Tech studies through Africare, Inc. The ultimate goal is a viable agriculture capable of competing for world markets -- the long range cure for the famine and poverty which have stricken the Sahel.

Expected to return Thursday are Agricultural Sciences Dean Anson R. Bertrand, Range and Wildlife Management Chairman Donald F. Burzlaff, Animal Science Prof. Robert C. Albin, Agricultural Economics Prof. Rex P. Kennedy, and Dr. Frank B. Conselman, director, International Center for Arid and Semi-Arid Land Studies.

FACULTY COUNCIL APPROVES RESOLUTIONS RELATED TO FINAL EXAMINATIONS AND OTHER LIBRARY USAGE

The Faculty Council April 22 approved two resolutions, one regarding final examinations and the other Library usage.

The first resolution, as passed, recommended: five days to be scheduled for final examinations at the end of each semester: a 2 1/2 hour period to be made available for administering of any final examination; individual faculty members to decide whether a final examination or some other summary submittal or performance is appropriate for the course -- taking into consideration departmental objectives, student welfare and faculty responsibilities; faculty members to decide if student exemptions from a final examination are appropriate; the printed scheduled time to be adhered to by faculty members unless the departmental chairman and dean grant permission to deviate from the official time; and examinations not to be given during the last week of classes in those classes which are to have a regularly scheduled final examination.

The second resolutions read: "Resolved, that the completion of the extension to the Tech Library shall not be used in any way to limit the customary access by the undergraduate student body to the books and serials of the Library."

Executive Vice President Glenn E. Barnett, presiding officer, reviewed budget considerations.

All faculty salaries are to be increased by 3.4 per cent this year, he said, and those salaries that are under $15,000 per year will be increased additionally for a total of 6.8 per cent. Some merit increases are also to be recommended.

Dr. Barnett commended the work of the Faculty Council Budget Advisory Committee and said that its work with administrative officers was responsible in part for departmental operations increases which have been recommended this year. In the medical school, he said, there will be some tightening up of budgets because of a larger job to be accomplished.

Dr. Barnett said the Board of Regents would be asked to consider the budget at its meeting May 7.

By its applause, the council voiced its approval of the Distinguished Engineer Award to Dean John R. Bradford April 11.

CONSTRUCTION--Texas Tech University and the School of Medicine have the largest construction program under way in the history of the institution.

COMMENCEMENT SCHEDULE

The Texas Tech University commencement ceremony, in which degrees will be conferred, will be conducted at 9:30 a.m., May 11, in Jones Stadium. College ceremonies, in which diplomas will be presented, will follow at 11 a.m.

Graduate students who will receive degrees will be hooded by their major professors in the university ceremony and receive diplomas at the academic college ceremony.

For the schedule of college ceremonies and places where they will be held, see calendar.

PRESIDENT RETURNS FROM SAHEL STUDY

President Grover E. Murray returned from Niger Saturday and the other five members of the Texas Tech University team studying long-range plans for the stabilization of farming and ranching in the Sahel are expected to return Thursday, May 2.

The group arrived in Niger hours after a governmental coup which delayed their investigations, but the new government assured the Texas Tech team of full support in its efforts to help alleviate the devastating problems in six sub-Saharan nations, brought on by one of the worst droughts in human history.

The Lilly Endowment, Inc., supports the Texas Tech studies through Africare, Inc. The ultimate goal is a viable agriculture capable of competing for world markets -- the long range cure for the famine and poverty which have stricken the Sahel.

Expected to return Thursday are Agricultural Sciences Dean Anson R. Bertrand, Range and Wildlife Management Chairman Donald F. Burzlaff, Animal Science Prof. Robert C. Albin, Agricultural Economics Prof. Rex P. Kennedy, and Dr. Frank B. Conselman, director, International Center for Arid and Semi-Arid Land Studies.

Brig. Gen. Richard E. Cavazos, the first ROTC graduate of Texas Tech University to become a general officer, will deliver the principal address at joint commissioning services for Army and Air Force graduates at the university at 2 p.m., May 11, in the University Theater.

Gen. Cavazos, a 1951 graduate with a bachelor of science degree in geology, is U.S. Defense Attache to Mexico. He lettered as a Red Raider football player in 1949 and 1950 and is a brother of Bobby Cavazos, Texas Tech grid star who made the All-American second team in 1953 and captured many other national and regional football honors during his football career at Texas Tech.

available for administering of any final examination; individual faculty members to decide whether a final examination or some other summary submittal or performance is appropriate for the course -- taking into consideration departmental objectives, student welfare and faculty responsibilities; faculty members to decide if student exemptions from a final examination are appropriate; the printed scheduled time to be adhered to by faculty members unless the departmental chairman and dean grant permission to deviate from the official time; and examinations not to be given during the last week of classes in those classes which are to have a regularly scheduled final examination.

The second resolutions read: "Resolved, that the completion of the extension to the Tech Library shall not be used in any way to limit the customary access by the undergraduate student body to the books and serials of the Library."

Executive Vice President Glenn E. Barnett, presiding officer, reviewed budget considerations.

All faculty salaries are to be increased by 3.4 per cent this year, he said, and those salaries that are under $15,000 per year will be increased additionally for a total of 6.8 per cent. Some merit increases are also to be recommended.

Dr. Barnett commended the work of the Faculty Council Budget Advisory Committee and said that its work with administrative officers was responsible in part for departmental operations increases which have been recommended this year. In the medical school, he said, there will be some tightening up of budgets because of a larger job to be accomplished.

Dr. Barnett said the Board of Regents would be asked to consider the budget at its meeting May 7.

By its applause, the council voiced its approval of the Distinguished Engineer Award to Dean John R. Bradford April 11.

REGENTS ACCEPT RECORD BUDGET; VIEW FUTURE TRAFFIC PLANNING

Texas Tech University regents Tuesday, May 7, voted to accept a $67.2 million budget after hearing a detailed review of it by President Grover E. Murray.

In his review, Dr. Murray pointed out that salary increases and the impact of external inflationary effects were primary causes for increases in the budget.

While the legislature has voted a 3.4 per cent salary increase for all employees with additional adjustments necessary by law at the lowest salary levels, regents commented on the discrepancy between these raises and the high rate of inflation. They agreed to pursue possible responsible solutions to the problem and urged the administration to do so.

The $67.2 million includes: Texas Tech University education and general funds, $33.7 million; The Museum, $230,765; Texas Tech University School of Medicine, education and general funds, $12.2 million; auxiliary enterprises, $14.6 million; and restricted, agency and revolving funds, $6.5 million.

Within his review, Dr. Murray listed for the Board numerous plans and programs which could not be funded because of costs and commented that the budget was an austere one.

The regents also:

- * Sold ad valorem tax bonds amounting to $1.5 million to the First National Bank of Dallas at 5.09 per cent interest, $16 million in general tuition revenue bonds to Halsey Stuart & Co. and associates of New York at an interest rate of 6.5 per cent, and combined fee revenue bonds totalling $7.75 million to the same New York firm at an interest rate of 6.68 per cent.

- * Raised the residence hall rates $30 per semester to help defray an estimated increase of $483,000 in costs during the coming year;

- * Agreed to a Southwest Conference policy raising ticket prices of $1 for sideline seats and 50 cents for end zone seats at football games and 50 cents for seats other than floor seats at basketball games;

- * Adjusted Student Services fees from $3 per credit hour to $1.87 per credit hour up to a maximum of $28, instead of the previous maximum of $27, and left it up to the administration -- working with the Office of Student Affairs and the Student Association -- to determine what services could be offered individual students, according to the rates paid;

- * Accepted the bid of $4,465,000 of Panhandle Engineers and Contractors of Amarillo for the construction of a Social Sciences Building;

- * Granted authority to receive bids on a recreational swimming pool;

- * Granted authority to receive bids on renovation and air conditioning for the Animal Science and the Agricultural Engineering buildings and for additional construction as well as renovation and air conditioning for the Agricultural Sciences Building;

- * Heard a report from Bernard Johnson, Inc., representatives which recommended specific "policy stances" for the Board of Regents including concern for the integrity of the total campus, concern for the traffic impact on the surrounding urban environment, concern for pedestrian and bicycle traffic over automobile traffic on campus;
- * Accepted the Bernard Johnson report as the first in a series of actions which should be taken and urged that the report be made available at the earliest possible opportunity to city and other officials having a special interest in it;

- * Approved the concept of a Council on University Relations and appointed Regent Clint Formby to head a steering committee to explore the possible composition, goals and operation of such a council;

- * Heard a report on the use policy of the Texas Tech University Center at Junction which allows the center to be used by any governmental agency or responsible group engaged in an educational pursuit provided a staff or faculty member of the Texas Tech University complex is on the planning committee for the use program.

with the new policy extending only to the rank of associate and full professor and the probationary period extended from five to seven years;

- * Accepted a system for academic ranks for TTUSM, recognizing that its special needs differ from the academic ranking system for Texas Tech University;

- * Granted tenure to Sydney A. Garrett, John R. Hillman, Robert H. Kokernot, Stanley S. Leftkowitz, Maurice I. Marks, John M. McKenna, Kenneth J. Morrow, Samuel D. Richards, Loraine E. Schultz, Harry F. Sproat.

- * Approved promotions to assistant professor for Charles W. Garner and Timothy C. Judkins and to associate professor for Loraine E. Schultz.

- * Granted authority for bids to be received for a Regional Area Health Education Center in Amarillo, estimated to cost approximately $1.6 million.

- * Heard an enrollment study report indicating that --

- 1) A total of 1,643 applications were received,

- 2) Thirty-four of the possible 40 places in the entering class for 1974 have been filled,

- 3) The distribution of student hometowns is statewide,

- 4) Approximately 25 per cent of the fall 1974 enrollment will represent minority ethnic groups,

- 5) Of the 113 students currently enrolled 23 are women, and by 1984 it is anticipated that 30 per cent of all medical students will be women.
