Basketball Record of Matadors Best In History of Newest State School

Survey of Season Shows Machine Turned Out By Coach
Vic Payne Smoothest Running Yet Had Here; Capt.
Al Jennings Paces Scorers For Season's Total

The flaming-jersied Matador hoop artists who recently closed a most successful basketball calendar under the tutelage of Victor O. Payne, won a total of twelve games of twenty-one on the season's card and concluded the season with a percentage of .576. Nineteen of the 21 games played during the season were with West Texas State Teachers college, Abilene Christian college, Simmons university, McMurry college, and Wayland college. In these games the Matadors counted ten victories.

For the first time since the Matadors have made their home on the South Plains they checked the thundering stampede of West Texas State Teachers college Buffaloes by defeating the Palo Duro Bisons in the opening game of the concluding series, 39 to 29, and battled the Herd to the closest margins they have ever been able to do throughout the season.

Score 697 Points

In the season's review the Scarlet and Black Loopers registered a total of 697 points against their opponents' 592. Leslie "Al" Jennings, captain of the Toreadors, who ended his college basketball play with the last game of the Matador schedule, led the scoring for the season ripping the basket 76 times from the floor and scoring a total of 134 points from the foul line, to make a total of 178 points. Melvern Hunter, forward mate with Jennings, trailed his captain with a total of 134 points for the year, while "Andy" Hemphill, rangy pivoter, was third with 115 points.
