The following report made by Sergeant Lang, who conducted a patrol across the Aisne canal (within his regimental sector, 143rd Inf.) about 9:00 o'clock this morning:

"I crossed the canal 300 yards east of destroyed railroad bridge, using partly sunken and broken pontoon bridges over which I had placed planks. From my position I could see that the trees north of the river had been felled for a distance of about 25 paces from the river bank. They had been dropped parallel to the river and dirt embankment thrown up against the trees. I had no sooner reached the north bank of the canal with my men (four) when I was fired upon from behind this protection which has been thrown up by the enemy. While I only saw four Germans I judged that at least a hundred rifles ~~were~~ participated ~~disseminated~~ in the fire upon my patrol. I left my patrol to dig in and get back as the opportunity afforded. I swam the canal and returned immediately to report. I was exposed to their fire for fully 200 yards after crossing the canal and they fired upon me until I reached cover.

The canal where I crossed is about 25 paces wide and about ten feet deep. The distance between the river and the canal at this point is about 25 paces. This space is used as a roadway. It is unimproved and now covered with large trees which the enemy has cut down and left fall promiscuously. Except for 25 paces from the north bank of the river woods seems to cover the near area. From the point where I crossed I could see about 250 yards to either side of me and as far as I could see the trees between the river and the canal have been felled and north of the river the enemy has thrown up cover I have described. The approach to the canal in this place is without protection for 75 yards. Back of that small protection is afforded by ruined buildings, but even then approach without discovery would be very difficult. The canal is level with the ground but the water in the canal is about seven feet below the bank. The men I left were in behind the canal bank. I could see to my right French patrols but they were not fired upon by the enemy. Along the railroad track between the canal and the river are ammunition dumps in which is stored quantities of ammunition."

Genl. Nalen :-

The French are going to send out two patrols - one from the left, ^{regiment} to go along the bank of the canal. The other patrol from the right regiment to go to the Aisne. The mission of this patrol is to find a place to build a bridge over the Aisne tomorrow night or the next night. ~~These~~ ~~pat~~

Headquarters 72nd Infantry Brigade
A. E. F. - A. P. O. 796.
1 May 1919,

Brigadier General John A. Hulén,

2301 San Jacinto St.,

Houston, Texas.

Dear General:

In accordance with your suggestion I turned over the balance of 439 francs (to which George Sears and I added the difference to make even 500), remaining of the Houston Christmas fund, to the Marquis of Tanlay, as trustee, for the two little orphans here at Tanlay. Enclosed you will find his receipt and also pictures of each of the children. They are the children of Jean Louis Tacnet and Lazareth Tacnet (née Adam), and live with their grandparents, an old laborer here at Tanlay by the name of Adam. The father was a shoemaker in Tanlay before the war and a soldier of the 79th Infantry Regiment. He was killed on the 5th of July, 1915, at Neuville-St. Vaast, and was 38 years old. The mother, who was 30 years old, died last October, leaving the children totally dependent on this old and almost helpless couple. The two girls look very much alike, and are pretty rosy cheeked children, with large brown eyes and brown hair. Yvonne, the eldest, was born on October 11, 1908, and Therese, the youngest, on the 28th of March, 1912.

As this is not an individual charity, but one in which all of the Houstonians, who contributed so generously for our Christmas, are participants, I thought it might be well to ask the Houston Chronicle to publish the pictures of the children with a statement of what had been done with the remainder of the money, and your or my personal verification of the true merit of this case. It is realized that 500 francs, while more here than in America, will not, however, provide for these little ones indefinitely, and I have no doubt that there are many generous souled people in Houston who will gladly contribute further toward insuring these children's care and education. The Marquis de Tanlay, whom we all respect and regard so highly for his many kindnesses to the Americans who have been fortunate enough to be billeted here at Tanlay, will be pleased to answer any communications with reference to the children, or to accept, on their behalf, anything that our people might care to send to them.

You will recall that out of the original sum of 18,517.11 francs, we distributed 23 francs per man to 769 soldiers, reserving a balance of 830.11 francs to take care of those men in hospitals, etc., who might join the division later. A total of seventeen showed up and have been given their pro-rata.

The division now being on the eve of moving to the Le Mans area for return home, I have finally wound up this matter as above outlined and trust that same meets with your approval.

Very sincerely,

Tenlay, Yonne, France,

May 1, 1919.

I have this day received from Major L. R. Bryan, Jr., U. S. A., the sum of five hundred francs, being the balance of a fund contributed by the people of Houston, Texas, as a Christmas gift to the Houston soldiers of the 36th Division, and I accept this fund, as trustee, to be expended, as in my judgment seems best, for the support and education of the two orphans, Yvonne Tacnet, ten years old, and Thérèse Tacnet, seven years old.

M. L. R. Bryan Jr.

Received 12:20 from Colonel of the 102nd French Inf. on the location of his division: "Two adjoining regiments 103rd on the left, 102nd on the right, 104th in reserve. One battalion of the 103rd on hill north of Vivier stream. Two other battalions in rear west of the Saulces. Colonel's P. C. at north entrance to Saulces. (102nd has one battalion on top of hill 100 two kms south of Givry. Two other battalions on the eastern bank, P. C. of the Colonel 150 meters west of Moscon farm.) The 104th in the woods southeast of Saulces with liaison to right and left."

Capt. Bernard commanding the Squadron of the 5th Dragoons to C. G. 72nd Brig. Message No. 3 at 12:20: "The bridge of the little railroad west of Attigny could be observed. Only the middle arch has its span down. This might be repaired easily in the night by the engineers or infantry. It is still impossible to appear mounted on the plain between Beaumont Farm and the Aisne, without being shot at by artillery. Only the infantry could reconnoitre there effectively. I have been in touch with the 102nd French Infantry. Givry is occupied by a battalion of this regiment, which is going to try to cross the river on a bridge built by the engineers. Ambly-haut and Ambly-fleury are likely occupied. You hear rifle shots from their outskirts (Unconfirmed report). The Colonel commanding the 102nd asks that the 36th Division assures liaison with him and informs him of its disposition and intentions. From the same information given by the 102nd the enemy might have been seen withdrawing northward (roads covered with convoys in retreat?)

It seems that the north bank of the Aisne is occupied by weak detachments armed with machine guns. (Unconfirmed report).

Signed Bernard.

NO. 23.

Memo to ZEAL -

(Attention of Spt. Schultzy on the adjutant)

My lines for the night are the northern edge of the woods of Four de Mosne, my P.C. is within the centre of my lines.

First Bn line is about 500 yds south of ^{the} canal near the Aisne.

Our front line troops have met strong resistance from enemy M.G.s

Our troops lay between the village of SIVERY and ATTIGNY.

Enemy artillery across the canal has shelled us including the reserve, very heavily.

I have disposed my Bn in support watching the flanks. One of my C's has been pushed forward to western side of Hill 105 just in rear of the left of the front line troops. The third Bn. is with the front line troops. I will in a very short time have telephonic connection with my advance company. I am arranging relay communication with you.

I am about one mile from your PC and if you have sufficient wire run a phone line to this PC, which will connect us with the front. You have two men who know where my P.C.
is. I have arranged with the 12th F.A. for intermittent harassing fire on the enemy across the canal. I have also arranged for their barrage when called for on a line 300 m NORTH of canal. A call for baggage must be by telephone thru your head quarters to Brigadier, therefore you will make immediate telephonic connection with Brigadier Hq. if this has not already been done.

I wish you to follow the following instruction; send all ration carts, field kitchens and combat wagons forward to your Hq.
I will furnish carriers to the front line. Without fail have these wagons including water carts at the place named to-night as the whole regiment and especially the first and third Battalions are in dire need of food, water and ammunition. I can also secure for the kitchen a great quantity of fine cabbage which was raised by the BOSCHE.

The front line troops seem to have suffered heavily but the situation does not seem to be serious. The wounded are being evacuated by splendid work of first aid station established $\frac{3}{4}$ mile N.W. of my line.

If you are in telephone communication with brigade read this message to the Brigade Commander or dictate it over phone to stenographer.

Be sure to have Brigade Commander to take up the matter of Artillery support along the lines arranged for by me if the Colonel is nor or cannot be located and the Senior Colonel is nor with you, you will take orders from me in the absence of Major Hill.
