Sir:

We, your Committee on Rights, Suffrage, Amendments, and Separation of Powers, to whom was referred Article VI of Constitutional Convention Proposal 1, have had the same under consideration and beg to report back with the recommendation that it do pass in the form attached. Since the chairman did not vote to support the majority report, the vice-chairman has joined in the signature on the letter of transmittal and is authorized by the chairman to designate committee persons to sponsor the majority report on the floor of the convention.

The proposal was reported from committee by the following record vote: 12 Yeas, 8 Nays.

Respectfully submitted,

(January 14, 1974, filed; January 14, 1974, referred to Committee on Rights and Suffrage; February 7, 1974, reported favorably by a vote of 12 Yeas, 8 Nays, with minority report attached; February 7, 1974, sent to printer; February 14, 1974, recommitted to Committee on Rights and Suffrage; February 25, 1974, reported favorably by a vote of 12 Yeas, 8 Nays; February 25, 1974, sent to printer.)

February 25, 1974

The Honorable Price Daniel, Jr.
President, Texas Constitutional Convention

The Committee on Rights, Suffrage, Amendments, and Separation of Powers submits herewith its report containing recommended provisions for a new voter qualifications and elections article in the Texas Constitution. The proposal is intended to replace in its entirety Article VI (Suffrage) of the present constitution.

The committee has attempted to provide an Article VI which is consistent with the United States Constitution and proper standards for determining items of constitutional magnitude. Provisions believed to require extensive analysis and susceptible to varying treatment depending on differing circumstances were left to legislative discretion. Every attempt was made to put the provisions of Article VI into language having one plain meaning so that the average citizen of this state can easily understand its contents.

The members differed as to what language would be consistent with the above considerations. There was minority support for not restricting a felon's right to vote after completion of the sentence. There was also minority support for keeping the Constitutional Revision Commission recommendation that property ownership never be a voting qualification. Minority support was also shown in the vote on requiring the secret ballot to be unsigned. All of these positions and the votes thereon are reflected in the comments.

The report was adopted after consideration was given to recommendations of the Constitutional Revision Commission, suggestions by 16 persons who testified before the committee in public hearings, delegates who submitted proposals, and the many citizens who have contributed to the work of the committee.

During its work the committee utilized the services of the following staff members and advisors: David Garza, research associate, Mark Cohen, research assistant, and Mary K. Wall, Legislative Council staff.

The committee majority believes this proposal provides a much improved constitutional framework for voter qualifications and elections in Texas and urges its adoption by the Constitutional Convention.

SCHWARTZ
Chairman

NOWLIN

BE IT PROPOSED BY THE COMMITTEE ON RIGHTS AND SUFFRAGE,

That there be a new article on suffrage to read as follows:

ARTICLE VI

VOTER QUALIFICATIONS AND ELECTIONS

Sec. 1. QUALIFIED VOTER. A qualified voter is a citizen of the United States 18 years of age or older who meets registration and residence requirements, who has never been convicted of a felony, and who is not mentally incompetent as determined by a court.

Sec. 2. ADDITIONAL QUALIFICATIONS. The legislature by law:

(1) shall prescribe the registration and residence requirements for voting;

(2) may require property ownership as an additional qualification for voting in elections held by the state or its political subdivisions when such additional qualification is not prohibited by the Constitution of the United States of America; (3) may make exceptions to the disqualification of persons convicted of a felony.

Sec. 3. ELECTIONS. Elections by the qualified voters shall be by unsigned secret ballot. The legislature by law shall provide requirements for absentee voting and the administration of elections and shall ensure the purity of elections and guard against abuses of the electoral process.

Sec. 4. GENERAL ELECTIONS. General elections for state and county officials shall be held in even-numbered years on a date provided by law.

SECTION-BY-SECTION ANALYSIS OF COMMITTEE REPORT

A. Introduction

The committee began its work with the version in Constitutional Convention Proposal 1 which was identical to the Constitutional Revision Commission recommendations for Article VI. After witness testimony, staff memorandums, and extensive intracommittee discussion, the committee proceeded to vote on amendments to Proposal 1 section by section. When every section was completed, the committee staff and the staff of the Committee on Style and Drafting made recommendations for some structural changes.

At the time the majority proposal was scheduled for a vote, it appeared that a substantial number of citizens desired to be heard further on the issues of voting rights of convicted felons and another meeting was scheduled to hear those witnesses. After that testimony another section-by-section vote was taken at the next meeting. As a result of that second section-by-section vote, Section 2(2) was broadened and Section 3 was amended to provide that all ballots be unsigned.

After this committee report was presented to the convention, but before it came to the floor for debate, the members of the committee who supported Section 2(2) pointed out that the Style and Drafting Committee staff recommendations had unintentionally changed that section's substance in addition to the form. As a result, all members of the committee who were present voted to request the convention to recommit this committee report back to the committee so that Section 2(2) might be rewritten to reflect correctly the majority view.

After the report was recommitted by the convention, the committee held a meeting filled with much discussion, and at that time it was decided that the committee should hear expert testimony on the matters at issue at a meeting to be held Friday, February 22, 1974. One witness, C. J. Carl, Assistant Attorney General, was available and appeared to give testimony and answer questions from the committee.

Section 1 defines a qualified voter. Section 2 delineates areas in which the legislature may add to or delete from qualifications for voting contained in Section 1. Section 3 describes the obligations placed on the legislature with regard to regulation of elections. Section 4 defines the term "general election" and guarantees they will be held in even-numbered

The revised Article VI was then submitted to the committee for approval as a whole. The article was approved by a majority vote of the committee membership, with 12 votes for the committee report and 8 against.

Before the committee report was recommitted, six of the eight members voting against the majority report filed a minority report. However, after final adoption of this revised report, the members voting against the majority report elected to present their version by floor amendments rather than by a minority report.

B. Section-by-section Analysis

Title. VOTER QUALIFICATIONS AND ELECTIONS

COMMENTS

The issue was presented as to whether or not a more modern and understandable title was desirable. It was proposed that Proposal 1 be amended so as to change the title of Article VI from "Suffrage" to "Voter Qualifications and Elections." The committee then approved the amendment by a majority of the members.

Sec. 1. QUALIFIED VOTER. A qualified voter is a citizen of the United States 18 years of age or older who meets registration and residence requirements, who has never been convicted of a felony, and who is not mentally incompetent as determined by a court.

COMMENTS

Constitutional Convention Proposal 1, Article VI, Section 1 reads, "Any citizen of the United States eighteen years of age or older who meets the registration and residence requirements provided by law, who is not serving a sentence for a felony, whether incarcerated, on parole, or on probation, and who is not of unsound mind as determined by a court, shall be a qualified voter."

This section defines a qualified voter. The advisability of using the term unsound mind with regard to the scope of its meaning had been discussed. On the first occasion of a section-by-section vote on Article VI, the first amendment offered was to change the words "of unsound mind" to "mentally incompetent." A substitute amendment was offered which would have prohibited all felons from voting but would allow the legislature to make exceptions as well as change the words "of unsound mind" to "mentally incompetent." Three amendments were offered to the substitute. The first would have allowed convicted felons who were not incarcerated the right to vote. The second would have allowed convicted felons who were not incarcerated or on parole to vote. The third would have allowed persons convicted of a felony to vote as long as they were not incarcerated, on parole, or on probation. All three failed and the substitute amendment received an affirmative vote of 15 members of the committee, with 5 members against.

In the meeting with the staff of the Style and Drafting Committee, the direction to the legislature to provide registration and residence requirements and the authorization to make exceptions in the case of convicted felons was moved to what is now Section 2 of this report.

On the second occasion of a section-by-section vote, an amendment was offered which would have used the Constitutional Revision Commission language adding, "subject to such exceptions as the legislature may provide" as a substitute for the 1954 constitutional amendment language of the majority report. This amendment failed on a 10 to 10 tie vote.

When the majority report, which had been recommitted, was taken up for final consideration on February 25, 1974, the issue of voting rights of convicted felons was presented again. The new amendment would have provided automatic restoration of voting rights to persons convicted of only one felony after the sentence had been completed, but a motion to table prevailed by a vote of 12 yeas and 8 nays.

This section makes only one substantive change in Article VI, Section 1, of Constitutional Convention Proposal 1. That proposal would have permitted persons convicted of a felony to vote as long as the sentence had been completed. This committee report uses the 1954 constitutional amendment language which prohibits all felons from voting unless the legislature permits it by statutory exception.

Sec. 2. ADDITIONAL QUALIFICATIONS. The legislature by law:

(1) shall prescribe the registration and residence requirements for voting;

(2) may require property ownership as an additional qualification for voting in elections held by the state or its political subdivisions when such additional qualification is not prohibited by the Constitution of the United States of America;

(3) may make exceptions to the disqualification of persons convicted of a felony.

COMMENTS

This section was created for clarity purposes in the meeting with the Style and Drafting Committee staff. Subsections (1) and (3) came from Section 1 of the originally drafted committee report and have been discussed in the comments to Section 1. This section delineates the areas in which the legislature may add to or delete from the qualifications for voting as defined in Section 1.

Constitutional Convention Proposal 1 did not mention property ownership as a qualification for voting. Committee staff testified concerning the Supreme Court of the United States' holdings that property ownership as a qualification for voting might conflict with the equal protection clause of the Fourteenth Amendment but pointed out that one recent case had allowed property ownership as a qualification in some situations. An amendment was offered to Article VI of Constitutional Convention Proposal 1 to add a new section titled "Bond Elections" which read as follows:

The legislature by law may make property ownership an additional requirement for voting in elections held by political subdivisions for the purpose of issuing bonds, or otherwise lending credit, or expending money or assuming any debt. The amendment was approved at that time by a vote of 11 yeas and 6 nays. At the hearing of additional witnesses after the first section-by-section vote, a witness pointed out an unusual situation in a special district in El Paso which would not be covered by the authorization granted the legislature in the proposed Section 2(2).

On the occasion of the second section-by-section vote, the committee, by a vote of 15 yeas and 5 nays, adopted the broader language which would permit the legislature to require property ownership as a requirement for voting in any type of election in certain political subdivisions rather than only in those types of elections specified in the previous draft.

Prior to the second occasion of a section-by-section vote, the Style and Drafting Committee staff had changed the wording of Section 2(2). Before those changes were made the section read, "...may make property ownership an additional requirement for voting in elections held by political subdivisions for the purpose of issuing bonds, or otherwise lending credit, or expending money or assuming any debt, and for voting in elections held by a governmental unit or district which has a special or limited purpose and whose activities have a disproportionate effect on landowners." After Style and Drafting staff recommendations Section 2(2) read, "...may make property ownership an additional qualification for voting in elections held by a political subdivision, the activities of which have a more burdensome effect on property owners."

On the occasion of the second section-by-section vote, the members of the committee were not aware of a possible unintentional effect that the language alterations had on Section 2(2). Therefore, the committee voted to move that the convention recommit the majority report back to the committee so it could more accurately reflect the committee's intent. The motion passed by a vote of 16 yeas and no nays. The committee then voted to instruct the vice-chairman, in absence of the chairman, to pull down the majority report if it was not recommitted. That motion passed by a vote of 16 yeas and no nays.

When the original majority report, which was recommitted, was voted upon on February 25, 1974, the issue of property ownership as a voting qualification was presented again. An amendment was offered which would have Section 2(2) read as it presently appears in this report. A substitute was offered which read, "...may make property ownership an additional qualification for voting in elections held by political subdivisions for the purpose of issuing bonds, or otherwise lending credit, or expending money, or assuming any debt, and for voting in elections held by a governmental unit or district which has a special or limited purpose and whose activities have a disproportionate effect on property owners." A motion to table the substitute prevailed by a vote of 13 yeas and 7 nays. The amendment containing the language presently appearing in Section 2(2) was then adopted by a vote of 13 yeas and 7 nays.

This section thus makes one more substantive change in Constitutional Convention Proposal 1. It allows the legislature to make property ownership a qualification for voting in any election whenever to do so would not violate the United States Constitution.

Sec. 3. ELECTIONS. Elections by the qualified voters shall be by unsigned secret ballot. The legislature by law shall provide requirements for absentee voting and the administration of elections and shall ensure the purity of elections and guard against abuses of the electoral process.

COMMENTS

This section describes the obligations placed upon the legislature in the exercise of its authority to regulate the election process. Since the direction to the legislature to provide registration and residence requirements was moved to Section 2 for clarity purposes at the meeting of the staffs of this committee and the Style and Drafting Committee, its reiteration in this section would be redundant.

The question was raised as to the possibility of lessening election fraud by making the secret ballot requirement more explicit. On the first occasion of a section-by-section vote, an amendment was offered to make the first sentence of Article VI, Section 2 of Constitutional Convention Proposal 1 read, "All elections by qualified voters shall be by secret ballot, and, except as may be essential to the orderly conduct of absentee voting, no voting procedure may be used which would make it possible to identify the voter who voted a particular ballot after the voter has relinquished possession of it." In the debate on this amendment the point was raised that the present constitution did not require secrecy and did require numbered ballots. Therefore, the Constitutional Revision Commission language was thought to be sufficient to allow the legislature to provide for any degree of secrecy it might choose. A motion to table that amendment received approval of a majority of the committee by a 15 to 3 vote and therefore the amendment was not voted on. Another amendment was offered which sought to make the first sentence of Article VI, Section 2 of Constitutional Convention Proposal 1 read, "All elections by the qualified voters shall be by secret ballot, and the voter's signature shall not be required on the ballot." A motion to table that amendment also prevailed by a 16 to 2 vote and no vote was taken on the amendment. A motion to adopt Article VI, Section 2 of Constitutional Convention Proposal 1 as part of this committee report was approved by an affirmative vote of 17 members of the committee, and 1 against.

On the second occasion of a section-by-section vote, an amendment was offered adding the word "unsigned" between the words "by" and "secret" in the first sentence of Section 3. This amendment was approved by an affirmative vote of 11 members of the committee and 9 against.

This section, therefore, makes one substantive change from Constitutional Revision Commission recommendations. The present provision will not allow a voting procedure to require the voter to sign any part of the ballot.

Sec. 4. GENERAL ELECTIONS. General elections for state and county officials shall be held in even-numbered years on a date provided by law.

COMMENTS

Article VI, Section 3 of Constitutional Convention Proposal 1 reads as follows: "General elections shall be held in even-numbered years on a date provided by law."

This section defines "general elections" as the term is used in various parts of the constitution and guarantees they will be held in even-numbered years. A question was raised as to whether or not more specificity was needed. General elections are commonly those which are held on a recurring fixed date and therefore this language could be construed to include elections traditionally held in odd-numbered years, such as municipal elections. An amendment was offered to make this section read, "General elections for state and county officials shall be held in even-numbered years on a date provided by law." The committee voted to adopt this amended version as part of this committee report by a unanimous vote.

The change approved by the committee for this section merely provides more certainty in the definition of "general elections" and does not make a substantive change in the Constitutional Revision Commission recommendations.
