MEMORANDUM

4 June 1952

MOTOR MAINTENANCE

The following report of Col. HARRY J. LEMLEY, President of the Inspection Board, dated 4 June 1952, is forwarded to all units as a check list on Motor Maintenance:

"We looked into the motor maintenance today and I believe it needs a lot of improvement. My inspectors report a general lack of supervision and it appears that maintenance records being used are the Armory type rather than the field type. I believe you should use the latter system of weekly, monthly, and semi-annual maintenance during the field training period so as to familiarize personnel with the system.

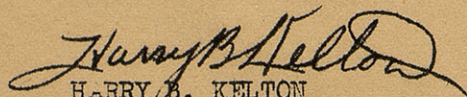

"I personally made a maintenance inspection of the (---) Infantry which I shall go into in some detail and believe it reflects fairly widespread conditions. First I inquired into the scheduled maintenance and found that no after operation services are being performed in the afternoon. I believe this is wrong as no vehicle should ever be left until it is ready to move out again. A period is held at 0630 in the morning but a good many vehicles on early dispatch miss this period. I walked all thru the park and found a great many idle drivers--some picked up a rag when they saw me; others didn't. They had taken the troops to the range at 0630 and were waiting to go back after them. I spot checked a number of vehicles and found all CV Joints dirty and/or rusty. Not a single driver knew what a CV joint was or what he was supposed to do about it. I found a number of battery cases which had obviously not been taken off recently and, in fact, had broken wing nuts which made it hard for the driver to service the battery. The water in one battery was low and a number of terminals needed cleaning and recoating with grease. I found several radiators low on water and one rusty. A few valve caps were missing and a number of spare tires were mounted wrong with the valve stem in a spot that could only be reached with extreme difficulty if at all. All the winches I looked at, and there were several outside the (---), were in bad shape. The grease fittings on the left side were coated with dust and obviously hadn't been touched in a long time. The plugs on the gear boxes looked as if they hadn't been out in many a day. The cables are coated with a heavy rust preventative compound and some are in bad shape. I really believe that this compound should be removed during the field training period and that the winch cables should be cleaned and coated with light oil. I say this for two reasons. First there should be some training with the winch and secondly I believe it would be worthwhile to remove and replace this compound once a year.

"I really think motor maintenance needs a good deal of pushing and that driver training needs lots of supervision. I believe most of the drivers are carried as on the job training and the job is going to need lots of supervision to make it go."
