My Dear daughter

The first bell has just called the sleeping ones to prepare for the matin meal, and I will devote the time in just saying to you, what I neglected to in the letter you will today receive. I want you to be careful to get all your things together, and not leave any of your traps behind you. Look well in all the drawers, and put my ruffles carefully in your hat box. I left my dressing comb. Aunt Edith will help you fold your dresses if you need help, or assist you in packing your trunk. Yesterday was my room, but this morning is cool

Love to all.

and lovely. I quite miss my parlay-cook, will be glad when she resumes her duties. I think Aunt Amanda has had a pleasant week - oh how much she & I will have to talk over. I am happy you will have their company home. Lottie is cook, and we get on nicely and one more duster in the mornings. You & I are invited to attend the commencement of St. Mary's school on Thursday. Helen will graduate. Mary Amelia nurse & baby called on me Thursday afternoon. Little Arthur is like a little doll, looks much the same as when an infant he was two years old on Wednesday.
Tell Aunt Edith I will write her after your return, also tell her my visit seems a mutual success, as I think of all the pleasure received and the kind attention of all the family with entire satisfaction. Bell rings for breakfast - Lovingly Mother.
