Dear Sir

We wrote yesterday about leaves, if you do not wish to buy how would it do to ship a leaf or two on consignment you to handle it for us on commission, we would like to make room as we have to store a lot of Oats, could also ship some Oats, in regard to melons please let us know at once when we can make another shipment, next leaf would be cheaper, think would not cost over 15¢ laid down at E. Pass all around as we have made very good arrangements.

To HEALTH-SEEKERS, HOME-SEEKERS, CAPITALISTS, FARMERS, GARDENERS, MANUFACTURERS, AND ESPECIALLY FRUIT-GROWERS.

LINDALE, SMITH COUNTY, TEXAS,

Is a Village of about four hundred inhabitants, on the International & Great Northern Railroad, twelve miles North of the city of Tyler, the County-Seat of Smith County, in latitude 32 degrees and 30 minutes, longitude 18 degrees and 20 minutes west from Washington City, D. C. Altitude about 700 feet, being one of the highest points between the Gulf of Mexico and Red River, in Eastern Texas. It is near the centre of Eastern Texas.

The writer, having spent the last few years in the famous fruit growing State of California, and being acquainted in the fruit growing States of the East, asserts without the least fear of successful contradiction that Eastern Texas offers more inducements to Fruit Growers than any other portion of the United States. That Smith County is one of the best, if not the very best fruit county in the State; and that Lindale is decidedly the best locality in Smith County, for the following reasons:

The altitude is greater, and hence fruit is less liable to injury from frost. The timber is more abundant, of greater variety and superior quality. Water is not only pure and plentiful, but this vicinity abounds with springs and small streams, upon which are innumerable and valuable water-powers. The soil is of superior quality for general agricultural purposes, and is peculiarly adapted to fruits and vegetables. The health of this section is phenomenally good. Our schools are of the first order. Our church facilities are most ample, while the social and moral status of our community is all that any honest, law-abiding man could desire. The citizens are noted for their energy, industry, sobriety, morality and true Texas hospitality. And yet, notwithstanding all these advantages, lands are cheaper than those adjacent to larger towns, and can be had on the most liberal terms, and at prices that would astonish citizens of the older States. GOOD LANDS, one mile and over from this village can be bought on long time at from $3.00 to $6.00 per acre. Improved places at corresponding prices, according to value of improvements.

Our natural resources are almost unlimited. What we most need is men of means, energy and capacity to help us develop them, and to all such the writer can guarantee a kind reception and a most hearty welcome by every member of this community.
