Dear Ray,

Mother and I really enjoyed our visit with you last week-end. We were really pleased that you are having such a delightful year at school without having to burn too much midnight oil. We are real pleased that Baylor ended up on top in the football contest.

Visiting Columbus Avenue and your Sunday School department and class was certainly enjoyable. You have a good church, a good college department and a good Sunday school class.

The "North-Scott-Wilkerson Inn" served a delightful lunch on Sunday. The Sheraton Hotel had better watch out or they may be put out of business by service like we received.

I was so pleased to find that you had gotten your car properly fixed for so much less money than Midas had told you would be required. I was really sorry that my advice was so poor on where to get it fixed. I didn't ask you, but I'll bet the new shocks have improved the way your car rides considerably.

I think it is neat that you are planning to go to several of the out of town football games. I hope that those will be fun trips for you.

Reza's tragedy has really made me more concerned about safety on the highways. There was bumper to bumper traffic all the way to Dallas on our return. I don't think it is possible to be as careful as we need to be anymore with all the traffic that our interstate system carries. I guess the bottom line is that we just need to be as careful as we can and try not to travel when traffic is the most congested.

I was really impressed with what I learned about Baylor's aims and goals for their computer department. I was disappointed to hear your report that they weren't doing any better, right now, than they are. Lutz really seems like a very brilliant computer man. I don't know what courses that he is teaching that you could take or audit, but I sure would recommend that you consider a course under him, if you have the opportunity. It looks like we are all going to have to become more capable with computers, day by day. It appears that this knowledge is going to be necessary, no matter what we do or where our responsibilities lie.

We will be looking forward to our next opportunity to have another fun weekend with you.

Love,

Daddy
